Speculation in cotton for future delivery has been a trifle more active, so far as the outside public is concerned, and noticeably more so as regards some of the well-known professional operators. They have taken the buying side on the ground that the consumption is enormous and likely to continue so for some time to come, and that prices, especially as compared with the quotations for goods, are relatively low. A rise has taken place. The spot markets have continued firm, and if receipts have still been on a very large scale, they have been powerless, it seems, to affect quotations for the actual commodity throughout the South. Believers in better prices dwell on the fact that stocks at interior towns, despite the size of the present crop, are smaller than they were a year ago, and also on the large spinners' takings and the world-wide prosperity of the times, which some of them attribute to gold inflation. Liverpool has continued to buy March, May and July in liquidating straddles, and there has been a good deal of covering of an unprotected short interest. Latterly commission houses have reported rather larger buying by the outside public for a rise, though the speculation in the main has undoubtedly been of a purely professional character. Some decrease in the receipts at New Orleans within a day or two has attracted attention, and has been by no means without its influence in bringing about higher prices. The activity in the cotton goods business in New England and abroad has also been a factor as well as the reports of a brisk demand for the actual cotton at the South, not only for the higher grades, but also for the lower qualities. There has likewise been some demand for the cotton now in stock here, which is composed, on the whole, of cotton of far better quality than was at one time supposed. To-day prices advanced for a time, owing partly to a rise in Liverpool and some decrease of late in the receipts, but more than all, apparently, to bull manipulation and covering by nervous shorts. Before the close, however, a reaction occurred, owing to liquidation, partly it was supposed for leading bull interests. Spot cotton has been more active at advancing quotations. Middling uplands closed at 11.25c., an advance for the week of 25 points.

The rates on and off middling, as established Nov. 21 1906 by the Revision Committee, at which grades other than middling may be delivered on contract, are as follows:

RECEIPTS FROM THE PLANTATIONS.—The following table indicates the actual movement each week from the plantations. The figures do not include overland receipts nor Southern consumption; they are simply a statement of the weekly movement from the plantations of that part of the crop which finally reaches the market through the outports.

The above statement shows: 1.—That the total lreceipts from the plantations since Sept. 1 1906 are 8,654,769 bales; in 1905-06 were 6,720,085 bales; in 1904-05 were 7,601,993 bales.

2.—That although the receipts at the outports the past week were 190,892 bales, the actual movement from plantations was 193,690 bales, the balance going to increase stocks at interior towns. Last year receipts from the plantations for the week were 65,830 bales and for 1905 they were 150,879 bales.

WEATHER REPORTS BY TELEGRAPH.—Reports to us by telegraph from the South this evening indicate that rain has been quite general during the week, with the precipitation heavy in some sections. Our Mobile correspondent states that the rivers are rising rapidly and flood stage is threatened in the Tombigbee. As a result of the less favorable weather, farm work has been interfered with.

Galveston, Texas.—There has been heavy rain on three days during the week, the rainfall being one inch and fifty-four hundredths. The thermometer has ranged from 58 to 77, averaging 65.

Fort Worth, Texas.—We have had rain on two days of the week, the precipitation being one inch and fifty-four hundredths. Average thermometer 56, highest 74, lowest 38.

Palestine, Texas.—There has been rain on four days the past week, the rainfall being one inch and fifty-eight hundredths. The thermometer has averaged 61, the highest being 80 and the lowest 42.

COTTON STATISTICS FOR WEEK ENDING FEB. 22.—Last Friday having been a holiday (Washington's Birthday), we went to press on Thursday night, and our cotton statistics therefore covered only six days. We have, however, this week revised all the results so as to make them cover the full week ending Friday, February 22, and they are as follows: Net receipts for the week, 245,649 bales, and since Sept. 1, 7,979,637 bales. United States port stocks last Friday, 1,149,834 bales. Total foreign exports for the week, 180,989 bales, and since Sept. 1, 6,132,606 bales. Total visible supply, 5,575,580 bales, of which American, 4,284,580 bales. Interior towns, receipts for week, 176,315 bales, since Sept. 1, 6,158,171 bales, shipments for the week, 196,931 bales, and stock 577,718 bales. Receipts from plantations for week, 225,033 bales. Weekly net overland, 43,453 bales, and for season to date, 991,130 bales. Southern consumption for week, 48,000 bales, and for season, 1,178,000 bales. Interior stocks decreased 20,616 bales during the week, and on Friday last were 481,442 bales in excess of Sept. 1. There came into sight for the week 316,486 bales, and the total for the season to date reached 10,630,209 bales. Northern spinners had taken since Sept. 1 1,844,996 bales, of which 65,498 bales represented the week's takings. Receipts at Bombay were 103,000 bales for the week and 1,363,000 bales since Sept. 1, the weekly foreign exports from all India ports reaching 28,000 bales and the season's total 627,000 bales. The world's takings of cotton reached 382,558 bales, of which 355,558 bales American, and since Sept. 1 the aggregate takings of all kinds was 9,362,785 bales, of which 7,243,785 bales American.

ASIATIC COTTON GROWING.—The "British Board of Trade Journal" says:

American cotton seed planted in the experimental grounds of Korea, 175 acres being cultivated, yielded the past season 100 bales, weighing 50,000 pounds. The fibre is said to be fine and soft, with exceptional lustre and well suited for mixture in the spinning of fine yarn. It is valued at $11 29 per 100 pounds. The people interested hope to produce 1,000 bales next season and 10,000 the year following. Estimates give 175,000 as the possible number of acres of cotton lands in Korea, and the yearly yield of these as 100,000 bales of 500 pounds each. Experiments made in 1906 resulted in 400 pounds to each acre. The land experimented on was well and carefully cultivated by intelligent Korean coolies. No such intense cultivation could be carried out on a very large scale; still, if Japan can get 100,000 bales of upland cotton per annum from Korea, it means just that much less in her purchases in the United States. A sample of cotton grown in the Ottoman Empire, part of 400 pounds picked on less than an acre, is on exhibition in London. The land on which it grew was not cultivated last year, the cotton growing on plants left over from the previous season. One hundred acres near where this sample grew have been prepared for cotton. These were to be planted during the month of February.

JUTE BUTTS, BAGGING, &c.—The market for jute bagging has continued dull during the week under review, at the following prices: 8¾c for 1¾ lbs. and 9⅛c for 2 lbs., standard grades. Jute butts also dull at 3@4c. for bagging quality.

MEXICAN COTTON CROP.—Consul J. A. Le Roy, of Durango, reports to the Department of Commerce and Labor that the cotton crop of Mexico, or at least of the principal cotton belt of Mexico (that centering about Gomez Palacio, in the State of Durango), has been an unusually large one. The Consul continues:

Great difficulty was experienced in getting and keeping the required number of laborers to gather the crop, and no exact estimates of the amount gathered seem to be available. Labor in this branch of agriculture has been quite demoralized by the constant increase of wages till they have reached such a point that laborers in the cotton belt will hardly undertake any other sort of work in the season, and will work only a part of the time in the cotton fields At the rates now paid laborers can earn far more than their needs require, and not having the habit of saving they take advantage of the opportunity to lie idle whenever they so desire. The speculators in cotton seem to have held a good part of last year's crop, hoping to send prices still higher. They were left as a result with a large amount on their hands in the face of a lower price during the year 1906. As the 1906 crop also promised to be a record-breaker, the speculators sought last fall to get the planters of the cotton belt to join them in a pool to hold up the prices, the planters to place their cotton only through the "association," and so much at a time. The real object aimed at by the speculators was to get rid of their accumulations without a loss. It is very doubtful whether the pool will be realized, though various meetings have been held to that end. The price at which cotton may be obtained from the United States (which is ordinarily the factor determining the price at which cotton raised in Mexico is sold) will interfere with this plan unless the planters should very uniformly hold together; and they have no object in doing so, except the rather doubtful prospect of being able thus to sell their present crop at higher prices.

Apparently the proposition to raise the freight rate on baled cotton had its origin in this same effort to hold up the price of Mexican home-grown cotton beyond what it would be as fixed by the price of imported American cotton. The aim of the Mexican cotton grower is to supply the home market entirely, and some are confidently predicting that this will be done within a few years. In spite, however, of the great increase in the crops of the past few years, it seems very improbable that this will be done. The past few seasons have been unusually wet seasons, and a return of very dry or ordinarily wet seasons would speedily reduce the product limiting the area planted. The increase in product has, in the second place, not been much if any more than the increase in the home demand. Moreover, there have been lately serious strikes in the principal cotton manufacturing cities, and the manufacturers will be contesting any effort to raise the price of raw cotton unduly at their expense, unless the margin of protection against foreign cotton manufactures is raised.

MANCHESTER MARKET.—Our report received by cable to-night from Manchester states that the market is firm for yarns and quiet for shirtings. The demand for both India and China is good. We give the prices for to-day below and leave those for previous weeks of this and last year for comparison:

BREADSTUFFS.

Friday, March 1 1907.

Prices for wheat flour have remained about stationary during the week. The general situation has shown no change. Trading has continued on a small scale and of a hand-to-mouth character. Dealers are believed to hold unusually small supplies, but they show no disposition to replenish their stocks at current quotations. Millers, on the other hand, have remained as firm as ever. Export business has continued dull. Corn meal and rye flour have been quiet and steady.

Wheat has advanced, partly owing to rumors of large export sales, which, even if they have not been fully confirmed, have had a more or less strengthening effect. Moreover, the winter wheat is said to have been damaged by winter killing to some extent in the Ohio Valley. It is claimed to have a brown appearance in such States as Ohio, Indiana and Illinois, although further West the conditions are in the main good. Some reports of damage to a considerable area in Germany have also had some effect. Injury is also reported in Texas. All this has served to make the short interest rather nervous, and the rise is to be attributed in no small degree to the liquidation of such obligations. At the same time the speculation has been rather more quiet, and latterly European markets have been less encouraging, in fact, showing some decline with apparently some pressure of River Plate wheat in the Liverpool market. The Northwest has also been selling to some extent in Chicago, and leading operators there are supposed to have parted with some of their holdings. Northwestern stocks, too, have increased quite largely. But what with the damage reported to the crop and the reports of a better flour trade at Minneapolis, and, what is more, a larger export demand, selling for a decline has been held in check, even if, on the other hand, buying for a rise has not been as a rule at all aggressive. To-day prices declined on liquidation here and at the West, unfavorable foreign market advices, generally good crop reports from the American winter-wheat belt and a lack of support. The export business was light and the Northwest sent selling orders. Receipts continued on a liberal scale. The shipments from Argentine for the week were large.

Indian corn futures have shown no very decided change during the week but in the main the tone has been firm, influenced by a diminution in the crop movement, the strength of the cash markets and the upward tendency of wheat prices. The speculation has been of rather small proportions but there has been a noticeable absence of aggressive selling. The cash demand at the West has been active, commission houses have bought and leading operators have taken the bull side at times, though prominent provision interests, on the other hand, have been sellers. In the main, however, the market has been dominated by the strength of the cash situation. To-day prices were easier, owing to the decline in wheat and scattered liquidation. The Argentine shipments were light and advices from that country stated that recent rains were too late to benefit the crop.

Oats for future delivery in the Western market have advanced, owing to the strong cash situation, covering of shorts and bull support. Leading bulls are understood to have sold at times but they have also bought whenever the market showed signs of weakening. The receipts have been light and cash prices have advanced, with the demand active at the West. Commission houses have bought at times and on some days the speculation has been active. To-day prices declined slightly, owing to the depression in wheat, liquidation and some increase in the offering of the May option. The cash market continued firm.

THE DRY GOODS TRADE.

New York, Friday Night, March 1 1907.

The dry goods market generally presents a situation which in many respects is without precedent in recent years. An abnormally heavy demand for all kinds of merchandise, particularly cotton goods, has reduced stocks to a minimum and practically cleaned up spot supplies in various lines. During the past week buyers have scoured the market for goods for immediate delivery, but found it impossible to get all they required, and were forced to take small lots, substitute lines or the earliest delivery obtainable. Premiums for spot goods have been freely offered, which suggests that top prices have not yet been reached. An enormous volume of forward business has been booked by sellers, and some authorities believe that these orders greatly exceed the total productive capacity of mills for months to come. Many primary houses are so closely sold up that they have placed not a few lines at value. The only cloud on the horizon is the possibility of mills encountering labor troubles this spring and summer, the development of which would be apt to curtail production, a most serious prospect in view of the heavy volume of business booked for future delivery. The print cloth market is unusually strong, and regulars were advanced ⅛c. during the week. Indigo blue printed fabrics and shirtings were also raised ½c. a yard. Standard prints are now quoted at 5¾@6c., against 5½c. a week ago. Brown and bleached cottons show increasing firmness, and heavy cotton goods, despite the absence of an export demand, display a stronger tone. Woolen goods are in a strong position and are moving satisfactorily for fall, with fancy fabrics leading. Dress goods in plain fabrics are well under order, and a substantial business has already been done on fancies.

DOMESTIC COTTON GOODS.—The exports of cotton goods from this port for the week ending Feb. 23 were 2,795 packages, valued at $239,676, their destination being to the points specified in the tables below:

Other Countries	856	8,929	243	2,170

The value of these New York exports since Jan. 1 has been $2,591,666 in 1907, against $2,673,463 in 1906.

The demand for domestic cottons continues unabated. Bleached goods are remarkably strong, many houses being sold months ahead, while others have temporarily withdrawn their lines; further advances in leading products are expected. Available spots in print cloths are rapidly growing scarcer, and it is now almost impossible to secure reasonably early deliveries, standards, both wide and narrow, being especially difficult to obtain for delivery in the first half of the current year, although for the last half contracts are being freely placed despite the high prices; buyers fully recognize the intrinsic strength of the market and have been anxious to cover requirements before further advances take place. Tickings, denims, and goods of similar construction are moving in unusually large volume; tickings are higher and other lines of heavy colored cottons are very firm. Linings of all descriptions are in urgent request; both foreign and domestic lines are scarce and closely held; spot stocks are almost if not entirely exhausted, prices rule extremely high on all popular lines and further advances would occasion little surprise, as converters are unable to get sufficient goods in the gray to fill even back orders. Heavy cottons, such as ducks and osnaburgs, are scarce for immediate delivery. The American Printing Company has advanced leading tickets ½c to 6c., and the jobbing price has been raised to meet the advance. Export trade is still quiet, the expected revival of business following the Chinese New Year having failed to materialize. A moderate trade has been done with India on standard drills on the basis of 7½c. Inquiries were also received from Red Sea ports for 3.50-yard goods, but at figures below asking prices and even below last sales. There has been a fair demand from Jamaica, and Australia placed some orders for denims at the recent advance, while Brazil has taken a full quota of goods.

WOOLEN GOODS.—In dress goods buyers have placed fair initial orders on fancy woolens, but have shown a disposition to hold down orders on other goods. Plain staples in dark shades are considered desirable for fall, but cutters-up and cloth jobbers apparently lean strongly toward fancy goods for the fall and winter of 1907. Some mills are well sold up on fancy woolen suitings. Serges for spring are firmly held, but spring requirements in dress goods have practically been filled, and attention is now largely directed to fall needs. Broadcloths still lead the demand, but fancy all-wool suitings in stripes, mixtures and checks are popular in medium-weights in darker shades. Manufacturers of men's clothing have placed liberal orders for fall requirements, the demand being principally for all-wool fancy fabrics. Prices in all branches of the men's wear trade are firm. Spring overcoat lines are active, especially coverts and plain black medium-weight garments, and indications are that the light-weight season will equal last year's record. For fall, fancy woolen suits in medium and high grades seem to be preferred to fancy worsteds or plain staple cheviots, serges and similar goods.

FOREIGN DRY GOODS.—There has been material improvement in the clearance of silk goods for spring; summer specialties are progressing satisfactorily and orders for heavier goods for next fall and winter are being received. In linens orders are pouring into the market in larger volume as the season progresses, and as importations are not keeping pace with the demand, and manufacturers are still far behind on deliveries, there is every prospect of the greatest shortage during the coming season ever seen here. Many mills are refusing orders for 1907 delivery, some are sold up through 1908, and at least one selling agent here has refused substantial orders for 1909 delivery. Needless to say, stocks are badly broken, dress linens being remarkably short. An urgent demand for spot burlaps is rapidly exhausting supplies and prices show a firmer tendency. Light-weight imported woolens and worsteds for spring and summer are very strong and active.

Malone Village, New York,

WATER BONDS

Sealed proposals will be received by the undersigned at the office of the Board of Trustees of Malone Village, New York, until and during MARCH 8TH, 1907, for the purchase of bonds of Malone Village amounting in the aggregate to $225,000. The bonds will be registered bonds, registered in the office of the Clerk of the Corporation, payable at the Knickerbocker Trust Company's office in New York City, N. Y., and will bear interest at a rate not exceeding five per cent per annum, payable semi-annually at the said office of the Knickerbocker Trust Company in New York City, N. Y., for the purpose of paying bonds heretofore issued for the payment of the water-works system of Malone Village, and bonds assumed by the village as part of the purchase price, under the provisions of an Act of the Legislature of the State of New York, passed in January, 1907. Said bonds shall be 250 in number, numbered from 1 to 250 inclusive, and payable four bonds of $1,000 00 each and one bond of $500 00 on the first day of April in each year from 1912 to 1961 inclusive.

Bidders must name the interest at which they are willing to take said bonds, and they will be awarded to the person offering to take them at the lowest rate of interest; but the Board of Trustees reserves the right to reject any bid. The envelope enclosing the bid must be endorsed "Bond Bid."

There is no other debt against said village.

By order of the Board of Trustees of Malone Village.

Dated—Malone, N. Y., Feb. 12th, 1907.

THE FINANCIAL SITUATION.

There seems to be something just now especially timely in that warning of Milton—"be lowly wise." Our public men appear to think true greatness consists in holding to opinions and policies once expressed, as if those they had espoused did not admit of question; it is the air of men who know it all, notwithstanding their life has never battled with experiences in the field they claim to have so completely taken possession of and conquered.

We have been led to this thought by the events of the current week. The liquidation going on in Wall Street ought to lead to reflection and revision of opinions. What is happening is phenomenal. Stock sales aggregating 1,777,247 shares in one day and 2,351,306 in another are among the high records in the Stock Exchange history. The more ignorant class will feel a sort of gratification over the assumption that it is the big capitalists that are being crushed. That is a delusion. The big men do not lose a dollar. They buy in the low-priced offerings and make money out of the fatalities. These are the occasions when men with little savings, the small capitalists, the most useful class of individuals in the country—get scared and have their securities shaken out of them. For a year at least we have been foretelling this catastrophe, an assured result of the trials railroad property, railroad men and other large capitalists have been forced to suffer. What has just taken place is not the final scene. Hereafter, if the irritant is continued, as we presume it will be, it will not be so exclusively securities and security-holders that will suffer; all sorts of industrial affairs are sure to get involved. The net income of our railroads cannot be threatened and sacrificed much longer without extending this moribund state all through our industrial network. Even large crops will fail to support progress should it so happen that they have to be marketed at a low price. When the disease gets to be general, the end does not wait for warnings. Look at London. May we not learn a lesson from its recent experience? It took only a day to wipe out the fabric of radicalism which had been 20 years a-making. Old idols dropped out in that case when the hour of retribution came as if a lightning flash had been the destructive agent.

The Government revenue and expenditure figures for February have been issued this week. They are interesting—more interesting than usual because they mark the end of one administration of the Federal Treasury and the beginning of a new. Mr. Shaw has not made the best account of himself at the close of his career. He seems to have accumulated his Sub-Treasury balance at the time when the money market was in grievous need of currency. There does not seem to have been any reason, either in or out of the Treasury, for it. We all know that he put into banks considerable money in January on condition that it should be paid back in February; but there seems to have been no necessity why he should have insisted on the return. As a consequence of this policy, the Government balance in Sub-Treasury was $357,114,829 March 1, against $336,518,202 Feb. 1 and $343,836,223 Jan. 1 1907—that makes the increase locked up out of the reach of our impecunious banks and borrowers during February of 20½ million dollars, and, compared with Jan. 1 1907, of 13¼ million dollars. Or if we go further back than that, we find that on the first of June 1906 Mr. Shaw only had in Sub-Treasury a balance of $316,673,545—in other words, 40½ million dollars less in the Sub-Treasury than on March 1 1907—and on June 1 1905 he had only $289,248,071, or 69 millions less than on March 1 1907. Those figures show very clearly the folly of leaving that point to the will of any man. Mr. Shaw might much better have let out in February 1907 that 40½ millions, when every industry was suffering for it, than to have had it out in June, when there was no special need for it.

A contributary cause in this week's depression in the stock market has been the generally unfavorable character of the returns of railroad net earnings received for the month of January. Exhibits of net have been growing steadily less satisfactory for some time, but for January the results in the case of a number of different roads are the least encouraging yet received. To the many different circumstances that are serving to augment the operating expenses of the roads—such as the advances in wages, the enhanced cost of materials and supplies and the inability to move traffic with due economy, owing to the great congestion of freight—there was added in January a special drawback, namely adverse weather conditions. And the remark applies not only to the trans-continental lines, which suffered so severely from snow blockades, like the Northern Pacific and Great Northern, but to many roads in the Eastern half of the country, including some of the Southern systems. Very likely the weather had as much if not more to do with the discouraging showing of net for January as the other influences noted, and which have been growing in potency in recent months, but the public is just now in a despondent mood and is giving attention merely to the result itself, and not considering the causes responsible for it.

The most unfortunate feature of course is that the losses in net are made in face of gains in gross and hence follow entirely from the great augmentation in operating expenses which has occurred. The Chesapeake & Ohio is one of the roads which sustained a decrease in gross as well as in net, and an official statement sent out by the accounting department of the road says that the decrease in earnings has been due "to the unprecedented weather conditions and Ohio River flood, which caused suspension of business on the Western part of the line for several days." It is rather noteworthy, too, that practically all the other Southern roads, even those whose lines are remote from the Ohio River, record considerable diminution in net. Thus the Atlantic Coast Line reports its gross for the month increased from $2,191,758 to $2,426,242, but net reduced from $730,467 to $633,518. Similarly, the Louisville & Nashville shows gross enlarged from $3,749,549 to $4,107,323, with net down from $1,128,535 to $1,099,847. The Nashville Chattanooga & St. Louis increased its gross from $909,256 to $1,050,356, but decreased its net from $252,149 to $198,832. For the Norfolk & Western gross is up from $2,375,628 to $2,559,334, while the net has fallen off from $990,909 to $959,025.

Of course the most conspicuous instance of all is furnished in the case of the Southern Railway. There the net for the month has been cut almost in half. The gross shows a small increase, having risen from $4,553,336 to $4,616,719, but this was accompanied by an augmentation in expenses in the sum of over half a million dollars, and consequently net was reduced from $1,124,234 in January 1906 to only $684,058 in January 1907. It is this unsatisfactory exhibit of earnings, following somewhat similar exhibits for the previous months of the fiscal year, that is mainly accountable for this week's further large declines in the stocks of the Southern Railway, both common and preferred. For the seven months to January 31 the company is $1,352,294 behind in its net, notwithstanding that gross for the same seven months increased $1,775,224. This means that there was an augmentation in expenses of $3,127,518, or nearly 15%. We are informed that the unparalleled congestion and embargo on traffic which prevailed in November and December are in no small degree responsible for the extraordinarily heavy expenses in January, a considerable part of the extra cost having gone into that month's accounts. By April, it is believed, normal conditions will again prevail, though higher wages and increased cost of material will continue to be felt in the operating expenses. The business in sight, it is stated, is very large. Rumor had it all week that in view of the large loss in earnings, the dividend on the preferred stock would have to be reduced. The directors, however, at their meeting yesterday made the usual semi-annual declaration of 2½%. The dividend is based on the results for the six months ending December 31, and a statement was submitted for the half-year showing that the dividend had been fully earned in this period, notwithstanding the loss in net and the increase in fixed charges.

At a time when returns of net earnings are so generally unsatisfactory, there are two roads which form an exception to the rule, and appear to be standing in a class by themselves. We refer to the Union Pacific and the Southern Pacific. These are showing almost phenomenal gains, both in gross and in net. The Southern Pacific for January reports an increase of no less than $2,514,841 in gross and of $1,045,292 in net and the Union Pacific has added $834,595 to its gross and $439,645 to its net. We have not seen it suggested anywhere that the snow blockades, which have been so detrimental to the Great Northern, the Northern Pacific and the Canadian Pacific, have operated to the advantage of the Southern Pacific and the Union Pacific, but there would appear to be force in the suggestion. The snow blockades on these northern trans-continental lines were very severe both in December and in January, the movement of through freight at times being almost completely interrupted. With the northern lines in part closed, it seems likely that some traffic was deflected to the routes further south and more particularly the Union Pacific and the Southern Pacific. It is proper to say, though, that the Southern Pacific at least was showing gains of large amount in its monthly returns even before December. For the seven months to January 31 that company is $10,482,575 ahead in its gross and $5,929,276 ahead in its net. The Union Pacific for the seven months shows $4,043,761 gain in gross and $2,052,997 gain in net.

That the generally unfavorable returns of earnings, combined with the inability of the roads to obtain new supplies of capital except on onerous terms, is impairing the prospects of the roads cannot be denied. The Pennsylvania management in their annual report this week announce that their policy will be to limit strictly all new capital outlays. The New York Central management recently made a somewhat similar announcement. Many other companies are also showing a disposition to go slow and this week there have come reports—how true we do not know—of the cancellation of orders previously given by several companies for new equipment. And yet there appears to be no abatement of the attitude of hostility to railroad interests so widely prevalent. This, with the increasing burdens that are being piled on the railroads, are mainly responsible for the loss of confidence in security values which is each day becoming more pronounced. The different State Legislatures are going merrily on with their movement to reduce passenger rates, apparently in total ignorance of the situation existing. Hardly a voice is being raised in protest. Public officials are proceeding on the theory that the prosperity of railroad transportation interests will be indefinitely maintained, no matter what happens, while events show it is already becoming seriously imperiled.

As indicating what harm to railroad interests will mean, we would refer our readers to the article and elaborate compilations on a subsequent page reviewing the course of railroad gross earnings for the late calendar year. In that review we show that gross earnings in 1906 increased no less than $250,000,000, following an increase of $180,000,000 in 1905, making an improvement for the two years in the enormous sum of $430,000,000. Moreover we indicate that as a result of successive increases, year by year, during the last decade the gross revenues of United States railroads for 1906 exceeded by $1,335,000,000 the corresponding gross revenues for the calendar year 1896. It is this tremendous expansion, with the enormous orders for equipment, rails, &c., resulting from the same, that lies at the basis of the phenomenal growth in the country's industries which has been established the last ten years. If the prosperity of the railroads be undermined as the result of the present hostility, the general prosperity of the country will also be undermined.

It may seem rather strange that anthracite coal production, notwithstanding the rather severe winter weather being experienced, is running somewhat behind the output for the corresponding period in 1906. For February the shipments to market are reported at 4,563,720 tons this year, against 4,712,099 tons last year, and for the two months the amount is given as 9,813,666 tons, against 10,170,183 tons. The contraction appears all the more noteworthy in view of the fact that the output of anthracite for the calendar year 1906 fell nearly 6,000,000 tons below the output for the calendar year 1905, the loss experienced at the time of the suspension of mining in April and May having never subsequently been recovered. But the reason for the present year's falling off is really very simple. Comparison is with totals of unusual dimensions. In January and February last year and also in March a strike on the part of the miners with the expiration of their contract on April 1 was everywhere regarded as highly probable and the companies accordingly prepared for the expected event by mining all the coal possible before it occurred. As compared with either 1905 or 1904 the present production of anthracite for these two months shows a considerable increase.

There was no change in official rates of discount by any of the European banks this week; compared with last week, unofficial or open market rates were ⅛ of 1% higher at London, steady at Paris and ¼ of 1% higher at Berlin and Frankfort. It is announced that Baring & Co., of London, the bank of Paris des Pays Bas, of Paris, the Deutsche Bank, of Berlin, and the Disconto Gesellschaft, also of Berlin, have purchased the £7,000,000 sterling loan of the Argentine Government for an international issue. Subscriptions for the new refunding 5% 15-40-year Japanese bonds for £23,000,000 are now being received in London, Paris and New York. The issue price will be 99½ and preference is to be given to holders of 6% bonds which are called for redemption; subscriptions in this city will be received by Kuhn, Loeb & Co., the National City Bank and the National Bank of Commerce.

The feature of the statement of the New York Associated Banks last week was the decrease of $450,925 in the surplus reserve, to $3,858,650. This was the result of a loss of $2,098,400 cash less a reduction of $1,647,475 in reserve requirements. Loans decreased $4,274,800 and deposits $6,589,900.

The market for money was unsettled and higher this week, in the main as the result of an extensive stock liquidation and of the large volume of reported transactions. It is an error to call these transactions unprecedented. They were notably large the current week; but the aggregate of transactions has been exceeded on several occasions; that was so on April 30 and May 9 1901, when the total sales reached 3,281,866 and 3,122,850 shares respectively. The current volume was moreover exceeded once in 1904 and three times in 1906. The low bank reserve was a factor, as also was the evidence of the withdrawal of currency for the interior in response to the usual spring requirements incident to business and farm work. Not only was there a demand for money for immediate use locally for stock market purposes, but provision had to be made for next week's payments of about $37,000,000, including Pennsylvania Railroad notes and new Chicago & North Western stock; this will account for urgent short-term borrowing, which was one of the features of the time loan branch of the market. It was thought likely that some monetary derangement might be caused by the retirement this month of $9,000,000 bank circulation, in pursuance of the provisions of the new financial law, applications having already been filed for the retirement of $8,000,000, which would involve the deposit of an equal amount of lawful money unless the banks should deposit with the Treasury bonds other than those withdrawn as pledge for their circulation. Such derangement, should it occur, would, however, it was thought probable, be relieved by prompt action by the Secretary of the Treasury in making provision for deposits of customs collections in depository banks.

Money on call, representing bankers' balances, loaned at the Stock Exchange during the week at 6¼% and at 3%, averaging about 5½%; banks and trust companies loaned at 4% as the minimum. On Monday loans were at 6% and at 3% with the bulk of the business at 5½%. On Tuesday transactions were at 6% and at 5% with the majority at 5¼%. On Wednesday loans were at 6¼% and at 4¾% with the bulk of the business at 5½%. On Thursday transactions were at 6% and at 5% with the majority at 5½%. On Friday loans were at 6% and at 4% with the bulk of the business at 5¼%. Time loans, on good mixed Stock Exchange collateral were in request for the reasons above stated, but the offerings were not liberal, owing to the more attractive character of corporation notes. Rates were 6% for thirty to sixty days, 5¾@6% for ninety days, 5¾% for four to five months and 5½@5¾% for six months; loans on all industrials were quoted at a minimum of 6% for all the above periods. Commercial paper was in fairly good demand, with a small local business. Quotations were 6@6¼% for sixty to ninety day endorsed bills receivable, 6@6¼% for prime and 6½@7% for good four to six months single names.

The Bank of England rate of discount remains unchanged at 5%. The cable reports discounts of sixty to ninety-day bank bills in London 4⅞%. The open market rate at Paris is 2⅞% and at Berlin and Frankfort it is 5¼%. According to our special cable from London, the Bank of England lost £640,935 bullion during the week and held £36,088,688 at the close of the week. Our correspondent further advises us that the loss was due wholly to large exports to India and an important movement to the interior of Great Britain, although purchases in the open market were heavy. The details of the movement into and out of the Bank were as follows: Imports, £566,000 (of which £54,000 from Australia and £512,000 bought in open market); exports, £665,000 (of which £165,000 to South America and £500,000 to India), and shipments of £542,000 net to the interior of Great Britain.

The foreign exchange market was only moderately active though generally lower this week. It was influenced chiefly by dear money on call and for short time, which caused liberal drawing, through sterling and francs, upon credits and balances at London and Paris in order to employ the proceeds of such drafts in our loan market. Cable transfers were quite generally resorted to, because they could be made most promptly available, especially in the call-loan branch of the market. The unsettled stock movement early in the week and the resulting sharp decline in securities encouraged some considerable buying of stocks for European account and these were at once drawn against with short sterling, contributing to a rise in this class of exchange. There were some negotiations of sterling and franc loans against stock collateral, which had more or less influence upon long bills and French exchange. A rise in Paris checks on London was one feature of the week; it was thought possible that if there should be a further advance, gold might be exported from Paris to the British capital, and, indeed, some small shipments were made; but it was regarded as unlikely that the movement would become important, for while the Japanese loan negotiation was being conducted at Paris French bankers would refrain from remitting gold if it could be avoided. The supply of commercial bills was limited this week, and there were some indications that the cotton export movement was nearing its end. Though sight sterling during the greater part of the week was sufficiently low to justify imports of gold from London, no engagements were made, and, indeed, none are expected for the present or while there is such a steady drain upon the bullion market and the Bank for gold for South America. The action which Secretary Cortelyou will take upon the provisions of the new financial law, which authorizes the deposit of customs collections in banks, may have an important influence upon exchange through the money market. If monetary conditions become easier, as the result of such deposits, exchange should advance materially above the gold-import point.

Nominal quotations for sterling exchange are 4 81½ @4 82 for sixty day and 4 85½@4 86 for sight. On Saturday of last week rates for actual business were steady, compared with those on the previous day, at an advance of 10 points for long to 4 8035@4 8050, of 5 points for short to 4 8465@4 8470 and of 5 points for cables to 4 8535@4 8545. On Monday the tone was easier at a decline of 10 points for long to 4 8035@ 4 8040 and of 5 points for cables to 4 8530@4 8540; short was unchanged. On Tuesday the market was weak, influenced by a pressure of security bills and dear money, and while long was unaltered, short fell 10 points to 4 8455@4 8460 and cables 5 points to 4 8530@4 8535. On Wednesday an increased volume of security bills and higher rates for money caused a sharp decline in short sterling and cables, the former 10 points to 4 8445@4 8450 and the latter 20 points to 4 8510@4 8515; long was only slightly affected, declining 5 points to 4 8030@4 8035. On Thursday there was a fall of 10 points in this class of bills to 4 8020 @4 8030, while short recovered 5 points to 4 8450@ 4 8455 and cables 5 points to 4 8510@4 8520. The market was weak on Friday and 10 points lower for short and cables.

The following gives the week's movement of money to and from the interior by the New York banks.

Week ending March 8 1907.	Received by N. Y. Banks.	Shipped by N. Y. Banks.	Net Interior Movement.
Currency	$3,743,000	$4,852,000	Loss $1,110,000
Gold	1,347,000	1,849,000	Loss 502,000
Total gold and legal tenders	$5,090,000	$6,711,000	Loss $1,621,000

With Sub-Treasury operations the result is as follows.

Week ending March 8 1907.	Into Banks.	Out of Banks.	Net Change in Bank Holdings.
Banks' interior movement as above	$5,090,000	$6,711,000	Loss $1,621,000
Sub-Treasury operations	23,900,000	26,400,000	Loss 2,500,000
Total gold and legal tenders	$28,990,000	$33,111,000	Loss $4,121,000

THE NEW CURRENCY LAW.

The changes which will be immediate in the amount of currency afloat under the operations of the financial legislation completed by Congress this week are not likely to be very important. Some provisions will take time for their working out, while others will need the interpretation of the new Secretary of the Treasury before their scope can be accurately established. But there is one point placed beyond doubt by Mr. Aldrich's bill, which is that when the law has got fully under way and become a going concern in all its parts, our currency will be on a more stable basis than it has heretofore been.

A foremost provision in the new law is the one extending the limit of retirement per month of the bank notes to 9 million dollars in place of 3 millions, at which the limit has heretofore stood. This change will no doubt increase the elasticity of the note system. That purpose will be attained through the greater confidence directors will feel in taking out notes when a monetary strain exists making a need for new issues. Heretofore the smaller limit for retirement has acted as a deterrent to any enlargement by a bank of its outstanding notes. Experience had given rise to a fear among bank managers lest, having gotten out their currency when there was a special need for it, they could not get it in when the fresh issues were no longer required. Hence the lack in the facilities for retirement made the whole provision unworkable. This situation could only lead to the congestion of the surplus notes in the larger monetary centres, there to find occupation only in fomenting speculation. With the limit of retirement extended to 9 million dollars a month, the [illegible] of currency plethora can be more speedily cured. It should be remembered, however, that the widening of the limit, though it increases the liability to outflow and an outflow, does not in itself increase the tendency in either direction. In the main the power to [illegible] increase and decrease of the note [illegible] the price of the underlying bonds.

It is to be observed, as a matter of [illegible] that while the permissible maximum of bank note retirements is thus increased to $9,000,000 beginning with March, applications are already on file for the retirement of $3,000,000 not only for the current month, but for succeeding months until August, inclusive. This result was a part of one of Mr. Shaw's devices adopted in October last for the relief of monetary tension. It will be remembered that he permitted banks which had United States bonds pledged for public deposits to substitute for such bonds "other securities," provided the banks immediately pledged the released bonds for new circulation and agreed to apply for the retirement thereof at the rate of $3,000,000 per month beginning with March of the current year. The banks agreeing to this proposition took out a total of $18,000,000 of new notes, so that retirements on that account will not be completed, as said, until in August, and the limit of applications for retirement by other banks will up to that time be $6,000,000 per month. There is, however, another considerable reduction of bank notes in prospect. It will be due to the calls for the redemption of the 4%s of 1907; those that are held by banks as pledge for circulation, as they are retired, require the notes issued on them to be retired also, regardless of the limitation imposed by the Act. Therefore it seems possible that not only will the retirement of $54,000,000 of bank note circulation be made during the six months ending with August, but that also an amount in addition thereto will be drawn in, representing notes secured by 4% bonds that may be called for redemption at the end of the current fiscal year when the bonds mature.

Another feature of the amended law is the large increase in the small notes that are permitted under its operation, to wit, $10, $5, $2 and $1. These will no doubt be popular, especially the fives and all below that; they will find a rapid market in the interior and, in a measure, be an inflating incident in commercial affairs as well. Possibly, however, the small notes may in part drive out of circulation the silver dollars, as their issue will furnish paper notes, a more popular tool for public use in retail trade than the metal. Even the gold certificates, the lowest denomination of which has heretofore been $20, are to be used in effecting this change, the amended bill authorizing their emission in denominations of not less than $10. As we read the new law there is no limit to this feature; it states that (Sec. 6) "the Secretary of the Treasury is hereby authorized and directed to receive deposits of gold coin with the Treasurer or any Assistant Treasurer of the United States in sums of not less than twenty dollars and to issue gold certificates therefor in denominations not less than ten dollars." To be sure there is one proviso that on its face looks as if it was originally intended to keep on hand fifty million dollars in larger notes; but as it now stands it reads "that of the amount of such outstanding certificates one-fourth at least shall be in denominations of fifty dollars or less." A subsequent proviso enacts as to gold certificates (Sec. 6 as amended) that the Secretary of the Treasury may in his discretion issue such certificates in denominations of ten thousand dollars, payable to order." Without that last proviso, might not the acquirement of additional bank reserves be at times confined to the getting of actual gold?

To provide for and stimulate the putting afloat of these new issues, the amended law also enacts that whenever the silver certificates of one, two and five dollars get so scarce as to be, in the opinion of the Secretary of the Treasury, insufficient to meet the public demand therefor, he is hereby authorized to issue United States notes of denominations of one dollar, two dollars and five dollars, and upon the issue of such denominations an equal amount of United States notes of higher denominations must be retired and canceled, so that no greater amount in the aggregate of United States notes shall get afloat at any time than is now afloat. This completes the new note system and if it works in all respects as planned it will get ten-dollar and smaller United States notes distributed all through the country.

The remainder of the Aldrich law has been so changed since it left the hands of the Senate Finance Committee as to be almost incomprehensible. It amends Sec. 5153 of the United States Statutes, stating that all national banking associations designated for that purpose by the Secretary shall be depositaries of public money. The foregoing and what follows in the new section stands as it previously read until we reach the words "except customs duties," which were in the old section but are omitted in the new. The sentence that "the Secretary of the Treasury shall require the associations thus designated to give satisfactory security by the deposit of United States bonds and otherwise" remains as it heretofore has stood. There is consequently nothing in the amended statute that affirmatively relieves the money market and business from the old practice; hence if the Secretary so elects he has as heretofore the authority to take all this income from the banks from time to time and lock it up in the Sub-Treasury, or vice versa. In other words, the money market is still liable to the capricious impulses of a single individual's will.

Our idea is, judging from a subsequent proviso taken in connection with the changes already noted, that the intention of the Act was to leave the large body of the deposits in the banks, under satisfactory security. The proviso we refer to is "that the Secretary shall, on or before the first of January of each year, make a public statement of the securities required during the year for such deposits." That clause means nothing or else it should have been worded a little differently—as, for instance, "a public statement" of the character "of the securities required during the year." With that slight alteration the statute as amended would mean that the Government income from internal revenue and customs dues shall be placed in the depositary banks and left there, and once a year the Secretary shall make a public statement of the character of the securities he will accept for the continuation of such deposits.

THE NEW RUSSIAN PARLIAMENT.

When the dissolution of the old Russian Douma by the Czar last July was promptly followed by a call for a popular election of a new Douma, to assemble on March 5 of the present year, two theories were proposed as to the probable outcome of the imperial coup d'etat. It was believed by many experienced observers that the Imperial Party, convinced that by last year's experience it had no chance for support in a Legislature chosen by free popular election, would resort necessarily to the expedient of bayonets at the polls—a recourse long employed successfully by Napoleon III. in France. As against this theory of coercion, it was predicted in other quarters that the outburst of popular feeling, as a result of the dispersal of the Douma of 1906, would be so violent as to insure choice of a practically solid Radical representation.

As last autumn drew to a close, and the demonstrations of popular violence throughout Russia reduced large portions of the country to a condition of anarchy, a third prediction gained much vogue—namely, that the excesses of the Terrorists, carried to such a point, must necessarily result in a movement, even of the body of the peasant class, back to the party which at least promised maintenance of order. It was argued from this line of reasoning that the new Douma would be reactionary in the sense of containing a much larger conservative representation than the old one.

It is a curious illustration of the danger of political predictions that all three of these forecasts have failed of verification. The Constitutional Democrats, representing the middle policy of the constitutional agitation, without upsetting existing institutions, have not returned as large a delegation of avowed supporters as they did a year ago, and the "Left," comprising the factions of socialism and radicalism, makes a rather better showing. But, on the other hand, the Douma was no sooner organized than it was evident that the Radicals were so hopelessly split up into factions as to deprive them of any definite power over the Legislature's actions. It was the Constitutional Democrats who, with the aid of independent conservative factions, organized the Douma and selected its presiding officer. So far as events have developed, the indication is that while no one party or faction holds control of the new Parliament, the Constitutional Democrats hold the balance of power. How long this situation is likely to continue can be judged only in the progress of events. Two somewhat striking incidents of the present week, which may or may not have a bearing on the character of the new Assembly, were the election to its Presidency of Golovin, whose reputation is that of a conservative legislative manager, and the Czar's cordial reception of the new presiding officer with a declaration that the spirit of the opening session was entirely satisfactory to himself.

There is probably no more certainty in Russia itself to-day as to the ultimate action of the new Russian Legislature than there is in England or in this country. We should suppose that the Czar would this time do his best to accommodate himself to all reasonable demands of the Douma, because a renewed dismissal of the legislative assembly might have effects, both on the internal order of Russia and on its foreign credit, which no friend of the Crown would like to contemplate. On the other hand, the Douma itself, so long as conservative counsels govern it, will hardly wish to challenge another assertion of the Czar's power of dismissal. Under these circumstances, and unless the element of agitators gains control again, there is reason to expect that something more definite will be accomplished than was achieved by the legislative assembly of last year.

It is reasonable to suppose, however, that no entente cordiale can be reached between the Court Party and the Douma until the question of a responsible Ministry has been settled. In the demand for such a Ministry the Russian Legislature will have the confidence of pretty much all the self-governing States. Until the Ministry is made in some degree answerable to the Parliament, it is hardly conceivable that the legislators will abandon their very natural suspicions. This is all the more true in the light of the fact that the present Premier, Stolypin, who assumed office last summer, apparently with the best intentions, has been plainly blocked in his purposes of concession to the people by the obstinate bureaucracy. It will be quite impossible to judge the future of this Douma until the gage of battle has been thrown down on this grave question and the attitude of the Legislature and the Czar shall have been determined.

The two other questions which arose in last year's session, of the first importance, were the matter of the Douma's control over Russia's financial budget and the far more serious problem of redistribution of the land. It may be doubted if the Imperial Government will yield in the matter of the public finances, which at present are its one sure recourse in the event of an outbreak of root and branch hostility to the governing classes. Redistribution of the land through purchase by the Government and lease to peasants will undoubtedly be forced before the Douma at the present time, through the hardships of the past year on the farms if from no other cause. In one way or another the Douma's deliberations must take up intelligently the question of Russian famine and of provision against its recurrence on so formidable a scale. No public problem could be more properly adapted to the consideration of such a body. It is a problem which has been shockingly misconceived and mismanaged in the past by the Czar and his advisers, and which perhaps cannot be adequately dealt with in Russia save by a body of legislators coming straight from the people.

THE PENNSYLVANIA RAILROAD REPORT.

Two things stand out prominently on an examination of the annual report of the Pennsylvania Railroad Company for the late calendar year, (1) the strength of its income position and (2) the magnitude of its revenues, with the large further growth during 1906 and the tremendous increase in the same in the recent history of the company. When we speak of the strength of the company's income position, we have reference to the relation of net income to the annual requirements for interest and dividends. On that point a few figures drawn from the present report will suffice to show how really noteworthy the company's strength has become under the further addition to net income which occurred in 1906. The matter is of more than academic interest, for with income largely in excess of the call for dividends, the property is prepared to face the contingency of a reverse in business should such an event unfortunately occur.

From that standpoint, the margin of safety, as it might be termed, is in the Pennsylvania case exceptionally large. It will be remembered that in November the directors increased the semi-annual dividend on the stock of the company from 3% to 3½%, placing the shares on a 7% dividend basis. But as the May dividend had been 3%, the aggregate of the dividend payments for the calendar year was only 6½%. The sum required for this 6½% was $19,869,661, while the company's net income above expenses, interest and rental charges was no less than $35,674,301. The excess of income above the dividend, it will be seen, was thus close to 16 million dollars. How was this 16 million dollars (roughly) applied? In brief, $4,246,039 went for payments on account of the principal of car trusts, $357,126 went towards sinking fund payments, $8,701,474 was applied in meeting extraordinary expenditures actually incurred during the year, in providing additional tracks, shops, yards, bridges, piers, stations, terminal facilities, &c., &c., and a further sum of $2,500,000 was transferred to an Extraordinary Expenditure Fund for future use. In other words, while $19,869,661 of the year's net income was distributed to the shareholders in the shape of dividends, $15,804,639 was applied either in reducing outstanding capital obligations or in paying for additions to property.

But, favorable though this showing is, it really tells only part of the story, since it deals merely with the lines directly operated East of Pittsburgh and Erie. The companies controlled by the Pennsylvania Railroad make equally striking exhibits, and to get at the full measure of its strength in income its equity in these controlled properties would also have to be considered. The extent of this equity in any given instance depends upon the proportion of the stock of such road held by the Pennsylvania Railroad; where the Pennsylvania holds only part of the stock it can be credited with only part of the excess of income above charges and dividends, but where it owns the entire stock it can with propriety be credited with the whole of the excess. There is one company in which the Pennsylvania holds absolutely all the stock, namely the Pennsylvania Company, controlling a portion of the lines directly operated West of Pittsburgh, and we shall refer to this company here because it is really the most important one of these properties. The dividend on the $60,000,000 stock of the Pennsylvania Company, as may be recalled, was increased in 1906 from 5% to 6%. The Pennsylvania Railroad got the benefit of this increase in a corresponding addition to its income from investments, and to that extent the prosperity of this Western appendage of the Pennsylvania is already reflected in its income exhibit. But the point to which we wish to direct attention is that, while the call for dividends on Pennsylvania Company stock at the increased rate was only $3,600,000, the Pennsylvania Company's net income for the twelve months was no less than $8,933,888, and that out of the balance remaining $1,945,471 was applied in sinking fund contributions and payments on account of the principal of car trusts, while $2,500,000 more was transferred to Extraordinary Expenditure Fund, and even then a balance remained on the operations of the twelve months of $888,417.

We have here, then, a repetition in the case of the Pennsylvania Company of the striking condition of things observable in the income account of the Pennsylvania Railroad itself. On a smaller scale, the Western companies in which the Pennsylvania Railroad's interest is partial instead of absolute, like the Pittsburgh Cincinnati Chicago & St. Louis, also show a considerable excess of earnings above the year's dividend requirements. These dividends, too, like that of the Pennsylvania Company, were raised, the Pennsylvania Railroad getting the benefit in an increased return on its holdings of stock in those companies. Thus the Pittsburgh Cincinnati Chicago & St. Louis paid 5% on its preferred stock and 3½% on its common stock, against 4% and 3% respectively in 1905, and the Vandalia Railroad paid 4½% on its stock, against 4%.

With reference to the further increase in revenues during 1906, the figures are very striking. In this case, in order that the reader may see the full extent of the growth, we shall deal not alone with the Eastern and Western lines directly operated, but with the results for the whole Pennsylvania Railroad system combined, comprising all roads owned, operated or controlled; for the Pennsylvania Railroad, in its borrowings and financing, has to arrange for them all. In speaking recently with regard to the Pennsylvania's large additions, the last few years, to its outstanding capital, stock and debt, we referred to the magnitude of its operations and ventured the opinion that it would be found, when the figures for the entire Pennsylvania Railroad system for 1906 became available, that the year's gross earnings from transportation had been close to 300 million dollars. The report now at hand confirms this expectation, showing aggregate gross earnings for the twelve months of $295,898,165. The further addition during 1906 was almost 30 million dollars—in exact figures $29,828,567. In considering the company's capital needs and capital additions, this increase of $30,000,000 in gross in a single period of twelve months, equal to the total revenues of many a fair-sized system in the country, is highly important.

Nor does 1906 stand alone in this respect. Though the 1906 addition enjoys the distinction of having been the very largest ever recorded by the system, the increase in 1905 was almost as large, having been $28,853,177. In fact, the record of growth in recent periods has been a phenomenal one, continued year by year almost without interruption. It has been particularly noteworthy through the administration of President Cassatt, which began in 1899 and continued up to the time of his death, which occurred three days before the close of 1906. In the year before Mr. Cassatt's accession (1898), the gross earnings of the entire Pennsylvania Railroad system footed up only $136,130,271; for 1906, as we have already seen, the total was $295,898,165. In other words, in these eight years gross revenues more than doubled, rising over 159½ million dollars—which gives some idea of what the Pennsylvania management had to provide for in making facilities equal to the expansion in business. Net earnings in the same period of eight years increased from $41,459,415 to $84,354,399. The following table will show the changes year by year during this period.

	Gross Earnings.	Expenses.	Net.	Miles of Road.
1906	$295,898,165	$211,543,766	$84,354,399	11,081
1903	242,517,758	175,379,438	67,138,320	10,914
1902	220,079,230	152,539,719	67,539,511	10,783
1901	198,626,878	133,713,386	64,913,492	10,485
1900	175,236,353	120,498,276	54,738,077	10,217
1898	136,130,271	94,670,856	41,459,415	9,036

In dealing, however, with the increase in business, a better measure of the added facilities required is found in a comparison of the volume of traffic. And here the expansion is recorded in figures which it is difficult for the human mind to grasp, though it is possible to understand their significance and importance. Thus, the aggregate number of tons of freight moved one mile by this great railroad system in 1906 is expressed by the numbers 32,918,720,685. If we extend the comparison back to 1898, we find that then the tonnage movement one mile was represented by 16,329,379,632. It hence appears that the traffic movement has actually more than doubled in the eight years and that the managers in the latter year had to arrange for the transportation of 16 thousand million tons more of freight one mile than in the earlier year. The passenger movement one mile in the eight years has also more than doubled, rising from 1,642,715,043 to 3,475,646,270. The magnitude of the Pennsylvania system's present tonnage movement one mile, at 33 thousand millions, will perhaps be better understood when we say that 76 thousand millions represented the tonnage movement one mile of all the railroads in the United States as recently as 1890. We annex the following table to show the Pennsylvania system's traffic growth from year to year since 1898.

	——Freight Movement——		——Passenger Movement——
	Tons Moved.	Tons 1 Mile.	No. Carried.	No. 1 Mile.

The new President, Mr. McCrea, in speaking of the further increase in traffic during 1906, points out one feature which must be considered extremely satisfactory. He says that the flow of traffic over the Pennsylvania lines was easy and uninterrupted, showing that, through the facilities furnished by the company, it had regained that elasticity in the movement of its business so essential to efficient and economical operation. The further addition to equipment during 1906 alone would have to be regarded as perfectly enormous were we not so accustomed to huge figures in everything connected with Pennsylvania affairs. Over 44 million dollars of car trust securities were issued during the year—$44,218,000. This provides almost forty thousand new cars—39,910.

The company's financing during 1906 was carried on almost entirely through the Pennsylvania Company. On April 2 the latter issued $20,000,000 of 4% collateral trust certificates running 25 years, with the right of redemption after 15 years. On May 1 it issued $50,000,000 of its 4½% notes running eighteen months and in June it placed $48,262,548 of 3¾% obligations in France. The balance sheet of the Pennsylvania Company shows an increase during the twelve months in its security holdings of no less than $105,844,645. Certain remarks in the report serve to explain this large increase. Thus, President McCrea, when speaking of the $50,000,000 collateral trust notes, says: "The proceeds of these notes were placed to the credit of the Pennsylvania Railroad and the Pennsylvania Company has been reimbursed for these advances, largely through the sale of the securities heretofore held in your treasury." Again, in adverting to the French loan, he states that "the Pennsylvania Company has purchased from your company the Car Trusts and Water Certificates herein before referred to, to an amount substantially equal to the proceeds of this loan." The Pennsylvania Company balance sheet for Dec. 31 1906 shows an aggregate of $19,096,251 of ready cash at that date, including $15,613,732 of cash on special deposit. Of this cash on special deposit, the Pennsylvania Railroad would appear to hold $13,709,163, as in its balance sheet for the same date it shows a special item for that amount on the liability side of the account, called "Pennsylvania Company deposit account."

The Pennsylvania Railroad was abundantly supplied with cash at the end of 1906, as the balance sheet shows no less than $43,170,122 of ready cash at that time. Of course, as already noted, allowance must be made for the fact that everything in connection with the Pennsylvania Railroad is on a large scale, but it is true nevertheless that these holdings of cash are of unusual extent; in particular, they exceed by over 16 million dollars the amount at the close of the preceding calendar year. It should also be noted that on Dec. 31 1906 there was still due it on account of the sale of Norfolk & Western and Chesapeake & Ohio stock the sum of $15,492,685. All this was before the floating of the $60,000,000 of 3-year 5% collateral notes which came in 1907, having been announced quite recently—$50,000,000 to be used to take up next November the $50,000,000 of Pennsylvania Company 4½% notes which were put out last year.

The report makes allusion to what were among the most important events of the company's financial history during 1906—we mean the reduction in its holdings of the securities of other corporations. The sales covered all the Chesapeake & Ohio Ry. stock held and a majority of the stock holdings in the Baltimore & Ohio and Norfolk & Western. A large profit resulted from these sales, which was credited to profit and loss and then entirely charged off by still another operation. What is called the "profit from sales of stocks and settlement of sundry accounts, less reduction in value of securities, &c.," is put at $15,200,848, and of this sum $13,000,000 has been applied toward construction of the New York tunnel line and the remaining $2,200,848 transferred to Extraordinary Expenditure Fund, this last being in addition to $2,500,000 so transferred out of the year's earnings.

Stockholders are to be asked at the annual meeting, in accordance with previous announcement, to authorize an increase of $100,000,000 in stock and $100,000,000 in bonds, but none of this increase is to be used the present year, the financing for 1907 having been provided for through the issue of the $60,000,000 short-term notes already referred to. It is pointed out in the report that the improvements specially referred to in the report for 1902 as absolutely necessary, to enable the traffic to be promptly and economically handled between Pittsburgh and New York, have with few exceptions either been actually completed or are rapidly approaching completion. The principal expenditures for the current year, we are told, will be in completing the extensions of the four-track system now under way on the Middle, Pittsburgh and Western Pennsylvania divisions, upon the tunnel extension into and through New York, and upon the terminal station here; upon the right of way and real estate required for the relief lines and upon additional motive power and equipment. As pointed out by us in reviewing the report for the previous year, these improvements, when completed, will give a four-track road all the way from New York to Pittsburgh, while the so-called relief lines will in effect give two tracks more for all but about 100 miles of the distance between New York and Pittsburgh. It appears that the aggregate expenditures for construction, equipment and real estate during 1906 upon the main line between New York and Pittsburgh (including $1,246,039 paid on account of the principal of car trusts) were $30,359,302, of which $17,411,788 was charged to capital account and $12,300,157 against the income of the year. There were also charged against the year's income $647,357 advanced to the Western New York & Pennsylvania Ry. for improvements and new construction. On the branch lines, the main outlay was for sidings and additional terminal facilities, and aggregated $1,884,295. On the lines West of Pittsburgh, the capital expenditures for the twelve months were $9,781,235, of which $3,170,134 was for equipment.

As indicating the enormous additions the Pennsylvania has made to its equipment and facilities in recent years, some figures of decided interest are contained in a reply by Mr. McCrea to a letter from the President of the National Board of Trade of Philadelphia requesting the Pennsylvania to make still further additions. Mr. McCrea points out that for the years 1899 to 1906 1,216 engines have been added to the equipment while 1,337 were rebuilt; 122,718 freight cars have been built or rebuilt; $160,724,000 has been expended in renewals of permanent way, yards and terminals and $268,774,000 has been expended in new construction. The record is certainly a striking one, and also one to be proud of.

The policy for the immediate future is evidently to be a conservative one; for President McCrea says that, in view of the increased cost of labor and material, the legislation, both State and municipal, to increase taxes, reduce rates and fares, and force upon the railways large expenditures that yield no direct return, it would seem to be a wise policy on the part of the company "to reduce its capital expenditures to a minimum, avoid new undertakings, and restrict its expenditures for the present to such work as is now under way and must be completed." He also refers to the fact that the higher scale of wages granted to the company's employees only went into effect on the 1st of December 1906, and therefore counted for merely one month in the late year's results. Furthermore, he notes that there is a steady advance in the prices of all materials purchased by the company, which, together with the increase in wages, must materially affect the cost of transportation. The constant increase in taxes is likewise an important item, as is evident from the statement that the amount paid by the company upon its own property and in connection with the roads for which it pays fixed rentals for the late year was no less than $3,202,793, being an increase of $615,749 as compared with 1905. In addition thereto, Mr. McCrea says the other roads directly operated by the company paid taxes of $546,489, making an aggregate for the year of $3,749,281. All these things obviously suggest caution, and the Pennsylvania management does well in recognizing their significance and bearing.

RAILROAD GROSS AND NET EARNINGS FOR THE CALENDAR YEAR.

We have indicated on previous occasions that the further growth in the revenues of the railroad transportation system of the United States during the calendar year 1906 was of such magnitude that the period will always remain distinguished for the extent of its improvement, even in that long series of years covering a whole decade all distinguished in that way. To-day, in the extensive tabulations we give below, we furnish the figures corroborative of this statement. We shall not enter here into an analysis of the conditions and influences of the year bearing upon the railroads, as we covered the ground at length in our issue of February 9 when dealing with the gross earnings alone. Suffice it to state that though there were some drawbacks—such as the suspension of coal-mining during the spring months and the falling off in the grain movement at the Western primary markets in face of another abundant grain harvest—conditions as a whole were highly favorable to large earnings during 1906. Through the entire range of the country's industries the situation was one of great activity and of almost unalloyed prosperity. Another circumstance of decided advantage to the roads over large sections of the country was the almost complete absence in 1906 of the ordinary drawbacks of winter, January and February of that year having been noted for the mildest weather experienced in those months for a very long time.

Our totals are of huge proportions, the aggregate of the gross reaching for 1906 $2,103,087,760 and the aggregate of the net $665,080,905. The figures cover 180,526 miles of road, which, though falling short of the entire railroad mileage of the country, is evidence of their comprehensive character. The circumstance of chief significance, however, is the extent of the improvement over the year preceding. The increase amounts to $209,019,143 in the gross and to $72,904,903 in the net.

The expansion in the revenues of the railroads has been in progress ever since 1896 and in the series of years since then there have been several marked by noteworthy increases. But 1906 excels them all in this respect. The year immediately preceding (1905) was also distinguished for its large increases, and yet the gain then amounted to only $150,080,675 in the gross and to $48,105,420 in the net. On the other hand, 1904 had been a period of unfavorable conditions and showed only a small increase in the gross, with a decrease in the net. In 1903, however, and the previous years the gains were very striking. The following furnishes a summary of the yearly totals back to 1890. The figures cover the roads actually contributing returns to our compilations each year.

Neither the Mexican roads nor the coal mining operations of the anthracite coal oads are included n this table.

Large though the foregoing results are, they do not, as already indicated, embrace the entire railroad mileage of the country. We have figures for about 30,000 additional miles of road, covering companies which have made returns of gross but not of net. These added roads we bring together in a separate table at the end of this article. With them included, the length of road for which we have returns of gross is raised to 210,454 miles, embracing a few thousand miles in Canada, but none in Mexico. On this 210,454 miles the aggregate of the increase in gross is brought up to the imposing figure of $241,913,596. Even that, however, does not embrace the whole railroad mileage of the country. There were, we should judge, between 215,000 and 220,000 miles of road in operation in the United States during 1906. We estimate that if we could have returns for all the roads in the country, the increase in gross earnings would amount to fully $250,000,000. In the net, we are led to think, from careful computations we have made, that the increase would be $85,000,000, if we could cover all the roads in the country.

These are certainly marvelous results—an increase of $250,000,000 in the gross and of $85,000,000 in the net. And they are all the more marvelous by reason of the long list of antecedent gains continued year by year ever since 1896, as stated above. It may be recalled that for 1905 the conclusion from the tabulations furnished by us was that there had been a gain of $180,000,000 in gross and of $60,000,000 in the net. For the two years combined, therefore, the improvement has amounted to $430,000,000 in the gross and to $145,000,000 in the net. In 1904, as already indicated, the changes were slight—an increase of $10,000,000 in the gross with a decrease of $5,000,000 in the net. But in 1903, as computed by us on a former occasion, there was an improvement of full $210,000,000 in gross and of $50,000,000 in net. In like manner we estimated the gain for 1902 at $105,000,000 in gross and at $2,000,000 in net; for 1901 at $155,000,000 in gross and $70,000,000 in net; for 1900 at $120,000,000 in gross and $32 000,000 in net; for 1899 at $140,000,000 in gross and $55,000,000 in net; for 1898 at $90,000,000 in gross and $30,000,000 in net; and for 1897 at $75,000,000 in gross and $45,000,000 in net. Bringing this series of gains together, we get the following striking results.

1906 over 1905	$250,000,000	$85,000,000
1905 over 1904	180,000,000	60,000,000
1904 over 1903	10,000,000	Loss 5,000,000
1903 over 1902	210,000,000	50,000,000
1902 over 1901	105,000,000	2,000,000
1901 over 1900	155,000,000	70,000,000
1900 over 1899	120,000,000	32,000,000
1899 over 1898	140,000,000	55,000,000
1898 over 1897	90,000,000	30,000,000
1897 over 1896	75,000,000	45,000,000
1906 over 1896	$1,335,000,000	$424,000,000

History has no parallel to the remarkable record disclosed by the foregoing statement. The fact brought out in brief is that in 1906 the railroads of the United States earned $1,335,000,000 more in gross and $424,000,000 more in net than they did only ten years before in 1896. The growth in traffic which such expansion in revenues represents is obviously prodigious. From it we get an idea of the problems which have confronted railroad managers in providing the facilities necessary to handle and move the business. The part played, too, by this expansion (with the coincident outlays of capital to provide the facilities to take care of it) in that era of progress and prosperity in the country's industrial history of the last ten years was, it is easy to see, extremely important—in fact, it would not be exaggerating to say, was controlling, for it is the orders of the railroads that have kept the country's industries in such a state of extraordinary activity. The fact is of moment at the present time when a spirit of antagonism and hostility towards railroad interests is developing. Already the railroads have been forced to curtail their capital expenditures, owing to their inability to obtain needed supplies of money on reasonable terms and to the great increase in operating cost occasioned by advances in wages and the higher prices of materials, fuel and supplies. If this state of things should continue, it must inevitably follow that a setback would occur under which a portion—perhaps a considerable portion—of the $1,335,000,000 gain in gross earnings and the $424,000,000 gain in net earnings of the last ten years would be lost.

With reference to the augmentation in expenses, the gain of $85,000,000 in net in 1906 on a gain of $250,000,000 in gross cannot be considered unsatisfactory. And if a continuance of the same ratio of gain in 1907 could be counted on, there would be no cause for anxiety or complaint. Unfortunately, these results do not represent the conditions existing at the present time—that is, in 1907. In the later months of 1906 the net results grew steadily less favorable until in December the improvement was almost wiped out, it amounting for that month to less than a million dollars. In short, in December, while the gain in gross reached over 11 million dollars ($11,001,791) the increase in the net was no more than $887,282. This last is the situation that has been carried into 1907 and which is daily becoming more aggravated under the further advances in wages (which the managers make rather than invite a cessation of operations through a strike) and the steady increase in everything else entering into the operating accounts of the roads. It is also worth noting that the increase in the net during 1906 would not have been so large as it has proved to be except that the roads were able materially to curtail expenditures in the early months by reason of the mild winter weather then prevailing. In the following we bring together the monthly summaries for each month of the year, revealing plainly how the improvement in the net tapered off, starting with $11,676,497 increase in January and $13,549,271 in February and dropping to $887,282 in December.

In Jan. the number of roads was 100; in Feb., 101, in March, 96; in April, 91; in May, 96; in June, 80, in July, 90, in Aug., 91, in Sept., 95, in Oct., 91, in Nov., 97; in Dec., 96.

In the case of the separate roads the returns naturally are on a par with those of the railroad system as a whole, by which we mean that the increases are of very large proportions and that the list of such increases is a very long one. The remark applies to the net as well as to the gross, and yet the statement must be qualified to this extent, namely that the augmentation in expenses which made progress as the year went on is reflected in a considerable number of losses. This will appear from the table we now present and which shows all changes for the separate roads or companies, whether gains or losses, for amounts in excess of $250,000. It will be seen that in the gross there is only one such loss, that of the Buffalo Rochester & Pittsburgh, which suffered a decrease in its gross for the twelve months of $1,100,097 on account of the strike at the coal mines along its lines, but that in the net there are eight companies with decreases running over a quarter of a million each.

v Figures cover ten months only.

x These figures are for the Railroad Co. and do not include the operations of the Coal & Iron Company.

y These figures cover all the lines directly operated east and west of Pittsburgh & Erie. The net on Eastern lines increased $5,902,656 and the net on Western lines increased $2,298,000. Including the lines controlled but operated separately, the aggregate increase in net east and west of Pittsburgh & Erie is $10,385,150.

When arranged in groups, every group records an increase in gross, but two of the groups have a decrease in the net, namely the New England group and the Anthracite group. In the case of Southern roads the upward trend of expenses has been more strongly emphasized than elsewhere, and hence that group shows a relatively small increase in net—only $2,980,361 on a gain of $31,674,078. The other groups have quite stisfactory improvement in the net for the twelve months. The summary by groups is as follows:

Note.—In the above we show in the case of the Pennsylvania Railroad the results for the lines directly operated only, east and west of Pittsburgh and Erie. Including the roads controlled but separately operated (such as the Northern Central, West Jersey & Seashore, Philadelphia Baltimore & Washington, Grand Rapids & Indiana, Terre Haute & Indianapolis, &c., &c., all of which will be found below in the respecutive groups where they belong), the aggregate gross earnings of the whole Pennsylvania Railroad sytem for the calendar year 1906 were $295,898,165, against $266,069,598 for the calendar year 1905, an increase of $29,828,567; and aggregate net earnings were $84,354,399 for 1906 and $73,969,249 for 1905, an increase of $10,385,150.

c These figures are partly estimated.

d These figures are for 10 months only in both years.

o These are results after deducting the earnings of the Boston & Albany, included in the New England group above.

As already stated, besides the roads furnishing exhibits of gross and net, there are some important systems, including among others the Northern Pacific, the Great Northern, the Burlington & Quincy and the Milwaukee & St. Paul, which give out figures only as to the gross. Starting with the total of the gross in the foregoing, we add these other roads in the table which follows.

In this way we arrive at the gain of $241,913,596 referred to above. This, it will be understood, is not conjecture, but deals with actual recorded results. The mileage covered is 210,454, leaving still a small percentage of roads not represented and which, if it could be included, would swell the gain to $250,000,000 as stated above. We add the following, comparing the total in the table last given with similar totals derived in the same way in previous years.

THE ALDRICH FINANCIAL BILL.

The Aldrich Currency Bill, which was passed by the Senate on February 26, passed the House on the 2d inst. by a vote of 160 to 72, and was approved by President Roosevelt on the 4th inst. It therefore is now a law. The text of the bill, as published by us last Saturday, was incomplete, inasmuch as, through inadvertence, it failed to include two amendments adopted in the Senate. We accordingly reprint the measure, giving it as it now appears on the statute books. We also show in smaller type the sections of the old law in each instance which the new statute replaces

AN ACT

To amend the National Banking Act, and for other purposes.

"Be it enacted by the Senate and House of Representatives of the United States of America, in Congress assembled, That section six of an Act to define and fix the standard of value, to maintain the parity of all forms of money issued or coined by the United States, to refund the public debt and for other purposes, approved March 14 1900, be, and the same is hereby amended to read as follows:

"Section 6.—That the Secretary of the Treasury is hereby authorized and directed to receive deposits of gold coin with the Treasurer or any Assistant Treasurer of the United States in sums of not less than $20, and to issue gold certificates therefor in denominations of not less than ten dollars, and the coin so deposited shall be retained in the Treasury and held for the payment of such certificates on demand, and used for no other purpose. Such certificates shall be receivable for customs, taxes and all public dues, and when so received may be re-issued, and when held by any national banking association may be counted as a part of its lawful reserve; Provided, That whenever and so long as the gold coin and bullion held in the reserve fund in the Treasury for the redemption of United States notes and Treasury notes shall fall and remain below one hundred million dollars, the authority to issue certificates as herein provided shall be suspended; And provided further, That whenever and so long as the aggregate amount of United States notes and silver certificates in the general fund of the Treasury shall exceed sixty million dollars, the Secretary of the Treasury may, in his discretion, suspend the issue of the certificates herein provided for; And provided further, That of the amount of such outstanding certificates one-fourth at least shall be in denominations of fifty dollars or less; And provided further, That the Secretary of the Treasury may, in his discretion, issue such certificates in denominations of ten thousand dollars, payable to order. And section fifty-one hundred and ninety-three of the Revised Statutes of the United States is hereby repealed."

[Section 6 of the Act of March 14 1900 was as follows:
Section 6.—That the Secretary of the Treasury is hereby authorized and directed to receive deposits of gold coin with the Treasurer or any Assistant Treasurer of the United States in sums of not less than $20, and to issue gold certificates therefor in denominations of not less than $20, and the coin so deposited shall be retained in the Treasury and held for the payment of such certificates on demand, and used for no other purpose. Such certificates shall be receivable for customs, taxes and all public dues, and when so received may be re-issued, and when held by any national banking association may be counted as a part of its lawful reserve; Provided, That whenever and so long as the gold coin held in the reserve fund in the Treasury for the redemption of United States notes and Treasury notes shall fall and remain below $100,000,000, the authority to issue certificates as herein provided shall be suspended; and provided further, That whenever and so long as the aggregate amount of United States notes and silver certificates in the general fund of the Treasury shall exceed $60,000,000, the Secretary of the Treasury may, in his discretion, suspend the issue of the certificates herein provided for; and provided further, that of the amount of such outstanding certificates one-fourth at least shall be in denominations of $50 or less; And provided further, that the Secretary of the Treasury may in his discretion issue such certificates in denominations of $10,000, payable to order And section 5,193 of the Revised Statutes of the United States is hereby repealed.]

[Section 5193, which was repealed by the Act of March 14 1900, read as follows:
Section 5193.—The Secretary of the Treasury may receive United States notes on deposit, without interest, from any national banking associations, in sums of not less than ten thousand dollars, and issue certificates therefor in such form as he may prescribe, in denominations of not less than five thousand dollars, and payable on demand in United States notes at the place where the deposits were made. The notes so deposited shall not be counted as part of the lawful-money reserve of the association; but the certificates issued therefor may be counted as part of its lawful-money reserve, and may be accepted in the settlement of clearing-house balances at the places where the deposits therefor were made.]

"Section 2.—That whenever and so long as the outstanding silver certificates of the denominations of $1, $2 and $5, issued under the provisions of section seven of an Act entitled, 'An Act to define and fix the standard of value, to maintain the parity of all forms of money issued or coined by the United States, to refund the public debt and for other purposes,' approved March 14 1900, shall be, in the opinion of the Secretary of the Treasury, insufficient to meet the public demand therefor, he is hereby authorized to issue United States notes of the denominations of $1, $2 and $5, and upon the issue of United States notes of such denominations an equal amount of United States notes of higher denominations shall be retired and canceled: Provided, however, That the aggregate amount of United States notes at any time outstanding shall remain as at present fixed by law: And provided further, That nothing in this Act shall be construed as affecting the right of any national bank to issue one-third in amount of its circulating notes of the denomination of $5, as now provided by law.

Section 3.—That section 5153 of the Revised Statutes be amended to read as follows: "Section 5153.—All national banking associations designated for that purpose by the Secretary of the Treasury shall be depositaries of public money, under such regulations as may be prescribed by the Secretary; and they may also be employed as financial agents of the Government; and they shall perform all such reasonable duties, as depositaries of public money and financial agents of the Government, as may be required of them. The Secretary of the Treasury shall require the associations thus designated to give satisfactory security, by the deposit of United States bonds and otherwise, for the safe keeping and prompt payment of the public money deposited with them, and for the faithful performance of their duties as financial agents of the Government; Provided, That the Secretary shall, on or before the first of January of each year, make a public statement of the securities required during that year for such deposits. And every association so designated as receiver or depositary of the public money shall take and receive at par all of the national currency bills, by whatever association issued, which have been paid into the Government for internal revenue or for loans or stocks; Provided, That the Secretary of the Treasury shall distribute the deposits herein provided for, as far as practicable, equitably between the different States and sections."

[Section 5153, before amended, was as follows:
Section 5153.—All national banking associations, designated for that purpose by the Secretary of the Treasury, shall be depositaries of public money, except receipts from customs, under such regulations as may be prescribed by the Secretary; and they may also be employed as financial agents of the Government; and they shall perform all such reasonable duties, as depositaries of public moneys and financial agents, of the Government, as may be required of them. The Secretary of the Treasury shall require the associations thus designated to give satisfactory security, by the deposit of United States bonds and otherwise, for the safe keeping and prompt payment of the public money deposited with them, and for the faithful performance of their duties as financial agents of the Government. And every association so designated as receiver or depositary of the public money shall take and receive at par all of the national currency bills, by whatever association issued, which have been paid into the Government for internal revenue, or for loans or stocks.]

Section 4.—That section 9 of the Act of July 12 1882, as amended by the Act of March 14 1900, be further amended to read as follows:

"Section 9.—That any national banking association, now organized, or hereafter organized, desiring to withdraw its circulating notes, upon a deposit of lawful money with the Treasurer of the United States, as provided in section 4 of the Act of June 20 1874, or as provided in this Act, is authorized to deposit lawful money and, with the consent of the Comptroller of the Currency and the approval of the Secretary of the Treasury, withdraw a proportionate amount of the bonds held as security for its circulating notes in the order of such deposits; Provided, That not more than $9.000,000 of lawful money shall be deposited during any calendar month for this purpose; And provided further, That the provisions of this section shall not apply to bonds called for redemption by the Secretary of the Treasury, nor to withdrawal of circulating notes in consequence thereof."

[Section 9 of the Laws of 1882, as amended by the Act of March 14 1900, was as follows:
Section 9.—That any national banking association now organized, or hereafter organized, desiring to withdraw its circulating notes, upon a deposit of lawful money with the Treasurer of the United States, as provided in section four of the Act of June twentieth, eighteen hundred and seventy-four, entitled "An Act fixing the amount of United States notes, providing for a re-distribution of national bank currency, and for other purposes," or as provided in this act, is authorized to deposit lawful money and withdraw a proportionate amount of the bonds held as security for its circulating notes in the order of such deposits; Provided, That not more than three millions of dollars of lawful money shall be deposited during any calendar month for this purpose: And provided further, That the provisions of this section shall not apply to bonds called for redemption by the Secretary of the Treasury nor to the withdrawal of circulating notes in consequence thereof.]

—The Senate bill providing for the establishment of an agricultural bank in the Philippine Islands was passed by the House on the 3d inst., with the amendments recommended by the Committee on Insular Affairs. The House amendments to the bill were concurred in on the same day by the Senate. The bill authorizes the Philippine Islands to create a bank for the purpose of making loans for agricultural purposes only. The following is the form in which it has become a law:

An Act (S. 6249) to provide for the establishment of an agricultural bank in the Philippine Islands.

Be it enacted, &c., That for the purpose of aiding in the establishment and operation of such an agricultural bank in the Philippine Islands as the General Government thereof may hereafter specifically authorize, the Philippine Government is empowered to guarantee an income of not exceeding 4 per cent per annum upon cash capital actually invested by individuals or corporations in such agricultural bank; such guaranty shall be granted by an Act of the Philippine Commission which shall contain, among others, the following provisions:

First. The guaranty shall be made to a company organized under the laws of the Philippine Islands, with its principal office in Manila and with branches in such parts of the islands as may be designated by the Philippine Commission.

Second. The bank shall not grant loans except to those engaged in agriculture and with the sole purpose of assisting agriculture in the Philippine Islands.

Third. No loan exceeding in amount $5,000 shall be made except upon the written authorization of the Secretary of Finance and Justice of the Philippine Islands.

Fourth. Interest charged on loans shall not exceed 10 per cent per annum: Provided, That in no event shall the total annual contingent liability under the guaranties authorized by this Act at any time exceed $200,000, and no such guaranty shall continue for a longer period than twenty-five years.

For the further security of the Philippine Government said Government shall provide by the aforesaid Act proper rules, including those for determining the cash capital actually invested in such bank and the net income actually received on said capital so invested, and shall provide for supervision by said Philippine Government, through the auditing and other appropriate bureaus thereof, of the conduct of the business of the bank.

The bank shall make such reports from time to time as to its receipts and expenditures in such form and substance and sworn to by such officials as may be prescribed by the Philippine Government, and its books and accounts shall be at all times open to inspection by any authorized agent of the Philippine Government.

Sec. 2. That money paid by the Philippine Government pursuant to the aforementioned guaranty shall be a liability of the bank of the Philippine Government, and, as such, shall constitute a lien upon and be paid out of the annual net profits of the bank, subject only to the right of the stockholders to receive therefrom 4 per cent dividends per annum upon the bank's cash paid-up capital stock. No dividends above 4 per cent shall be paid, and no profits credited to the surplus fund, either during the period of the Government's guaranty or subsequent thereto, until the Philippine Government shall have been repaid in full all sums advanced to the bank under said guaranty.

Obligations of the bank to the Philippine Government arising from advances made pursuant to the aforementioned guaranty and existing at the time when the bank shall go into liquidation shall constitute a lien on the bank's assets, subject only to the payment of the bank's legitimate debts and the repayment to the stockholders of the par value of the bank's duly authorized cash paid-up capital stock: Provided, That nothing in this section shall be interpreted as a guaranty on the part of the Philippine Government to the stockholders of the bank of the par value of the bank's cash paid-up capital stock when the bank shall go into liquidation.

Sec. 3. That the bank shall not be permitted to hold real estate beyond that required for business premises: Provided, That the temporary acquisition of land as the result of foreclosure, or otherwise, on account of a debt, shall be permitted on condition that land so acquired shall be sold within ten years from the date of acquisition, and all said land not so alienated in good faith shall be forfeited to the Philippine Government.

—In accordance with the amendment to the constitution of the New York Stock Exchange recently adopted, the Governing Committee on Feb. 27 ruled that on and after March 4 quotations for the stock of the Anaconda Copper Co. should be on the basis of dollars and cents per share. The closing price of Anaconda on March 2, expressing, under the old rule, percentage of par value, was 292½%. The opening price March 4 was $72½ per share, the par value of which is $25. Tennessee Copper Co. stock, par value $25 per share, admitted to the Unlisted Department of the Exchange Feb. 28, and Utah Copper Co. stock, par value $10 per share, added to the Unlisted Department March 4, are also dealt in on the basis of dollars and cents per share. Commissions for executing orders in any of above-mentioned stocks are fixed at 12½ cents per share instead of ⅛ of 1% of the par value—the rate for other stocks on the list.

—The members of the New York Produce Exchange at a meeting on Thursday approved the rules and by-laws regulating the proposed dealings on that Exchange in mining, industrial and other securities. A recommendation to list such securities (which, it is understood, will include stocks not dealt in on the New York Stock Exchange) was made several months ago by the Board of Managers of the Produce Exchange, as noted in this department Jan. 5. The members subsequently voted in favor of the movement. The character of the stocks to be listed will be decided upon by a committee which is to be appointed for the purpose. The rates of commission for the purchase or sale of stocks are to be, it is stated, as follows: On stocks selling under 20 cents a share, 50 cents per 100 shares; on stocks selling at or over 20 cents and under $1 a share, $1 per 100 shares; on stocks selling at or over $1 and under $6 25 a share, 1% of the amount involved; on stocks selling at $6 25 or upward a share, $6 25 per 100 shares. The rates of commission for members are to be one-half the regular rates of commission. Commissions for the purchase or sale of bonds are to be at the rate of $12 50 for each $10,000 of par value.

—We give below a circular letter issued yesterday by the committees on organization of the proposed Irving and Atlas trust companies. These two rival concerns have been in process of formation since the change in ownership in the Irving National early this year, which was followed by its merger with the N. Y. National Exchange Bank. The establishment of the Irving Trust was being promoted by some of the former directors of the Irving National, while the organization of the Atlas Trust was planned by interests in the consolidated Irving National Exchange Bank. The circular is signed by Samuel S. Conover, H. E. Tener Jr. and William C. Demarest, Committee on Organization of the Irving Trust Company; and William H. Barnard, Theo. F. Whitmarsh, Edwin H. Sayre, William J. Rogers and Edwin E. Jackson Jr., Committee on organization of the Atlas Trust Company.

We are pleased to announce that the undersigned committees on organization of the Atlas Trust Company and the Irving Trust Company have concluded that the interest of all parties will be forwarded by consolidating their efforts so as to give the West Side one large trust company. The name "Irving" and the name "Atlas" will both be dropped, and a new name selected for the combined institution. It will have a capital of $750,000 and a surplus of $750,000.

Mr. Samuel S. Conover will be President of the new trust company; Mr. William H. Barnard will be Vice-President. Its banking office will be located at the corner of Chambers and Hudson streets. Both committees feel that the presence of one large trust company in this neighborhood will furnish much needed facilities, and should have your good will and patronage.

—The stockholders of the Northern National Bank of this city voted yesterday to relinquish its national charter and convert the bank into a State banking institution for the purpose of absorbing other State banks and establishing branches in various parts of the city. The reorganized company will be known as the Northern Bank of New York, the official staff and capitalization remaining as at present.

—The American Bankers' Association has issued in volume form the detailed proceedings of its thirty-second annual convention, which was held at St. Louis last year on Oct. 16, 17, 18 and 19. The work, edited by Secretary James R. Branch, has been prepared in the customary attractive manner. The officers of the association, portraits of whom appear in the book, are: President, G. S. Whitson; Vice-President of the National City Bank of New York; First Vice-President, J. D. Powers, Louisville, Ky.; Secretary, James R Branch, New York; Treasurer, A. A. Crane, Cashier of the National Bank of Commerce, Minneapolis; Assistant Secretary, William G. Fitzwilson, New York; and Chairman of the Executive Council, George M. Reynolds, President of the Continental National Bank of Chicago.

—Definite announcement regarding the proposed consolidation of the Union Bank of Brooklyn Borough with the Mechanics' & Traders' Bank of this city, which more than two months ago was rumored to be under way, was made on the 1st inst. For the purpose of taking over the Union Bank, an increase of $1,300,000 in the capital of the Mechanics' & Traders' (raising it from $700,000 to $2,000,000) was authorized by the latter's stockholders on Tuesday. It was also voted to change the par value of the stock, heretofore $25 per share, to $100, and to increase the directorate from nineteen to twenty-five members. The equivalent of $2,275,000 is to be paid by the Mechanics' & Traders' for the $1,000,000 capital of the Union Bank, the exchange being on the basis of 100 shares of Union stock at $227 50 per share, for 130 shares of stock of the Mechanics' & Traders' at $175 per share. The stockholders of the Union Bank will meet on the 18th inst. to ratify the consolidation. It will be remembered that David A. Sullivan, President of the Union, became President of the Mechanics' & Traders' Bank at the annual meeting in January.

—The February 26 statement of the Corn Exchange Bank shows a line of net deposits amounting to $43,869,190 and capital, surplus and profits of $7,800,000. The bank's deposits represent the combined business of its headquarters at William and Beaver streets and the twenty-one branches scattered throughout Greater New York. Organized in 1853, its growth in recent years has been very striking, the institution's system of branch banking having been extended until to-day the total resources are more than $51,700,000. William A. Nash is President, Walter E. Frew Vice-President and Frederick T. Martin Cashier. The Assistant Cashiers are William E. Williams and William H. Ketchum.

—The deposits of the Interboro Bank, corner of Exchange Place and William Street, have now passed the million mark. The institution's capital was recently increased to $200,000 and its surplus to $110,000 by the stockholders' subscription to new capital on March 1. Since January 1906, when David F. Walker and new interests reorganized its affairs, the bank has secured much new and profitable business. A. E. Goodridge is Vice-President and H. W. Baker Cashier.

—The Mutual Alliance Trust Company of this city, with offices at Hanover Square and at Grand and Orchard streets, will open a branch at Lenox Avenue corner of 116th Street.

—John D. Ostrander, Assistant Secretary of the Mercantile Trust Company of this city, died at his home in New Rochelle on the 7th inst. He was fifty-four years of age.

—Lyman Rhoades, President of the Mercantile Safe Deposit Company and the Mercantile Electric Company of this city, died in Camden, S. C., on the 6th inst. He was a brother of the late John Harsen Rhoades, President of the Greenwich Savings Bank of this city.

—The First National Bank of Plainfield, N. J., plans an extension of 53 feet to its bank building, having completed the purchase of a strip of land on adjoining property. It is proposed to erect a building on the new site, which will be made a part of the institution's present structure, the two forming an "L." The bank's vaults will be removed to the new section when completed.

—"The Management and Distribution of Estates" is the title under which the Franklin Trust Company of this city presents a pamphlet designed to "answer questions frequently asked, and for the information of those who wish to know generally the laws and rules governing the disposition of estates." The pamphlet is ornate in appearance and contains much useful information. The company seeks to state clearly the leading laws and rules in New York State relative to the management, settlement and distribution of estates. Various phases of the subject are treated, each under a distinct heading, viz.: The Estates of Decedents; the Distribution of Estates of Deceased Persons who leave no Will; the Distribution of Personal Estate and Descent of Real Estate; Trusts Created by Will or Deed; Wills, Dower, &c., &c. Incidentally attention is drawn to the functions performed by the institution, and to the particulars in which a trust company possesses superiority over an individual in a trust capacity. The company has offices both in Manhattan and Brooklyn Boroughs. It has a capital of $1,500,000 and surplus and profits of over $3,000,000.

—The stockholders of the First National Bank of Albany, N. Y., ratified on the 1st inst. the proposition to increase the capital of the institution from $300,000 to $600,000, and also approved an amendment to the articles of association so as to provide for a board of thirty-five members. The changes are made on account of the proposed consolidation of the First National and National Exchange banks. The latter's stockholders will vote on the matter at a meeting on the 27th inst., instead of on the 18th inst. as previously announced.

—W. H. Van Schoonhoven has replaced William Kemp as President of the National City Bank of Troy, N. Y. Thomas Vail succeeds Mr. Van Schoonhoven as Vice-President and E. W. Greenman is successor to R. C. Bull as Cashier.

—A plan to merge the Mechanics' National Bank and the Hardware City Trust Company of New Britain, Conn., into the New Britain Trust Company has been recommended to the respective stockholders for acceptance. The charter of the New Britain Trust Company, under which the consolidated institutions will operate, was secured some years ago, and is said to be very broad, giving the company power to conduct a banking business in any part of the world. The Hardware City Trust Company has a capital of $100,000 and surplus of $50,000; it began business last October; the Mechanics' National has a capital and surplus of $100,000 each and undivided profits of $50,000. The new institution to be formed through the union will have, it is stated, $200,000 capital and surplus and profits of about $300,000. Its officers will be W. E. Attwood, President; L. Hoyt Pease and Charles M. Jarvis, Vice-Presidents; Frank G. Vibberts, Treasurer, and H. B. Boardman, Secretary.

—Edward E. Stevens and Roland E. Chafey have been appointed Assistant Treasurers of the Boston Safe Deposit & Trust Company of Boston, Mass.

—The Real Estate Trust Company of Philadelphia has again become a city depositary, City Treasurer Bringhurst having opened an account for the city on Tuesday with a deposit of $200,000. When the institution suspended last August, it held city funds to the amount of about $300,000. Under the reorganization plan the city was paid one-third in cash and the remainder, $200,000, in preferred stock. In accordance with the decision of the City Council to again make the company a city depositary if it would buy back this stock at par, the company last week paid to the City Treasurer the sum of $200,000 for the 2,000 shares.

—Ben Kenworthy, who resigned as President of the Manayunk Trust Company of Philadelphia several months ago, died on the 3rd inst. in his seventy-first year.

—John B. Gest, a director of the Fidelity Trust Company and the Mortgage Trust Company of Philadelphia, died on the 1st inst. He was eighty-three years of age. Mr. Gest was formerly President of the Fidelity Trust, but retired in 1900. A son, William P. Gest, is Vice-President of the institution.

—Thomas F. Ryan, Vice-President of the National Bank of Commerce, New York, and of the Morton Trust Company, has been elected a director of the Commercial Trust Company of Philadelphia.

—At the annual election of officers of the Philadelphia Stock Exchange on Monday, E. Clarence Miller, of E. C. Miller & Co., was elected President. Mr. Miller was the candidate on the brokers' ticket; E. B. Smith, who had been nominated for President by the Nominating Committee of the Exchange, withdrew as a candidate a month ago. J. Bell Austin has been re-elected Secretary and Treasurer of the Exchange.

—The Hamilton Trust Company of Philadelphia has removed from 3936 Market Street to its own new building at the southeast corner of 40th and Market streets. The institution has $400,000 capital and is officered by R. Crosby Fairlamb, President; Henry Brooks and Jacob Beiswanger, Vice-Presidents; Abraham Pyle, Secretary and Treasurer, and William R. Bricker, Title and Trust Officer.

—Preliminary steps have been taken to organize the Importers' & Traders' National Bank of Philadelphia. The institution is to have a capital of $500,000 and a surplus of $700,000. The application to organize, approved by the Comptroller of the Currency on Feb. 26, was presented by John W. Murgatroyd, Clarence W. Moore, H. Erdmann Jr., Edw. F. Howard and William F. Rowan.

—The proposition to reduce the capital of the Merchants' Savings & Trust Company of Pittsburgh from $500,000 to $250,000 will be acted upon by the stockholders on May 2. The company began business in November 1902.

—Charles W. Svenson has been appointed Cashier of the Jennings Real Estate, Loan & Trust Company of Chicago to succeed W. W. Chapman, resigned. Herbert E. Madison has also resigned as Treasurer.

—On the 5th inst. the stockholders of the Monroe National Bank of Chicago approved the proposed plan to increase the capital from $200,000 to $300,000. The new stock will be issued April 3, and will be offered pro rata to the present shareholders at $125 per share. From the proceeds, $25,000 are added to the surplus, making this item approximately $50,000. The growth of the Monroe National has been most encouraging.

—The detailed report of the proceedings of the tenth annual convention of the Nebraska Bankers' Association, held in November at Omaha, is now available in book form. It includes as well the proceedings of the meetings held last year by the six separate groups of the State. To indicate the work of the Association, Secretary William B. Hughes in a circular accompanying the book calls attention, among other things, to the Legislative Committee which has been appointed to watch for legislation affecting the banking fraternity one way or the other, and which is to give attention especially to possible legislation on the subject of depository bonds. We note also that the Bond & Burglary Insurance Committee was instructed at the last meeting to prepare a bill on this subject of depository bonds and report to the Legislative Committee.

—The Colorado Springs National Bank of Colorado Springs, Colo., organized with $100,000 capital, is to be under the management of Samuel D. McCracken, President; Newton S. Gandy, William F. Richards and William Kennon Jewett, Vice-Presidents, and Willis R. Armstrong, Cashier.

—The Commercial National Bank of Covington, Ky., capital $100,000, commenced business on Feb. 23. J. A. Downard is President.

—It is reported that the Bankers' Trust Company of Memphis, Tenn., has completed arrangements for the absorption of the Security Bank of Memphis. According to the Memphis "Appeal," there is to be no increase in the capital —$518,400—of the Bankers' Trust. The Security Bank has a capital of $50,000; its deposits are in the neighborhood of $500,000.

—A meeting of the stockholders of the State Bank of Virginia, at Richmond, Va., will be held on April 2 to consider the question of converting the institution into a national bank.

—The coming annual convention of the Georgia Bankers' Association is to be held on June 5 and 6 at Macon. L. P. Hillyer, Vice-President and Cashier of the American National Bank of Macon, is Secretary of the Association.

—R. C. Ayres, who was elected a Vice-President of the Gaston National Bank of Dallas, Tex., on Jan. 8, resigned on the 28th ult. It is stated that he purposes organizing a new national institution to have a capital of $500,000 and to be known as the Commonwealth National Bank. Mr. Ayres was Cashier of the Gaston National Bank prior to his election as Vice-President in January.

—P. B. Doty has become Cashier of the Gulf National Bank of Beaumont, Tex., succeeding J. L. Cunningham. T. L. Coplin takes Mr. Doty's place as Assistant Cashier.

—The Texas Bankers' Association has decided, through its executive committee, to hold the 1907 convention on May 28, 29 and 30 at Corpus Christi.

—The Merchants' National Bank of San Francisco has been designated a Government depositary. The bank started on January 3 last, taking over the commercial business of the Scandinavian-American Savings Bank. The latter's savings business is now conducted under the name of the Scandinavian Savings Bank. The new national bank has a capital of $500,000.

—Three financial institutions in Long Beach, Cal., have decided to merge their interests. The People's Bank and the Bank of Commerce will unite with the First National, the latter increasing its capital from $200,000 to $500,000. J. B. Heartwell will continue as President of the First National. The consolidation is to be ratified by the stockholders of the several institutions on April 9. The Citizens' Savings Bank of Long Beach, which is affiliated with the First National, is to increase its capital from $100,000 to $250,000 and to change its name to the Citizens' Savings & Trust Company.

—A branch of the Canadian Bank of Commerce (head office, Toronto) was opened on February 1 at Prince Rupert, B. C. It is in charge of E. W. Carr Hilton.

—Charles McGill, formerly General Manager of the defunct Ontario Bank, of Toronto, Ont., pleaded guilty on the 1st ult. to the charge of making false returns of the bank's condition to the Government, and was sentenced to five years imprisonment. Ex-President G. R. R. Cockburn, who had been accused of a similar offense, was adjudged not guilty in the Police Court on the 4th ult., and the case dismissed.

—John Sharples, Vice-President of the Union Bank of Canada (head office Quebec), has been elected President of the institution to succeed the late Andrew Thomson. W. Price has been elected Mr. Sharples' successor as Vice-President. G. H. Balfour is General Manager.

—The thirty-seventh annual report of the Deutsche Bank, presented yesterday in Berlin, states that the entire world, but particularly Germany and the United States, is now suffering from an excess of prosperity, in that the cash requirements for new enterprises have exceeded the provision of new capital required therefor. The business of this bank for the past year shows the following results: The turnover, or volume of business, has increased from $18,334,000,000 to $20,239,000,000; the usual dividends have been paid at the rate of 12% per annum; the capital is now $47,619,000, and the shares are quoted at 241%; the reserve amount has been increased to about $25,000,000, while the unwritten reserve, being that represented by the book valuation less than the market value of the investments, has increased to $14,280,000, thus making the total actual reserve more than 80% of the total share capital. The cash items amount to $245,000,000, while the sum due the public for cash deposits is $298,000,000. The number of open accounts has increased from 139,000 to 164,000, and the staff from 3,693 to 4,096 employees.

Monetary and Commercial English News

London, Saturday, February 23 1907.

The Stock Exchange has, if possible, been duller and more discontented this week than during recent weeks. Money is exceedingly scarce and dear. All hope of an early reduction of the Bank rate has disappeared, and people are asking anxiously, Will there be any return of ease during the present year? The cause of the apprehension is the large borrowings of the American railroad companies, both here and in Paris. They have borrowed very successfully, and people are asking, Will they take gold? The Bank of England is rapidly gaining in strength, and in a short time it could see Americans take gold in the open market without disquietude, provided the American demand was satisfied by buying of the new gold offering in London. But when once a demand for gold for America arises nobody knows how large it may become. Therefore, the mere danger that America may begin to buy gold frightens people lest the purchases should assume such magnitude as would once more disturb the market.

Assuming that the American demand may not be large, there is much that is reassuring in other directions. The Indian Government has sold drafts on such a very extensive scale that it has not had to "ear-mark" gold to any considerable extent. It has, in fact, been able to avoid disturbing the London money market to a much greater extent than anybody thought possible. Gold, moreover, is coming back from Egypt, and Brazil has not been taking as much gold as seemed likely a little while ago. The new President of Brazil is understood to be in favor of the coffee "valorization" scheme. Therefore, he was inclined to give the guaranty of the Federal Government to the loans raised by Sao Paulo. But according to report, on consulting Messrs. Rothschild on the matter, this banking house refused to have any part in such a business. The authenticity of the report, however, has been denied.

Furthermore, there seems to be reasonable grounds for believing that the Argentine demand is now almost satisfied. The imports into Argentina during the past twelve months have been on a greatly increased scale, and for that reason alone it was thought probable that the gold imports would be considerably decreased. But quite lately another reason has come into play to diminish the gold imports. There is a very great shortage in the maize crop. The area under the crop was very largely increased, and shortly after seed time the prospects looked so favorable that a very large crop was anticipated. Drought, however, has injured the crop very seriously. Telegrams received in London this week estimate the loss at from 50 to 60% of a full crop on this year's acreage. Probably the estimates are exaggerated. Still, the losses must be very serious, and the conclusion generally drawn is that Argentina will not be in a position to take as much gold as was apprehended.

On the other hand, it is objected that although it would be profitable now to ship gold both from Paris and from Berlin to London no gold worth speaking of is coming. A small amount has been received from Germany. But it is understood that that was found in the open market, as the Imperial Bank refuses to part with any of its gold. The Bank of France also refuses to part with gold, objecting that while it is willing to give the metal for genuine trade requirements, it will not part with a franc to support speculation. Therefore it is argued that no gold can be obtained from the Continent, that if an American demand arises it will have to be satisfied out of the new gold coming from South Africa and Australia. Moreover, there is an unreasonable apprehension regarding the coming budget. Mr. Asquith is a man of great judgment and ability. Nobody supposes him to be revolutionary in any sense. Why, therefore, it should be taken for granted that he is about to make a serious attack upon the rich it is not easy to understand. But the fear exists that the budget will disclose various projects, all of which will bear heavily upon the rich. Probably the whole thing has its origin in the appointment of a commission to inquire into the possibility and desirability of graduating the income tax. The commission is in favor of graduation, and probably that has led to the notion that all the plans of the Government for benefiting the poor are to be paid for by heaping taxes upon the rich.

The India Council offered for tender on Wednesday 120 lacs and the applications amounted to 986 lacs at prices ranging from 1s. 4 3-32 to 1s. 4 5-32d. per rupee. Applicants for bills at 1s. 4 3-32d. and for telegraphic transfers at 1s. 4 5-32d. per rupee were allotted about 12% of the amounts applied for.

DIVIDENDS.

We have changed the method of making up our weekly list of dividends. Heretofore our record has included only the dividends announced each week, but for the convenience of our readers we now enlarge the scope of the compilation so as to show also dividends previously declared but the date of payment of which has not yet arrived. In the new form the statement indicates all the dividends announced for the future by all large or important corporations.

Dividends announced this week are printed in italics.

Statement of New York City Clearing-House Banks.—The following statement shows the condition of the New York City Clearing-House banks for the week ending Mar. 2. It should be distinctly understood that as to all items except capital and surplus the figures are the averages of the daily results, not the totals at the end of the week. In other words, in reporting loans and deposits and holdings of specie and legal tenders, the practice is to take the aggregate of the amounts for the several days of the week and divide this aggregate by the number of days.

We omit two ciphers (00) in all cases.

The Money Market and Financial Situation.—The security markets have this week made an unusual record. The downward movement of prices, which has been in progress for some time past, continued with increasing force during the early part of the week. It reached a turning point on Wednesday, when aggressive selling in the early hours and perhaps more aggressive buying in the afternoon, made the market the most active in recent months, or since the period immediately following the Union Pacific and Southern Pacific dividend announcements in August last. The recovery which took place, beginning on Wednesday, was a substantial one, but was lost in the renewed decline to-day.

The open market rates for call loans on the Stock Exchange during the week on stock and bond collaterals have ranged from 3 to 6¼%. To-day's rates on call were 4@6%. Prime commercial paper quoted at 6@6¼% for endorsements and 6@6¼% for best single names.

The Bank of England weekly statement on Thursday showed a decrease in bullion of £640,935, and the percentage of reserve to liabilities was 44.82, against 47.22 last week.

The discount rate remains as fixed Jan. 17 at 5%. The Bank of France shows a decrease of 10,225,000 francs in gold and 2,625,000 francs in silver.

Note.—Returns of separate banks appear on the preceding page.

Foreign Exchange.—The market was heavy this week, influenced by a pressure of security bills and dear money; the tone was weak at the close.

To-day's (Friday's) nominal rates for sterling exchange were 4 81½@4 82 for sixty day and 4 85½@4 86 for sight. To-day's (Friday's) actual rates for sterling exchange were 4 8020@4 8030 for long, 4 8440@4 8445 for short and 4 85@4 8510 for cables. Commercial on banks 4 7980@4 7990 and documents for payment 4 79¼@4 80½. Cotton for payment 4 79¼@4 79⅜, cotton for acceptance 4 7980@4 7990 and grain for payment 4 80⅜@4 80½.

To-day's (Friday's) actual rates for Paris bankers' francs were 5 23¾*a*@5 23¾ for long and 5 21⅞*a*@5 21⅞*d* for short. Germany bankers' marks were 93 11-16@93¾ for long and 94 7-16@94½*d*. for short. Amsterdam bankers' guilders were 39.88@39.90 for short.

Exchange at Paris on London to-day 25f. 30c.; week's range 25f. 30c. high and 25f. 29c. low.

The following were the rates for exchange on New York at the undermentioned cities to-day: Savannah buying, 50c. per $1,000 discount; selling, 75c. per $1,000 premium. Charleston selling, $1 per $1,000 premium. New Orleans bank, 50c. per $1,000 discount; commercial, 75c per $1,000 discount. Chicago, 15c. per $1,000 discount. St. Louis, par. San Francisco, $1.25 per $1,000 premium.

State and Railroad Bonds.—Sales of State bonds at the Board include $15,000 Tennessee settlement 3s at 95¾ to 96, $1,000 North Carolina 6s at 126 and $2,000 Virginia 6s deferred trust receipts at 22.

The market for railway and industrial bonds has been slightly more active, although the larger volume of business is chiefly due to liberal offerings of a few issues, and the tendency of prices has been downward. This is notably true in the case of convertible issues, which have declined in sympathy with the shares market.

United States Bonds.—Sales of Government bonds at the Board are limited to $2,500 3s, coup. 1908-18, at 103½ to 103¾, and $1,000 4s, reg. 1907, at 100⅝. The following are the daily closing quotations; for yearly range see third page following.

Railroad and Miscellaneous Stocks.—The stock market, as noted above, has been unusually active and erratic in movement. The lowest prices of the week were, in most cases, recorded during the early part of Wednesday, when the entire active list showed a decline from last week's closing prices of from 4 to 16 points, averaging between 8 and 10. At mid-day, or a little after, on Wednesday a sharp rally set in led by the Reading shares, which rapidly recovered about 11 points of its recent decline, and other prominent issues advanced from 3 to 6 or 7 points.

Thursday's market was much less active, nearly 1,000,000 shares less having been traded in than on the previous day, and prices fluctuated over a range of several points with no very definite trend at any particular time. To-day the market has been again active and very irregular. Several issues covered a wide range, and of a list of 20 prominent railway stocks 9 close at the lowest quotations recorded during the week and year.

Reading has been the conspicuous feature of the week, about 700,000 shares having been traded in on Wednesday at from 114¼ to 125¼. Brooklyn Rapid Transit, however, covered a wider range, selling 15¾ below last week's closing price. At the same time or later Great Northern was down about 11, Canadian Pacific 12, Atchison 11, Northern Pacific 10, Union Pacific 10, Delaware & Hudson 11 and Interboro 8. Southern Railway preferred, which has been depressed for some time past, advanced 7 points to-day on announcement of the regular dividend.

The industrials made a more conservative record. Anaconda Mining is now quoted in single shares, par value of $25, instead of in lots of four shares as formerly and has covered nearly 8 points. Sloss-Sheffield Steel & Iron declined 11½ points. Consolidated Gas 9, and other stocks in this group from 6 to 8. Steel preferred closed below par.

For daily volume of business see page 561.

The following sales have occurred this week of shares not represented in our detailed list on the pages which follow:

Outside Market.—The demoralization on the Stock Exchange this week had its counterpart in the "curb" market, trading there being decidedly irregular and prices, save in a few instances, materially lower. Nevada-Utah continues a feature, the price, after moving down from 8⅜ to 7⅞, then up to 9¼, dropping to-day to 6¼, the close being at 6½. In contrast was the movement of United Copper common, which jumped from 72¼ to 77, declined to 75 and ends the week at 75¼. Greene Cananea from 20⅛ fell to 18, recovering finally to 18⅛. Greene Consolidated Copper sank from 30 to 27⅛ with the close at 27¼. Boston Consolidated Copper declined from 30 to 27, advancing again to 29, the close to-day being at 28⅛. British Columbia Copper from 9 has declined to 7⅝. Butte Coalition fell from 35¼ to 31½ and closes to-day at 32. Douglas Copper was conspicuous for a slump of 17 points from the last previous transaction to 9. It recovered later to 10⅛. Nevada Consolidated Copper lost 2 points to 16. Davis-Daly Estates sank from 19 to 17. Trinity Copper from 29¼ advanced to 30 sank to 25½ and closes to-day at 26¾. Nipissing was strong, selling up from 21⅛ to 22½, but easing off finally to 21¼. Nipissing ranged down from 13¼ to 12 and closes at 12⅛. Industrials received little attention. American Writing Paper preferred lost 3 points to 21, but recovered to 22. Standard Oil from 521 advanced to 528, then fell to 510 and rebound to 519½. Waterbury Company common was active; after selling up from 52 to 52¾, it ruled lower, sinking to-day to 49½, with a recovery to 50¾. Western Union fell off from 66¾ to 65¼. Colorado Southern from 27¾ dropped to 25¼, with the close at 26⅛.

Investment and Railroad Intelligence.

RAILROAD GROSS EARNINGS.

The following table shows the gross earnings of every STEAM railroad from which regular weekly or monthly returns can be obtained. The first two columns of figures give the gross earnings for the latest week or month, and the last two columns the earnings for the period from July 1 to and including such latest week or month. We add a supplementary statement to show the fiscal year totals of those roads whose fiscal year does not begin with July, but covers some other period. The returns of the street railways are brought together separately on a subsequent page.

Havana Tobacco Co.

(Report for Fiscal Year ending Dec. 31 1906.)

The report of the Treasurer states:

There was no change during the year in the capital stock and bonds. The earnings of the company come chiefly from dividends on its holdings of stocks of Henry Clay and Bock & Co., Ltd., Havana Cigar & Tobacco Factories Ltd., Havana Commercial Co., H. de Cabanas y Carbajal and J. S. Murlas y Ca.

The share of the company of the earnings for the year 1906 of these companies in which it holds stock, which have not been declared as dividends, and have not been received into the treasury of this company (some of these companies have had deficiencies from previous years' operations, and part of these earnings for 1906 were not available for dividends), amounts to $882,179; from this should be deducted the deficit in the operations of this company itself, shown below, $246,006; in order to show actual operations for the year 1906 there should also be deducted the dividends received by this company during 1906 from operations during previous years, amounting to $158,930; leaving a balance (representing the company's share of the undivided net earnings of companies in which it holds stock, which they have deemed it advisable not to declare as dividends) of $477,243.

American Woolen Company.

President Wm. M. Wood says in substance:

General Results.—The cost of operation has been considerably increased during the year by the increased cost of labor and materials. The management, in continuing the policy which has prevailed for several years past, of making improvements on the property when the earnings justify, has expended during the year for betterments $1,451,252, and has written off for depreciation the total of $2,000,000. The year's expenses included an increase in wages of 10% to mill employees. The worsted mills of the company have been exceedingly busy. The demand for woolens has, however, not been so active.

Wood Worsted Mills.—The construction of the Wood Worsted Mills at Lawrence, Mass., begun last year, has progressed satisfactorily, and about 60% of the machinery has been installed and is now in operation. The balance will be set up and started as fast as received. The Wood Worsted Mills has a separate corporate existence but its entire capital stock, excepting one share to each director, as required by law, is owned by the American Woolen Co. The product of the Wood Worsted Mills has been most gratifying, and has won the confidence of the trade, giving the greatest assurance of the immediate success of the mills. (See also V. 82, p. 105; V. 81, p. 977.)

Securities.—The increase in the preferred capital stock of $10,000,000 will be available March 25 1907. There are no encumbrances of any kind upon any of the plants owned or controlled by the company.

Note.—The company is the owner of box cars, which are running on various railroads. Conditions have changed since its organization in 1886, and the situation it faces is totally different. In previous reports there was included among assets an item of "Cars," which was simply the amount making the balance between the capital stock and the other assets and liabilities of the company and never had any relation to the actual value of the cars owned. It was deemed expedient to omit this amount in the last report for 1906, but to give the number of cars in existence, so that a stock-holder can form better judgment of the true conditions. On July 1 1906 the number of cars in service was 2,425 on July 1 1905. Profit and loss surplus July 1, 1906, $24,627, against $19,101, $21,288 and $28,703 in 1905, 1904 and 1903 respectively.—V. 82, p. 567.

Kansas Natural Gas Co.

President T. N. Barnsdall says:

Since the last annual report your company, its underlying and affiliated companies have laid 15.2 miles of main lines, 44.3 miles of field lines and 21.2 miles of distributing lines (the latter principally in the lead and zinc districts), a total of 80.7 miles of pipe, and has a total of 1,033.6 miles in its entire system of pipe lines.

Acreage.—During the year it has acquired 12,174.61 acres of leases and surrendered 32,215 acres that by reason of development seemed unproductive. Its leaseholds now comprise 284,171 acres.

Wells.—Fifty-six wells were drilled, of which 36 were gas wells, having an average daily capacity per well of over 7,000,000 cubic feet; nine oil wells and 11 unproductive. Six of the unproductive wells were drilled in strictly wild-cat territory to determine the value of leases before deciding to surrender the same. Your company has now available 301 gas wells and 45 oil wells, with a daily capacity of approximately 600 barrels.

Consumers.—Total number of consumers supplied during the month of December 1906: Domestic, 64,370; manufacturing, 1,731; total, 66,101. Increase during the year 27,861, of which 26,880 were domestic and 981 manufacturers. Of this total, your companies are supplying direct 386 mining mills and 477 domestic consumers in the lead and zinc district of Missouri and Kansas, also at Independence and Caney, Kan., 2,477 consumers; the balance of the consumers is supplied through local distributing companies.

Late Earnings.—Your company has been in earning operation for about 18 months. Reports so far received indicate that our sales for the months of January and February will exceed $600,000.

The Lehigh Coal & Navigation Co.

President Riley, under date of Feb. 12, says in part:

General Results.—The gross receipts of the Lehigh & Susquehanna RR. show a decrease of $237,970, as compared with 1905, caused by the loss of traffic due to the suspension of mining in the months of April and May. The Lehigh & New England RR. continues to show a gratifying increase, the amount of business offered at times overtaxing the company's facilities to handle it. The earnings show a surplus over all fixed charges, and it is reasonable to suppose that the business originating on and tributary to it will grow rapidly in the future.

The revenue from our coal operations was satisfactory, the amount being $851,307, as compared with $852,772 in 1905. In considering the revenue and tonnage, the fact should be taken into account that, owing to the strike among the anthracite miners, our collieries were idle from April 1 to May 10, and that this suspension caused a heavy loss in tonnage, a loss in profits and an increase in operating expenses. In addition to the time lost by the strike, further loss in tonnage occurred through the scarcity of labor during the balance of the year. Notwithstanding these adverse conditions revenue from coal-mining was only $1,464 13 less than in 1905.

Coal.—The coal produced from the company's lands amounted to 2,661,091 tons, compared with 2,651,538 tons in 1905, an increase of 9,558 tons. The total shipments and local sales amounted to 2,383,256 tons, the balance, 277,835 tons, being consumed by the company and its tenants in their mining operations, and amounting to 10.4% of the production, as compared with 8.4% in 1905. This increase is due to the fact that the consumption of fuel to make steam for pumping, &c., continued while the collieries were idle during the strike and no coal produced. The smaller sizes are used for this purpose, and a large proportion of the amount used was waste coal that could not be sent to market. The output per day of 10 hours was 9,920 tons, and the average time worked by each colliery was 229.5 days of 10 hours each, or 255 days of 9 hours each, the present working day. The cost of mining and preparing coal was $1 72 per ton, a decrease of $0.03 compared with 1905.

A conservative estimate of the tonnage lost by the strike would be at least 300,000 tons, which would have made the market production of the past year 2,729,265 tons. Eleven collieries were in operation during the year, without any serious interruption other than that caused by the suspension of work by our employees. After three years of comparative peace in the anthracite region, the leaders of the miners' organization ordered a suspension of work on April 1 and opened negotiations for a new basis of payment of all classes of labor connected with the mining of coal. This company, in connection with the other producers of anthracite coal, declined to consider any such radical changes as they proposed, and offered to agree to an extension of the award made by the Strike Commission in 1903. After delay and considerable negotiations, our employees, in harmony with the rest of the anthracite field, agreed to return to work on May 10 and to continue the arrangement for a further term of 3 years.

During the past year improvements under way have been pushed vigorously and others undertaken, all of which will ultimately lead to an increase in the production of coal. The amount expended on colliery improvements during the year was $442,476. Out of the current earnings of the company $200,000 has been charged off for depreciation. Capital charges under the head of coal improvements have been increased by the sum of $242,476. During the period of eleven years there has been expended on new collieries; additions and betterments the sum of $2,740,409, of which $1,659,203 was charged off out of the net earnings and $1,081,206 added to capital account

It is proposed to drive a tunnel from high-water mark on the Lehigh River, near Mauch Chunk, in a southwesterly direction a distance of 7,500 feet, to a point of intersection with the Buck Mountain or one of the underlying coal seams. From this point, a drainage gangway will be extended westward in one of the coal seams, from which connections will be made with all the collieries now in operation on the company's property between Mauch Chunk and Tamaqua. The tunnel and gangway will have a descending grade to the Lehigh River of 25-100 of a foot for every 100 feet. The distance from the outlet of the tunnel to the western extremity of the drainage gangway will be about 12 miles. Six collieries will be placed above water level, and in five others pumping will be reduced vertically an average of about 360 feet.

Plans have been prepared for the construction of the main tunnel, starting on the Lehigh River at the junction with Nesquehoning Creek, near an old site known as Lausanne, at a level of 546 feet above tide. The main tunnel, the drainage gangway and the connecting tunnels call for 24,000 feet of tunnel and 54,000 feet of gangway, making a total of nearly 14 miles. The total cost is estimated to be something over $700,000. It is believed that the direct saving at the present time in the cost of mining coal will be nearly $150,000 per year. In addition, the amount to be saved annually in freedom from drown-outs, while a difficult one to state absolutely, will, in the course of years, represent a very large sum of money Work on the tunnel was started in July last. It will take several years to complete.

Canals.—The operation of our canals shows a loss for the year of $37,885, which is $11,305 less than the loss in operation for the year 1905. The results are still very unsatisfactory. Some extraordinary expenditures are responsible for part of this loss, the largest item being the rebuilding of the Taylorsville Aqueduct, at a cost of $10,588. In the last few years over $600,000 has been expended out of surplus earnings in rebuilding and making substantial repairs. Plans are now under discussion for enlarging this portion of the company's business, and the sentiment is to give them favorable consideration, provided the probable returns will justify the very large expenditure required.

Sale of Street Railways.—In 1897 control was secured of the Tamaqua & Lansford Street Railway Co., which had projected a line of street railway extending from Tamaqua to Lansford, Summit Hill and Mauch Chunk, comprising about 20 miles of track. The construction and operation of this road was successful and the results satisfactory. Early in the past year a plan was developed for consolidating the street railways in the Southern coal field, extending from west of Pottsville to Mauch Chunk. And an offer was made for the securities of the Tamaqua & Lansford Street Ry. Co. (V. 82, p. 1500.) A satisfactory price having been obtained, a sale was made, the larger part of the consideration being cash and the balance securities of the consolidated company, known as the Eastern Pennsylvania Railways Co. The result of this transaction shows interest earned on the investment while the company owned the property and a profit of $278,117, which has been credited to profit and loss account.

Bonds.—The only change in the capital account was an increase in the outstanding bonds issued under the funding and improvement mortgage. Under the terms of this mortgage, the trustee certified and delivered to the company bonds to the value of $1,500,000, on deposit with the trustee of the following securities released from the collateral trust mortgage: 9,950 shares capital stock Wilkes-Barre & Scranton Ry. Co. (par $50), $497,500; 4,450 shares capital stock Allentown Terminal RR. (par $50), $222,500; 82,889 shares capital stock Alliance Coal Mining Co. (par $25), $2,072,225; and $644,000 first mortgage 6% bonds Alliance Coal Mining Co. At the time of the last annual report the company had in its treasury funding and improvement 4% bonds to the amount of $331,000; during the year there have been sold at a premium bonds to the par value of $682,000, leaving in the treasury for future requirements, $1,149,000.

The outstanding bonds issued under the funding and improvement mortgage were reduced during the year by the sum of $7,000, bonds to this amount having been canceled by the trustee under the sinking fund provision of the mortgage.

Coal-Storage Yard, &c.—During the year improvements have been made on the property known as the Ballstown Yard, situated on the Delaware River front, to enlarge the coal storage plant at that place and give additional facilities for unloading canal boats and distributing coal. When this plant is completed it will be possible to increase the traffic over the canal during the navigation season, as room will be provided for storing more coal for distribution during the winter months. In addition to increase in business, it is believed the facilities will decrease the cost of handling the coal. There is a frontage on the river of 450 feet. In addition to the unloading facilities now planned, it is possible to build two large modern piers for general merchandise purposes. These piers, being located on the deep-water channel, would be in demand and would add to the facilities so badly needed in the harbor of Philadelphia.

GENERAL INVESTMENT NEWS.

RAILROADS, INCLUDING STREET ROADS.

Atchison Topeka & Santa Fe Ry.—Purchase of Stock.—See Union Pacific RR. below.—V. 84, p. 389, 338.

Atlantic Coast Line RR.—Notes Offered.—William Salomon & Co. this week offered $500,000 each of the notes of this company and of the Louisville & Nashville RR. referred to last week at a price yielding about 6.2%. Moffat & White also offered a limited amount.

The notes are issuable as coupon notes in denominations of $1,000 and $10,000 each or as full registered notes in denominations of $5,000, $10,000, $50,000 and $100,000. Compare V. 84, p. 506, 210.

Atlantic Shore Line Ry.—Bonds Offered.—A. H. Bickmore & Co. of New York, offer by advertisement on another page the unsold portion of the present issue of $1,900,000 refunding mortgage 4% 20-year gold bonds, at 85 and interest. The bankers report earnings for the year ending Dec. 31 1906 as follows: Gross earnings, $293,141; net, $129,460; interest charges and taxes, $88,748; balance, surplus, $40,712. See full description, V. 81, p. 1549; V. 82, p. 626.

Baltimore & Ohio RR.—Purchase of Stock.—See Union Pacific RR. below and compare V. 84, p. 50.

Brooklyn Rapid Transit Co.—New Operating Arrangements. —Re-Classification of System Lines.—The following operating arrangements, effective March 1, are announced by President Winter:

In order that the supply of electrical power and the maintenance of track, overhead work and structures of the roads embraced in the system should be under a concentrated management and more economically administered, they have contracted with the Transit Development Co. (which already owns some of the principal power-houses of the system) to furnish power and take charge of the maintenance and repair of the railway properties, including their equipment. The Transit Development Co. is incorporated under the Businesss Corporations law and authorized to manufacture and sell power and to do general contracting work. All the stock is owned by the Brooklyn Rapid Transit Co.

As the Court of Appeals in its recent opinion sustaining the right of the Brooklyn Heights Railroad Co. to charge a fare of 10 cents to Coney Island has decided that Article IV of the Railroad Law relates only to street surface railroads and that different provisions of the Railroad Law govern elevated and steam surface railroads (see V. 84, p. 101.—Ed.), it has been decided to hereafter limit the functions of each railroad embraced in the system to the operation of its own character of railroad.

Under this plan, hereafter the Brooklyn Union Elevated RR. will operate the elevated roads, the steam surface railroad corporations will operate roads of that character, and the street surface railroad corporations will operate street surface roads only. To accomplish this re-classification the leases of the Brooklyn Union Elevated RR., the Sea Beach Ry. and the South Brooklyn Ry. to the Brooklyn Heights RR. have been terminated and the lease of the Prospect Park & Coney Island Ry. has been assigned to the South Brooklyn Ry. This arrangement will in no way interfere with the through operation of trains and cars as heretofore wherever thereby the convenience of the public will be subserved.

The independent operation of the several classes of lines will, it is thought, make ineffective the passage of any possible legislation to prevent the collection of a 10-cent fare to Coney Island. No changes, it is said, will be made in the present transfer system, although the new classification is expected to result in stamping out abuses which have arisen in connection with transfers.—V. 84, p. 101.

Buffalo & Lake Erie Traction Co.—Stock Increase Approved.—The New York State Board of Railroad Commissioners has approved the application to increase the stock from $6,750,000 to $7,500,000 to acquire the Jamestown Chautauqua & Lake Erie RR.—V. 84, p. 506, 157.

Catskill (N. Y.) Electric Ry.—Receiver.—Judge Betts in the Supreme Court at Kingston on March 7 appointed Arthur M. Murphy of Catskill receiver in foreclosure proceedings brought by the Hamilton Trust Co. of Brooklyn, as trustee under the mortgage of 1899.—V. 68, p. 870.

Chicago Indiana & Eastern Ry.—Sale Ordered.—Judge Anderson in the Federal Court on March 6 ordered the foreclosure sale of the road under the first mortgage of 1902, the amount found due thereunder for principal and interest being $560,958. Under the 6% mortgage of 1903, for the satisfaction of which it is reported provision has been made, there is said to be due $112,720 on account of principal and interest.—V. 79, p. 2084.

Chicago Milwaukee & St. Paul Ry.—Purchase of Stock.—See Union Pacific RR. below.—V. 84, p. 219.

Chicago & North Western Ry.—Purchase of Stock.—See Union Pacific RR. below.—V. 84, p. 390, 270.

Chicago & Oak Park Elevated Ry.—Rumored Sale.—See Northwestern Elevated RR. above.—V. 84, p. 218.

Chicago Terminal Transfer RR.—Foreclosure Sale.—The foreclosure sale has been set for April 25. Upset price, $15,140,000. Compare V. 84, p. 507.

Cleveland Southwestern & Columbus (Electric) Ry.—Consolidation Completed.—The articles of consolidation of the Cleveland & Southwestern Traction Co., Cleveland Ashland & Mansfield and Ohio Central under this title, per plan V. 83, p. 1590, were filed in Columbus, Ohio, on March 14. See Cleveland & Southwestern Traction item, V. 84, p. 338.

Acquisition.—The company, it is reported, has acquired the Mt. Vernon (O.) Electric Ry., owning about 5 miles of track and the Mt. Vernon Electric Co.—V. 84, p. 338.

Coney Island & Brooklyn RR.—Increase of Stock.—The stockholders will vote March 11 on increasing the authorized stock from $2,000,000 to $3,500,000.—V. 83, p. 969.

Detroit Toledo & Ironton RR.—Removal of Office.—The offices of the company and of the Ann Arbor RR. will be removed from Toledo to Detroit.—V. 83, p. 1170.

Dominion Power & Transmission Co., Ltd., Hamilton, Ont.—Amalgamation—Bonds Offered.—This company, incorporated under the laws of Canada on Jan. 22 1907 with $25,000,000 of authorized capital stock in shares of $100 each, has taken over the ownership or the control of the Hamilton Cataract Power, Light & Traction Co. (V. 76, p. 1407; V. 80, p. 1111, 1363) and numerous other companies, and has made a mortgage to the Harris Trust & Savings Bank of Chicago, as trustee, and the National Trust of Toronto, co-trustee to secure not exceeding $25,000,000 of 5% sinking fund gold bonds of $1,000 each (c*), dated April 1 1907.

N. W. Harris & Co., Boston and New York; Harris Trust & Savings Bank, Chicago; and Perry, Coffin & Burr, Boston, are offering for sale $1,650,000 of the new bonds, maturing $17,000 annually from April 1 1914 to April 1 1921, and $34,000 annually from April 1 1922 to 1931; the remaining $1,174,000 bonds are due April 1 1932. The entire outstanding issue, but not any part thereof, is subject to redemption at 107½ and interest on April 1 1917 or on any coupon date thereafter upon sixty days' notice. Interest payable April 1 and Oct. 1 in Chicago or New York.

Abstract of Letter from President J. M. Gibson, February 20 1907.

The company owns or controls, through ownership of stocks and bonds deposited with trustee, a 42,000 horse-power hydro-electric station; also the entire electric light and power business in the cities of Hamilton and St. Catharines and the intervening territory; also the entire street railway and interurban railway lines in the city of Hamilton and surrounding country, thus serving a population of about 139,000. The water power development, supplying the several operating districts, is one of the most economical in America. The water is taken from the Lake Erie level of the Welland Canal (under a lease from the Canadian Government which, with renewals, extends to Dec. 31 1963) into a large artificial reservoir, and thence through steel pen-stocks, under a static head of 269 feet, to water wheels located approximately 20 feet above the level of Lake Ontario. The street railway system in operation (measured as single track) consists of 22 miles in Hamilton and 61 miles of interurban lines. One of the interurban lines already extends to Oakville, more than half way to Toronto, to which point it is the intention of the company to extend. The company is also constructing, and expects to have in operation by summer a high-grade interurban line (22 miles) on private right of way to the city of Brantford.

Capitalization.—Capital stock, authorized, $25,000,000; outstanding, $7,692,300, viz.:

Stock—	Preferred.	Limited Pref.	Common.	Total.
Authorized	$10,000,000	$5,100,000	$9,900,000	$25,000,000
Issued	1,077,000	3,315,300	2,400,000	7,692,300

Bonds: Present issue, $1,650,000; bonds of subsidiary companies, $3,942,550; total bonds outstanding, $5,592,550. To develop its rapidly growing business, and to provide for the retirement of the mortgage debt of several of the subsidiary companies, the company has authorized an issue of $25,000,000 5% bonds. The escrow bonds may be issued only with the approval of the Harris Trust & Savings Bank, trustee; $1,350,000 for not exceeding 80%, and the remainder for not exceeding 75% of the cash cost of extensions and additions, or of a controlling interest in the capital stock of other properties, or they may be issued at par for the cash cost of retiring bonds of controlled properties; provided, that not more than $4,350,000 bonds, except for retiring bonds, shall be issued unless the net earnings for the preceding year shall have been equal to at least one and three-quarter times the annual interest on all the outstanding bonds, together with those proposed to be issued.

The $1,650,000 bonds to be issued forthwith are, through stocks and bonds deposited with the trustee, secured by a first lien upon the property of the Brantford & Hamilton Electric Railway Co., Ltd., and the Hamilton Terminal Co., Ltd. In addition, through deposit of various stocks and bonds, they cover all remaining property owned or controlled. The company has in its treasury over $700,000 of cash, being part of the proceeds from the sale of the present bonds and preferred stock, and this amount, it is estimated, will be sufficient to complete the line between Hamilton and Brantford, the terminal properties in Hamilton, and other extensions, additions and improvements. The value of the property is largely in excess of outstanding bonds and the equity will be still further increased by the expenditure of several hundred thousand dollars derived from the sale of preferred stock. The mortgage provides that of every $100,000 bonds issued, a certain percentage shall mature in each year from April 1 1914 to April 1 1931, and on this basis a large part of the issue will have been retired prior to the maturity of the bonds in 1932.

Exchange of Stock—Terms of New Stock.—The "Toronto Globe" gives in substance the following:

The $1,700,000 common stock of the Hamilton Cataract Power, Light & Traction Co., which last year paid 3%, is exchanged for the "limited preference stock" of the new company on the basis of $100 of old for $300 of new stock. The "limited preferred stock" is simply a species of common stock having a preference as to dividends (if earned) for five years only, but by its terms it cannot pay more than an average rate of 2% per annum during the five years. The general preference stock of the Cataract (at last accounts $2,558,200, par $100) is exchanged share for share of the general preference stock of the new company, and this new stock will by the terms of the charter pay (be entitled to) 6% for three years and thereafter dividends at the rate of 7%.

The directors and officers are:

Directors.—J. M. Gibson (President), James Dixon and John Knox (Vice-Presidents), W. C. Hawkins (Secretary and General Manager), J. R. Moodie (Treasurer), J. W. Sutherland and S. O. Greening, all of Hamilton and Andrew Cooke, Chicago, and Winthrop Coffin Boston.

Glenville & Kanawha RR.—Bonds.—This company, incorporated in West Virginia in March 1906, has made a mortgage to the International Trust Co. of Boston, as trustee, to secure an authorized issue of $600,000 of 5% gold bonds dated April 1 1907, maturing April 1 1937, in denominations of $1,000 each.

The road is building between Glenville and Weston, W. Va., a distance o 30 miles. President, Lloyd Rinehart, Weston, W. Va.; Vice-President, and General Manager, Robert L. Ruddell; Treasurer, C. M. Bennett. Office, Glenville, W. Va.

Grand Trunk Pacific Ry.—Debenture Stock Offered.—The company last month offered for subscription at par an issue of £1,000,000 4% perpetual debenture stock, subject to redemption at 105% by the company at any time after March 1 1936, on giving one year's notice. Interest is payable half-yearly on March 1 and Sept. 1. A full half-year's interest on the stock offered will be paid on Sept. 1 1907.

Subscriptions, payable £10 per £100 stock on application at the office of Glyn, Mills, Currie & Co., London, £25 on allotment, £25 May 1, £20 June 1 and £20 July 1 1907, or the whole is payable in full on allotment, or on the date for the payment of any installment, under discount at the rate of 4% per annum.

The proceeds, in accordance with the provisions of the Act of the Dominion Parliament authorizing the issue, will be applied in the purchase of rolling stock. Under arrangements made with the Grand Trunk, the rolling stock will be used by that company until it is required for the railway. The stock forms part of $25,000,000 in Canadian currency, or its equivalent in sterling, authorized by Chapter 100 of the Statutes of Canada, 1906, of which the directors are empowered to issue £3,000,000 in 4% perpetual debenture stock.

The holders of the stock are entitled, under the provisions of the Act, pari passu with the other holders of stock which may hereafter be issued, to a lien or charge upon the company's undertaking, as included in the deed of trust to secure its first mortgage bonds, and ranking next after such security, and the securities granted or to be granted to secure the company's second mortgage bonds and Lake Superior Branch bonds.

In addition, the Grand Trunk Co. has, under an agreement dated Nov. 8 1906, guaranteed the due payment of interest in each year ending March 1st on the £3,000,000 stock which the company is empowered to issue, but only out of the net earnings of the Grand Trunk of each year ending Dec. 31 previously, after deducting: (1) All working expenses relating to the Grand Trunk Ry. of Canada; (2) All interest and other moneys payable by the said Grand Trunk Ry. of Canada; (a) on or in respect of the said company's loan capital or prior charges; or (b) on or in respect of any bonds or liabilities of any other company under or pursuant to any guaranty given by the Grand Trunk Ry. of Canada. Compare V. 83, p. 969, 155; V. 82, p. 1102.—V. 83, p. 155.

Great Northern Ry.—Again Postponed.—In the absence of a decision in the stock issue injunction case, the company has again postponed the closing of the transfer books for the purposes of the new issue of stock, and the time limit for the filing of subscriptions, this time until 3 p. m. March 12. The time for filing assignments has been postponed until 3 p. m. March 16, and the time for making the first payment has been postponed until March 19. Compare V. 83, p. 1469, 1590.

Increase of Wages.—The Great Northern and allied lines, it is reported, have granted the increase in wages requested by conductors and trainmen, amounting to 11%.

Terminals to Harriman Lines.—The company has sold to the Harriman interests a portion of the former's terminal property at Seattle, giving the latter the desired entrance to that city.—V. 84, p. 508, 450.

Hamilton (Ont.) Cataract Power, Light & Traction Co.—Merger.—See Dominion Power & Transmission Co. under "Railroads" above.—V. 80, p. 1111, 1363.

Havana Electric Ry.—New Directors.—The following directors were elected at the adjourned annual meeting on March 6:

Robert Mather (President of the Rock Island Co.), David T. Davis, Warren Bicknell of Cleveland, Walter G. Oakman (President of Guaranty Trust Co.); James Rattray, New York; Antonio San Miguel, Henry Runken, Carlos Zaldo (President of the Bank of Havana) and Frank Steinhardt.

The four last named represent the Cuban interests in the property. The old board had only one Cuban member.—V. 82, p. 802.

Kansas City Terminal Ry.—Franchise.—President John M. Egan and a committee of the city council on Feb. 26 reached an agreement on the main terms of a 50-yr. franchise for freight terminals. The council must pass the necessary ordinance calling a special election to amend the city charter so that the city may have the power to extend the grant now held by the Kansas City Belt Ry. for two tracks and give the right to build four additional tracks, and further to grant a franchise for 50 years, being 20 years beyond the present charter limit. It will require about 60 days to perfect the charter amendments.

New President.—H. L. Harmon, President of the Kansas City Viaduct & Terminal Ry., has been asked to accept the presidency to succeed John M. Egan.—V. 83, p. 323.

Lancaster County Railway & Light Co.—Plan.—See Susquehanna Railway, Light & Power Co. below.—V. 84, p. 390, 271.

Louisiana & Arkansas Ry.—Dividend.—A dividend of 1½% has been declared, payable March 15 to stockholders of record March 7. A dividend of the same amount was paid March 15 1906.—V. 83, p. 1032, 1046.

Louisville Traction Co.—Increase of Stock.—The stockholders will vote on April 15 on increasing the stock from $12,000,000 to $15,000,000, the proceeds to be used for improvements.

Earnings of Controlled Road.—See Louisville Ry. under "Annual Reports."—V. 82, p. 692.

Memphis Railroad Terminal Co.—New Union Station.—The company was incorporated on March 2 with $100,000 authorized capital stock to build a union station and terminals at Memphis, Tenn. The stock will be owned in equal shares by the ten proprietary roads named below. The estimated cost of the station, it is stated, is about $3,000,000, and of the terminals about $2,000,000. Bonds, it is expected, will be issued later to provide for the cost. The directors are:

A. W. Sullivan, General Manager of the St. Louis Iron Mountain & Southern; S. T. Fulton, assistant to the President of the Chicago Rock Island & Pacific Ry.; C. H. Gray, Vice-President of the St. Louis & San Francisco RR.; F. H. Britton, Vice-President of the St. Louis & Southwestern Ry.; J. L. Lancaster, Vice-President of the Union Railway of Memphis; W. S. King, General Superintendent of the Yazoo & Mississippi Valley Ry.; W. J. Harahan, Vice-President of the Illinois Central RR.; G. E. Evans, Vice-President of the Louisville & Nashville RR.; C. H. Ackert, Vice-President of the Southern Ry.; J. W. Thomas Jr., President of the Nashville Chattanooga & St. Louis Ry.; and John H. Watkins, Vice-President of the Bank of Commerce & Trust Co. of Memphis.

Metropolitan West Side Elevated RR., Chicago.—Fiscal Year Changed.—The fiscal year has been changed to end Dec. 31 instead of Feb. 28 as heretofore.—V. 84, p. 220.

Mexican Central Ry.—Bonds Called.—Equipment and collateral 5% gold bonds due 1917, first series, to the amount of $50,000, will be paid at par and interest at either the Old Colony Trust Co. of Boston, Manhattan Trust Co., New York, or Glyn, Mills, Currie & Co., 67 Lombard St., London, E.C., on or after April 1 1907.—V. 84, p. 271, 51.

New England Investment & Security Co.—Preferred Shares Offered.—Mackay & Co. of New York and Boston this week offered a limited amount of the 4% preferred shares at 92½ and accrued dividend, yielding 4.32%. Compare V. 83, p. 1474, 1102 492.

New York Central & Hudson River RR.—Purchase of Stock.—See Union Pacific RR. below.—V. 84, p. 391, 340

New York New Haven & Hartford RR.—Acquisition.—The report that the company has acquired control of the Merchants' & Miners' Transportation Co., which operates a line of steamships on the Atlantic Coast between Boston, Philadelphia, Savannah etc., is denied.

President Mellen is, however, reported as saying that the Boston & Philadelphia Steamship Co., which the New Haven recently purchased, will be sold to the Merchants' & Miners' Transportation Co., and that the New Haven road will purchase a large block of the stock of the Transportation Company and also some of its bonds, but not a controlling interest.

Legislation.—The Connecticut House of Representatives on Thursday passed the bill to give the holders of the $50,000,000 convertible debentures issued Jan. 1 1906 the right to subscribe to new stock and also to confirm the merger by the New Haven of seven subsidiary roads. The bill goes to the Senate next week. Compare V. 84, p. 450, 271.

Payment for Steamship Stock.—Payment for the Boston & Philadelphia Company's stock, all of which, it is reported, has been acquired, has it is stated been made with somewhat less than $3,000,000 of Providence Terminal 4% bonds. —V. 84, p. 508, 450.

Norfolk (Va.) & Ocean View RR.—Mortgage.—This company, which recently acquired the Bay Shore Terminal Co. (V. 84, p. 390), has made a mortgage to the Baltimore Mortgage & Guarantee Co. for $1,500,000, to secure an issue of 30-year 5% bonds.—V. 69, p. 1101.

North Shore RR., Cuba.—New Company—Mortgage.—The company has been incorporated under the laws of Cuba, with $2,500,000 stock, all outstanding, in $100 shares, to build a road from Mayanabo Bay, north of Nuevitas, in the Province of Puerto Principe, west through Cubitas Valley to Caibarrien, a port in the Province of Santa Clara, about 250 miles, with a 50-mile branch from Senada to iron mines south of the Cubitas Mountains. Construction work is expected to commence about May 1.

A mortgage has been made to the Farmers' Loan & Trust Co. of New York, as trustee, to secure an issue of $5,000,000 of 5% 35-year gold bonds of $1,000 each, dated March 1 1907, subject to call at 106½ and interest after 10 years; sinking fund 3% of gross earnings is payable yearly. A subsidy of $6,000 per kilometer will be received from the Cuban Government, payable in six annual installments, for each kilometer completed. The directors are: C. D. Gibbons (President), 106 Wall St., New York; Lincoln de Zayas, Edward El Degado, Alfredo Betancourt Mandulay. A. Price is Secretary and J. E. White Treasurer.

Northwestern Elevated RR., Chicago.—Reported Acquisition.—A Chicago press dispatch under date of March 4 states that unless unforeseen circumstances occur, the Chicago & Oak Park Elevated RR. will be absorbed before May 1.

The plan, it is reported, provides for the issue of stock in exchange for the Oak Park shares and the sale or hypothecation of a block of treasury bonds to provide for improvements. A general consolidation of all the elevated roads, it is rumored, may take place shortly after the consummation of the deal.—V. 83, p. 816.

Pennsylvania RR.—Final Report of Investigating Committee. See "Chronicle" of Feb. 23, p. 416.

Security for Three-Year Gold Notes.—The security for the $60,000,000 of Pennsylvania RR. 5% collateral gold notes, dated March 15 (V. 84, p. 451), it is announced by Kuhn, Loeb & Co., consists of $45,000,000 Pennsylvania 1%, equipment certificates, $10,000,000 water supply 4% trust certificates, $8,800,000 Pennsylvania Company stock.

Report.—See a preceding page.—V. 84, p. 151, 340.

Philadelphia Rapid Transit Co.—Elevated Line Opened.—The Market Street Elevated Road was opened to the public on Monday morning from the Schuylkill River west to the Upper Darby terminal station. This enabled passengers to ride from the latter point to 15th and Market, a total distance of about four miles. The market street subway being in operation from the Schuylkill River to Market and 15th streets.—V. 84, p. 151.

Quebec Central Ry.—Listed in London.—The London Stock Exchange has listed a further issue of 1,000 shares at £25 each, fully paid.—V. 83, p. 970.

Reading Co.—New Subway Mortgage.—The Philadelphia & Reading Ry. has filed a mortgage to secure an issue of $232,000 of 50-year 3½% gold bonds, the last in a series to be known as the Philadelphia Subway mortgage bonds.

The Philadelphia & Reading Ry. has taken for the purpose of the [illegible] the property of the Philadelphia Suburban Gas & Electric Co. Rio de Janeiro Tramway, Light & Power Co., Ltd.—Bonds Sold.—The Montreal papers report that Lieutenant-Governor William Mackenzie, who recently went to London, has sold there, and on the Continent to the London Syndicate, $4,000,000 of the $25,000,000 bond issue lately authorized.—V. 84, p. 391.

Rock Island-Frisco Terminal Ry.—Mortgage.—The company has made a mortgage to the Mercantile Trust Co. of St. Louis, as trustee, to secure an issue of $5,000,000 of first mortgage 5% gold bonds, due Jan. 1 1927, to be jointly guaranteed by indorsement by the Chicago Rock Island & Pacific Ry. and the St. Louis & San Francisco RR. Of the bonds $3,000,000 have been sold. The capital stock is $5,000,000, of which $500,000 has been issued. President, A. J. Davidson, President St. Louis & San Francisco RR.

The property consists of three tracts, one on the east side of Broadway extending from Biddle to Collins Street, on which the new freight depot is located; a second tract about 2½ blocks on the east side of Broadway, between Brooklyn Street and the property of the American Brake Shoe & Foundry Co.; and a third north of the Merchants' Bridge approach, with an area of about 100 acres, which will be turned into a switch yard. Compare V. 82, p. 929.

Southern Ry.—Regular Dividend on Preferred.—The company, in declaring the regular semi-annual dividend of 2½% on the preferred stock, payable April 22, issued the following statement:

The operations during the first six months of the year, and of the current months, reflect extraordinary conditions which, it is believed, can be improved, except as they may be affected in common with all other roads by increased wages and the higher cost of materials.

Statement for Half-Year.—The results for the six months ending Dec. 31 were:

6 mos.—	Gross.	Net.	Other Income.	Charges.	Bal., Sur.

St. Joseph & Grand Island Ry.—Purchase of Stock.—See Union Pacific RR. below.—V. 84, p. 52.

Susquehanna Railway, Light & Power Co.—Organization—Plan.—The company was incorporated in Connecticut on Feb. 27 to own, control and operate electric railway and gas properties. It is proposed that it shall acquire at once the common stocks of the Lancaster County Railway & Light Co. ($1,000,000) and the United Gas & Electric Co. ($1,649,320), the latter in itself owning and controlling 11 gas and electric companies in various cities in the United States. If the entire common stocks of these two companies are not subject to immediate purchase, a sufficient amount of the preferred is available to give control.

Capitalization.—The capitalization will be as follows: Preferred stock, cumulative 5 to 7%, authorized, $10,000,000. To be issued for purposes above stated, $3,650,000. Common stock, full paid, authorized, $10,000,000. To be issued for purposes above stated, $3,650,000.

The stocks reserved in the Treasury are for extensions and improvements to the properties acquired and for the purchase of additional properties in the future. The preferred stock will be 5% cumulative, but after 5% has been paid on the common stock, the preferred will share equally with the common in non-cumulative dividends up to 7%, all other dividends accruing to the common stock

An official statement says:

Earnings of Properties to Be Acquired for Year Ending Nov. 30 1906.

	U.G.&E.Co.Lancaster.	Total.
Net income, after paying all taxes, insurance, oper. exp., fixed charges, rentals, &c., of constituent companies	$326,831	$211,089	$537,920
Bond interest and preferred dividends	128,108	100,000	228,108
Surplus	$198,723	$111,089	$309,812
Earnings which would have accrued to the Susquehanna Railway, Light & Power Co			$309,812
Dividend, 5%, on $3,650,000 preferred			182,500
Surplus, nearly 4% on $3,650,000 common			$127,312

During the past year large extensions and expenditures have been made on both properties, the benefits of which do not show in 1906, but which, in increased earnings, will, it is expected, enter largely into the operations of 1907 and later years.

Proposed Extensions.—Several extensions and connections with other lines are intended as soon as practicable to be made by the Lancaster County Railway & Light Co. Such additional trackage and traffic agreements with other lines will, in the opinion of experts, result in large increase of business and in material economies of operation. Some of the extensions contemplated are: From Christiana to Parksburg, connecting with the Philadelphia Coatesville & Lancaster Ry., giving through connection to Philadelphia; from Mount Joy to Middletown, providing for through service between Lancaster and Harrisburg, 40 miles; from Manheim to Lebanon, giving through service for the thirty miles between Lancaster and Lebanon. The present connection with Reading will be taken advantage of by a through and improved car service.

The cost of these different lines will be approximately $1,500,000 according to expert and practical opinion they will result in over 5% on the cost has been charged off, in an increase of not less than $60,000 in the annual surplus applicable to the common stock of the Lancaster County Railway & Light Co. This additional amount, $60,000 or so, is not [illegible] will be materially increased from year to year, as the benefits of [illegible] connections develop, and the territory served by them increases.

It is also hoped that arrangements may be made by the Valley Railway can be effected over the Susquehanna River to Columbia, connecting with the Wrightsville & York Street Ry., giving through service between Lancaster and York. It is intended also to extend [illegible] amount of power on the present properties [illegible] and power purposes [illegible] of the Susquehanna River at Columbia, [illegible] the public.

Tennessee Central RR.—Dissolving Subscription of City of Nashville.—See item on page 561 of "State and Municipal" department.—V. 82, p. 511.

Tidewater Ry.—Description.—The "Railway Age" of Nov. 23 contained an illustrated article, with map, showing the lines of this road and of the Deepwater Ry., both under construction.—V. 84, p. 509, 151.

Union Pacific RR.—Stock Purchases.—President Harriman's testimony before the Inter-State Commerce Commission, as cited in the "Chronicle" last week, made known the fact that the company's holdings of Great Northern and Northern Pacific stock, which represented an outlay of $82,000,000, had been liquidated to an extent realizing $116,000,000 and that there remained on hand amounts worth about $30,000,000. These statements were based on an exhibit, which was also given in last week's "Chronicle," showing:

Of the $116,000,000 derived from the sale of the stocks shown above, about $31,000,000 remains on hand and $85,000,000 was invested in the following stock other than Baltimore & Ohio, purchased since June 30 1906, though contracted for some months previous, as appears from the prices paid. The contract made last fall to purchase Baltimore & Ohio stock called for an outlay of $45,466,960, but only $9,073,528 was paid in cash, the balance, $36,393,432, being payable in March and Sept. 1907. The $9,073,528 paid in cash on account of the Baltimore & Ohio stock is, we are informed, in the $85,000,000 invested.

Stockholders' Assets.—As to the possible effect on the value of Union Pacific stock as a result of the Inter-State Commerce Commission investigation, it is pointed out that the company's large holdings of securities are assets which in any event must accrue to the benefit of the stockholders. Should the Union Pacific be compelled to divest itself of its holdings, they could be turned over to a holding company, the stock of which latter could be distributed to Union Pacific stockholders; or the holdings could be sold. In either case the Union Pacific stock is assured of a large return in addition to the 6% dividend from earnings.—V. 84, p. 222, 104.

Terre Haute Indianapolis & Eastern Traction Co.—New Company—Acquisitions.—The "Indianapolis News" of March 2 says that this company, incorporated on March 1 by the Dolan-Morgan-McGowan syndicate, with $100,000 stock, has taken over the Indianapolis & Western Traction Co. (V. 83, p. 562), operating between Plainfield and Brazil, with Danville division, and the Indianapolis & Plainfield.

The report further states that negotiations are understood to be pending for the purchase of the line between Brazil and Terre Haute and that it is expected cars will be running from Indianapolis to Brazil by the end of the year. The directors are: Robert 1. Todd (President), Thos. B. Mc. Math (Vice-President), W. F. Milholland (Secretary-Treasurer), Fletcher M Durbin and L. J. E. Foley.

United Railroads of San Francisco.—Arbitration.—The board of arbitration appointed some time ago to adjust the differences between the company and some of its employees has reported that the car-men are entitled to an increase in wages of about 15% to 20%, but not to the demand for an 8-hour day. Electricians, firemen and construction workmen are given an increase in wages and reduced hours. Compare V. 83, p. 563.—V. 84, p. 392, 340.

Washington Traction Co., Springfield, Ohio.—Application for Receiver.—An application was made at Springfield, Ohio, on March 2 by Wm. J. Ramsay for the appointment of a receiver on the ground that the $800,000 bonds authorized cannot be disposed of, and that the company has defaulted in interest on the bonds issued to pay old claims.—V. 82, p. 1103.

Wellsburg (W. Va.) Bethany & Washington (Electric) Ry.—Mortgage.—The company, incorporated in December 1905 with $200,000 authorized stock, has completed over 75% of the roadway of its proposed line from Wellsburg, W. Va., southeasterly over and along the Bethany Pike to Bethany, 7½ miles. A mortgage has been made to the Wellsburg Banking & Trust Co., as trustee, to secure $200,000 of 5% 30-year bonds, dated Dec. 1 1906. Stock is all outstanding; par of shares, $100.

Of the bonds, $110,000 has been subscribed at par, mostly by local people; of the balance, $50,000 has been taken by the contractors, and the remaining $40,000 is reserved to acquire 40 acres of coal at a cost of $1,600, the Bethany Light & Water Co. (cost $7,000) and other property and equipment as required. President, Thomas E. Cramblet (President Bethany College); Vice-President, Samuel George (President Wellsburg Banking & Trust Co.); Treasurer, W. Wylie Beall (President Commercial Bank); Secretary, F. A. Chapman.

West End Street Ry.—New Stock.—The company has applied to the Massachustets Railroad Commissioners to issue $500,000 additional common capital stock, the proceeds to reimburse the Boston Elevated Ry. for expenditures on its property for improvements in the period from April 1904 to March 31 1906.—V. 84, p. 272.

West Jersey & Seashore RR.—Report.—For the year ending Dec. 31:

Year.	Gross.	Net.	Oth.Inc.	Int.,taxes,&c.	Bal.,sur.
1906	$5,206,283	$1,249,369	$30,086	$481,807	$797,648

INDUSTRIAL, GAS AND MISCELLANEOUS.

American Bank Note Co.—New Officers.—Two additional Vice-Presidents have been added to the list of officers, D. E. Woodhull and Joseph Fleming being elected to the positions. The board of trustees now consists of:

Theo. H. Freeland, Chairman; Phineas C. Lounsbury, Edmund C. Converse, Francis L. Potts, Warren L. Green, Andrew V. Stout and A. Jaretski. —V. 82, p. 453.

American Car & Foundry Co.—Earnings.—The net earnings for the 3 months ending Jan. 31 1907 were $2,307,282, against $1,779,983 for the quarter ending Oct. 31 last, $1,657,054 for the quarter ending July 31 last and $1,008,111 for the corresponding quarter last year. Earnings for the 9 months ending Jan. 31 1907 were $5,744,219, comparing with $2,351,161 in the corresponding 9 months last year. Dividends on the preferred stock call for $525,000 each three months and on the common stock at the rate just declared (½% quarterly) for $150,000 quarterly.—V. 84, p. 451.

American Cigar Co.—New Directors.—W. D. Franklin and J. D. Jois have been elected directors to fill vacancies.
Report.—See a preceding page.—V. 82, p. 566.

American District Telegraph Co. of New Jersey.—Report.—For year ending Dec. 31:

Year.	Gross.	Net.	Dividends (4%).	Bal., Sur.
1906	$2,799,624	$715,826	$392,951	$322 875

American Grass Twine Co.—Earnings.—The net profits for the year 1906 over all expenses were about $95,000. During the year there was paid off about $210,000 of indebtedness, leaving only a small floating debt, which will be liquidated in the near future. (Compare V. 82, p. 630.) The gross sales were about 33 1-3% larger in 1906 than in 1905.—V. 83, p. 215.

American Pneumatic Service Co.—Government Contracts.—The Post Office Appropriation bill as it finally passed both Houses of Congress last week authorized the expenditure of $1,388,759, limiting the making of contracts to the cities of Baltimore, Pittsburgh, Cincinnati, Kansas City and San Francisco. This contemplates a considerable increase in the amount to be paid per mile (not specified, we are informed, in the bill) above the present compensation of $17,000 per year.—V. 84, p. 510, 451.

American Radiator Co.—Report.—The results for the year ending Jan. 31 were:

Year—	Net Profits.	Div. on Pref.	Div. on Com.	Bal., Sur.
1906-07	$864,281	(7%) $210,000	(4%) $200,000	$454,281

American Screw Co.—Report.—The company reports as of Dec. 31 1906 as follows:

Assets, $4,634,365; capital stock, $3,250,000; accounts payable, $102,516; surplus, $1,281,849. Dividends paid during the year amounted to 9½%. The net profits for the year as unofficially reported were $505 809, or somewhat more than 15% on the capital stock.—V. 82, p. 1498.

Bell Telephone Co. of Buffalo.—Stock Offered.—The stockholders recently authorized an increase of $1,452,000 in the capital stock. The new stock was offered to stockholders at par of record Feb. 15 in the proportion of 20% of their present holdings. The amount outstanding will be increased to $8,712,000.—V. 82, p. 1374.

Bell Telephone Co. of Canada.—Report.—The report for the calendar year shows:

Cal. Year.	Gross Earnings.	Net Earnings.	Bond Interest.	Divid'ds Pd.(8%).	Surplus for Year.	Subscribers.
1906	$4,139,335	$1,135,838	$142,983	$726,677	$266,178	95,145
1905	3,517,595	1,004,899	102,580	650,216	252,103	78,195

Bonds Authorized.—The directors have been authorized to issue $3,750,000 additional bonds, bringing the bond issue up to a total of 75% of the paid-in capital stock of the company.—V. 84, p. 451.

Bethlehem Steel Corporation.—Dividend May Be Passed.—President Charles M. Schwab was quoted in an interview last week as saying that at the April meeting of the directors the dividend on the preferred stock would probably be further reduced or passed. Mr. Schwab says:

As the owner of 85,000 shares of the preferred stock out of 150,000, one would think that I would be chiefly concerned in the payment of the regular rate of 7% or the maintenance of the present reduced rate. From a business point of view, however, and looking at the question from what I think are the best interests of the company, I believe that, while we are expending so much money in improvements and new construction, it is best to conserve the funds we have in the treasury. The company would not suffer if the dividends were suspended entirely.

When the dividend first came, I was opposed to it, believing the time was not ripe to pay out profits. The company had just spent $5,000,000 in preparing for increased demands from the Government for armor plate, and when this was completed the company was confronted with greatly reduced orders. Instead of 12,000 tons of armor plate a year, orders for 2,000 tons have been placed. Some directors thought the dividend ought to be declared especially to please the stockholders of the old Shipbuilding Co. The annual report will be a poor one. We are employing 9,000 men now, and by the first of August next we will be employing 14,000 men. Compare V. 83, p. 971 820.

Option Exercised.—It is officially announced that Harvey Fisk & Sons, who in Dec. 1905 purchased $8,000,000 of the $12,000,000 of first extension guaranteed 5% bonds, some time ago exercised the option on the remaining $4,000,000, and the company is receiving the proceeds in installments as required for the extensions now under construction. Compare V. 81, p. 1612.—V. 83, p. 1172.

California Wine Association.—Resumption of Dividends.—At the annual meeting last week President Morgan recommended the resumption of dividends, to be paid quarterly, at the rate of 6%. Distributions, formerly 60 cents monthly (7.2% yearly), were for some time at the rate of 42 cents monthly (5.04% annually)—up to the earthquake in April last, when they were discontinued. Compare V. 81, p. 1612; V. 83, p. 269.

Chicago (Bell) Telephone Co.—Franchise.—The company's present franchise expiring on Jan. 8 1909, a petition with some 100,000 names has been submitted asking for a new franchise.—V. 84, p. 161.

Colorado (Bell) Telephone Co.—Earnings for Calendar Year.—For 1906 earnings were:

Year—	Gross Earnings.	Total Expenses.	Net Earn'gs.
1906	$2,097,706	$1,658,486	$439,220

There were added during the year 32,798 miles of exchange lines and 7,147 miles of long-distance lines.—V. 83, p. 1526.

Consolidated Gas Co. of New York.—Favorable Decision.—The Appellate Division of the Supreme Court, reversing the lower court, yesterday handed down a decision in the case of one Pollitz, holding that the company cannot be compelled to furnish gas at 80 cents per 1,000 cubic feet to a consumer who refuses to pay a deposit. The court says there is nothing in the law of 1906 reducing the price of gas which repeals or in any way modifies Section 66 of the Transportation Corporation law providing that the company has the right to require persons to whom it supplies gas to deposit a reasonable sum according.—V. 84 p. 219, 225.

Crucible Steel Co. of America.—Liquidation.—The company acquired at receiver's sale on Feb. 18 the Howe-Brown plant, which was taken over in 1901, and has since been operated. The purchase price was $945,200. It is probable that the equipment will be removed to other works of the company and the land sold to the Pennsylvania RR. which desires it for new tracks and to increase its yard facilities. The deal for the sale of the plant, referred to on V. 70, p. 151, has been carried out.—V. 84, p. 221.

Dominion Coal Co.—Dividends on Common Resumed.—The directors have declared a quarterly dividend of 1% on the common stock, placing the stock on a 4% basis. This is the first distribution since Jan. 1904, when 3% was paid. Previous dividends were: In 1903 four quarterly dividends aggregating 7½%; in Oct. 1902, 1%.—V. 81, p. 511, 505, 162.

Edison Electric Co. of Los Angeles.—New Stock.—The stockholders have voted to increase the authorized common stock from $6,000,000 to $10,000,000. Of the additional $4,000,000, $1,200,000 will be offered to stockholders at $75 per $100 share. President John B. Miller says that the first dividend on the common stock ($3,840,200 outstanding at last accounts) at the rate of 5% per annum will be paid Aug. 15. Earnings for the year 1906 are reported as being about $460,000 greater than in 1905, while expenses increased less than $200. Compare V. 82, p. 932.

Edison Electric Illuminating Co. of Boston.—Stock Offered.—Stockholders of March 6 are offered the right to subscribe pro rata at $215 per share to the extent of 10% of their holdings for $1,149,500 new stock, payment to be made as follows: $100 on April 15 and $115 June 3 1907 or optionally in full on April 15. Compare V. 84, p. 510.

Empire Steel & Iron Co.—New Officer.—J. W. Fuller has been elected Vice-President in place of C. H. Zender, resigned. The Executive Committee consists of E. R. Chapman, Junius Morgan and A. A. Fowler.—V. 84, p. 510

(J. A.) Fay & Egan Co., Cincinnati.—Dividend.—The quarterly dividend paid on Feb. 20 on the common stock increased the annual dividend rate from a 6% to a 7% basis. There is now outstanding $1,000,000 each of common and preferred stock. Compare V. 84, p. 393.

Gorham Manufacturing Co.—See Silversmiths Co. below. —V. 84, p. 341.

Greene-Gold-Silver Co.—Stock Offered.—The company offers to stockholders until 12 o'clock noon March 15 100,000 shares ($1,000,000) of its 8% cumulative preferred stock at $7 50 per share.

Subscriptions are payable 10% at once, 50% April 1 and the remaining 40% June 1 1907. Any portion of the stock not subscribed by stockholders will be taken by the underwriters at $7 50 per share net.

Dividends.—A semi-annual dividend of 4% on the preferred stock has been declared payable March 26 to stockholders of record March 12. The dividend falling due on Sept. 26 last was passed at the time, but was paid on Feb. 23 1907. All accrued dividends have been paid to date.—V. 82, p. 754.

Hall Signal Co.—Proposed Mortgage.—The stockholders will vote on March 15 on giving the directors authority to borrow money at such times, in such amounts and on such terms as they may consider advisable, not, however, exceeding $1,000,000, and to secure money so borrowed by mortgaging or pledging, by any form of obligation, all of the authorized and unissued treasury stock of the company, or its plant, patents, assets or other property. The money so obtained is to be used in increasing and equipping the Garwood plant and to provide sufficient working capital for the company's business. Compare V. 84, p. 511, 453

Jeffrey Manufacturing Co., Columbus, O.—New Stock.—The stockholders recently subscribed to $300,000 of the 6% cumulative preferred stock at par.

The authorized stock is $6,000,000, of which $3,000,000 is preferred, subject to redemption after July 1 1910 at 115 at the discretion of the directors; issued $1,200,000 common and $400,000 preferred. From the proceeds of the latter a bond issue of $100,000 has been retired.

Journeay & Burnham Co., Brooklyn, N. Y.—New Officers.—William E. Phillips has been elected President and Isaac Snedeker Vice-President, to succeed J. A. Kohner and Ethan Allen Doty, respectively, resigned. The two last named will continue as directors.—V. 81, p. 1177.

Louisville (Ky.) Home Telephone Co.—New Voting Trustees.—On Jan. 31 C. C. McClarty, E. H. Ferguson and George M. Boone were made voting trustees to succeed J. A. Armstrong, W. C. Garland and C. J. Dobson, who had sold their stock. The voting trustees, the board of directors elected Feb. 7 and the officers follow:

Voting Trustees—Joshua D. Powers, Clint C. McClarty, C. D. Kniefel, Judge John M. Lasley, C. C. Bickel, L. L. Heyman, G. W. Lewman, E. H. Ferguson, George M. Boone, O'Doherty.

Directors elected—C. C. Bickel, C. L. Hughes, C. H. [illegible], C. McClarty, E. M. Coleman, Joshua D. Powers, J. [illegible], E. H. Ferguson, George M. Boone, Jesse Mat. O'Doherty, Samuel Avritt and Henry Bence.

Officers.—C. C. Bickel, President; Henry Bence, Vice-President and Treasurer; Francis C. Quisenberry, Secretary and C. D. Kniefel, Attorney. The [illegible] for terms more than five years reserved power to [illegible] to sell the new bonds at not less than par, but at the request of the present holders of the old bonds the new board has organized.

Not for Sale or Lease—Capitalization, etc.—Regarding the recently reported proposition from George W. Cox, Cincinnati, Joseph L. Rhinock and John M. Lassley, Kentucky, to take a lease of the property or control of the Kentucky Securities Co. at a rental of 5% yearly on the stock, J. D. Parker, Chairman of the Executive Committee, favors us with the following:

[illegible] a company, organized [illegible] to take over the property of the Kentucky Securities Co., or any of its subsidiaries, nor has any offer been made for the purchase of the property, but it is not the intention [illegible] to sell the property, if a satisfactory offer is made. [illegible] the company has entered into a contract with the Kentucky Securities Co. to furnish it with all the money required for the construction of its lines, and has agreed to lease the property of the Kentucky Securities Co. for a term of years, at a rental sufficient to pay the interest on the bonds issued by the Kentucky Securities Co. for the purpose of raising money to construct the lines of the Home Telephone Co. [illegible] the Kentucky Securities Co. has agreed to issue bonds to the amount of $1,000,000 per annum. [illegible] June 1, [illegible] Jan. 1 1907 [illegible] Oct. 1 1906 [illegible] Jan. 1 1907 [illegible] $500,000; [illegible] $1,000,000; [illegible] $1,500,000; [illegible] $2,000,000; [illegible] $2,500,000. [illegible] bonds are [illegible] by mortgage to the Mercantile Trust Co. of New York. These bonds are dated April 1 1907 and [illegible] with option of earlier redemption. Interest payable July 1 and Jan. 1 at office of trustee in Chicago and the National Bank, New York. Sinking fund, after period of nine years, 1% of [illegible] semi-annually; for [illegible] term of bonds, 1% of [illegible].—V. 81, p. 2...

FUNDED DEBT.

The amount of funded debt, including mortgages, real estate and ground rents, December 31st 1906, was $191,561,270 82, being a decrease of $291,176 67.

SECURITIES OF OTHER CORPORATIONS.

The entire cost of the securities of other corporations held by your Company December 31st 1906 was $194,769,719 01, and the direct revenue received therefrom during the year was $11,741,184 33, being 6.03 per cent upon the cost thereof.

It will be noted that there has been a large decrease in your holdings of the securities of other corporations. This is due to the fact that as the object sought through their purchase, viz., the promotion of a more conservative policy in the management of some of the large railways reaching the seaboard, and the doing away with unjust discriminations between shippers had been largely accomplished, and through the passage of recent amendments to the Inter-State Commerce law and the enforcement of its provisions, the maintenance of tariff rates had been practically secured, it was deemed advisable to sell a portion of the securities heretofore acquired.

This sale covered all of your Chesapeake & Ohio Railway stock and a majority of your holdings in the Baltimore & Ohio and Norfolk & Western Railways, and as a result thereof a large profit has accrued to your Company, which, as before noted, has been credited to your Profit and Loss Account.

CAR TRUSTS.

In order to supply the equipment needed for your traffic a large additional issue of car trust securities was made during the year. This issue embraced the remaining certificates of the Pennsylvania Steel Rolling Stock Trust, $2,700,000; all the series of the Pennsylvania Steel Freight Car Trust, less the amount matured, $9,300,000; all the series of the Pennsylvania Steel Equipment Improvement Trust, $10,000,000, and twenty-two series of $1,000,000 each, and $218,000 of the twenty-third series of the issue of 1906 of the Pennsylvania General Freight Equipment Trust Association.

This latter Association has been created for the purpose of supplying through one instrumentality the equipment for the lines in the Pennsylvania Railroad system, and hereafter its certificates will be issued in series which will be designated not only by the letters of the alphabet but by the year of issue.

The total number of Car Trust cars now in service is 94,873, and the Car Trust certificates outstanding December 31st 1906 aggregate $71,018,000 00.

TRAFFIC.

The number of tons of freight moved on the four grand divisions east of Pittsburgh and Erie in 1906 was 172,371,063, an increase of 15,367,296, or 9.79 per cent; the number of passengers was 62,108,708, an increase of 6,326,899, or 11.34 per cent.

The other Railroad Companies east of Pittsburgh and Erie in which your Company is interested show satisfactory results. Detailed statements of their operations will be found in their respective annual reports, as well as in the full report of your Company.

CAPITAL STOCK AND FUNDED DEBT—LINES WEST OF PITTSBURGH.

The prosperous condition of the manufacturing interests of the country, and the great increase in the consumption of ore, coke, coal and other materials, as well as in the output of the finished product, has forced upon the lines on which the large iron and steel industries are located an exceptional expenditure for tracks, equipment, yards and other terminal facilities. This is especially the case upon the roads embraced in your Northwestern system; and in order to meet these demands and supply the Pennsylvania Company with the working capital needed for its general corporate purposes for several years, an issue was made April 2d 1906 of twenty million dollars of four per cent Collateral Trust Certificates, running for twenty-five years, with the right of redemption by the Company at any time after fifteen years. These certificates are guaranteed, principal and interest, by your Company.

It will be noted that after paying a dividend of six per cent for the past year, making large contributions to its various Sinking Funds, and transferring $2,500,000 to an Extraordinary Expenditure Fund, the Pennsylvania Company carried a substantial balance to the credit of its Profit and Loss Account. The Pittsburgh Cincinnati Chicago & St. Louis Railway Company was also able, after making the payments required by its Sinking Funds and applying a substantial sum toward the principal of Car Trusts and to Extraordinary Expenditures, to increase its dividends to five per cent on its preferred and three and a half per cent per annum on its common stock and further add to its Profit and Loss Account.

The Vandalia Railroad Company also increased its dividend to four and a half per cent and appropriated out of its surplus income $100,000 to an Extraordinary Expenditure Fund. This Company sold an additional $3,000,000 of its Consolidated Mortgage four per cent Bonds, due 1955, in order to provide the necessary funds for its capital expenditures, and recoup its treasury for the amount expended in the redemption of $600,000 Terre Haute & Indianapolis Second Mortgage five per cent bonds.

CAPITAL EXPENDITURES

The amount of Capital Expenditures during the year on the lines west of Pittsburgh for construction, equipment and real estate was $9,781,235 44.

In these expenditures were included large outlays upon track elevation in Chicago and Allegheny, upon the revision of line and extension of the double-track system on the Pittsburgh Cincinnati Chicago & St. Louis Railway, the improvement of yards, docks and other terminal facilities, the increase of sidings, and especially upon additional motive power and equipment for both your Northwestern and Southwestern systems.

TRAFFIC.

The number of tons of freight moved on the lines west of Pittsburgh was 142,370,099, an increase of 17,184,429. The number of passengers carried was 30,413,560, an increase of 2,153,125.

The gross earnings of all lines east and west of Pittsburgh for the year 1906 were $295,898,165 24 operating expenses, $211,543,766 03, and net earnings, $84,354,399 21, an increase in gross earnings, compared with 1905, of $29,828,567 48, and an increase in net earnings of $10,385,149 87. There were 363,955,827 tons of freight moved on the entire system, being an increase of 37,978,938 tons, and 140,513,361 passengers carried, an increase of 14,509,825.

GENERAL REMARKS

The Employees' Voluntary Relief Department, the Employees' Saving Fund and the Pension Department show excellent results and are fully meeting the purposes of their organization. It has been found to the advantage of the Company, in the operation of the Pension Fund, to retire a more liberal percentage of the employees who have, after thirty years' service, reached an age between sixty-five and sixty-nine years, and the demands thus made upon the Fund will necessitate a larger appropriation. Your authority will therefore be asked to increase the annual sum set apart for that purpose from $300,000 to $500,000. It having also been determined that it is to your interest that the limitation on admission to the service shall be fixed at forty-five instead of thirty-five years, your approval of that change will be requested.

It will be recalled that at the meeting of the Shareholders in 1903 the necessary authority was given for an increase of the capital stock to $400,000,000. After setting aside the amount required for the conversion of the three and one-half per cent Convertible Bonds of 1902 and 1905, there is, as appears from the following statement, but a small residue available for your corporate purposes.

Total authorized Issue		$400,000,000
Outstanding December 31st 1906	$305,951,350
Amount required for the conversion of the 3½% Convertible Bonds of 1902 and 1905	80,702,350
Amount required for the acquisition of the Stock of the Cumberland Valley Railroad Company	1,694,400
Amount required for the acquisition of the Stock of the Philadelphia & Erie Railroad Company	4,485,200
Amount required for acquisition of the Stock of the Allegheny Valley Railway Company	164,000
Balance available for Issue	7,002,700

For the purpose of meeting the future needs of the Company, and in pursuance of the notice already given, the Shareholders will be asked to authorize additional stock to an aggregate of $100,000,000 and its issue from time to time, under such regulations as the Board of Directors may prescribe. But as it may be to the interest of the Company to meet its corporate requirements through the issue of obligations bearing a lower rate of interest rather than through the issue of stock, authority will also be requested to increase its indebtedness from time to time to the same aggregate amount, in such form as may be found most available at the time of issue. The capital requirements of the Company for the current year will be met through the issue of $60,000,000 of three-year five per cent collateral notes; this being deemed more advisable than a sale of long-term bonds at the prices now prevailing for such securities.

The prompt recognition of the growing needs of the country for increased and improved railway facilities has resulted in the greater portion of the necessary additions and improvements to your road and equipment having been made on most favorable terms, both as to the cost of the work and the rates at which the funds were secured. But the demands for increased capital from other railways, influenced by the same reasons which governed your action, and substantially from all branches of industry, have made the present rates for money exceptionally high. This, together with the increased cost of labor and material, the legislation, both State and municipal, to increase taxes, reduce rates and fares, and force upon the railways large expenditures that yield no direct return, would seem to make it a wise policy on the part of your Company to reduce its capital expenditures to a minimum, avoid new undertakings and confine its expenditure for the present to such work as is now under way, and must be completed.

The movement of both freight and passenger traffic continues to show an exceptional increase, the volume and mileage for 1906 being greatly in excess of that for 1905, and much the largest in the history of the Company.

There was a very slight increase in the average rate received per ton per mile. It will be noted, however, that the higher scale of wages granted to your employees only went into effect on December 1st 1906, and that there is a steady advance in the prices of all materials purchased by your Company, both of which must materially affect the cost of transportation.

After meeting all liabilities and paying dividends aggregating six and a half per cent, and the maturing principal of the car trusts, $4,246,039 34, there was a surplus of income of $11,201,474 51, of which $8,701,471 51 was applied toward the Extraordinary Expenditure of the year and $2,500,000 00 transferred to an Extraordinary Expenditure Fund.

As already noted, the profit realized from the sale of securities of other companies was credited to your Profit and Loss Account; and against this Profit there has been charged off on account of the cost of construction of your New York Tunnel Extension the sum of $13,000,000, and the balance of $2,200,818 66 transferred to the Extraordinary Expenditure Fund.

The heaviest outlays during the year, between Pittsburgh and Jersey City, in addition to that involved in the completion of this line, were upon your four-track system, yards and other terminal facilities, right of way and real estate, and the procurement of a permanent water supply.

One hundred and ninety-eight locomotives were added to your motive power, and the freight equipment of the Company was increased to the extent of 23,803 cars, through the issue of securities under the usual car trust arrangements.

The aggregate expenditures for construction, equipment and real estate during the year upon your Main Line between New York and Pittsburgh, including $4,246,039 34 paid on account of the principal of Car Trusts, were $30,359,302 61, of which $17,411,788 73 was charged to capital account and $12,300,157 01 against the income of the year. There was also charged against the income for the year the amount of $647,356 87 advanced to the Western New York & Pennsylvania Railway for right of way and real estate, the canal and dock improvements at South Buffalo and the construction of the Ebenezer Branch. On the branch lines the main outlay was for sidings and additional terminal facilities, and aggregated $1,884,294 87.

The principal expenditures for the current year will be in completing the extensions of the four-track system now under way on the Middle, Pittsburgh and Western Pennsylvania Divisions, upon the Tunnel Extension into and through New York and upon the Terminal Station in that city; upon the right of way and real estate required for the relief lines referred to in the last report and upon additional motive power and equipment.

The progress upon the Tunnel Extension has been quite satisfactory, and while the work under the East River is somewhat slower in progress, that under the Hudson River was pushed forward so successfully that on the twelfth of September the laying of one of the tubes was completed through from Weehawken to Manhattan, and on the ninth of October the second tube was in place. The work of lining these tubes with concrete is now under way.

On the section between Harrison, the point east of Newark, where the Tunnel Line leaves your United New Jersey Division, and the Hudson River, many of the bridges have been constructed, and that over the Hackensack River largely completed, while the excavation on the approach to the Bergen Hill Tunnel and in the tunnel itself has made substantial progress. The excavation for the station site in New York between Seventh and Eighth avenues is practically finished, and the foundations for a number of the columns necessary to support the station and the steel viaducts are being put in place.

The work under the streets between the North and East rivers and in Long Island City beyond the East River is about two-thirds finished, and also about one-fourth of the excavation and lining for the four tunnels under the East River.

Large expenditures were also made upon the Philadelphia Baltimore & Washington, West Jersey & Seashore and Long Island Railroad systems.

It will be noted that the improvements, specially referred to in the report for 1902 as absolutely necessary to enable your traffic to be promptly and economically handled between Pittsburgh and New York, have, with a few exceptions, either been actually completed or are rapidly approaching completion. The completed work covers the construction of the Brilliant Branch, of the elevated railroad along Duquesne Way, together with the new freight station at Pittsburgh and the terminal yards adjacent to that city, the construction of the double track freight road between Gallitzin and Petersburg and of an important part of the classification yards located thereon at Hollidaysburg, the building of the double track low-grade freight line between York Haven and Glen Loch and of the Enola Yard in connection therewith, the construction of the double track elevated freight road through the West Philadelphia yards between the Main Line and the Delaware Extension and the Philadelphia Baltimore & Washington Railroad and the reduction of the grades on the Trenton Cut-Off.

There is no question that but for the policy pursued by your management in this direction, it would have been impracticable to handle the enormous traffic passing on or to or over your system; and the wisdom of making the expenditures necessary to accomplish this result has been clearly demonstrated. It must be borne in mind in this connection that in the five years from 1902 to 1907 the tonnage of the Main Line and branches has increased from about 77,000,000 tons to over 101,000,000 tons, and that of the four Grand Divisions east of Pittsburgh and Erie which are operated directly by your company from about 134,000,000 tons to over 172,000,000 tons. The gross earnings of the Main Line have increased in that period from about $68,000,000 to over $88,000,000, and of the four Grand Divisions referred to from about $112,000,000 to over $118,000,000, while the net income of the company after meeting interest on bonds, leases and other liabilities has increased from about $25,000,000 to over $35,000,000.

In order to temporarily provide the capital needed for the heavy expenditures made during the past year upon your lines east of Pittsburgh and Erie, it was deemed wise to utilize the powers of the Pennsylvania Company and thus make it further available for the purposes of its organization. To this end that company made an issue May 1 1906 of $50,000,000 of its four and one-half per cent eighteen months collateral notes, guaranteed by your company. The proceeds of these notes were placed to your credit, and the Pennsylvania Company has been reimbursed for these advances largely through the sale of the securities heretofore held in your treasury.

The shareholders have heretofore been advised of the necessity for securing a permanent supply of good water for your present and future needs, and of the continued pressure for additional equipment to meet the needs of your shippers. As stated in the last report, it was intended to secure a portion of the funds required for these purposes through the sale of short-term securities similar to the car trust certificates heretofore issued. But an opportunity having offered to place a loan in France, through banking institutions of the highest credit, on satisfactory terms, the Pennsylvania Company also made an issue under date of June 15th 1906 of 250,000,000 francs, or about $48,000,000, of its three and three-quarters per cent trust obligations, through the Girard Trust Company, as trustee, running for fifteen years, but subject to redemption at par and interest on June 15th 1918 or at any interest period thereafter. These obligations are guaranteed by your company, and with their proceeds the Pennsylvania Company has purchased from your company the car trust and water certificates to an amount substantially equal to the proceeds of this loan.

The charges to capital account during the year were as follows:—

COST OF ROAD: Being expenditure on low-grade freight line from York Haven to Glen Loch, on Pitcairn, Shire Oaks, Conemaugh, Hollidaysburg, Morrville, and other yards, Duquesne Way Elevated Road, extension of four-track system on main line, double tracking West Pennsylvania Division and on branches, shops, stations and other facilities	$14,039,126 58
Cost of South-West Pennsylvania Railway, absorbed	3,026,390 00
Cost of York Haven & Rowenna Railroad, absorbed	1,300,000 00
		$18,365,516 58
EQUIPMENT: Portion of cost of 198 locomotives		2,822,97 58
REAL ESTATE		549,686 29
Total charges to capital account for 1906		$21,738,178 73

The increase of CAPITAL STOCK during the year was as follows:

Issued in exchange for Convertible Bonds of 1902	$342,900 00
In exchange for Convertible Bonds of 1905	246.650 00
In exchange for preferred stock of Allegheny Valley Railway Company	2,812,900 00
Under allotment of stock of 1900	1,500 00
In conversion of dividend scrip of May 31st 1893	50 00
	$3,404,000 00

The attention of the shareholders has already been directed to a resolution passed by the Congress of the United States on the 7th day of March 1906, under which the Inter-State Commerce Commission was instructed to investigate and report, among other matters, whether common carriers by rail were interested in the ownership of the coal carried over their lines, and whether any officers or employees of such carriers, charged with the duty of furnishing cars or other facilities to shippers, were interested as owners or otherwise in the coal so carried.

It having been alleged in the course of this investigation, which was made ex parte, and without the safeguards incident to judicial proceedings, that employees of your company had failed to do their full duty to the shareholders of the company and to the public, and that this had resulted from their ownerships of interests in corporations doing business with your company or over its lines, a special committee of five directors was appointed to thoroughly inquire into and report upon the matters referred to. This committee has made an exhaustive inquiry extending over several months and reported its findings to the Board, and a copy thereof, as well as of their preliminary report, has been sent to each shareholder. The committee find, as the final result of its examination of the whole subject committed to it, that with few exceptions the officers and employees of the companies constituting the Pennsylvania Railroad system have been faithful to duty.

As a matter of policy, however, it has been determined that it is to the interest of the company that none of its officers or employees shall have any ownership, direct or indirect, in any company, or interest in any firm or with any individual owning or operating mines located on your system or dealing in coals produced therefrom, or in any other business where such holding might in any way conflict with their duty to the company or the company's duty to the public. The necessary measures have been taken to enforce compliance with this regulation.

The Board have to record with deep regret the death on December 16 1906 of Mr. Amos R. Little, who had served continuously as one of your directors since 1888, and whose kindly personality and devotion to the interests of the company had won the warm attachment of his associates.

On the twenty-eighth of December the company also lost by death its President, Mr. Alexander J. Cassatt, who had filled that position since June 9 1899. The minute adopted by the Board refers briefly to the lifelong connection of Mr. Cassatt with your service, and especially to his exceptionally important labors during his occupancy of the office of President. While that minute endeavors to record the value of his work, not alone to your company but to the general railway interests of the country, it is difficult for words to express the feeling of regret and personal loss which the sudden and unexpected death of Mr. Cassatt brought to all those who were associated with him in the management of your affairs.

To fill the vacancy thus caused, Mr. James McCrea was elected President on the second day of January 1907. Mr. Henry C. Frick was elected a director on the twenty-sixth day of December, 1906, in the place of Mr. Little, and Mr. Chas. E. Ingersoll on the twenty-third day of January, in the place of Mr. Cassatt.

By order of the Board.

La Salle Copper Co.—On Boston Unlisted.—The company's stock has been admitted to quotation on the unlisted sheet of the Boston Stock Exchange.—V. 84, p. 224.

Merchants' & Miners' Transportation Co.—See New York New Haven & Hartford RR. under "Railroads" above. —V. 83, p. 1039.

(The) New River Co.—Stock Offered—Earnings.—Hornblower & Weeks, New York, Boston, &c., who are offering at $90 per share 5,000 shares of the 6% cumulative preferred stock of this West Virginia coal mining company, report:

The company now has outstanding $4,810,800 of preferred and $9,621,600 of common stock. The preferred stock may be called at the option of the company at $115 per share. The company has no bonded debt. There are subscriptions outstanding and not yet due on which there will be paid into the treasury about $500,000. In order to obtain immediate possession of certain mining properties held under option and which it had been planned to take over when the subscriptions should become due, the company borrowed about $500,000, and therefore has outstanding $500,000 of notes.

The net earnings for eleven months of the past year were $352,801, viz.:

January	$28,396	May	$31,939	September	$34,492
February	17,731	June	29,905	October	39,038
March	29,655	July	28,319	November	44,922
April	29,727	August	38,675

This is at the rate of over 10% per annum on the amount of preferred stock outstanding at the end of each month. (Dividends are being paid on the preferred stock quarterly, beginning Nov. 1 1906, at the rate of 6% per annum.) See details in V. 83, p. 440, 1040.

New York & Cuba Mail Steamship Co. ("Ward Line.")—The company was incorporated in Maine on March 6 with $20,000,000 authorized stock, all of one class, as successor of the old company of the same name. Compare V. 84, p. 394.

New York & Wilkes-Barre Coal Co.—Time to Deposit Extended.—The protective committee announces that a majority of the 6% bonds having been actually deposited with the New York Trust Co., the time to make further deposits has been extended to March 31.—V. 84, p. 342.

Pacific Fruit Express Co.—Purchase of Stock.—See Union Pacific RR. below under "Railroads."—V. 83, p. 1595.

People's Gas Light & Coke Co., Chicago.—Contracts with Coking Plants.—The contract made with the By-Products Coke Co. of South Chicago, closed some time ago, and contracts with other coke manufacturers having been recently accepted by the board as the means of meeting the demand for a greater supply of gas, the company has, it is stated, abandoned for the present the intention to issue new securities. The plan for an immense central plant, which has been discussed from time to time, has also been abandoned, temporarily at least. The deal with the By-Products Co. alone, it is said, will increase the supply of gas from 1,500,000 to 2,000,000 cubic feet annually, the present sales of gas in Chicago being about 12,000,000 feet yearly. The arrangements with the coke companies, it is reported, are made on terms so advantageous as to offset the effect of the reduction in the price of gas from $1 00 to 85 cents.—V. 84, p. 394, 388, 342.

Quaker Oats Co.—New Directors.—James Parmelee, George A. Cox and J. G. Schmidlapp have been elected directors in place of J. R. Nutt, John Stewart and John P. Welling.—V. 84, p. 506.

Quincy Mining Co.—Report.—The results for the calendar year were:

Year.	Gross.	Net.	Oth. inc.	Construc'n.	Dividends.	Bal., su
1906	$3,150,011	$1,334,134	$27,411	$138,560	(30) $1,250,000	def. $27,015

1904	2,444,749	655,927	27,630	106,002	(20) 500,000	sur. 77,555

Total surplus Dec. 31 1906 was $1,220,532. A quarterly dividend of $4 50 per share (18%) will be paid March 11. See V. 84, p. 342.

Railway Steel Spring Co.—New Director.—George G. McMurtry has been elected a director in place of Charles Scott Jr., resigned.

Report.—See a preceding page.—V. 84, p. 100.

Silversmiths Co.—Acquisition.—The stockholders of the company and of the Silverware Stocks Co. on Feb. 28 ratified the plan of merger of the two companies, the $2,000,000 stock of the Silverware Stocks Co. to be exchanged, dollar for dollar, for stock of the Silversmiths Co. The authorized stock of the latter is $14,000,000, but none has been issued except for the purpose aforesaid. Compare Silverware Stocks Co., V. 84, p. 342. V. 82, p. 1045, and plan, V. 83, p. 1292.

Silverware Stocks Co.—Sale.—See Silversmiths Co. above.—V. 84, p. 342.

Spring Valley Water Co.—Report.—For year ending Dec. 31:

Cal. Year.	Total Receipts.	Net Over Taxes.	Coupon, &c., Interest.	Dirs. Paid.	Balance, Surplus.
1906	$2,447,586	$1,174 449	$943,075	$189,321	$42,053
1905	2 299,765	1,359,445	757,000	532,330	70,115

Operating expenses included $262,645 expended for permanent improvements and $236,408 for improvements.

Forfeiture.—The Board of Supervisors of San Francisco on Feb. 28 declared forfeited to the City and County of San Francisco the franchises and property of the company, under a State law, the company is accused of violating, it having charged the same rates in 1906 as it did in 1902, the water rates for 1906 as fixed by ordinance being 25% less than the rates specified in the ordinance passed in 1902. The city will await the final decision of the Federal Courts in the litigation now on appeal before taking active steps.—V. 83, p. 704.

United Copper Co.—Exchange of Stock.—The offer of President Hemze to give in exchange for the preferred stock 125% in the common stock of the company has, we learn, been accepted by the holders of nearly $4,000,000 of the $5,000,000 outstanding preferred stock. Compare V. 84, p. 448, 343

United Gas & Electric Co.—Plan.—See Susquehanna Railway, Light & Power Co. under "Railroads."—V. 82, p. 871.

Virginia Lumber Co.—Bonds Offered.—Eversz & Co. of Chicago and New York are offering a part of $750,000 first mortgage 6% timber reserve gold bonds, maturing serially Aug. 1 1907 to Feb. 1 1912, inclusive. These bonds are a first lien on 168,250,000 feet of standing white and Norway pine in St Louis County, Minn., conservatively appraised at approximately $2,000,000. Two-thirds of the bonds have already been placed

It is the intention not to cut any of this timber during the life of the bonds. A liberal sinking fund, however, is provided for the retirement of the bonds from the cutting of other timber holdings of the Virginia & Rainy Lake Co., the latter company guaranteeing the bonds, principal and interest.

The Virginia & Rainy Lake Co., with a fully paid-up capital stock of $4,000,000 and net assets of $10,000,000, owns over one billion feet of timber besides the mortgaged timber

Waterbury Company (Incorporated in West Virginia).—Dividends.—This West Virginia corporation has declared a fourth regular quarterly dividend of 1% on the stock, payable April 1 to stockholders of record March 20. The Waterbury Co. of New Jersey, whose common stock is all owned, has declared a quarterly dividend of 2½% on the $1,000,000 common stock, payable at the same time, and also the regular quarterly dividend of 2% on the preferred stock. In 1906 and 1905 8% was paid on the common stock of the last-named company and in 1904 12%. Compare V. 84, p. 275.

—The Imperial Bank of Canada (head office Toronto) has issued an office calendar which becomes available for use with the present month, starting as it does with March 1907 and running through the twelve months to and including February 1908. A separate leaf is attached giving the entire calendar year 1908. The values of foreign coins in Canadian currency are also shown.

—Henry T. Ashmore, Frederick Lutz, Charles Hitchcock Jr. and Alexander Cameron Jr. have this week organized the firm of Ashmore, Lutz & Hitchcock for the transaction of a general banking and brokerage business at 25 Broad Street. The new firm succeeds the old concern of Ashmore & Lutz, formerly at 20 Broad Street.

—Peabody, Houghteling & Co., Chicago, will send on request descriptive circulars relating to investment securities which they recommend to investors. See advertisement on page facing first page of reading matter.

—The firm of Denning & Magoffin, 10 Wall St., has dissolved. Mr. J. R. Magoffin will continue the business at the old office.

COMMERCIAL EPITOME.

Friday Night, March 8 1907.

Activity of trade, firmness of prices and confidence of feeling are still the dominant characteristics, notwithstanding the depression at the Stock Exchange. Speculation on the whole remains dormant.

LARD on the spot has been quiet and steady. The demand has been confined mainly to jobbers. City is quoted at 9½c. and Western 9.80@9.85c. Refined lard has been quiet with Continent easy and other grades steady. Refined Continent 10.10c., South American 11c. and Brazil in kegs 12@12¼c. The market for lard futures has been active and irregular. Heavy realizing sales have had a depressing effect at times, but packers have given support on declines.

September delivery	9.57½	9 57½	9.70	9.72½	9.75	9.72½

PORK on the spot has declined with trade stagnant. Supplies continue moderate. Mess $18@$18 75, clear $18@$19 50 and family $20@$20 50. Cut meats have ruled steady with a fair jobbing demand; supplies are small. Pickled shoulders 9@9¼c., pickled hams 12¼@12¾c. and pickled bellies, 14@10 lbs., 10¾@11¼c. Tallow has been dull and firm; City 6¾c. Stearines have been dull and easier; oleo and lard 10½@10¾c. Butter has declined on increasing supplies and dulness of trade; creamery extras 31½@32c. Cheese has been fairly active and firm; State factory, September, fancy, 15c. Eggs have declined sharply on large receipts and increasing stocks; Western firsts 18¼c.

OIL.—Cottonseed has advanced, owing to a rise in futures and light offerings. Prime summer yellow 50c., winter yellow 51c. Linseed has been dull but firm on the strength of the market for seed. City, raw, American seed, 42@43c.; boiled 43@44c.; Calcutta, raw, 70c. Lard has been dull and easy; prime 78@80c., No. 1 extra 58@60c.

COFFEE on the spot has been more active and firm. Rio No. 7, 7¼@7⅜c., and Santos No. 4, 8⅜@8½c. West India growths have been fairly active and firm; fair to good Cucuta 8½@9c. The market for future contracts advanced early in the week under the stimulus of active covering by foreign and local shorts and an increased demand on the spot. Roasters were good buyers and local bulls gave support. Of late prices have reacted, however, owing to a marked falling off in the demand to cover, selling for a decline by local traders and a lack of support.

The closing prices were as follows:

March	6.25c.	July	5.95c.
April	6.20c.	August	5.95c.
May	6.20c.	September	5.95c.
June	6.00c.	October	5.95c.
November	5.95c.
December	6.00c.
January	6.00c.
February	6.00c.

SUGAR.—Raw has been firmer with an increased demand from refiners. Centrifugal, 96-degrees test, 3.55c; muscovado, 89-degrees test, 3c., and molasses, 89-degrees test, 2¾c. Refined has been more active and firm but without notable change. Granulated 4.40c.

PETROLEUM has been firm with a moderate domestic and an active foreign trade. Refined, barrels, 7.75c.; bulk 4.50c. and cases 10.25c. Naphtha has been fairly active and steady; 73@76 degrees 13c. in 100-gallon drums. Gasoline has been moderately active and firm; 86 degrees 21c. in 100-gallon drums. Spirits of turpentine has been fairly active at 75½c. Rosin has been in moderate demand and firm; common to good strained $4 10@$4 45.

TOBACCO.—The market for domestic leaf has continued quiet, though some increase in the demand from interior dealers is noted. A somewhat better inquiry is reported for Florida wrappers, but, owing to the lightness of supplies, the transactions have been confined to small lots. Prices for all kinds of tobacco have ruled firm. Crop reports from Havana have been less favorable, the latest advices reporting prospects for a crop in Pinar del Rio Province only about half as large as the previous yield, which was a short one. Stocks held by packers and jobbers are generally light.

COPPER has been dull but firm; lake 25½@25¾c., electrolytic 25¼@25½c. Lead has been quiet and firm at 6¼@6.30c. Spelter has been quiet and steady at 6.85@6.90c. Tin has been in moderate demand and firm; Straits 32.10c. Iron has been active and somewhat easier; No. 1 Northern $23 20@$25 20, No. 2 Southern $22 75@$24 50.

Speculation in cotton for future delivery has been on a somewhat larger scale at higher prices. The rise was due in part to some decrease in the receipts, heavy and persistent buying by Liverpool to liquidate straddles in May and July, no little covering by local and other operators, and finally the aggressive tactics of local bull clique. The clique, though it has taken profits at times, has also bought considerable cotton and sustained the market when it has shown any tendency to decline. Moreover, the strength of prices in Liverpool has been an important factor. Still more so has been the continued strength of the spot markets at the South, with such cognate influences as large spinners' takings, very liberal exports, and, in a word, the multiplying evidences of an unprecedented consumption. Then, too, whereas some of the advocates of lower prices have recently been inclined to estimate the crop at anywhere from 13,500,000 to 14,000,000 bales, the bulls have been quite as decidedly disposed to reckon it at 13,000,000 bales or less. At the same time, reports from the section east of the Mississippi have seemed to suggest exhaustion of the crop in some localities, and it is also worthy of remark that interior stocks, already considerably smaller than those of a year ago, have latterly been decreasing. Daily advices from such towns as are reported by the Exchange have invariably shown shipments exceeding receipts. Also, it would appear that the supply of the better grades at the South has recently been greatly reduced and that the demand from spinners is turning more to the lower qualities. Add to this the very favorable reports in regard to the cotton goods trade both at home and abroad and it will not be difficult to understand why the market has, on the whole, shown a stronger tone. And this in spite of the fact that some features have undoubtedly militated against a rise and have certainly held it to some extent in check. These are the continued large receipts notwithstanding some falling off here and there, the dulness of outside speculation, the violent breaks in the stock market, which are apt to affect commodities like cotton, traded in so generally by Stock Exchange houses, and, finally, liquidation, both here and in Liverpool, partly by leading bulls. The dominant factor has been, however, the big consumption re-enforced by more aggressive bullish speculation. There is a growing impression, too, that an unparalleled consumption will prevent any large accumulation of reserve stocks this season. Dry weather, which has existed most of the time, it is stated, for five months past over much of Texas, Oklahoma and Indian Territory, has continued. The weather is not, as yet, a market factor, but it soon will be, particularly as it is very generally recognized that another large crop is needed, while some are dubious as to the likelihood of the South raising two big crops in succession. To-day there was a small decline, owing to large receipts, dulness of speculation and some local liquidation. Spot cotton has advanced 20 points during the week, with the demand more active. Middling closed at 11.15c.

On the basis of the Nov. 21 Revision the official prices for a few of the grades for the past week would be as follows:

BREADSTUFFS.

Friday, March 8 1907.

Prices for wheat flour have shown some irregularity of late, but the changes as a rule have been unimportant. Some millers have shaded quotations at times, notably for winter flour, and a somewhat larger business has resulted. The general position of the market, however remains unsatisfactory. Buyers as a rule continue to pursue the policy of buying on a hand-to-mouth basis, despite the fact that the stocks held by dealers have become greatly depleted. Export trade has continued stagnant. Rye flour has been firm with a small jobbing demand. Corn meal has been dull and firm.

Wheat has been irregular, and the net result of the fluctuations is that prices stand about where they were a week ago. Bullish factors have not been wanting, such as firm spot markets at the Northwest, some unfavorable crop reports from the winter-wheat belt, reports of Russian buying in Liverpool and latterly a pretty good foreign inquiry here and at the West. Some fields in Ohio, Indiana and Michigan have a brown appearance. But on the other hand the world's exports have been larger, the quantity on passage to Europe has increased very noticeably, the Minneapolis stock has been rapidly augmenting and the foreign markets of late have been lukewarm if not actually depressed. Moreover, flour has been dull and some of the crop reports have been favorable. The outlook in Kansas, Missouri and Kentucky is excellent, and conservative reports are even to the effect that the outlook everywhere, take it for all in all, is not discouraging. What is more, persistent reports have been in circulation of heavy liquidation by large bull interests. It would seem that these reports, too, have some foundation in fact. Two brokers have sold, it is stated, some five or six million bushels, supposed to be partly, if not largely, for "long" account. Also, however, there has been considerable short selling, and there are reports that leading Wall Street bull interests have not liquidated all their holdings. Much of the trading has been what is usually termed the professional kind. Good buying at times and heavy selling at others have prevented prices from swinging continuously or decisively either way. To-day prices declined early on large Argentine shipments, weakness at Minneapolis and liquidation, but later an advance occurred on reports of damage to winter wheat, bull support and covering of shorts.

Indian corn futures have fluctuated within narrow limits, sympathizing to some extent early in the week with some depression in wheat. But in the main the tone has been firm, owing to the strength of the cash market, an increased cash demand, partly for export, light offerings and covering by shorts. The proportion of contract grade in the daily arrivals at Chicago has continued exceedingly small, and this fact has restricted short selling. Commission houses have bought at times, and there has been more or less bull support, though the speculation has been rather quiet. The dominating influence, however, has been the strength of the cash position. Further reports of crop failure in Argentine have also contributed to the strength of the market. To-day prices advanced on the rise in oats, light offerings, covering of shorts and commission-house buying.

Oats for future delivery in the Western market have in the main advanced, owing to support from leading bull interests, light offerings and covering of shorts. At one time prices weakened somewhat, owing to a heavy wheat market and realizing, partly by the bull clique. But bulls have given vigorous support on all recessions and nervous shorts have covered freely. The cash market has ruled strong with an active shipping demand at the West. Northwestern houses have been buying futures of late. The receipts have continued on a moderate scale. To-day prices advanced a fraction, owing to the rise in wheat, bull manipulation, light offerings and covering by timid shorts. Prices established a new high record for the season.

THE DRY GOODS TRADE.

New York, Friday Night, March 8 1907.

Unabated activity in most lines, an increased scarcity of goods for immediate delivery, further advances in prices and numerous withdrawals were the salient features of the dry goods market this week. The inadequacy of supplies to meet legitimate demands in many lines is becoming more pronounced as the season progresses, and buyers are confronted with more closely sold-up conditions in the market generally than they have witnessed in years. In the cotton goods division prices at first hand are remarkably strong, and no weak spot can be found anywhere; the steadily increasing strength in this department is shown by the fact that jobbers have been obliged to advance bleached goods and staple cottons to a basis which is from ¼ to 1c. higher than a month ago, further advances in these lines, particularly heavy goods, having been announced during the past week. The situation on staple ginghams is becoming acute, owing to the sold-up condition of the market, some lines having been withdrawn since deliveries cannot be guaranteed this year. Fancy cottons, napped goods and plain staples, such as sheetings, drills and heavy colored cottons for fall, are bringing top prices. The print cloth market continues very strong, with narrow widths for immediate delivery extremely scarce and the capacity of mills fully contracted for months ahead. The demand for wide goods is steady, but the volume of business is a trifle less than a week ago. Gray goods, 39-inch, 68x72, have been advanced ⅛c. The recent advance in indigoes has not curtailed purchases of staple prints from first hands; owing to the continued strength of gray goods, further advances in certain lines of prints are expected in the near future. Export trade remains comparatively quiet. Silk trade conditions are considered very satisfactory, with bright prospects for fall trade. Woolen and worsted fabrics for fall are also strong. In dress goods the demand for late summer requirements and fall has been large, and in wash fabrics for spring and summer an exceptionally heavy business has been done. Men's wear lines show steady improvement, and many duplicate orders are being received on fall lines of fancy woolens.

DOMESTIC COTTON GOODS.—The exports of cotton goods from this port for the week ending March 2 were 6,380 packages, valued at $383,633, their destination being to the points specified in the tables below:

Other Countries	55	8,984	281	2,451
Total	6,380	48,743	11,288	60,922

The value of these New York exports since Jan. 1 has been $2,975,299 in 1907, against $3,265,108 in 1906.

Bleached goods continue to show remarkable strength. Certain lines of sheetings are ½c. higher, and the advances named this week on 4-4 and 7-8 goods in the fine lines required by short manufacturers and cutters-up have been met and the small stocks available quickly asborbed. There has been a very urgent demand for spot bleached goods, particularly from the West, while buyers are anxious also to cover future needs, paying more attention to the question of delivery than to price. It is stated that on many low lines which are coming forward to jobbers the latter are able to get fully 1c. more a yard than the price ruling two or three weeks ago. The demand for prints is unprecedented, both jobbers and manufacturers being unable to supply the full wants of the trade, and all indications point to present conditions continuing well into 1908, with the tendency of prices higher. Leading manufacturers of dress ginghams are well sold up through the current year, and some lines have been withdrawn. Standard Southern tickings are sold through August and are firmly held at 13½c. Linings are in heavy demand for all grades, especially staples and fancy, and mills are heavily booked ahead. Buyers find it exceedingly difficult to get near-by deliveries even at the recent advances. Denims are scarce, only small lots as a rule being available. The production of colored cottons for the current year is reported to be fully under order. Export trade with China is practically at a standstill, but additional business has been received from Jamaica and fair orders from South America. Inquiries were also received from Red Sea ports, but bid prices have been below present open market quotations.

WOOLEN GOODS.—Men's wear and women's wear fancy woolens for fall are reaching a better position than they have been in for years past. Buyers are still disposed to move cautiously in worsteds and re-orders on men's wear heavyweights are below last year's. The dress goods market is making good headway; conditions are satisfactory and the volume of business of fair size. Plaid effects are in especial favor and broadcloths continue very popular. The continued cold weather has materially helped to move winter stocks of both men's and women's clothing, and wholesalers have received late re-orders for spot delivery. This clearing of the markets has greatly improved the outlook for fall business. Overcoatings show a substantial improvement for the winter of 1907. Duplicates are coming in on staples for fall, but fancy and novelty overcoatings, except in the high-grades, appear to be declining in favor.

FOREIGN DRY GOODS.—As many domestic manufacturers are well booked ahead on the finer products, foreign dress goods are in increased demand, English and French voiles and worsteds in light-weight fancies, broadcloths, fancy suitings, panamas and all-wool taffetas being in strong favor. Linens show little if any change from the previous strong situation; arrivals from the other side have been fairly large, but entirely inadequate, and shipments are still anxiously awaited; in some directions the high prices have caused a moderation in the demand, but large buyers continue to place heavy orders for the best possible delivery. Imported white goods are particularly active. The demand for light-weight burlaps is strong; heavy-weights are also very active and show increasing scarcity.

Importations and Warehouse Withdrawals of Dry Goods.

MUNICIPAL BOND SALES IN FEBRUARY.

The February aggregate of municipal bond disposals proves to be of larger proportions than that of any February since 1892 and, in fact, exceeds any monthly output ever recorded, with only two exceptions. According to our records $37,740,322 of such bonds were placed on the market in February. The total does not include $2,893,600 of temporary loans or $1,191,123 Canadian securities. The exceptional magnitude of the total is due mainly to the very large offerings by New York City on Feb. 1. This sale, however proved to be somewhat of a disappointment, as not quite the whole of the $30,000,000 of 4% stock and bonds offered was sold. The bids exceeded the amount of the offering, aggregating $38,569,535, but fell short on the 20-year and the assessment bonds. Consequently the award was only $27,586,000. The award was made on a basis of about 3.98% for the corporate stock maturing in 1956 and in 1926 and a basis of about 3.997% for the short time assessment bonds.

Among other sales of importance during the month may be mentioned the following: Cincinnati, Ohio, $1,000,000 4% 20-40-year (optional) water bonds awarded to a local syndicate on a basis of about 3.728% to the optional date and 3.814% to the full maturity; Baltimore, Md., $1,000,000 3½% sewer stock, all of which, with the exception of $5,000 taken at par, was disposed of at 97, and Seattle, Wash., $1,650,000 4½% 10-20-year (optional) sewer bonds and $500,000 4% 20-year park bonds, disposed of to a Chicago syndicate at a small premium.

The number of municipalities emitting bonds and the number of separate issues made during Feb. 1907 were 127 and 196, respectively. This contrasts with 144 and 185 for Jan. 1907 and with 130 and 183 for Feb. 1906.

For comparative purposes we add the following table, showing the aggregates for February and the two months for a series of years:

	Month of February.	For the Two Mos.		Month of February.	For the Two Mos.
1907	$37,740,322	$47,715,656	1899	$7,038,318	$13,114,275

Owing to the crowded condition of our columns, we are obliged to omit this week the customary table showing the month's bond sales in detail. It will be given next week.

News Items.

Japan.—New Loan Offered.—Messrs. Kuhn, Loeb & Co., the National City Bank and the National Bank of Commerce in New York City are offering at 99½ (subscriptions to close on or before March 14 1907) the new Japanese Imperial Government 5% Sterling Loan of 1907, aggregating £23,000,000. The proceeds of the sale of this loan will be used to retire the £22,000,000 6% bonds issued in 1904. Payment for the new bonds may be made in cash or in old bonds of 1904 which have been called for payment as per items elsewhere. The new loan will be issued in series of £500,000 each, with semi-annual interest coupons attached, payable March 12 and Sept. 12. They are payable March 12 1947 but subject to call upon six months' notice on or after March 12 1922. Bonds and coupons are payable in London at the office of the Yokohama Specie Bank, Limited, in sterling; in Paris at Messrs. De Rothschild Freres, at the fixed exchange of fcs. 25.25 per pound sterling; in New York City at the agency of the Yokohama Specie Bank, Limited, at the current rate of exchange in London on due dates. Subscriptions will also be received by the Old Colony Trust Co., Kidder, Peabody & Co. and Lee, Higginson & Co. of Boston; by the Fidelity Trust Co., the Girard Trust Co. and Sailer & Stevenson of Philadelphia; by the Illinois Trust & Savings Bank and the Merchants' Loan & Trust Co. of Chicago; and by Francis Bros. & Co. and A. G. Edwards & Sons of St. Louis. Further details of the offering, together with the terms of subscription and payment of bonds, will be found in the advertisement published on page xvi.

Nashville, Tenn.—Tennessee Central Subscription Valid.—Chief Justice W. D. Beard of the State Supreme Court on Feb. 23 handed down a decision in favor of the $1,000,000 subscription voted by the city Aug. 8 1901 in aid of the Nashville & Clarksville RR.—now Tennessee Central RR. The legality of this subscription has been before the courts for several years and items regarding the same may be found in V. 82, p. 1397, 525; V. 81, p. 739; V. 76, p. 1419.

West Virginia.—Legislature Adjourns.—The Legislature of this State adjourned March 5.

The bonds may be exchanged for registered bonds at any time.

Bidders are requested to state in their proposal the price offered per bond, the par and premium to be stated as one amount.

No bid will be considered that is not made on blank furnished by the Comptroller Proposals must be accompanied by a cashier's or certified check, payable to the order of the Comptroller (and subject to his approval), equal to five (5) per cent of the nominal amount of the bonds bid for; said deposit to be returned immediately if the proposal is not accepted, otherwise to be held subject to forfeiture to the City in event of failure on the part of the bidder to comply with his proposal, or in case of compliance to be retained as part of the purchase money. A deposit in the required amount, to the credit of the City of St. Louis, in the National Bank of Commerce, in New York, on or before Saturday, March 16th, 1907, will be accepted as full compliance with the requirements relating to deposits. No interest will be allowed on earnest money deposited.

Proposals will be subject to all the conditions and reservations of this advertisement, and must refer to same as a portion of the agreement on the part of the bidder.

Proposals should be enclosed and addressed to the undersigned and endorsed "Proposal for Purchase of St. Louis City Bonds."

The undersigned reserve the right to reject any or all bids.

The Bonds will be delivered against payment therefor in current funds, at the office of the Comptroller in the City of St. Louis, on the 1st day of April, 1907, or, if the bidder so elects in his proposal, at the National Bank of Commerce in New York on the 1st day of April, 1907.

The opinion of Messrs. Dillon & Hubbard, Attorneys and Counselors at Law, New York City, as to the validity of the bonds, will be furnished the successful bidders by the City.

A sample bond can be seen and further information obtained at the office of the Comptroller.

Tulsa, Ind. Ter. —Bond Election Enjoined.—The following item, regarding a proposed election in this city, appeared in the St. Louis Globe-Democrat:

Tulsa, I. T., Feb. 16.—Judge William R. Lawrence in the Federal Court to-day granted a permanent injunction to the Tulsa Water, Light, Heat & Power Co. restraining the City of Tulsa from proceeding with a special election to vote on the issuance of municipal bonds to the amount of $100,000 for a municipal water system. The Tulsa Water, Light, Heat & Power Co. is operating under an exclusive franchise granted three years ago.

Union City (P. O. Union City, Indiana), Darke County, Ohio.—Maturity of Bonds. The official advertisement of the offering on March 11 of the $2,500 5½% coupon street-improvement bonds states that the bonds are dated Dec. 15 1906 and will mature in five years. Accrued interest to be paid by purchaser. For description of bonds and terms of offering see V. 84, p. 169.

Union Precinct, Hamilton County, Neb. —Bonds Voted.—A proposition to issue $5,000 bonds carried on Feb. 25. These securities are in aid of the Omaha & Nebraska Central Electric Railway and will not be issued until that road is completed.

Utica, N. Y.—Bond Sale Postponed.—We are informed that proposals will now be received until March 15 for the $30,-833 74 (three issues) 4% registered street-improvement bonds which were to have been sold March 1. See V. 84, p. 530, for description of these securities.

Vermilion, Alberta.—Debenture Offering.—Proposals will be received by Norman Murray, Secretary-Treasurer, for $1,775 and $1,000 6% debentures maturing part yearly on Feb. 14 from 1908 to 1927 inclusive. Interest annual.

Vigo County (P. O. Terre Haute), Ind.—Bond Sale.—On March 5 the $34,778 50 4½% coupon bridge-repair bonds described in V. 84, p. 237, were awarded to MacDonald, McCoy & Co. of Chicago at 107.133 and accrued interest. Following are the bids:

White Plains Union Free School District No. 1 (P. O. White Plains), Westchester County, N. Y.—Award Postponed.—No award was made on March 5 of the $150,000 4% bonds described in V. 84, p. 470.

Willmar, Minn.—Certificate Sale.—An issue of $3,600 5% certificates of indebtedness dated Feb. 12 1907 and maturing Dec. 31 1907 was sold on Feb. 11 to the Board of Sinking Fund Trustees at par.

Wilson Creek, Douglas County, Wash. —Bonds Authorized.—This town has authorized the issuance of $12,000 5% coupon water-system-construction bonds. Denomination $1,000. Interest payable in Wilson Creek. Maturity twenty years. The town has no debt at present. Assessed valuation for 1906, $140,000. T. B Santhord is Town Clerk.

Winnipeg, Manitoba.—Debenture Sale.—On March 1 the six issues of 4% debentures, aggregating $1,594,506 55, described in V. 84, p. 237, were awarded to Coates, Son & Co. of London, England, through their Montreal agents, at 97.27.

Worcester, Mass.—Temporary Loan.—A loan of $50,000 was recently negotiated with the Worcester County institution for Savings at 4.875% discount. Loan matures Oct. 11 1907.

MISCELLANEOUS.

You Wouldn't Start a Horse-Car Line

in this age of electric cars? Not if you wanted to make money out of the business of transportation.

Then why should you start a manual telephone exchange in this age of automatics, if you want to make money out of the telephone business?

The automatic system of telephony bears the same relation to the manual system that the electric car does to the horse car It is the apotheosis of telephone development, as the electric car is of transportation development.

The automatic telephone system produces the best service more economcially than indifferent service can be produced with manual equipment.

There is no more question as to the relative popularity of the automatic and manual telephone service where the two kinds are in competition than there is as to the relative popularity of the trolley car and the horse car.

And, as for the securities—the same comparison may be applied with the same results.

Our Automatic system has been adopted in the following citie

THE FINANCIAL SITUATION.

Frightful declines in the market prices of securities have been the feature of the past week. The pressure which has been recently affecting all railroad interests has been more and more severely felt. It is always rumors and fears of what is to happen, built upon and along the lines of what has happened, that becomes the last straw that breaks. In this case it has been in considerable measure threats of a general raid of the Inter-State Commerce Commission upon the whole system of roads during the summer, like the Harriman examination, concurrently with the general putting into operation of the severer State laws which, report said, the Federal Government had instigated for that purpose, and are now in process of being enacted, that brought on the more acute form of liquidation which has, during past weeks, taken possesion of our Stock Exchange market until the lowest prices that have been touched for years have been reached.

To get at the truth of these reports and to produce, if possible, a more hopeful and clear understanding between the Government and the roads, Mr. J. Pierpont Morgan, with three or four other of the more conservative of our representative men of affairs, called upon President Roosevelt Monday. The consultation was not long, but so far as it went, was satisfactory. Enough was believed to be intimated or imparted to afford assurance that no raid was contemplated by the Commission, that nothing would be done in a spirit of resentment, or that would have a tendency to add to or even continue the existence of the prevailing public distrust. Mr. Morgan sailed for Europe Wednesday, and a conference at a future day, not fixed, was really the only point gained.

There ought to be no reason why a full and cordial understanding between the Federal Government and the railroads should not exist. If we may judge from the newspaper reports that came from Washington early the past week, there was a readiness on the part of the President to help bring about that situation. Later, rumors were afloat of quite a harsh nature, claiming that there was no change whatever in the official position and "that the coming conference at the White House about which so much has been said, and upon which so many hopes have been built, would prove worse than useless." We wish it might be realized in Governmental circles, as it has long been in conservative railroad circles, that the Supreme Court interpretation of the anti-trust law should be revised, which held that any restraint upon commerce, beneficent or otherwise, is a criminal offense.

Another change tending to induce a revision of ideas was a rise in freight rates, for if such a movement had set in as lustily as was reported early in the week it would not long hence become a factor of unknown proportions to be reckoned with. In the same connection we have the economical fit forced upon the railroads. If the roads are to be bound hand and foot in the effort of the public to restrain the carriers from making money enough to keep their properties in action and paying their fixed charges, and so saving themselves from insolvency, there is no way open for the industry in process of being stifled except to cut off all new work while reducing every feature in construction to its lowest practicable limits and giving the wage-earners a vacation. These are the natural processes by which the struggle for existence, the living principle of a going concern, forces recovery from the inaction unwise legislation produces. Another way is in liquidation, at start moderate but later in extreme violence, such as is now in progress, which decreasing net earnings or more threatening perils set in operation. Stockholders do not wait for the ruin of their properties. The bigger ones scent danger from afar; but sooner or later the whole body of them take steps to save themselves by getting out of a sinking craft. As these are the signs of an industrial break-up, it would be no surprise if President Roosevelt should be materially concerned over this situation.

A striking development in the cotton goods industry of Great Britain within recent weeks has been the phenomenal advance in the value of Egyptian cotton and yarns spun therefrom. The rise is all the more surprising in view of the fact that supplies of the raw material from all important sources—Egypt as well as America and India—are proving to be in 1906-07 much greater than in the preceding season. But despite the plethora of cotton, yarns of every description maintain a strong position in the English markets, notwithstanding the high level at which they are ruling, and Egyptian varieties have reached a point not touched in over a quarter of a century. With the great number of new fine spindles started in Great Britain of late months, many of them devoted to the producing of yarns from Egyptian cotton, it was rather to be expected that the supply would be sufficient to promptly meet manufacturers' requirements; but the contrary seems to be the case. At the close of January these Egyptian yarns were very well sold ahead, with a practical famine existing in some counts and a good demand in evidence from the Continent as well as from the home trade. Desire for supplies from all directions—manufacturers at home, exporters and producers of specialties—became more urgent in February as the month progressed, continuing the advance in prices, which had been theretofore steady from the opening of the new season, until nearly 19d. per pound for 60s twist was reached at the close of the month—over 3d. above the quotation of Oct. 1. Furthermore, fine counts of yarns are still well engaged very far ahead. This condition of the Egyptian yarn trade would appear to indicate an almost extraordinary demand for the finer classes of goods—a demand which has been the leading feature of the cotton goods trade for some time past. But does not this phenomenal advance in prices of goods, with large supplies of cotton from all the world's producers, constitute a menace?

Though the new financial law became effective on March 4, the Secretary of the Treasury has thus far made no methodized announcement of his intention to act under that provision which authorized the placing of customs collections in depository banks. It was reported from Washington, however, that he was giving consideration to the matter, with a view to intervention for the relief of the money market should conditions justify such a course. In the meantime, and in explanation of his delay, it was stated that in making selections of new depositories assurance was first needful that those which were chosen could qualify with the requisite security for the reception of the deposits, and that an equitable distribution of the funds should be arranged for in order to comply with the provisions of the law. Moreover, special regulations had to be organized for the deposit of customs collections in this city, where the largest amounts of such dues are paid, and this might involve the rejection of the present plan of collection of duties and the substitution therefor of some other method which would be as effective and at the same time give ample protection to the Government.

There did not, until this week, appear to be any particular need for the Secretary's intervention for the relief of the money market. Bank reserves were low, but this condition was largely the result of retirement of bank circulation involving the substitution of lawful money for the bond pledges that were withdrawn from the Treasury in the process of such note retirement, which lawful money was contributed by local banks in response to requisitions by their correspondents. Further depletion of bank reserves was, however, threatened as the week advanced because of continued retirements of circulation, and also because of payments of dividends and of installments on new railroad stock and on corporation notes. On Wednesday a somewhat excited situation developed. The Treasury absorptions from the banks were of such volume as to indicate the extinction of the surplus, unless through loan contraction and the consequent reduction of reserve requirements the effect of this loss of cash should be greatly minimized. Calling of loans to meet these extraordinary payments contributed to such monetary derangement as to cause a sharp advance in rates on call; and loans for short fixed periods were in demand at high quotations. The cables also reported disturbed conditions at Berlin and London, with rumors of pending failures, and one incident was a fall in British consols to the lowest said to be in forty years. Open market discounts in London rose to 5⅛%, or above the Bank minimum, giving color to a rumor of an advance in the official rate. There was some apprehension also, in a rise in the price of American eagles, of a withdrawal of gold from London for New York. Early in the week the engagement of $1,000,000 gold in Amsterdam was promptly followed by an advance in the discount rate of the Bank of the Netherlands to 6%. These evidences of the interposition of obstructions to the movement of gold hither seemed to render it probable that no relief to our market, through gold imports, could be expected, though exchange conditions were such as to make such importations quite profitable if the metal could be procured.

On Thursday, Secretary Cortelyou announced that he would not at present fix a date for the surrender of the $30,000,000 public deposits which were placed with the banks in September; the retention of such deposits indefinitely no doubt contributed to relieve the monetary strain. Friday it was officially announced by Mr. Cortelyou that, in addition to granting permission to depositors indefinitely to retain the $30,000,000 public funds, as above noted, he would buy $25,000,000 4s of 1907, paying interest thereon up to July 1. Inasmuch as the price offered for the 4s of 1907 is somewhat more satisfactory than that offered by Mr. Shaw last month, it is expected that a fair amount of these bonds will be presented to the Treasury; the offer of Feb. 11 for the purchase of $25,000,000 of 4% bonds at 101½ is rescinded. It is noteworthy that, after an informal conference on Thursday afternoon of officers of the Clearing House and representatives of the largest banks, it was announced that not a single institution required aid or was asking for assistance. This is the more remarkable because the shrinkages in values through enforced liquidation on Thursday were estimated at half a billion dollars; moreover, a bank officer of long experience expressed the general feeling when he said that never have such losses been sustained as in the last three months.

The Federal Courts are now in conflict with reference to the constitutionality of the Act of Congress of June 11 1906, known as the Employers' Liability Act. As will be remembered, two Federal judges in widely separated circuits declared the Act unconstitutional at the beginning of the year, namely Judge Evans in the Federal Court at Louisville and Judge McCall at Memphis in the Circuit Court for the Western District of Tennessee. We referred to these decisions in our article in the Financial Situation in the issue of Jan. 5 and again in the issue of Jan. 19. But the present month there have been two decisions in other circuits upholding the validity of the contested statute. One of these decisions was given by Judge Hanford in the Western District of the State of Washington and the other by Judge Trieber in the District Court of the United States for the Eastern District of Arkansas. We have not seen the text of the opinion of Judge Trieber, but Judge Hanford in his opinion (or at least the newspaper report of it) appears to pass over most of the objections to the validity of the statute urged by Judges Evans and McCall. The chief ground on which the new law is opposed is that it changes completely the responsibility of railroad carriers for injuries sustained by their employees. It therefore is a regulation of the relations between the railroads and their employees. This, it is contended, is beyond the province of an Act of Congress, and does not come within the scope of the constitutional provision giving our National Legislature authority to regulate Inter-State commerce. Under the old law contributory negligence in any degree upon the part of an employee was a complete bar to recovery in case of accident, and the question whether the employee had been negligent was one for the court to decide. On the other hand, under the new statute contributory negligence of the employee is not an absolute bar to recovery, and questions of negligence are left to the jury, with the right of the latter to diminish the damages in the amount of the contributory negligence.

Judge Hanford holds that the views of Judges Evans and McCall are too narrow. He says that commerce has been defined to be traffic—that is, the buying, selling and exchanging of commodities. This comprehends more than the mere contracts by which merchandise is bought, sold and exchanged. The actual transfer of merchandise and delivery of the manual possession thereof, and its transportation from one place to another, are included. Regulations of commerce, he urges, are rules to be obeyed in carrying on the business of buying, selling, exchanging, transferring and moving the property which is the subject of traffic, and to be effective such regulations must not only control the conduct of merchants, bankers and others engaged as principals in the business, but their servants and agents and the carriers who serve them in the transportation of property from one place to another and those who furnish the facilities for communication between distant points which aid the business. Ships, vehicles, railways, telegraph lines and cables are all necessary to traffic, and subjects of regulations of commerce which may be prescribed by lawful authority. But all these agencies would be ineffectual to carry on foreign and inter-State commerce without the skill and strength of captains, engineers, firemen, seamen, stevedores, trainmen, mechanics and the host of laborers constituting the force necessary to operate and keep in repair the physical appliances of commerce. Accordingly, the employees who work for wages in every branch of the business are equally subject to regulations of commerce as those whom they serve, and regulations prescribing their rights and obligations with respect to their employment not only affect commerce, but regulate commerce.

Judge Hanford, it will be observed, seeks to enlarge the scope of the meaning of the word commerce. As we understand the decisions of Judges Evans and McCall, these jurists do not deny the right of Congress to prescribe rules and regulations for the conduct of inter-State traffic and to inflict penalties for the infraction of such rules and regulations. But they contend that Congress cannot legislate with regard to the employees independent of the question of inter-State commerce—that is, Congress cannot regulate per se the relations between railroads and their employees. Furthermore, any attempted regulation must distinguish between commerce carried on exclusively within a State and commerce between the States—a distinction which the law of June 11 1906 fails to make. Judge Hanford in his reasoning apparently does not cover these points. However, we ought to know before the lapse of a great many months which view is correct. For the Administration at Washington, through Attorney-General Bonaparte, has already taken steps to have the decisions of Judges Evans and McCall reviewed by the United States Supreme Court. At the request of Mr. Bonaparte, who will argue for the constitutionality of the statute, the Supreme Court has consented to advance the cases on the calendar and they are to be heard April 8.

As evidence that we still have in this country large amounts of grain for export, the statistics given out this week by the Department of Agriculture at Washington showing the stocks of grain remaining in farmers' hands on March 1 are decidedly interesting. In the case of all the principal cereals the amounts on hand are much above the average at this date in other years. Of wheat the amount in farmers' hands is reported at 206,644,000 bushels, or 28.10% of last season's crop. At the corresponding date in 1906 the amount was only 158,403,000 bushels, or 22.9% of the crop, and on March 1 1905 it was only 111,055,000 bushels, or 20.1% of the yield. Not only is the present crop itself larger, but the proportion of the same remaining is unusually large—the largest since 1900. The situation with reference to corn and oats is much the same. The corn in farmers' hands the present year is estimated at no less than 1,298,000,000 bushels, or 44.3% of last season's crop, against only 1,108,000,000 bushels March 1 last year, or 40.9% of the crop, and but 954,268,000 bushels March 1 1905, or 38.7% of the crop. The present year's proportion of the crop on hand is the largest since 1897 and the absolute amount on hand, we believe, has never been exceeded at any time. In the case of oats, there are reported to be about 384,461,000 bushels on hand against 379,805,000 bushels a year ago, the proportion of the crop in each case being the same, namely, 39.8%, while the ratio in 1905 was 38.8%.

Whatever may be the effect on the iron industry of this week's collapse in security values on the Stock Exchange and the loss of confidence in railroad properties, which with each succeeding week is becoming more pronounced, it cannot be said that the iron and steel trades have in any degree as yet become disturbed. Production in all branches of these trades is on a large scale and consumptive demands are fully in keeping with it. The monthly pig iron statistics collected by the "Iron Age" of this city, show that the output of iron for February, a short month, amounted to 2,045,068 tons as compared with 2,205,607 tons in January. Allowing for the difference in the number of days, the daily rate of production in February was 73,028 tons against 71,148 tons in January. The improvement is due in part to better working and in part to the fact that the furnaces which went into blast were of larger capacity than those which went out of blast. Our contemporary states that strenuous efforts are being made to get out tonnage, now that weather conditions are becoming better. The capacity of the active furnaces March 1 was 511,035 tons per week against 492,359 tons February 1, 507,397 tons January 1 and 513,860 tons December 1. With the exception of this latter figure, the present capacity has never been equaled. The "Age" says that from the achievements thus far the indications are that the March output of pig iron and of finished products of the United States Steel Corporation will exceed the banner record of October last.

Doubtless the congestion of freight and the car shortage which have been features of the railroad situation in recent months will soon become a thing of the past under the shrinkage in business which seems inevitable as a result of the inability of the railroads to continue their improvement and extension work on any very large scale and the falling off in their net revenues. It is interesting, however, to find that the Inter-State Commerce Commission purposes to remain active. The Commission has this week sent out one of its typewritten announcements saying that F. M. Crump, the President of the Memphis Cotton Exchange, had presented to the Commission facts bearing on the congestion of cotton at Memphis and asking for relief. The Commission promised him that it would take the question of remedying the situation under consideration and, if deemed advisable, would make an investigation on its own account in Memphis. The Commission adds that there are at present over 23,000 bales of cotton in the hands of the carriers at Memphis awaiting cars in which to load, and says that, from the statements made and the evidence produced before the Commission, the situation in Memphis with respect to cotton is as serious as that respecting wheat in some of the Northwestern States. The Commission, while it is about it, might ascertain why the Southern roads, in face of a volume of tonnage in excess, apparently, of their ability to handle, are making such poor exhibits of earnings. Not alone the net earnings are falling off, but in many instances also the gross revenues are beginning to show decreases. What is the reason? Are the rates lower?

With the exception of an advance by the Bank of the Netherlands in its rate of discount from 5% to 6%, caused by the withdrawal by American bankers of $1,000,000 gold therefrom for shipment hither, there was no change in official rates of discount by any of the European banks this week. There was, however, more or less tension in discounts at all the chief centres, due to deranged security markets and to disturbing rumors; none of the latter appeared to have good foundation, though there was a somewhat important failure in London at the settlement. Liquidation in Berlin and selling in London of German securities seemed to give some color to the rumors of trouble at the former centre. The reflection at London of the panicky security markets in New York appeared to be the chief cause for the derangement at the British capital and the sharp decline in our exchange on London seemingly intensified the fear of enforced withdrawals of gold therefrom for shipment hither. One feature early in the week was a fall in British consols to 84 11-16, said to be the lowest in forty years, and a coincident rise in open market discounts to 5⅛% indicated a possible advance in the official rate. The situation at the European centres grew more composed after the middle of the week, but, compared with last week, unofficial or open market discounts were ¾ of 1% higher at London, ⅜ of 1% at Paris and ⅝ of 1% at Berlin and Frankfort.

The feature of the official statement of the New York Associated Banks last week was a loss of $6,442,600 in cash, due chiefly to transfers of lawful money to Washington by New York banks for those of their correspondents who were retiring circulation. The surplus reserve was reduced by $1,806,925, to $2,051,725; loans were contracted $12,228,700 and deposits decreased $18,542,700.

The above-noted reduction in surplus reserve; the operations of the Sub-Treasury, which, by the middle of the week, showed a loss to the banks of more than $4,000,000 cash, or sufficient—unless it was offset by loan contraction and consequent reduction in deposits and reserve requirements—to extinguish the surplus; calling of loans incident to preparations for disbursements for dividends, for corporation notes and for new railroad stock; withdrawals of currency in response to demands from the interior; the transfer of $200,000 to New Orleans, and discrimination by institutions against collateral offered on loans, because of unsettled values resulting from violent stock market liquidation, contributed to the development of more or less acute monetary tension this week. Money on call rose to the highest rates of the year, time loans commanded a commission for the shorter periods of maturity, and none were obtainable below 6%. The situation, it was thought, might be relieved by the Secretary of the Treasury through the deposit of customs collections in the banks, as he was authorized to do by the recent financial enactment. Moreover, disappointment was felt because the offer of Mr. Cortelyou to permit the special deposit of $30,000,000, which was placed in the banks last September, to remain undisturbed for the present, was likely to be insufficient relief in the existing emergency, and there seemed to be no assurance that he would extend more effective aid to the market.

Money on call, representing bankers' balances, loaned at the Stock Exchange during the week, at 25% and at 3½%, averaging about 10%; banks and trust companies loaned at 6% as the minimum. On Monday loans were at 5¼% and at 3½% with the bulk of the business at 5%. On Tuesday transactions were at 6% and at 4½% with the majority at 5%. On Wednesday loans were at 15% and at 4% with the bulk of the business at 9%. On Thursday transactions were at 25% and at 6% with the majority at 12%. On Friday loans were at 15% and at 3½% with the bulk of the business at 12%. Time loans were in urgent request with comparatively meagre offerings. Rates on good mixed Stock Exchange collateral were 8% for thirty, 7@7½% for sixty and 6½@7% for ninety days, 6½% for four and 6% for five to six months; lenders generally seemed to prefer to place their funds on call rather than to make contracts for fixed periods. Commercial paper was quoted at 6@6¼% for sixty to ninety day endorsed bills receivable; 6@6¼% for prime, and 6½@7% for good four to six months' single names; no local business was reported.

The Bank of England rate of discount remains unchanged at 5%. The cable reports discounts of sixty to ninety day bank bills in London at 5¼%. The open market rate at Paris is 3⅛@3¼% and at Berlin and Frankfort it is 5⅞%. According to our special cable from London, the Bank of England lost £104,972 bullion during the week and held £35,983,716 at the close of the week. Our correspondent further advises us that the loss was due wholly to large exports to South America, India and Great Britain, purchases in the open market having been heavy. The details of the movement into and out of the Bank were as follows: Imports, £1,117,000 (of which £25,000 from France, £6,000 from Australia and £1,086,000 bought in open market, including £206,000 American coin and £53,000 French coin); exports, £1,221,000 (of which £731,000 to South America and £500,000 to India), and shipments of £1,000 net to the interior of Great Britain.

Influenced almost wholly by dear money, the foreign exchange market was lower this week and sight sterling sold on Thursday at rates 60 points below the minimum of the year; on Friday there was a fall to within 40 points of the lowest on record, due to a pressure of security bills. The business was chiefly in cables, which were in request early in the week for the London settlement. Later, the large volume of stocks sold for London account was partially remitted for with cables; subsequently, re-buying by London of these and other stocks contributed to drawings of this class of exchange. Cotton and other commodity bills were freely sold, owing to the high rates for money. There were some offerings of sight drafts against the Japanese refunding loan, but these were not in large amounts. Some speculative selling of futures was observable on Monday, when indications pointed to monetary tension, and such selling increased on the following day and it was active on Wednesday.

influenced by the unsettled security markets here and in London. The failure of the Secretary of the Treasury to offer effective relief to the monetary situation and the resulting increase in tension seemed to have a demoralizing effect upon exchange on Thursday, and there was very little support to the market except from re-buying by speculators. The demand for investment was only moderate because of dear money. Some sterling and franc loans were negotiated and, as reported, on terms which seem likely to be advantageous to the borrower.

An engagement of $1,000,000 gold was effected from the Bank of the Netherlands, as above noted, and it was reported that $1,250,000 had been bought in London for New York, though this report could not be confirmed; it was regarded as improbable, because it was thought unlikely that either the Bank or the bullion market would part with gold for export hither while discount conditions at the British capital were so unsettled as they now are. American eagles are quoted in London at 76 shillings 5 pence per ounce.

Nominal quotations for sterling exchange are 4 80½ @4 81½ for sixty day and 4 85@4 85½ for sight. On Saturday of last week the market was lower, and, compared with the previous day, there was a fall of 20 points for long to 4 8005@4 8010, of 10 points for short to 4 8430@4 8435 and of 15 points for cables to 4 8480@4 8485. On Monday long declined 20 points to 4 7985@4 7990, short 15 points to 4 8415@4 8420, while cables advanced 5 points to 4 8485@4 8490. On Tuesday long fell 5 points to 4 7980@4 7985, short rose 5 points to 4 8420@4 8425 and cables 10 points to 4 8490@4 85. On Wednesday long was unchanged while short was 5 points lower at 4 8415@4 8420 and cables 5 points at 4 8490@4 8495. On Thursday the market broke heavily, long falling 20 points to 4 7960 @4 7970, short 35 points to 4 8380@4 8385 and cables 30 points to 4 8460@4 8475. The market was unsettled on Friday, with an extraordinary decline all around due to offerings of bills against European purchases of securities. Long fell 110 points, short 70 and cables 60.

THE FALL IN HIGH-GRADE SECURITIES.

In the general demoralization of prices at home and abroad during the present week, not the least spectacular was the decline in British Consols. On Thursday this security fell to a price lower than any reached since the Boer War was over, and therefore since the reduction in the interest rate from 2¾ to 2½%. Comparisons for a long period of years developed the interesting fact that the price touched at the low quotation of this week was the lowest in more than half a century. Such a movement, in what is in many respects the highest-grade security on any market in the world, suggests some interesting reflections as to other government securities of similar class, among them the Japanese loan which was converted this present week, and New York City bonds, which have lately been a matter of lively controversy. Incidentally, it directs attention to a phenomenon much discussed in the present market, namely the comparative weakness in bonds with a fixed rate of interest throughout the whole of the last twelvemonth of active Stock Exchange speculation. The case is worth examining.

The facts as regards British Consols may be briefly reviewed. Thursday's low price was 84 5-16. The lowest price reached since the change to a 2½% basis in 1903 was 85 in 1904, at the time when the Japanese War promised large demands on English capital. This week's low price compares, it may be interesting to recall, with the price of 113⅞ as recently as 1897; it has not been paralleled even in the Overend-Gurney panic year, 1866, when the price touched 84⅝ —Consols then paying 3%—and does not find a parallel short of the low price of 80 reached in the year of European political and economic disturbance 1848. What, it may be asked to begin with, is the reason for this extraordinary weakness in a sound and assured security, at a time when investment capital has been more abundant than in almost any preceding epoch?

There are several answers. To begin with, the enormous issue of new British Government bonds during the Boer War necessarily increased the supply at an exceptionally rapid rate. It was also extremely unfortunate, though the coincidence was accidental, that the year 1903, selected in the Goschen conversion of 1888 for a reduction of interest on Consols from 2¾ to 2½%, should have been the very year when this mass of new Consols overhung the market. Nor was this all. Prior to the war, Mr. Chamberlain, in pursuance of his plan to bind the Colonies to the mother country through whatever favors it was possible to grant, had secured the admission of a great mass of Colonial Government securities as authorized investments for trusteed estates under the English law. It so happened that these colonies added largely to their bonds at exactly that time; so that the situation presented was that, at the very moment when the supply of Consols was being most heavily increased, and when the annual yield was being reduced, the securities brought into competition with them in their own peculiar field was enormously increased.

On top of this came the increase in the British income tax from 6 pence in the pound in 1893, and 8 in 1899, to 15 pence in 1903, and a shilling even now, four years after the peace; and as the practice of the British Government is to deduct the income tax from the coupons on its debt before remitting payment to the holder of Consols, the result necessarily was to cut the net yield still lower. This applied not only with the home investor but with markets such as Paris and New York, which for a time indulged in subscriptions to the new British loans. They, too, had to submit to the income tax deduction; the consequence was that relief from foreign capital was short-lived. The Consols placed on foreign markets were thrown back very shortly upon Lombard Street. Let it be observed that the income-tax rate has been only slightly reduced since the war, that the British Government's own expenditure is increasing enormously, and that in the meantime municipal borrowings, particularly in connection with recent experiments in municipal ownership, have thrown on the British market a mass of new securities of high grade paying interest proportioned to the demands of the market and competing necessarily in the market for British Consols.

So far the case seems to be peculiar to consols. When, however, we turn to New York City, we find a security of unquestioned validity, which, moreover, is not only unhampered by an income tax, but is expressly exempted from the property tax which touches other investments, and which, nevertheless, has declined almost as seriously as consols. As against the price of 110½, at which a 3½% New York City loan was placed in 1901, we have seen in 1905 3½% issues placed on a basis close to par, and eventually, in 1906, a 4% issue sold at a rate only a trifle over par. This situation was sufficiently serious, in view of the fact that the law allows no issue of New York City securities at a higher rate than 4% or at a lower price than par, to induce discussion recently as to whether the Comptroller ought not to be permitted to sell at less than par. As to this proposition we express at present no opinion beyond saying that the intelligent use of a banking syndicate might be tried to advantage before so doubtful an experiment as a change in the law is undertaken. As to the Japanese bonds, it will be noticed that the conversion of the six per cents, which was originally planned to turn the old bonds into four per cents, has been so far modified that a five per cent rate is agreed upon. To this extent even the Japanese operation shows that the market is not bidding aggressively for Government securities. It is true that the first Japanese war loan, now in process of conversion, sold at a price which cost the Government something like 6½% in interest; but, on the other hand, it may be recalled that as lately as 1897 Japan sold 5% bonds in London at a price of 103⅝.

These phenomena in the market for Government bonds have accompanied what may at least be described as a halt in the movement of investment in the bond market generally. The movement has not passed unnoticed; there have been various theories to account for it. The most popular of these, and perhaps the most plausible, is that which assumes that in a highly speculative period the attention of investors is directed to shares rather than bonds; this for two reasons—first, that the price of stocks may advance indefinitely in a speculative movement, whereas a limit is placed on the price of bonds; second, and connected with the other reason, that a stock in a prosperous period has always at least the possibility of indefinite increase in its dividend, whereas the interest yield of a bond cannot be increased until maturity. This, as we take it, is the sum and substance of the familiar saying that in a time of heavy gold production stocks rather than bonds will be favored by investors. The gold output itself has nothing whatever to do with the affair; the simple fact of the situation is that whether because of increased gold output or for other reasons, a speculative spirit and a prosperous movement in finance and commerce generally have been inagurated, and of this the stock, which participates in the general gains of industry, will naturally enjoy a larger share than the bond, which represents merely a fixed annual claim by the creditor of the enterprise. It hardly need be pointed out, however, that when reaction comes in the profits of corporations whose shares have a place on the Stock Exchange, or in trade and prosperity at large, the above-cited inducements, as between stocks and bonds, are necessarily reversed.

THE UNITED STATES STEEL REPORT.

With each succeeding year the record of the United States Steel Corporation, in earning capacity, in volume of business and in financial strength, becomes more marvelous. The annual report for 1905 was certainly a remarkable exhibit. But the 1906 report, now submitted, surpasses it in every way. There is this further difference, that while the gains in 1905 represented in part a recovery of what had been lost in the period of depression in the year preceding, 1904, the gains for 1906, on the other hand, represent absolute further growth.

No one need be told that activity and buoyancy characterized the iron and steel trades from beginning to end during 1906, except for which such results as the Steel Corporation reveals for that year would be out of the question. But it is equally obvious that the Steel Corporation was at the outset organized on a broad and comprehensive basis, in consonance with sound ideas and principles, and that it is being managed along the same lines from year to year, gaining in public confidence with the multiplying evidences of its strength and the wisdom of the policy in accordance with which it is being administered.

There are so many impressive figures in the report that one is at a loss to know where to begin. The income returns furnish, perhaps, as good an indication as any of the progress made. For 1906 total net earnings of all the properties owned and controlled (after deducting expenditures for ordinary repairs and maintenance, employees' bonus funds, and also interest on bonds and fixed charges of the subsidiary companies) were $156,624,273. This compares with only $119,787,658 in 1905 and with but $73,176,521 in 1904. Hence, the 1906 net was considerably more than double that of two years before, in 1904. It is almost superfluous to add that the 1906 totals far exceed those of the very best previous year. The gross sales and earnings fell but little short of 700 million dollars —$696,756,926—which contrasts with $585,331,736 for 1905 and but $444,405,430 for 1904. In the two years the volume of the company's business and earnings increased, it will be observed, over 252 million dollars. Even as compared with 1902, which was considered a phenomenal year at the time, there is an increase of over 136 million dollars.

The reader will very likely be surprised to hear that the further increase in 1906 in the gross volume of the sales and earnings represents to only a relatively small extent an increase in the prices obtained for the goods sold. The report tells us that the average of prices received during 1906 for all steel products shipped to the domestic trade exceeded by only 5.3% the average realized in 1905 and were about 8% lower than the prices which prevailed in 1902. And this gives a clew to the policy being pursued in the management of the properties. It is pointed out that the condition of the iron and steel trades has been such that prices of many of the commodities produced could have been very materially advanced; and as wages have been largely increased and freight rates raised, there was plausibility in the arguments made by some of the manufacturers of steel that prices of the manufactured commodity should be correspondingly advanced. But the Steel Corporation adhered to the policy undeviatingly pursued since the beginning, of restraining the upward tendency as far as possible and permitting no undue rise. We are told the effort has been to obtain prices which would assure net earnings sufficient to maintain the physical condition of the properties at a modern standard of efficiency, to return a fair rate of interest on capital, and to yield a reasonable surplus as a reserve for use in protecting and strengthening the properties.

The quantity of iron ore mined at the company's various mining ranges was 20,645,148 tons in 1906 against 18,486,556 in 1905 and only 10,503,087 tons in 1904. Its blast furnace products aggregated 11,267,377 tons against 10,172,148 tons in 1905 and 7,369,421 tons in 1904. It produced 13,511,149 tons of steel against 11,995,239 tons in 1905 and 8,406,378 in 1904, while its tonnage of rolled and other finished products amounted to 10,578,433 tons against 9,226,386 tons and 6,792,780 tons, respectively. And in every direction there was progress and advance.

In the disposition made of the company's enormous net income, we get an insight into the conservative financial policy pursued in the administration of the property. Net income for 1906 at $156,624,273, as we have already seen, increased $36,836,615 over that of the year preceding, but only $10,166,050 of this increase went to the shareholders in dividends, the company having resumed the payment of dividends on its common stock at the rate of 2% per annum, calling for the amount mentioned. The remainder of the increase in net, and more, too, was set aside for improvements, additions, &c. The result is that these appropriations out of income for the purposes mentioned, which were already of very large extent in 1905, for 1906 reached prodigious proportions. A round 50 million dollars has been applied towards capital outlays or in discharge of capital obligations—$28,500,000 being for expenditures made and to be made for additional property and construction and for discharge of capital obligations, and $21,500,000 being set aside for contemplated expenditures on account of the construction of the extensive new plant in the Chicago district at Gary, Indiana.

But the $50,000,000 appropriation was simply a special appropriation in addition to all the other appropriations and which were taken directly from net earnings. Thus, $5,857,410 was credited to the depreciation and extinguishment fund; $15,395,861 to the extraordinary replacement funds; $7,500,000 to the special replacement and improvement funds, besides which $4,050,000 was contributed to the sinking funds for the Steel Corporation's own bonds and $1,904,063 to the sinking funds for the bonds of subsidiary companies, making together $34,707,335 apart from the 50 million dollars already mentioned. In brief, then, out of the net earnings of $156,624,273 for the year, no less than $84,707,335 went to provide additions or improvements to the various properties or was used in the extinguishment of outstanding capital obligations through the sinking funds. Only $35,385,727 of the net earnings were distributed in the shape of dividends—$10,166,050 going to the common stock, as already stated, and $25,219,677 to pay the 7% dividends which have always been paid on the preferred stock.

These appropriations of earnings for debt reduction and for new property have been going on ever since the company was organized; and though its history is not a long one—scarcely six years, it dating back only to April 1 1901—the aggregate of the appropriations now reaches an enormous sum. There is no single statement in the report that indicates the whole amount of the income which has been devoted to the purposes named during these years, but there are many tables which give one an idea of how the money has been applied and what benefits have accrued and are accruing from the same. Practically all surplus earnings, whether specifically earmarked or not, may be considered as having gone into the properties to improve either their physical or their financial condition. Bearing this fact in mind, it is important to note that the balance sheet shows an undivided surplus on December 31 1906 for the Steel Corporation and the subsidiary companies of almost 100 million dollars —$97,720,714—of which only $25,000,000 was provided at organization, the other $72,720,714 having been accumulated out of earnings. Moreover, this is entirely independent of the amounts standing to the credit of the sinking and reserve funds, which foot up $79,756,882 and the amount standing to the credit of the bond sinking funds, which is given as $25,164,788 more. Altogether, therefore, the three items represent a total of over 177½ million dollars of income.

But even this, imposing though it is, tells only part of the story. Large sums applied out of earnings no longer appear in the accounts, having been marked off the books among the assets with corresponding reductions on the liability side. There is a statement in the report which shows the accumulated surplus for the period from April 1 1901 to December 31 1906, after the deduction of charges and the payment of dividends. This surplus, as thus given, amounts to $163,384,018. It should be distinctly understood, however, that this is the surplus after the large yearly sinking funds contribution and also the appropriations for the depreciation and extinguishment funds and the extraordinary and special replacement funds. These appropriations have been of prodigious extent, particularly in recent years, as we have already pointed out. We have had the curiosity to figure out what these appropriations and contributions aggregate for the whole of the period since the inception of the enterprise. The result is shown in the following table. We start with the recorded surplus of $163,384,018 and then add the amounts which were deducted each year before arriving at the surplus.

Aggregate amount of net earnings put into property		$300,810,998

The foregoing most assuredly has no parallel in the history of corporate undertakings. In the brief space of less than six years over 300 million dollars of earnings ($300,810,998) have been put back into the property and applied for its improvement, enlargement and extension. While everybody has been familiar with the Steel Corporation's policy in this respect, we doubt if there are many persons who have had a proper conception of the magnitude of the contributions. When the Steel Corporation was organized, it was charged by certain critics that it had a lot of water in its capitalization. If that be true, evidently the water is now being squeezed out so rapidly that it would seem safe to say very little can be left.

The benefits that have accrued to the company as the result of the application of income in this way are revealed on nearly every page of the report. Its cash resources have been greatly increased and at the same time very noteworthy extensions and additions to plant and property are being made, with little or no additions to outstanding capital. Some small amounts of bonds are being issued from year to year on several of the properties, but these are being more than offset by reductions on other properties. For instance, during 1906 the bonded, mortgage and debenture debt was reduced in the net amount of $5,801,389. For the period from April 1 1901 to December 31 1906 there were issued and sold by the subsidiary companies bonds and mortgages for construction work and new property and for working capital, &c., to an aggregate of $16,374,935, besides which the Steel Corporation itself put out $20,000,000, as will be recalled, of its 10-60-year 5% bonds, making $36,374,935. But the bond redemptions during the same period were $56,873,140, so the final result is a small net decrease.

During the period of its history the aggregate expenditures for additional property, new construction and extraordinary replacements have been $200,575,000—without any increase, as we have just seen, in the net amount of the outstanding debt. The total does not include the Union Steel and the Clairton Steel properties, which were taken over by the Steel Corporation as going concerns. We get an idea of what has been accomplished through this expenditure of over 200 million dollars by noting how the company's producing capacity has been enlarged in the interval. Comparing January 1 1907 with April 1 1901, there has been an increase in the productive capacity of the pig iron and blast furnace plants of 63.12%, of which 16.50% is due to the purchase of other companies and 46.62% to additions and improvements made. Similarly, the steel capacity has been increased 56.64%, of which 43.29% is the result of additions and improvements. The capacity to produce blooms, billets and slabs has increased 61.77%, of which 44.69% is to be credited to additions and improvements; the capacity to produce sheet and tin plate bars has been enlarged 89.05%, and no less than 81.15% is ascribed to additions and improvements, while the capacity to furnish finished steel and iron products has been enlarged 44.33%, the portion due to additions and improvements being 30.01%.

As indicating in a very striking way how in every direction the effort is to extend the company's activities, we may refer to the company's entrance into a practically new field—the production of cement. The report states that on October 1 1906 the Universal Portland Cement Company, a subsidiary company, took over the business theretofore conducted by the Illinois Steel Company of the manufacture and sale of Portland cement. The new company, it is pointed out, has in operation in the Chicago district three cement plants, the output of which in 1906 equaled 2,076,000 barrels, being more than the entire production of the United States in 1896. This company also has under construction a new plant at Buffington, Ind., and another at Universal, Pa., near Pittsburgh. When these are completed the coming summer it will have a capacity of 6,000,000 barrels of cement per annum.

Reference is also made in the report to the enormous steel plant which is being erected at Gary, Lake County, Ind.—a gigantic enterprise. This will enormously further increase the company's capacity in various lines of goods. Reference is likewise made to the lease of the Great Northern ore properties, which lease is to be submitted to the stockholders for their approval, this step being taken to avoid adverse criticism, since several directors of the corporation, it is stated, are directly or indirectly interested in the companies which own or control these ore properties. A new fact is brought out concerning this lease, namely that while drawn to run until the ore is exhausted, the Steel Corporation has the option to terminate it on January 1 1915. The balance sheet shows $67,636,809 of cash December 31 1906 (not including cash held in special funds) and $7,600,000 of loans on collateral. Including inventories and accounts receivable, current assets foot up no less than $266,567,906, while current liabilities at the same date, including the quarterly dividend on both the preferred and the common stock were only $43,672,009. The Steel Corporation also holds unissued $30,000,000 of its own bonds and $10,320,000 of the bonds of subsidiary companies.

The average number of employees in the service of all the companies during 1906 was 202,457, against 180,158 in 1905 and 147,343 in 1904. The total amount paid in salaries and wages was $147,765,540, which compares with $128,052,955 in 1905 and $99,778,276 in 1904. In other words, $48,000,000 more was paid for wages in 1906 than in 1904, which shows how the laboring class benefits directly as the result of activity in the iron and steel trades. The present year a further increase in the wages and salaries of, roughly, 131,000 employees has been made, and this will add approximately $6,000,000 to the pay-roll.

Attention is directed to the development of the company's export business—conducted too at profitable prices. Export shipments during 1906 amounted to 1,079,319 tons of various products, an increase of 13% over the tonnage shipped in 1905, while the gross receipts from this tonnage exceeded those of 1905 by 28%. The aim has been, it is stated, to build up a permanent and continuous export trade, with a view to providing markets which may at all times be relied upon to absorb a fair proportion of the total production. In many important lines the prices realized in 1906, it is stated, were equal to those ruling in the domestic market.

It is announced that, beginning with January 1907, a slight change will be made in the method of reporting the monthly earnings. In arriving at the amount of the net earnings the requirements for certain renewals at blast furnaces will first be deducted. The effect of this change will be to reduce by approximately $200,000 per month the earnings reported, as compared with the method heretofore observed. The final result, however, will be unchanged, as the contributions to the reserve funds which come out of the net earnings will be correspondingly reduced. The difference is simply in taking the amount out before stating the net instead of after.

RAILWAY MAIL PAY AND LEGISLATION.

Since the year 1872 the railways of the United States have been paid for carrying the mails on the basis of the average weight carried over the whole length of each railway route multiplied by the length of the route. The rate of payment has not, however, remained stationary. By wise provisions in the original statute the rate decreases automatically with every augmentation in weight, and this normal reduction had, prior to the action just taken by Congress, been twice supplemented by horizontal legislative reductions of 10% and 5%, respectively.

In the appropriation bill for the fiscal year which will begin on July 1 next, the Fifty-ninth Congress, as one of its last acts before adjournment without day, provided another reduction which differs from its predecessors in that it is applied principally to the routes on which the most mail is carried. Thus all routes showing a daily average of over 5,000 pounds are reduced 5% on the excess up to 43,000 pounds and 10% on the excess, if any, beyond 48,000 pounds. This reduction was arrived at after long deliberation and after all the conditions and needs of the service had received full consideration. Many plans for reduction, differing from the one adopted, had been received, examined, and, for reasons satisfactory to Congress, rejected.

The legislative body was fully informed, as the result of a recent and exhaustive investigation which was but the successor of many other careful and complete inquiries concerning the methods of applying the then existing law and the manner in which it was interpreted. The change in the rate of pay adopted was therefore intended to apply to the law as then construed and applied—in fact, the manner of construction and the method of application then current had both become actual parts of the law in the eyes of Congress, in fact and in morals. One of the proposed plans of reducing railway mail pay which Congress considered and rejected was that approximately one-seventh be taken from the aggregate by adding to the divisor by which the daily average, which is the basis of payment, is ascertained every Sunday on which any mail at all is carried, regardless of how small the amount carried on that day may be.

When the present system of payment was established some thirty-five years ago there were, as there still are in many parts of the country, very few Sunday trains. Even fewer of these, as is still the case, carried mail, for post-offices were not always open and generally there seemed less necessity for Sunday service. The service grew up on the basis of work-day transportation, equipment had to be provided on that basis, and payment was naturally arranged upon the same equitable and proper foundation. These facts are as applicable to-day as they were in 1872. To ascertain the lawful basis of payment the mail on each route is weighed every day for a period of from thirty to ninety days. When the total is ascertained it is divided by the number of week days, because to adopt any other method would be to penalize the railway which consents to carry mail on Sunday.

To make this perfectly clear, let the cases be supposed of two companies, each carrying the same quantity of mail, viz., 42,000 pounds over a route 100 miles long, every week; one carrying a little mail on Sundays and the other none on that day.

	Pounds Carried
Days—	By railroad A.	By railroad B.
Week days	40,000	42,000
Sunday	2,000	none
Total	42,000	42,000

Now, if the 2,000 pounds carried by Railroad A on Sunday were not counted at all, it would be unjust, because it would then get no pay for its Sunday service; if, on the other hand, they are counted, and the Sunday also counted in the divisor, Railroad A will get less than nothing for its Sunday service, for the effect of supplying that service will be to actually reduce the daily average thus obtained and made the basis of payment. Railroad B, carrying only on week-days, will have its total of 42,000 pounds divided by six and will be paid for a daily average of 7,000 pounds in any case. But Railroad A's service is unquestionably more costly and quite clearly more efficient, and yet, unless Sunday is ignored in obtaining the divisor, it will carry the same quantity of mail in the aggregate and be paid for but 6,000 pounds daily, or one-seventh less. More than thirty-five years ago the Post Office Department took this proper view of the situation, and ever since it has consistently followed the course, which has the sanction of a formal opinion of an Attorney-General of the United States, which permits treating both companies equally and fairly.

To make the matter clearer, it may be added that if Sundays are excluded from the divisor in both cases, both railways would, under the latest adjustment of charges, receive $191.80 per year per mile, or $19,180 for the supposed routes 100 miles in length. But if Sundays are counted, if mail is carried on Sundays Railway A would be paid but $18,240 for carrying 2,184,000 pounds per annum, while Railroad B would be paid $19,180 for carrying precisely the same amount; the only difference being that Railroad A would carry a total of 104,000 pounds on 52 Sundays and a total of 2,080,000 pounds on 312 week-days, while Railroad B would carry no mail at all on Sundays but the whole of the same total of 2,184,000 pounds on 312 days.

After fully considering these facts, Congress rejected the proposal which would have worked this gross injustice, adopted a different and comprehensive plan embodying all the reduction it considered expedient and just, provided for that reduction in the postal appropriation bill—and adjourned. The President added his sanction on March 2. On the precise day on which the reduction was thus effected, the Postmaster-General of the United States, Hon. George B. Cortelyou, being about to retire from the postal service to become Secretary of the Treasury, signalized his retirement by issuing the following order:

ORDER NO. 165.—Ordered: That when the weight of mail is taken on railroad routes the whole number of days the mails are weighed shall be used as a divisor for obtaining the average weight per day.

If the foregoing proves effective, the very amendment to the law that Congress rejected after patient and prolonged investigation, and in lieu of which it adopted a different plan of reduction which took as much from the total pay as it felt it could properly take, will have become a part of the law by the legislative act of the chief of an executive department. If it is enforceable and enforced, a penalty which Congress, in its wisdom, refused to approve will be enforced against every railway which is liberal enough to carry the people's mail on 365 days in the year. If such an order is valid, in the face of a long-established interpretation well known to Congress and fully considered by the law-making and law-revising body, what limit can be set to legislation by executive order—what protection exists against the usurpation of the power to make the laws by the executive branch of the Government and against the will of the people and their elected representatives?

OUR BESSEMER STEEL AND STEEL-RAIL PRODUCTION.

The American Iron & Steel Association has announced the production of Bessemer steel for the calendar year 1906 and also the production of steel rails. The figures showing the Bessemer steel output are interesting as indicating the country's continued and large growth in steel production, and the figures with regard to the rail output are instructive for the same reason, but also because they illustrate, when taken in conjunction with the statistics of rail production for some of the earlier years, the great difference which favorable or unfavorable conditions in the railway world make to the steel trade.

Mr. James M. Swank, who for so many years has compiled these statistics in such a painstaking way for the American Iron & Steel Association, reports that the entire make of rails in 1906, both those from Bessemer steel and those from open-hearth and other kinds of steel, was, roughly, 4,000,000 tons. This compares with 3,375,929 tons in 1905 and only 2,284,711 tons in 1904. Thus in 1906 the rail production was not far from double what it had been only two years before in 1904. We need hardly tell the reader that 1906 and 1904, although only two years apart, represented two extremes in railroad conditions. In the earlier year, as the result of the depreciation in security values and loss of confidence which had extended through 1903 and into 1904, the railroads were forced to practice extreme economy, and consequently had to curtail their orders for rails. Of course they at the same time curtailed their orders for equipment and for everything else, but in the present instance we are dealing simply with the rail statistics. On the other hand, in 1906 the precisely opposite situation prevailed. The rail-makers, on past orders, were simply overwhelmed with business and could not turn out rails fast enough to satisfy the demands of the railroads.

This contrast and these reflections are of direct and immediate concern because just now we appear to be drifting rapidly into the condition of things existing the latter part of 1903 and a good part of 1904, and which so seriously upset the iron and steel trades at that time. The railroads are no longer able to raise new capital with ease; even the strongest companies, those with gilt-edged credit, cannot borrow except at a high cost. Prices on the Stock Exchange have this week tumbled in an alarming way. Everything therefore suggests caution. The railroads have already given orders on a scale that will keep furnaces and plants active for many months to come, but they are now proceeding with great circumspection and giving further orders very sparingly. They are being attacked by hostile legislation on every side, and business is being slowly but surely undermined by a political crusade against capital and corporate interests. At the same time railroad expenses are being augmented in such a striking manner, as the result of higher wages and of the increased cost of the various other things that enter into the operating accounts of the roads that net revenues seem likely to be seriously cut down—are, in fact, already being reduced. Consequently the power of the railroads to spend money for additions and improvements is being diminished in a double way—first, by the inability to obtain needed capital, and, secondly, by the shrinkage in available net revenues that might be applied for this purpose. Whether the movement adverse to the railroads and the policy on which it is based shall be tempered and modified, that is the question now confronting the whole business and mercantile world. For if railroad interests with their tremendous consumption of iron and steel are to go through a period of suffering, all other industrial interests in the country will inevitably be obliged to share in this suffering.

As stated, Mr. Swank makes the production of rails from all kinds of steel for 1906 roughly 4 million tons. The preponderating proportion of this was Bessemer rails, the product of which for the year was 3,705,642 tons, and as to these detailed statistics are furnished. The figure given represents the production of Bessemer rails by the makers of Bessemer steel ingots, and to this presumably about 60,000 tons will have to be added to represent the make of Bessemer rails by manufacturers not producing their own steel. As yet, comparatively a small quantity of rails is made from open-hearth and other kinds of steel. We present the following table to show the rail production for a series of years past and also the imports and exports of rails, with the view to getting at the home consumption. The imports of rails are now only of trifling amount, but the exports are keeping up to fairly large figures, the shipments for the last three years combined having been considerably over a million tons—that is, for 1906 the exports were 328,036 tons, against 295,023 tons in 1905 and 416,250 tons in 1904.

RAIL PRODUCTION AND CONSUMPTION.

Exports, iron and steel	328,036	295,023	416,250	30,837
Home consumption	3,682,549	3,098,184	1,906,237	3,057,195

* Including 60,000 tons, the estimated product of rails by companies not producing their own steel.

The foregoing presents the contrast between 1906, a good year in the rail trade, and 1904, a poor year, in a still more striking way. From 2,943,789 tons in 1902 and 3,057,195 tons in 1903, the home consumption of rails fell in 1904 to only 1,906,237 tons. The period of recovery has now brought the consumption for 1906 up to 3,682,549 tons.

With reference to the production of steel, Mr. Swank's figures deal only with the steel made by the Bessemer process. As already stated, the figures are chiefly useful in showing the continued growth in the make of this class of steel. They are not conclusive as to the total make of steel, and they do not even afford a basis for a close estimate as to the total steel product, owing to the increasing importance which the open-hearth production is assuming. As has been pointed out by us on previous occasions, the Bessemer output no longer forms such a preponderating proportion of the total steel production as it once did. The open-hearth product has in recent periods been growing at a very much faster rate than the make of steel by the Bessemer process. For a dozen years or more the open-hearth output has never failed to record expansion, even in years when the Bessemer product, by reason of depression in the iron and steel trades, was temporarily showing a retrograde movement. In 1905 the make of open-hearth steel was close to nine million tons, as against less than six million tons in the year before—1904. The matter of importance is as to the extent of the further increase in 1906. But on that point no statistics are yet available. In the mean time the Bessemer figures for 1906 serve to show at least one part of the increase in steel production in that year. Here are the Bessemer figures by States for the last five years:

PRODUCTION OF BESSEMER STEEL INGOTS BY STATES.

Pennsylvania	4,826,725	4,491,445	3,464,650	3,909,436	4,209,326
Ohio	3,769,913	3,131,149	2,050,115	2,330,134	2,528,802
Illinois	1,685,056	1,651,250	1,257,190	1,366,569	1,443,614
Other States	1,993,559	1,667,531	1,087,185	986,690	956,621
Total	12,275,253	10,941,375	7,859,140	8,592,829	9,138,363

It will be seen that the further increase in the Bessemer production in 1906 was quite noteworthy, the output reaching 12,275,253 tons, against 10,941,375 tons in 1905 and 7,859,140 tons in 1904. As far as the separate States are concerned, Pennsylvania still stands pre-eminently at the head, with a Bessemer product of 4,826,725 tons; but Ohio is creeping up very fast, and in 1906 made 3,769,913 tons. In other words, Pennsylvania is diminishing its lead, just as Mr. Swank predicted would be the case with the completion of certain new plants in Ohio. Pennsylvania's product of Bessemer now exceeds the Ohio product by only a little more than a million tons. In 1901 the excess of the one over the other was considerably more than two million tons, Pennsylvania having in that year made 4,296,439 tons of Bessemer, whereas the make in Ohio then was only 2,154,846 tons. Illinois is increasing its Bessemer product in only a moderate way, but the "other States" show more decided additions.

RAILROAD GROSS EARNINGS FOR FEBRUARY.

Railroad earnings for February make an indifferent showing—that is, there is only a moderate increase over the corresponding month last year, namely $1,317,809, or 2.06%. Of course the figures cover merely the roads which furnish early preliminary returns, covering in this instance 93,497 miles of line. There is no reason to think, however, that the final compilation, when presented several weeks hence, will make a better showing.

It must be considered surprising that there should have been any improvement at all in February the present year, considering the influences and conditions that the carrying interest has had to contend with. In the first place, comparison is with extraordinarily favorable results last year. Our early statement for February 1906 showed improvement to an extraordinary degree, the increase amounting to no less than $10,988,234, or over 25%. That the roads the present year should have been able to add still further to this increase, even in a small way, must be regarded as highly gratifying. This appears all the more true when we consider that weather conditions were decidedly less satisfactory in 1907 than in 1906. Last year was exceptional in this respect, the winter having been one of the mildest experienced in a generation, with scarcely any of the impediments to railroad operations from snow, ice and cold ordinarily encountered in the early months of the year. In 1907, on the other hand, the weather was a considerable drawback. On the Great Northern and the other lines in that part of the country the snow blockade, which had been such a serious feature in January, was finally lifted the latter part of February, but the losses from that cause in the early part of the month were large. As a consequence, this group of roads again records important decreases in earnings.

Over the eastern half of the country the situation was much more satisfactory, and yet temperatures were very low and there was an unusual amount of snow-fall. There were no reports of blizzards, such as have often in the past interfered with railroad operations in bad seasons, and all that can be truthfully affirmed is that there were the normal obstacles to be expected in the winter months. But even this marks a strong contrast with the exceptionally mild weather which was the characteristic in January and February last year.

Southern roads had the advantage of a larger cotton movement, and some of the Western roads, but by no means all, had the advantage of a larger grain movement. Trade and business of course through the length and breadth of the country continued extremely active, thereby adding to the tonnage of the roads.

Altogether the increase in earnings as shown by the roads as a whole must be regarded as quite encouraging. It is nevertheless true that the situation can hardly be viewed as entirely satisfactory from the railroad standpoint. For railroad expenses, as the result of causes familiar to every one, are being augmented in a very rapid way, and moderate gains in gross will not suffice to offset the augmentation. It follows that the relatively small improvement in the gross means inevitably diminished net.

We have spoken above of the large increase in gross which had been recorded in February 1906. From the following table, carrying the totals back to 1897, it will be seen that there were larger or smaller increases in February in most of the preceding years, too.

Note.—We do not include the Mexican roads in any of the years.

In the case of the separate roads, while there is quite a number of decreases (20 of the 67 roads contributing returns are distinguished in that way), these decreases are not of such very large magnitude as those shown in January. For instance, the Great Northern in February lost only $531,386 as against $1,101,134 in January. The Canadian Pacific actually shows $36,000 increase in February as against $236,000 decrease in January. The "Soo" road has $111,686 decrease against $232,050 decrease. On the other hand, the Northern Pacific has $511,753 loss as against $416,555 loss in January; and the Southern Railway this time has $81,407 decrease as against a small gain in January.

Another fact should not be overlooked, namely that this year's decreases, even where they are large, as a rule are smaller than last year's gains. Take the case of the Great Northern; while its decrease the present year is $531,386, its increase last year was $634,556. The Northern Pacific decrease of $511,753 in 1907 compares with no less than $853,497 increase in February 1906. Or take yet another illustration from a totally different part of the country. The New York Central has fallen a trifle behind in its gross the present year —$20,011. In February 1906 it had no less than $1,186,790 increase. In the following table we show all changes for the separate roads—whether increases or decreases—for amounts in excess of $30,000.

As regards the Western grain movement, the figures show that at the primary markets the receipts of wheat for the four weeks ending March 2 this year were 13,772,076 bushels as against only 12,605,496 bushels in the corresponding four weeks of last year and that the receipts of corn were 22,492,992 bushels against 16,962,528 bushels, but that the receipts of the minor cereals—oats, barley and rye—all fell off. Taking wheat, corn, oats, barley and rye together, the receipts for the four weeks this year foot up 52,591,050 bushels as against 48,679,763 bushels in 1906. The grain movement in detail in our usual form is indicated in the table we now give.

The live-stock movement at the West seems to have been a little larger than in 1906. At all events, at the six principal markets (Chicago, Kansas City, Omaha, St. Louis, St. Joseph and Sioux City) the receipts of cattle for January and February combined were 1,462,970 head this year against 1,199,925 head last year and the receipts of sheep 1,583,038 head against 1,552,539; receipts of hogs, however, were only 3,474,105 head against 3,638,054.

The cotton movement in the South was larger all around. The shipments overland were 195,018 bales, against 138,742 bales in 1906 and 104,299 bales in 1905, while the receipts at the Southern ports were no less than 896,548 bales against 495,931 bales and 389,825 bales, respectively.

To complete our analysis we furnish the following six-year comparisons of the earnings of leading roads, arranged in groups. It will be observed that the Northwestern group has sustained a considerable decrease this year and that the Middle and Middle Western group has only a moderate increase, but that the Southwestern group records a quite noteworthy increase. It is because of the large improvement in that part of the country that our general statement shows an increase for the roads as a whole.

THE USE OF ACCEPTANCES.

Our article in the issue of March 2 on "The Use of Acceptances" has called forth the following interesting comments from President E. A. de Lima, of the Battery Park National Bank.

New York, March 11 1907.

To the Editor, the Commercial and Financial Chronicle, New York.

Sir:—Your editorial, under date of March 2, on the use of acceptances by banks is of interest in so far as it presents possibilities of the extension of bank credits in certain directions. It is difficult, however, to grant all the advantages that are claimed for it, especially as a means for "the merchant and manufacturer to obtain accommodation on much more favorable terms than at present."

This statement would pass without question if we were to go on the assumption, hinted at in your article, that such acceptances need not have a basis of reserve such as is required for the usual form of bank credit—the deposit. It is not conceivable, however, that the banks could be permitted to assume this new form of obligation without there being imposed the one method of restriction that experience has shown to be the only safe one. All credit must be based on metallic reserve, and it matters not whether the credit takes the form of an obligation redeemable on demand or at a fixed time, the principal is the same; there are limitations beyond which a grantor of credit dare not go, and it is a wise provision that circumscribes the operations of a bank by requiring the cash reserve of 25%. To all intents, an accepted bill is equivalent to a discount placed to the credit of a customer's account, and until it is extinguished by payment the reserve must be kept against it; otherwise there would result that excessive creation of credit that invariably brings about all commercial crises.

If it be conceded that such a reserve is to be kept, then it is of interest to consider practically what the cost would be. A bank would be obliged to charge its customer on a four months' acceptance of $1.000 as follows:

Commission for acceptance on $1,000, ½%-----	$5 00
To compensate for loss of interest on reserve of $250 for four months at 6%----------	5 00
	——— $10 00
Assuming that the customer discounts the bank's acceptance at the extreme low rate of 3%----------	10 00
Total cost to customer (for four months)----------	$20 00

i. e., $60 a year, or 6%.

If the bank's acceptance were discounted at 4%, which is more likely, the total cost to the customer would be 7% per annum. To obtain even this result, he must discount at once, for if, as you suggest, he were to keep the bill in portfolio until the necessity for discount arose, then the cost would be proportionately greater for the shorter time he could use the money. It is clear, therefore, that this form of credit would offer no particular advantage to our own merchants and manufacturers.

There is, however, a field of usefulness for this extension of bank credit, and that is in the transactions between two markets that have a substantial difference in their prevailing interest rates; this, coupled with the fluctuating rate of exchange which offers at least a possibility to the drawer of retrenching on his interest cost, would make such a credit attractive to the foreign drawer operating in a market where the interest rate was higher than ours. It needs no argument, of course, to show that such credit facilities toward the countries which might buy from us would tend to increase their trade with our merchants and manufacturers.

There seems to be no good reason why our banks, now holding such an important position in the world's finances, should not be permitted to extend their influence in a manner that would be so directly beneficial to our foreign trade. In a recommendation from high authority made within the last year, it was suggested that this privilege of acceptance be granted to such banks that had a certain stipulated amount of capital. Apart from the fact that such discrimination would be difficult of justification, it would be quite unnecessary for the reason that on equal terms the business would naturally be done with the largest and most substantial banks because of the distinct advantage that the drawer would enjoy in obtaining the minimum discount rate that such acceptance would warrant.

This is a matter of no small importance, and it is to be hoped that there may be a general discussion of it in order that a complete understanding of its possibilities may be obtained.

E. A. de LIMA.

ITEMS ABOUT BANKS, BANKERS AND TRUST CO'S.

—No bank stocks were sold at the auction sale this week, and at the Stock Exchange only one lot of twenty shares changed hands. The sales of trust company stocks at auction reach a total of 21 shares.

x Sold at the Stock Exchange.

—Governor Charles E. Hughes on the 13th inst. signed the bill of Senator Saxe giving the New York Produce Exchange permission to deal in mining and other securities.

—The Ganiard bill, designed to better regulate the business of private banks and bankers in Indiana, was signed on the 8th inst. by Governor J. Frank Hanly of that State. According to the "Indianapolis News" the main feature of the bill is its provision for as many examinations each year as the Auditor of State may desire to make. When the bill passed the Senate, it provided for but one examination a year, the private bankers having objected to more than this. In the House, however, it was amended, giving the State authority to make additional examinations, and this amendment, although fought against by the private bankers, was concurred in by the Senate.

—George M. Coffin has resigned as a Vice-President of the Phenix National Bank of this city, to take the presidency of the Beaver National Bank, which is shortly to begin business in the Beaver Building, corner of Wall, Pearl and Beaver streets.

—Charles W. Bonner, of the recently dissolved firm of Harde, Bonner & Co of this city was this week suspended from the New York Stock Exchange for one year for having, as alleged, split commissions. The act was not Mr. Bonner's, but was that of another member of the firm, and Mr. Bonner, it is understood, knew nothing of the circumstances surrounding the action. As he, however, was the Stock Exchange member, the Board of Governors was obliged to proceed against him for the infraction of the rules.

—The additional stock of the Chemical National Bank of this city, amounting to $2,700,000, has been listed on the New York Stock Exchange, making the total amount listed $3,000,000. The new capital was paid for out of surplus. After providing for its increased stock, the bank still has credited to surplus the sum of $5,000,000, thus having available a working capital of $8,000,000.

—Dividends on the stock of the National Bank of North America of this city, which have been paid semi-annually heretofore, have been changed to quarterly by the declaration of a dividend of 2%, payable April 1. An extra payment of 3% will be made at the same time. The institution has paid 8% per annum since 1901, but the present January the regular semi-annual distribution of 4% was supplemented by an additional payment of 2%. With the above declaration, 11% will have been paid since the first of the year.

—J. Adams Brown, formerly Vice-President of the Beacon Trust Company of Boston, has lately become Vice-President of the Thirty-fourth Street National Bank of New York City.

—William Giblin has been appointed Acting President of the Mercantile Safe Deposit Company of this city to fill the vacancy created by the death of Lyman Rhoades.

—The proposition to increase the capital of the Home Trust Company of New York, of Brooklyn Borough, from $500,000 to $750,000 was ratified on Monday by the stockholders. The selling price of the new stock will be $160 per $100 share.

—Frank E. Howe, hitherto Cashier of the Manufacturers' National Bank of Troy, N. Y., has been elected President to fill the vacancy arising through the death of George P. Ide. William C. Feathers succeeds to the cashiership.

—At a meeting of the directors of the Union Trust Company of Providence on the 4th inst., Michael F. Dooley, Vice-President and Secretary, resigned as Secretary, and Frank E. Chafee was elected to that office. A. G. Loomis was elected a Vice-President and director.

—It is proposed to increase the capital of the Western National Bank of Philadelphia from $400,000 to $1,000,000. On April 15 the stockholders will meet to act on this, and several other propositions, namely, to change the par value of the stock from $50 to $100 per share, and to amend the by-laws with regard to the directors so as to provide for a board of eighteen, instead of only nine members as now. Since the death of Cornelius N. Weygandt last month, George E. Shaw has been President pro tem of the institution.

—A meeting of the stockholders of the Merchants' National Bank of Philadelphia has been called for April 16 to vote on an increase in the capital and an amendment to the articles of association providing that the number of directors shall consist of not less than seven nor more than seventeen shareholders. The bank has a capital of $600,000. What the proposed addition is has not been made public.

—John F. Finney, President of the National Deposit Bank of Philadelphia, and formerly Assistant United States Treasurer at Philadelphia, died on the 14th inst. He was sixty-one years of age.

—Pittsburgh advices state that the Pittsburgh Clearing House Association has voted to admit the Lincoln National and Federal National banks of that city to membership in the association.

—The North American Savings Company of Pittsburgh was absorbed on the 9th inst by the Fort Pitt National Bank of Pittsburgh. These institutions were closely affiliated, Andrew W. Herron being President of both. The Savings Company had a capital of $300,000 in shares of $50 each. The price paid for the stock is $80 per share. The capital of the Fort Pitt National Bank is $1,000,000. It was increased to that amount from $200,000 in 1904, at the time of the absorption by it of the Fifth National Bank.

—The Union National Bank of Braddock, Pa., capital $200,000, has been taken over by the Braddock Trust Company. It is stated that $140 per share is the price paid for the bank's stock.

—The stockholders of the Potter Title & Trust Company of Pittsburgh, Pa., will meet on April 4 to consider the question of increasing the capital from $200,000 to $500,000. It is stated that the company has decided to open a banking department, to be in charge of W. K. Gamble, who has been elected Treasurer of the institution. The other officers are John E. Potter, President; C. M. Johnston, Vice-President R. C. Weigel, Secretary; M. I. Craig, Title Officer; John R. Hays, Manager Title Department; H. E. Leety, Manager Mortgage Department.

—Lucius Teter has been advanced from the cashiership to the vice-presidency of the Chicago Savings Bank & Trust Company of Chicago, Ill. His successor as Cashier will be William Rupp Jr., Cashier of the Benton Harbor (Mich.) State Bank. The latter will enter upon his new duties on June 1.

—The annual dividend rate of the National Bank of the Republic, of Chicago, has been increased from 6 to 8% per annum, the directors having this week declared a quarterly dividend of 2% against 1½% previously.

—A permit to organize the Bank of Commerce in Chicago was lately issued by the Auidtor of Public Accounts. The capital is to be $200,000.

—The Iowa Bankers' Association will meet in annual convention on June 18 and 19 at Clinton.

—L. S. Critchell has resigned as Cashier of the St. Joseph (Mo.) Stock Yards Bank to become Vice-President of the Live Stock National Bank of Sioux City, Iowa.

—Henry W. Peters was elected a director of the Mississippi Valley Trust Company of St. Louis at a meeting of the directors on Tuesday. He takes the place of the late William F. Nolker. Two new offices have been created by the board—that of Assistant Real Estate Officer, to which George Kingsland has been appointed, and Fourth Assistant Secretary, to which Louis W. Fricke has been chosen. The regular quarterly dividend of $4 per share has been declared, payable April 1.

—Lorenzo E. Anderson has announced to the directors of the Mercantile Trust Company of St. Louis his intention to resign as Second Vice-President of the company, he having decided to enter the stock-brokerage business. His retirement will take place within the next few months. It is understood that he will retain his stock holdings in the institution and will continue a member of its board of directors.

—A State bank is being organized to open about April 1 at Severance, Colorado, in the Greeley District, by A. S. Rogers, of Grand Island, Neb., and William Bierkamp Jr., Cashier of the Denver (Colo.) Stock Yards Bank.

RAILROAD EARNINGS.—Correction.—In our table last week giving the earnings of United States railroads for the calendar year we included the Chicago Burlington & Quincy. The figures, however, were incorrectly reported to us; instead of $78,835,346 the amount should have been $77,008,971. This compares with $69,890,841 for the twelve months of the previous calendar year, namely 1905.

Monetary and Commercial English News

London, Saturday, March 2 1907.

Pay day at the last Stock Exchange settlement of the month fell this week on the last day of February when the joint-stock banks are in the habit of making up their monthly returns. It is well known that they call in large amounts of money from the market to make it appear that they habitually hold larger reserves than they actually do. This month the calling in of loans caused serious inconvenience to the Stock Exchange. Considerable sums had in consequence to be borrowed from the Bank of England, and the rates charged were very stiff. Naturally this evoked an outcry against the system of "window-dressing", as it is called here. Happily the force of public opinion promises to put an end to the practice for the future. The representatives of the Clearing-House Banks are in the habit of meeting every Thursday. On Thursday of this week there was brought before them a proposal that, instead of publishing monthly returns showing their condition on the last day of each month, they should in future publish monthly returns showing the average condition during the month. No absolute decision was taken, but there was a general agreement that it was desirable to do this.

The fact is that public opinion in the city has grown so strong against the practice of calling in loans at the end of the month that the Chancellor of the Exchequer took the matter in hand earnestly. He has been for a considerable time past in communication with representatives of the bankers, and practically the choice before the bankers now is either to agree amongst themselves upon a reform that will satisfy public opinion or to face legislation by Parliament. According to all appearance, the banks will come quickly now to an agreement amongst themselves.

In some quarters it is urged that if the banks adopt the new procedure they will keep larger reserves in the future than in the past; that, consequently, they will be able to accommodate their customers to a smaller extent than formerly, and that thus the inconvenience which hitherto has been felt only at the end of each month will hereafter be felt all through the year. The criticism, however, does not much affect public opinion, which argues, reasonably enough, that means will be found for providing proper accommodation. Moreover, the inconvenience of the old system is so great that the public is willing to face anything rather than the uncertainties of that system.

In consequence of the prospect of reform in this matter and of cheaper money in the immediate future, feeling on the Stock Exchange has improved. Early in the week it was unfavorable. Now it is much more hopeful. There is a very large amount of gold on the way, chiefly from South Africa. The Japanese Government, which has very large balances at its credit in London, is desirous of seeing markets improve, as it has arranged to convert its 6% loan. With the market depressed as at present it would be difficult to carry through the operation. But if a better feeling is aroused, there is no reason why the conversion should not be a great success, especially as it is understood that Paris is not merely willing to co-operate but is prepared to take a very large proportion of the converted loan.

Over and above this, the Continental exchanges in general have turned in favor of this country. The hope is strong, too, that New York will not require very large amounts of gold. The injury done to the maize crop in Argentina by locusts and drought is expected to stop at a very early date the Argentine demand for gold, and the Brazilian demand proves to be much smaller than had been anticipated. During the whole month of February the Brazilian Government did not take a penny, and apparently it is not prepared to take any for some time. There is also a hope in Berlin that the Imperial Bank of Germany will soon be able to put down its rate of discount. Owing to all these circumstances, the public here is looking forward to cheaper and more plentiful money and a consequent marked improvement in affairs.

In Paris business is quiet, owing to the apprehensions aroused by the income tax and by the unsettled state of foreign politics. Nevertheless the rise in copper and diamond shares continues. In Germany trade continues good, but Stock Exchange business is very dull. Partly this is the result of the long continuance of dear money. Partly it is caused by the fear of what may happen in Russia now that another Douma opposed to the Government has been elected. Partly it is produced by the fear that trade has reached its best and that now a decline is to be looked for. And, lastly, it is brought about by the fear that there will be a setback in trade in the United States; that, therefore, the United States will compete actively with Europe, especially in iron and steel, that the competition will severely try Germany, and that for some time to come hard times are to be looked for.

The India Council offered for tender on Wednesday 120 lacs, and the applications exceeded 571 lacs, at prices ranging from 1s. 4 3-32d. to 1s. 4 3-16d. per rupee. Applicants for bills at 1s. 4 3-32d. and for telegraphic transfers at 1s. 4 5-32d. per rupee were allotted about 20% of the amounts applied for.

Messrs. Pixley & Abell write as follows under date of Feb. 28:

GOLD.—The Bank has again secured the gold in the open market amounting to £400,000, in the absence of American competition The movements this week are £618,000 received, of which £463,000 is in bars and £150,000 from Egypt, and £259,000 withdrawn namely, £200 000 for Egypt and the balance for South America. £731,000 is due from South Africa next week. Arrivals—Cape, £557 000, Brazil, £4,000: West Africa, £8,000; total, £569,000. Shipments—Bombay, £138,350; Colombo, £2,000; Calcutta, £40,000; total, £180,350.

SILVER.—The market has remained very steady, with an upward tendency. The special demand for India has continued with no abatement, and, with Mexico no longer a seller of dollars, the price has risen to 32⅛d. The Bazaars still hold aloof, but the expectation of orders from that quarter keeps the market firm Price in India is Rs. 80 15-16 per 100 Tolahs. Forward silver is now ⅛d. under cash. Arrivals—New York, £150,000: Shipments—Singapore (coin), £8,750; Bombay, £91,500; Colombo, £2,500, Calcutta, £121,600; total, £224,350.

MEXICAN DOLLARS.—There have been some further transactions in dollars, but at present prices there are none obtainable Arrivals—Nil. Shipments—Calcutta, £90,000.

DIVIDENDS.

We have changed the method of making up our weekly list of dividends. Heretofore our record has included only the dividends announced each week, but for the convenience of our readers we now enlarge the scope of the compilation so as to show also dividends previously declared but the date of payment of which has not yet arrived. In the new form the statement indicates all the dividends announced for the future by all large or important corporations.

Dividends announced this week are printed in italics.

Statement of New York City Clearing-House Banks.—The following statement shows the condition of the New York City Clearing-House banks for the week ending Mar. 9. It should be distinctly understood that as to all items except capital and surplus the figures are the averages of the daily results, not the totals at the end of the week. In other words, in reporting loans and deposits and holdings of specie and legal tenders, the practice is to take the aggregate of the amounts for the several days of the week and divide this aggregate by the number of days.

We omit two ciphers (00) in all cases.

Wall Street, Friday Night, March 15 1907.

The Money Market and Financial Situation.—The enormous shrinkage of values which has taken place this week in Wall Street has not been equaled since the memorable Northern Pacific corner in May 1901. The present movement, following an almost steady decline since the first of the year, has carried several active issues to the lowest quotations recorded for them since the event mentioned, and a long list to the low level from which they advanced in 1904. As is always the case at such times, the volume of business has been greatly increased, but it is interesting to note that on several occasions since 1901 the present maximum has been exceeded, and also that on Thursday, when the aggregate transactions—2,571,516 shares—were the largest on the present movement, almost exactly one-half the total was made up of the transactions in only four issues.

Coincident with the weakness in stocks there has been more or less disturbance in the money markets here and abroad. Rates for call loans in this market have been quoted as high as 25% and at Berlin and London the markets are in a sensitive condition, notwithstanding the fact that the Bank of England shows a somewhat larger percentage of reserve than last week.

In to-day's stock market there has been a substantial recovery. Many issues opened several points higher, and, with occasional set-backs, practically the entire list has advanced on liberal buying for both accounts.

The open market rates for call loans on the Stock Exchange during the week on stock and bond collaterals have ranged from 3½ to 25%. To-day's rates on call were 3½@15%. Prime commercial paper quoted at 6@6¼% for endorsements and 6@6¼% for best single names.

The Bank of England weekly statement on Thursday showed a decrease in bullion of £104,972 and the percentage of reserve to liabilities was 46.39, against 44.82 last week.

The discount rate remains as fixed Jan. 17 at 5%. The Bank of France shows a decrease of 12,825,000 francs in gold and 1,250,000 francs in silver.

State and Railroad Bonds.—Sales of State bonds at the Board are limited to $10,000 Virginia 6s deferred trust receipts at 20.

The market for railway and industrial bonds has been more active and weak in sympathy with the market for shares. The transactions on Thursday were the largest in some time past and a decline of from 1 to 3 points or more occurred in several issues. On that day Consolidated Gas conv. 6s declined 9 points, Atchisons 4, American Tobacco 6s nearly 3, Inter.-Met. 4½s 2 and Wabash-Pitts. Terminal 2s 2¼ points. Other weak features have been Colorado Industrial, Brooklyn Rapid Transit, Delaware & Hudson, Erie and Burlington & Quincy.

United States Bonds.—Sales of Government bonds at the Board—$10,000 2s, coup., 1930, at 106¼. The following are the daily closing quotations; for yearly range see third page following.

Railroad and Miscellaneous Stocks.—The stock market has suffered a further precipitous decline this week. The transactions have been on a large scale, but were larger on several previous occasions, the last time on Aug. 20 1906. There was a showing of strength on Tuesday, when prices were generally up from 1 to 3 points, but the decline which followed swept everything before it and carried practically the entire active list down from 10 to 20 points or more. The movement was led by Reading and Union Pacific, which declined 35½ and 37¾ points respectively; and a list of 25 of the most active issues declined an average of 16½ points within the week. Northern Pacific covered a range of over 24 points, Delaware & Hudson 26, Great Northern 21, St. Paul 20 and Amalgamated Copper 25.

Of Thursday's total of 2,571,500 shares traded in, Union Pacific contributed 371,850, Reading 333,270, United States Steel 315,400 and Amalgamated Copper 256,675.

As noted above, the tendency of the market was reversed to-day and, in a general way, the recovery amounts to about 1-3 the decline which had previously taken place in the week.

For daily volume of business see page 620.

The following sales have occurred this week of shares not represented in our detailed list on the pages which follow:

Outside Market.—A further sensational break in prices occurred this week in the "curb" market consequent upon the collapse at the Stock Exchange, though this was followed by a general and sharp recovery to-day. Nevada-Utah under a heavy selling movement dropped from 6¾ to 2½, recovering to-day to 4. Greene Consolidated Copper fell off 7¼ points to 20, but closes at 25. Greene Cananea sank from 18⅛ to 14, and ends the week at 17. After moving up from 74½ to 76, United Copper common ran off to 64¾, with a reaction to-day to 68¼. Boston Consolidated Copper sold down from 28⅛ to 23¼, and to-day advanced to 26. British Columbia Copper from 7½ rose to 8¼, sank to 6¾ and later advanced to 7¼. Butte Coalition gained a point to 33, then broke to 24¼ and to-day jumped to 29, closing at 27½. Nevada Consolidated Copper advanced from 16 to 16½, declined to 13 and sold up to-day to 14. Davis-Daly Estates fell from 17 to 13¾, recovering to 14¼. Cumberland-Ely lost about 2 points to 8½, later advancing to 9¼. Dominion Copper dropped from 6¼ to 4⅞, moving up again to 5½. Nipissing was strong, advancing from 12 to 13¾; it declined to-day to 10⅞ and closes at 11¾. Chicago Subway dropped from 26½ to 11½—the lowest on record. To-day it advanced to 20, closing at 19¾. International Mercantile Marine preferred declined from 25 to 22½. Waterbury Company common from 50¼ advanced to 51¾, subsequently falling to 47¼. Western Ice sold down from 25 to 21½, rose to 28 and declined finally to 26⅝. Electric Boat common from 32½ sank to 30, and Otis Elevator common lost 3 points to 45.

RAILROAD GROSS EARNINGS.

The following table shows the gross earnings of every STEAM railroad from which regular weekly or monthly returns can be obtained. The first two columns of figures give the gross earnings for the latest week or month, and the last two columns the earnings for the period from July 1 to and including such latest week or month. We add a supplementary statement to show the fiscal year totals of those roads whose fiscal year does not begin with July, but covers some other period. The returns of the street railways are brought together separately on a subsequent page.

Net Earnings Monthly to Latest Dates.—The table following shows the gross and net earnings of STEAM railroads reported this week. A full detailed statement, including all roads from which monthly returns can be obtained, is given once a month in these columns, and the latest statement of this kind will be found in the issue of Feb. 23 1907. The next will appear in the issue of March 23 1907.

President David Willcox says in substance:

General Results.—The net income for the year after all charges, being 12.28% on the capital stock, was $5,156,137. As stated below, there was a suspension of work at the mines continuing for 6 weeks during April and May. The net income for these two months was less than for the corresponding months of 1905 in the sum of $1,120,772, and this, of course affected the income for the year.

Dividends on the stock have been paid at the rate of 7%, amounting to $2,867,174; the balance of income, amounting to $2,288,964, has been credited to general profit and loss. The following sums have been charged to general profit and loss and credited to the accounts below specified respectively: railroad equipment, $1,592,683; new railroad construction, $884,910; unmined coal, $262,663; advances on unmined coal, $239,919. After various miscellaneous adjustments, the increase to the credit of profit and loss is $493,801, making the present profit and loss surplus $7,483,282.

Convertible Debentures and Stock.—June 15 1906 $14,000,000 debentures were issued, due June 15 1916, interest at 4%, and each debenture of $1,000 is exchangeable from June 15 1907 to June 15 1912 for 5 shares of stock. In order to provide for such conversion, an increase of $7,000,000 in the stock of the company has been duly authorized. This makes the stock of the company as follows: Total amount authorized, $57,000,000; retired by sinking fund, $1,288,500; held to redeem convertible bonds and debentures, $11,722,500; not yet issued, $3,000,000; balance, outstanding, $40,989,000.

Payment of Debentures, &c.—Debentures have been paid as follows: Equipment debentures, $200,000; car trust certificates, $150,000; Hudson Coal Co. debentures, $235,000; total, $585,000. In addition $228,500 stock has been purchased and canceled and $100,000 convertible debentures have been purchased and are held for conversion and cancelation upon arrival of the conversion date (June 15 1907).

Sinking Fund.—The sinking fund for 1906 was $324,534, viz.: Dividends on stock heretofore retired by sinking fund, $86,196; charged in expenses of coal department, $238,338; total, $324,166. This amount, with $223,632 to the credit of the sinking fund Dec. 31 1905, and $8,833 in addition, was applied in acquiring, as above stated, $228,500 stock and $100,000 of convertible debentures. The total payments for the sinking fund were, therefore, $557,000 and the balance to the debit of the fund is $8,833.

Coal Production.—The total amount of anthracite coal produced by all parties during 1906 was 55,698,595 tons. The amount produced by this company was 5,401,389 tons. At the close of the year it had on hand 136,864 tons. The employees at the mines suspended work from April 1 until May 15 1906, when work was resumed upon the terms already prevailing, which were those settled in 1903 by the Anthracite Strike Commission. This was in accordance with the suggestion made by the operators before the suspension began.

Improvements, &c.—The betterments and additions to the property during 1906 aggregated $5,907,786. Their cost has been as follows:

Coal department (new breakers and washeries, $280,280, &c., &c.)	$608,810
Railroad department (block signals, $325,859; extension of tracks, $231,930; substituting 90-lb. for 80-lb. rails, $145,485; round-houses, turn-tables, &c., $107,641; yard improvements, $105,576, &c	2,075,465
New equipment for the railroad department	3,223,511

On account of these expenditures there has been added to railroad construction $971,379 and to railroad equipment $1,413,761, aggregating $2,385,140 added to these capital accounts; the balance, amounting to $3,522,647, has been charged off.

The following new equipment has been acquired by purchase or construction: 57 locomotives 4 baggage cars, 3 steam shovels, 2,014 coal cars, 18 milk cars and 49 cars used in the company's service. The result has been an addition to the tractive power of the locomotives amounting to 2,104,654 pounds and to capacity of the cars amounting to 123,080,000 pounds.

During the year the work of equipping the lines with automatic block signals has been steadily continued. Since this work began in 1904 there have been so equipped a total of 139.13 miles of single track and 113.4 miles of double track at a total cost of $626,136. The block signaling installation already completed, with that now in progress, will cover the entire main line and the two most important branches. It is anticipated that the work will be completed during the coming year.

Passenger Service.—In view of current criticism, it seems proper to mention the history of the company in the matter of passenger service. During the last 12 years it has carried about 75,000,000 passengers. There have been but 3 passenger fatalities. These occurred in the same accident which was due to the engineer violating the rules by running past a signal which was set against him. The Susquehanna Division, comprising 487.52 miles of track of all kinds, has been in operation more than 30 years without a single passenger fatality. During these periods, too, passenger casualties have been extremely rare. It is believed that these results of operation compare very favorably with those in any other country.

Double Track.—The main line of the company is now double-tracked from Wilkes-Barre to Mechanicville and from Albany to Whitehall, with the exception of 3 short sections aggregating 34.30 miles. The double-tracking of these sections has now been begun. When the same is done, the entire main line will be double-tracked from Wilkes-Barre to Mechanicville, a distance of 217 miles, and from Albany to Whitehall, a distance of 78 miles, making in all 295 miles of continuous double track.

Acquisitions.—There has been acquired the entire capital stock of the United Traction Co., which operates the electric lines in Albany, Rensselaer, Troy, Watervliet, Cohoes and Waterford, embracing a total mileage of 82.33 miles. The Traction Company has acquired control of the Hudson Valley Ry., which operates 129.50 miles of electric road extending to the north as far as Warrensburg. This purchase has been financed temporarily through the Northern New York Development Co.

$175,000 capital stock of the Greenwich & Johnsonville Ry. out of a total of $225,000 has been acquired. This company operates a steam railroad extending from Johnsonville to Greenwich, and thence to Schuylerville, embracing a mileage of 21.24 miles. An extension of the road is in progress from Greenwich to the Rutland & Washington branch of this company's road in the vicinity of Salem, an additional distance of about 10 miles.

Through stock ownership, this company has acquired control of the Quebec Montreal & Southern Ry., extending from Noyan Junction to St. Robert's Junction, and from St. Lambert to Pierreville. Its total mileage of constructed road is 145 miles. In connection therewith will be acquired also the road of the Napierville Junction Ry., extending from Rouse's Point to St. Constant, 27 miles. Negotiations are substantially completed for running rights from St. Constant to St. Lambert, opposite Montreal, and across the river into Montreal, with the use of terminal facilities in that city, and also for running rights from Rouse's Point to Noyan Junction, where, as already said, the existing line of the Quebec Montreal & Southern begins, making the total distance covered by these running rights 16 miles. It is contemplated during the present year to extend the road easterly in the direction of Quebec, a distance of 48.5 miles, and when the Quebec bridge, which has been in course of construction for some years, is completed, the road will be further extended 43.5 miles to said bridge. With these additions the road will have a mileage of 263.5 miles with running rights on 16 miles, making 279.5 miles in all. Its maximum grade will be 16 feet to the mile and its maximum curvature 1.3 degrees. It will be the shortest line between Quebec and New York, between Montreal and New York and between Quebec and Montreal. It will give the line of this company direct connections with all the important railroads in Eastern Canada, and enable the company to effectively serve the numerous paper mills located upon its lines with the supply of pulpwood necessary for their operation.

Rutland Railroad.

President W. H. Newman says in substance:

General Results.—The gross earnings were $2,759,209, an increase over the previous year of $237,121. The freight earnings were $1,[illegible]244, an increase of $136,962, due to increased tonnage and longer haul. The passenger earnings were $967,258, an increase of $[illegible]18, due to the greater number of passengers carried. The expenses of operation were $1,918,199, an increase of $232,[illegible]96. Maintenance of way and structures increased $73,786, principally on account of heavy expenditures for renewals of rails, ties and bridges, extension of sidings at various points and also for repairs to buildings. Maintenance of equipment increased $51,311, due to a heavier outlay on repairs to engines and other equipment, renewals of freight cars and to the conversion [illegible] of new machinery for shops. Conducting transportation increased $[illegible]01,002, principally caused by a material advance in wages and for increased mileage made by all classes of trains. The net earnings were $[illegible]21,116, a decrease of $25,370. First charges and taxes were $621,[illegible]35, an increase of $[illegible]96,[illegible]36, due to increased taxes and interest paid on account of loans. Interest on funded debt decreased $5,985 by reason of the retirement of equipment bonds of 1901 and 1902.

The profit from operation after payment of 1½% dividend on preferred stock was $13,866, which has been carried to the credit of income account. The following items, aggregating $169,973, were included in operating expenses during the year:

New stations	$3,502	New shops and machinery at Malone	$40,354
Repairs to warehouses, &c., at Ogdensburg	24,280	New bridges	10,822
New turn-tables	3,082	New ballast cars	21,615
Ballasting	25,210	New steel rails	7,497
Tie plating	3,480	Extending sidetracks	20,786
New snow-plow	4,257	Miscellaneous	5,088

Capitalization.—The capital stock remains unchanged. The funded debt has been decreased during the year $133,000 through the purchase and cancellation of 4½% equipment bonds of 1901-02.

Statistics.—Operations, earnings, expenses, charges and balance sheet have been as follows:

International Traction Co.

(Report for the Fiscal Year ending December 31 1906.)

President Henry J. Pierce says in substance:

Operations, &c.—The territory traversed by the 356 miles of lines comprises the cities of Buffalo, Niagara Falls, N. Y., Lockport, North Tonawanda, Tonawanda, Niagara Falls, Ont., and some 20 villages and townships, and supplies a population of over 500,000 people with electric railway transportation. This section, already one of the great centres of steam railroad and lake transportation, is attracting the attention of manufacturers by the extraordinary facilities and advantages it affords in which to locate factories whose product is distributed throughout the country. There are unmistakable evidences that the growth of the frontier of Western New York will be phenomenal in the near future, and it is already taxing the capacity of the company's lines to keep pace with its progress.

Believing in the future of Buffalo and its vicinity, and realizing the value of the franchises the company enjoys, the management has endeavored to establish as perfect a street railway service as is possible under the physical conditions confronting it, with the result that not only have the revenues increased, but its efforts are appreciated by the residents of the cities and towns which it supplies with transportation facilities, as is evidenced by the friendly attitude of the people, the press and the municipal authorities. The property is being operated on the theory that it is the first duty of public utility corporations to give first-class service in return for the privilege to operate, and in the belief that the corporation so conducted will not only establish itself firmly in the good opinion of the people whom it serves, but will secure a stability which will inure to its own lasting benefit.

During 1906 the physical condition of the property was not only fully maintained, but improved. The new car shops finished during the year are as complete as any in the country, and afford every facility for the proper maintenance of equipment; a new model sub-station was established on the East Side of Buffalo; 150 new cars, of the most up-to-date type and costing nearly $1,000,000, were purchased; 12 miles of track were laid through Fillmore Avenue, Buffalo, under franchise obtained in the fall of 1905, and this line will be open for traffic in the early spring.

Franchises, Extensions, &c.—In view of the fact that a fast electric line is to be built from Toronto by way of Hamilton to Niagara Falls, Ont., in the near future, and as an electric line, now under construction, between Lockport and Rochester will be completed during 1907, both of which lines are connect with our system, and as the capacity of our Niagara Falls line already taxed to the utmost by present travel, a franchise has been secured, and it is proposed to build within the next 18 months a new double-track line, over its own right-of-way, between Buffalo and Niagara Falls, connecting at Tonawanda with our Lockport division.

On account of the congestion of street car traffic through the business section of Buffalo, it has become necessary, in order to afford rapid transit and proper transportation facilities, to build tracks in streets parallel to Main Street, and application for a franchise has been made to lay tracks through an extension of Elmwood Avenue and through Chippewa, Franklin, Morgan, Genesee, Pearl and Seneca streets. The need of these new lines is generally appreciated, and we fully expect that the right will be granted us, as we have the cordial co-operation of the Mayor, the municipal authorities and the press. It is hoped that these lines may be built during the summer and fall of 1907.

Among other work to be carried out during this year is a 1-mile extension in Niagara Falls to Riverdale Cemetery; an extension of a double track line for a mile through East Avenue, Lockport, to meet the new interurban road to Rochester that is now being built; an extension of about ½ mile on Delevan Avenue, Buffalo; the building of a new car house at a cost of $225,000 on Broadway, Buffalo; a new car house at a cost of $130,000 at Hertel Avenue, Buffalo; and it is also proposed to purchase 50 new cars for Buffalo city service

Dividends.—Inasmuch as the company cannot increase its bonded debt, it will be necessary not only to expend the profits of 1907, but also to borrow $1,000,000 from the banks. While we regret that the payment of dividends must for these reasons be further delayed, we believe we are best serving the interests of the stockholders by maintaining their property in first-class physical condition and by making betterments and extensions necessary to keep abreast with the growth of the territory served.

The result of operations for the last three calendar years, including the International Traction Co., the International Railway Co. and the Crosstown Street Railway Co. of Buffalo, was as follows:

United States Steel Corporation.

(Report for Fiscal Year ended Dec. 31 1906.)

The annual report signed by Elbert H. Gary, Chairman of the Board, and President William E. Corey, will be found substantially in full on pages 631 to 636 of to-day's "Chronicle." Given with it are many important tables of operations, balance sheet, &c.

The following tables show the gross total income for the calendar years and the deductions which are made in order to determine the net earnings; also the amounts applied to the payment of interest, dividends, &c., of the Corporation itself, and finally the surplus from the year's operations:

(The) American Tobacco Company.

Treasurer J. M. W. Hicks, under date March 13 1907, says:

There has been no change in the capital stock during the year. As required by the trust indenture there was deposited with Morton Trust Co., trustee, in Jan. 1906 the sum of $500,000 to be expended in the purchase for cancellation of 6% gold bonds of the company upon the terms specified in said trust indenture, and bonds of the par value of $441,800 have been so purchased and canceled, the cost of same being $499,980. The difference between par value and cost of the bonds so purchased has been written off as an expense.

By order of the board of directors 4% gold bonds of the par value of $2,437,000 have been purchased at a cost of $1,886,304 and paid for out of the surplus and canceled and the par value ($2,137,000) deducted from the amount carried among the assets of this company as good will, patents and trade marks.

The statement below does not include this company's share of the undivided net earnings of companies in which it holds stock which they have deemed it advisable not to declare as dividends.

American Radiator Co.

(Report for Fiscal Year ending Jan. 31 1907.)

President Clarence W. Woolley, under date of March 6, says in substance:

General Results.—The business was handsomely increased, manufacturing methods were improved and the quality of our products was raised to a higher standard.

The volume of business has increased, enabling us to decrease the margin of profit and to secure a larger market for our products. The business has reached proportions which greatly exceeds the total capital. The first year of our corporate existence the volume of business was less than one-half of the capitalization.

The phenomenal business conditions which prevailed during the last year created abnormal activity in the metal markets and rendered it difficult to obtain supplies. Our own selling prices were not advanced as rapidly or to the same extent as the prices of raw materials. Thus we were aided in enlarging the volume while securing a satisfactory return on the total business transacted.

Improvements.—Additions were made to the manufacturing properties and refinements introduced which brought an increase of output and placed our operations on a more advantageous foundation. Several new selling branches, equipped with ample warehouse capacity, were established at important trade centres.

Reserve Funds.—To make preparation for less fortunate eras, the company has established an insurance fund against a decline in the value of our finished products, and during the past few years the sum of $300,000 has been deducted from the profits for that purpose.

In addition $100,000 has been deducted from earnings as a guaranty fund for bad accounts.

Foreign Plants.—The foreign companies are in a state of healthy development. The plant built in England last year is in operation, and the results are as favorable as were anticipated. The plant in Germany is being further extended to meet the larger demand created by an extensive and enterprising sales organization. These extensions are well warranted by the results accomplished. The plant in France is being largely increased to meet the demand placed upon it, the opportunity for continued growth being relatively as favorable as in England and Germany.

The business in these fields is in a state of rapid growth, and we are taking advantage of the opportunity to maintain our supremacy in England, Germany and France, where we were the pioneers in establishing this line of industry. While the results already achieved are substantial and gratifying, we look forward to further expansion.

Y.) & Northern Electric RR.—Increase of Stock.—The company has applied to the State Board of Railroad Commissioners for permission to increase the capital stock from $250,000 to $1,500,000, consisting of $500,000 preferred and $1,000,000 common stock. The company operates 11 miles of track, extending from Auburn to Port Byron, but extensions are reported as proposed. President, E. D. Metcalf; Sec., T. Garrett; Gen. Mgr., C. D. Beebe.

Canon City Florence & Royal Gorge Interurban Ry.—Successor Company.—See Canon City & Royal Gorge Electric Ry. below.—V. 84, p. 101.

Canon City & Royal Gorge Electric Ry.—Successor Company.—This company was incorporated under the laws of Colorado on Feb. 19 with $1,250,000 capital stock in shares of $10 each, of which $500,000 is to be 7% preferred and $750,000 common stock, to acquire the Canon City Florence & Royal Gorge Interurban RR. (V. 83, p. 154, V. 84, p. 101.) The latter has not yet been sold.

The charter empowers the company to build a system of electric transportation in Canon City, South Canon, East Canon, Lincoln Park, Orchard Park, Park Centre and other parts of Fremont County. Directors: Ex-Gov. James H. Peabody, D. E. Gibson, W. H. Peabody, E. M. Smith of Canon City; W. W. Umbenhauer and Thomas J. Budd of Philadelphia; Col. Willis Wood and William Huttig of Kansas City.

Canton & Youngstown (Electric) Ry.—Contract for Construction—Bonds Offered.—Norman C. Raff, 63-65 Wall St., New York, who is offering the bonds of this company, furnishes the following:

On Feb. 12 a contract was entered into with the Collins Construction Co. of Chicago for the construction and equipment of this electric trolley road, connecting the cities of Canton (O.) and Youngstown, with a spur from a point north of Congress Lake to Akron, in all about 65 miles of track. The road has three terminals, with a population of 50,000 and upwards each. The average population served, per mile, including terminals, is over 3,200, and the road opens up between Akron and Youngstown a new country not now having trolley facilities.

A large part of the bond issue has been provided for. About $700,000 of bonds are yet open for subscription. Total authorized, $2,500,000 25-year 5% gold bonds, though it is estimated that $2,000,000 of bonds will complete and equip the road; balance of bonds remaining in treasury for future betterments interest &c.

Chesapeake & Ohio Ry.—Listed.—The New York Stock Exchange has listed $1,000,000 additional general mortgage 4½% coupon bonds of 1992, making the amount listed to date $43,573,000.

Of the $1,000,000 of bonds, $400,000 have been drawn for use in reimbursing the company for outlays made and to be made in the construction and acquisition of additional property and $600,000 to company for outlays in the construction of second main track.

Statement of Issuance of $43,573,000 General Mortgage 4½% Bonds.

For corporate purposes	$1,500,000
In retirement of prior liens	1,560,000
For exchange of shares of first and second preferred stock, less bond canceled	12,660,000
For the construction and acquisition of branch lines and extensions; the acquisition of securities or an interest therein, including steamship companies operating to and from Hampton Roads; for rolling stock, new construction (not including second track), betterments, purchase of additional property, and the reimbursement of this company for expenditures made by it under and in accordance with the clause of the said mortgage reserving $23,142,000 of said bonds for such purposes	22,803,000
For second main track, construction of	5,050,000

Earnings.—For three months ending Sept. 30 1906:

Miles.	Gross.	Net.	Charges (Net.)	Bal., Sur.

Chicago & Alton RR.—Statement from Syndicate.—The syndicate which acquired control of the property in 1899 has issued a statement respecting the re-capitalization of the company. This statement was cited at considerable length in the New York "Times" of March 15. The facts were given quite fully in the "Chronicle", issue of March 2, page 480. The statement quotes a letter of President Blackstone in which he said that he would advise the refunding of the bonds and the issue of a stock dividend to represent earnings heretofore invested in permanent improvements.

With respect to the sale of 3% bonds in 1899 at 65, it is pointed out that the bonds were sold, not to favored individuals, but without discrimination to all stockholders (see V. 69, p. 178). While the low interest rates which prevailed in 1899 and the fact that the bonds became savings bank investments made it possible to market them at a substantial profit, the stockholders in taking them at 65 took them upon an interest basis of about 4⅛% per annum. In other words, the effect of the transaction, so far as the company was concerned, was precisely the same as if 5% bonds had been sold to the stockholders at a price slightly above par.—V. 84, p. 507, 338.

Chicago Great Western Ry.—Additional Debenture Stock.—The debenture stock and preferred "A" stockholders in London on March 6 authorized the issue of $3,873,000 additional 4% debenture stock ranking pari passu with the debenture stock already issued. This will increase the outstanding amount to $30,000,000. It is understood that arrangements for the sale of the new stock have been made. See V. 84, p. 390.

Coney Island & Brooklyn RR.—Increase of Stock.—The stockholders voted on March 11 to increase the stock from $2,000,000 to $3,500,000.—V. 84, p. 569.

Deepwater Ry.—Merger.—The stockholders will vote on April 22 on merging the road with the Tidewater Ry. The Deepwater Ry. is under construction from Deepwater, W. Va., on the Kanawha River, to Glen Lyn, near the Virginia line, 112 miles, of which about 60 miles have been completed, while the Tidewater is being built from Glen Lyn to Norfolk, Va., 331 miles. The two properties are 443 miles in length, extending from Deepwater, W. Va., to Norfolk, Va., all expected to be in operation in the spring of 1908.

New Company.—The Virginia Ry., it is reported, has been chartered by the State Corporation Commission of Virginia, with $35,000,000 authorized stock, for the purpose of acting as an ultimate consolidation of the two roads above named.

Great Northern Ry.—Again Postponed.—In the absence of a decision in the stock issue injunction case, the company has again postponed the closing of the transfer books for the purposes of the new issue of stock, and the time limit for the filing of subscriptions, this time until 3 p. m. March 19. The time for filing assignments has been postponed until 3 p. m. March 13, and the time for making the first, second and third payments has been postponed until March 26. Compare V. 83, p. 1469, 1590.—V. 84, p. 570, 508.

Greenwich & Johnsonville RR.—Sale of Control.—See Delaware & Hudson Co. under "Annual Reports".—V. 78, p. 1781.

International Traction Co. of Buffalo.—Car Trusts Offered.—William Salomon & Co. of New York having disposed of over three-quarters of the outstanding issue of $570,000 of $600,000 of 4½% $1,000 (c*) car trust certificates, dated June 15 1906 and maturing $30,000 semi-annually on June and Dec. 15 to June 15 1916 inclusive, offer the unsold balance at a price to yield 5¾%, free of tax to residents of Pennsylvania.

The bonds are secured by equipment (150 cars built by the J. G. Brill Co. costing $5,500 each) valued at $825,000, of which amount the company has paid in cash 30.9%. The bankers say the company is spending out of earnings large sums for depreciation, extensions and betterments, this amounting in 1905 to $379,390 and in 1906 to $913,488, and to be increased to $1,100,000 during the current year.

Lexington (Ky.) & Interurban Railways.—Preferred Stock Listed.—The Philadelphia Stock Exchange has listed $332,150 of the preferred stock (par of shares $50), all of which has been subscribed for, and of which the remaining $162,500 was paid for on March 15.—V. 84, p. 220.

Missouri Pacific Ry.—Stuyvesant Fish a Director.—Stuyvesant Fish and J. J. Slocum have been elected directors to succeed James H. Hyde, resigned, and Russell Sage, deceased. Mr. Slocum has also been elected a director of the St. Louis Iron Mountain & Southern Ry.

Outlook.—President Gould is quoted as saying:

The Missouri Pacific will in all probability show earnings of 8½% for the fiscal year ending June 30 next. Barring floods and earthquakes, there will be no reduction in the dividend rate. The work on the Western Pacific is progressing satisfactorily. We are spending about $1,000,000 a month on it. We have the money for the completion of the road on deposit in banks and trust companies, and I've got it marked on the wall that the road is to be completed by Sept. 1 1908. We shall all be very much disappointed if that is not the case. The proposed connecting line between the Wabash and the Western Maryland will certainly be built when money and materials can be secured on better terms than at present.—V. 84, p. 221, 159.

New England RR.—Merger with New Haven Road Approved.—See New York New Haven & Hartford RR. below.—V. 79, p. 2748.

New York New Haven & Hartford RR.—Acquisition of Interest in Steamship Company.—The following statement was issued by President Mellen on Monday:

We have sold (to the Merchants' & Miners' Transportation Co.—Ed.) the Winsor Line (Boston & Philadelphia Steamship Co.) and have bought one-half interest in the Merchants' & Miners' Line. The stock of the Merchants' & Miners' is to be trusteed and the New Haven road is to nominate one-half of the directors and the outside stockholders the other one-half. The odd (fifth) director will be chosen by the trustee. The management will be unchanged. The present officers will continue, the prices will be retained, and contract relations for a long term of years will be made between the Merchants' & Miners' and its connecting railroads. Compare V. 84, p. 571.

President Whitney of the Merchants' & Miners' Transportation Co. says the stock of the Transportation Company will be trusteed for 50 years with the Safe Deposit & Trust Co. of Baltimore. The Boston & Philadelphia Co. will be merged with the Transportation Company. Mr. Whitney says:

The merger will be to the interest of the public as well as our own. It places us in a much stronger position and insures to shippers the present adjustment of rates, particularly the differential rates enjoyed at this time; in fact, the merger strengthens our position on the differential question. There will be no advance in rates. There is absolutely no intention to squeeze the public.

Merger of New England RR.—The Massachusetts State Railroad Commission has issued an order allowing the long-pending consolidation of the New England RR with the New York New Haven & Hartford, but makes the approval conditional on the New Haven road complying with the laws of Massachusetts as to issues of stocks and bonds whenever the proceeds are to be expended on railroad construction within that State.—V. 84, p. 571.

New York & Pittsburgh Air Line RR.—Bonds Offered.—Langdon & Co. of Boston, having acquired $450,000 of the first consolidated 30-year 5% coupon $1,000 gold bonds (authorized issue $600,000), dated May 1 1906, offer $350,000 at 90 and accrued interest, with $300 common stock (6 shares) per bond as bonus. The company is the successor of the Pittsburgh Johnstown Ebensburg & Eastern RR. (V. 83, p. 96).

The proposed line starts at West Phillipsburg, Pa., where it connects with the Beech Creek RR. at the Union Station, and is projected through to Johnstown, Pa., at a connection with the Baltimore & Ohio RR., and at Somerset, Pa., with the Wabash RR. system. Of this, 17¼ miles are in operation. A portion of the issue is reserved to pay off a prior mortgage of $112,000 due May 1 1907.

Pennsylvania RR.—Increase Ratified.—The stockholders on March 12 authorized an increase of $100,000,000 in stock and also in the bonded debt, to be issued as required. They also ratified the acquisition of the Philadelphia & Erie. Compare V. 84, p. 103, 221.

It is announced that the $60,000,000 5% collateral gold notes which were recently sold to Kuhn, Loeb & Co. will be considered a part of the additional $100,000,000 debt obligation authorized by the stockholders. This leaves only $40,000,000 of new obligations remaining of the $100,000,000 authorization.—V. 84, p. 571, 451.

Pittsburgh Johnstown Ebensburg & Eastern RR.—Successor.—See New York & Pittsburgh Air Line RR. above.—V. 83, p. 96.

Portland (Ore.) Railway Light & Power Co.—Increase of Wages.—The company has granted to its 700 conductors and motormen an increase of from 1 to 3 cents an hour commencing March 1, this, with the average increase of 1¾ cents per hour made last summer, making an increase of from 1 to 4¾ cents, or an average of over 15%. The recent increase, it is reported, amounts to about $60,000 yearly.—V. 83, p. 1591.

Quebec Montreal & Southern Ry.—Control by Delaware & Hudson.—See "Annual Reports" above.—V. 83, p. 493.

Rockland South Thomaston & Owl's Head Ry.—Foreclosure Sale.—The road was sold in foreclosure on March 8 to Moses Weil & Sons of Philadelphia for $13,925.—V. 84, p. 340.

St. Louis Iron Mountain & Southern Ry.—Listed.—The New York Stock Exchange has listed $2,568,000 additional River and Gulf Divisions first mortgage 4% 30-year coupon bonds of 1933, making the total amount listed to date $26,352,000. The bonds listed were issued for the following purposes, under article second of the mortgage:

For construction of extensions of railroads acquired from White River Ry. Co. and Memphis Helena & Louisiana Ry.	$393,600
For construction of second or double track along line acquired from the St. Louis Valley Ry.	105,000
For construction and acquisition of terminal properties and facilities near East St. Louis, Ill.	241,399
For development and improvement of properties subject to mortgage	1,201,039
For acquisition of capital stock of Herrin & Johnson City Ry. (representing 3.84 miles of railroad)	76,702
For construction of Eudora-Gilbert branch (37.48 miles)	549,672

Earnings.—For 6 months ending Dec. 31 1906 earnings were:

Gross earnings	$11,833,246	Total net income	$4,574,317
Net earnings	4,443,976	Charges	2,810,760
Other income	130,341	Balance, surplus	1,763,557

—V. 83, p. 436.

St. Louis & San Francisco RR.—Equipment Notes.—The company has ordered from the American Car & Foundry Co. 4,500 freight cars to cost about $5,500,000. Payment will be made by an issue of equipment notes, the details of which have not yet been arranged. The car company will dispose of the notes among manufacturers of the various articles which will go into the cars.—V. 84, p. 571.

Springfield (Mass.) Street Ry.—New Stock.—The Massachusetts Board of Railroad Commissioners have approved the issue of $300,000 additional stock to pay the floating debt and for improvements, the new stock to be sold at $170 per share. This will raise the outstanding stock to $2,258,400. The proceeds will be used to pay about $310,000 floating debt incurred for improvements and for further improvements already decided upon.—V. 81, p. 1175.

Syracuse Lake Shore & Northern (Electric) RR.—Increase of Stock.—The stock as increased to $3,500,000 consists of $1,000,000 preferred and $2,500,000 common stock. Compare V. 84, p. 571.

Syracuse & South Bay Electric RR.—Reorganized.—The company was incorporated in New York on March 11 with $1,500,000 capital stock, as successor of the railway company of the same name sold in foreclosure on Feb. 21. The incorporators were:

Albert K. Hiscock, William Nottingham, Charles A. Lux and Clifford D. Beebe, of Syracuse; F. W. Roebling and W. T. White, of Trenton, N. J.; and Harry J. Clark and W. A. Mackenzie, of Utica.—V. 84, p. 509.

Texas Traction.—Mortgage.—The company has made a mortgage to the Old Colony Trust Co. as trustee to secure an issue of $3,000,000 of 30-year 5% $1,000 (c*&r) gold bonds, due Jan. 1 1937, subject to call at 110, to provide for the construction and equipment of the line now being built between Sherman and Dallas, Texas, 63 miles. Of the bonds, $2,000,000 are issuable forthwith, the balance being reserved for improvements and extensions as required under severe restrictions contained in the mortgage. The company was incorporated in Texas in 1906 with $2,000,000 authorized common and $2,000,000 6% cumulative preferred stock (the right to cumulative dividends to be computed from the time the road is placed in operation); outstanding $1,000,000 of each; par $100 each.

Interest is payable Jan and July 1 at office of trustee. Sinking fund of 5% of gross earnings for the previous calendar year is payable July 1 yearly, beginning 1912, to be used in purchase of bonds at not over 110 or to draw bonds (by lot) at that price. Bonds drawn by sinking fund will remain uncanceled in the treasury and draw interest for sinking fund purposes, but will not be considered as outstanding. The location of the road is for the most part outside of streets and highways on private land, the company having a perpetual right of way thereon either in fee simple or by necessary easements for a double-track road. Over streets and highways the company has 50-year franchises, except in Dallas, where entrance is made over the tracks of the Dallas Consolidated Electric Street Ry. The power house will be located at McKinney, about midway between Dallas and Sherman. President, J. F. Strickland; Secretary, James P. Griffin; Treasurer, Osce Goodwin. Office, Dallas, Tex.

Toledo St. Louis & Western RR.—First Dividend.—The directors on Thursday declared an initial semi-annual dividend of 2% on the 4% non-cumulative preferred stock, payable April 15 to stockholders of record March 30.—V. 83, p. 1166.

Toledo (O.) Railway & Terminal Co.—Sale Postponed.—The foreclosure sale has been postponed until next June.—V. 84, p. 509, 160.

United Railways & Electric Co. of Baltimore.—See Consolidated Gas, Electric Light & Power Co. of Baltimore under "Industrials" below.—V. 83, p. 1412.

Virginia Ry.—New Company.—See Deepwater Ry. above.

Washington (D. C.) Railway & Electric Co.—Report.—For year ending Dec. 31:

Year—	Gross.	Net	Other Inc.	Charges.	Bal., Sur.
1905	2,905,907	1,427,441	50,553	999,455	478,539

Dividends on preferred stock (5% yearly) call for $425,000. The balance, $98,621 in 1906, was disposed of as follows: Discount on $250,000 consolidated mortgage 4% bonds, $35,102; credited to depreciation reserve, $50,000, leaving $13,579 credited to profit and loss account, making the total surplus Dec. 31 1006, $737,961.—V. 84, p. 340.

Washington Water Power Co.—Increase of Stock.—The stockholders on March 4 voted to increase the stock from $5,000,000 to $10,000,000.—V. 84, p. 222.

Western Pacific Ry.—Construction.—See Missouri Pacific Ry. above.—V. 84, p. 340.

Worcester (Mass.) Railways & Investment Co.—Exchanges.—The time to accept the offer (V. 83, p. 1100) to exchange the stock for the 4% preferred stock of the New England Investment & Security Co. expired on March 1, on which date 63,511 out of the 71,898 shares had been deposited.—V. 83, p. 1100.

INDUSTRIAL, GAS AND MISCELLANEOUS.

American Pipe Manufacturing Co., Philadelphia.—Dividend Reduced.—The directors last week declared a quarterly dividend of 2% on the $5,000,000 stock, payable April 1 to stockholders of record March 15, comparing with 3% quarterly as paid from 1896 to Jan. 1907, inclusive. Dividend record:

American Telephone & Telegraph Co.—Suit.—See United States Independent Telephone Co. of Rochester below.—V. 84, p. 273, 160.

Balaklala Consolidated Copper Co.—Plan Ratified.—The stockholders on March 11 adopted the proposition to change the par value of the stock from $25 to $10 and to fix the authorized stock at $6,000,000. Compare V. 84, p. 510.

Century Realty Co.—Dividend.—The directors have declared a regular semi-annual dividend of 5%, payable April 27 to stockholders of record April 25. The previous disbursement was 4% and 1% extra.—V. 83, p. 1100.

Chicago Edison Co.—Notes Sold.—A syndicate consisting of N. W. Halsey & Co., A. B. Leach & Co., National City Bank of New York and the Illinois Trust & Savings Bank of Chicago have purchased $2,500,000 of three-year 5% gold coupon $1,000 debenture notes (part of an authorized issue of $5,000,000), due March 1 1910 but subject to prior redemption at 101 and interest on 60 days' notice. The Illinois Trust & Savings Bank is trustee for the issue. The bankers have an option on the remaining $2,500,000 notes. The notes will be further secured as to principal and interest by an agreement with the Commonwealth Electric Co. They are offered on a 6% basis.—V. 84, p. 452.

Consolidated Gas, Electric Light & Power Co. of Baltimore.—Contract for Power.—The company has entered into an arrangement with the McCall's Ferry Power Co. for the transmission of power from the Susquehanna River to Baltimore, to continue for a period of ten years, with the privilege to the Consolidated Company to extend the same for an additional ten years. The Consolidated Company will secure all the power introduced into Baltimore by the Power Company with the exception of a block of power for the use of the United Railways & Electric Co. of Baltimore, to be supplied upon the same terms as that given to the lighting company.—V. 83, p. 753.

Consolidated Rubber Tire Co.—Report.—For cal. year:

Year.	Gross.	Other Income.	Total Income.	Operating Expenses.	Net Income.	Debenture Interest.
1906	$1,221,817	$74,500	$1,296,317	$1,210,832	$85,515	(3%) $85,515

Consolidated Paper & Milling Co., Philadelphia.—Opposition to Plan.—See Marsden Co. below.—V. 84, p. 273.

Consumers' Gas Co. of Toronto.—New Stock.—The company has notified the city that it will sell by public auction $300,000 stock, par of shares $50, on June 6. The Board of Control will decide later whether it will purchase any or all of these shares.—V. 83, p. 1226.

Corn Products Refining Co.—Dividend Policy.—President E. T. Bedford has informed Chicago interests that it is proposed to declare a dividend of 4% on the preferred stock at a meeting of the directors to be held shortly. The dividend will represent 1% for the quarter ended February last, which closed the company's first full fiscal year, and 3% to make up the full 7% for the year. The company will, if this plan is carried out, begin the new year without arrearages in dividends on the 7% cumulative preferred stock.—V. 83, p. 1414.

New Debentures Being Issued.—See National Starch Manufacturing Co. below.—V. 83, p. 1414.

Denver (Col.) Gas & Electric Co.—Called Bonds.—One hundred and thirty-one (131) Denver Consolidated Gas Co. first mortgage 6% bonds issued under the mortgage dated Nov. 16 1891 of the denomination of $1,000 each, $3,500 bonds in denominations of $500 each and 15 bonds of $100 each have been called for payment at 105 and interest on July 1 at the Metropolitan Trust Co., New York.—V. 84, p. 105.

Diamond State Steel Co.—Purchase Completed.—John B. Newkirk of Philadelphia on Feb. 25 paid the balance of the purchase price for the property bid in Dec. 18 at foreclosure.

The United States Court at Wilmington, Del., made an order turning the property over to George S. Capelle and John Richardson Jr., who will act as trustees for a syndicate composed of stockholders, bondholders and creditors and dispose of the plant as a majority in interest of the syndicate may demand. No new company has been formed or contemplated as yet to take over the property. The syndicate will not operate the plant but will sell to a new company or outsiders as may be deemed advisable.—V. 83, p. 1526.

Diamond State Telephone Co.—Acquisition.—The stockholders of the Manokin Telephone Co. will vote on March 22 on a proposition to sell and convey the rights, privileges and franchise of said company to the Diamond State Telephone Co.—V. 81, p. 779.

Dominion Coal Co.—Probable Settlement.—At the annual meeting on March 7 it was stated that the dispute with the Dominion Iron & Steel Co. would probably be settled shortly before it reaches the courts for a hearing.

New Directors.—James Crathern and T. K. Osborne have been elected directors. James Crathern has also been added to the executive committee, which is now composed as follows:

Jas. Ross, James Crathern, R. B. Angus, James Reid Wilson and F. L. Wanklyn.—V. 84, p. 573, 514.

Fairmont Coal Co.—Collateral Notes Offered.—The Mercantile Trust & Deposit Co. of Baltimore offers at 96 and interest, yielding 7.18%, the $2,000,000 issue of 2-year 5% collateral notes, of $5,000 each, registrable as to principal, dated March 15 1907, subject to call at any interest period (March 15 or Sept. 15) at par and interest on 30 days' notice. The notes are secured by the following collateral, aggregating $3,200,000 par value:

Fairmont Coal Co. 5% equipment bonds, $1,000,000; Fairmont Coal Co. 5% first mortgage bonds, $200,000; Northwestern Fuel Co. preferred stock, $250,000; Northwestern Fuel Co. common stock, $850,000; Pittsburgh & Fairmont Fuel Co. 5% first mortgage bonds, $550,000; Southern Coal & Iron Co. 5% first mortgage bonds, $350,000.

The advertisement gives the following:

The $1,000,000 equipment bonds are part of an authorized issue of $1,944,000 Fairmont Coal Co. 5% car trust bonds, covered by deed of trust dated Sept. 1 1906 to the Maryland Trust Co., Baltimore, Md., trustee. These bonds are secured by 1,030 standard type coal cars, purchased at a cost of $1,110,506, and the total will be retired in series of $162,000 per annum, commencing Sept. 1 1907.

The $250,000 preferred stock and $850,000 common stock of the Northwestern Fuel Co. are part of the capitalization of a corporation which represents the entire distributing system of the Fairmont Coal Co. for the great Northwest business which it represents and controls. This company has a capital of $500,000 preferred and $2,500,000 of common stock. For the last fiscal year, after paying dividends of 5% on the preferred stock, the company showed net earnings of over $300,000, out of which it paid dividends of 7%, the Fairmont Coal Co. owning a majority of the stock issue, the balance being carried to surplus. The bonds of the Pittsburgh & Fairmont Fuel Co. and the bonds of the Southern Coal & Transportation Co. are followed by large stock issues in both instances, yielding high dividend returns.

"In our opinion, and based on information derived from sources which we believe to be reliable, the intrinsic value of the collateral pledged to secure the $2,000,000 notes is considerably more than double their face value." In addition, the net earnings of the Fairmont company for the year ended Dec. 31 1906 over all charges of bond interest, taxes, sinking fund, depreciation, &c., were in excess of $1,000,000, nearly 9% of its $12,000,000 capital stock.—V. 84, p. 162.

Gamewell Fire Alarm Telegraph Co.—Increase of Stock.—The company has filed in the office of the Secretary of State a notice of increase of stock from $750,000 to $1,500,000.—V. 84, p. 53.

Gottlieb-Bauernschmidt-Straus Brewing Co., Baltimore.—New Plan.—The following committees, representing large holdings of the income bonds, namely,

(a) John Bauernschmidt, Fred. H. Gottlieb, Frank S. Hambleton, Wm. C. Seddon, A. T. Clabaugh.
(b) Joseph H. Straus, Alexander L. Straus, J. Sawyer Wilson Jr., Frank F. Peard, Henry H. Wiegand, announce by advertisement "that they have agreed upon a plan satisfactory to them and to the Brewing Company for meeting the requirements of the company and at the same time improving the position of the bonds.

A circular signed by the aforesaid committees under date of March 8 1907 says in part:

1. In order to avoid the double stockholders' liability incurred under the suggested Maryland charter, a holding company will be organized under the laws of Delaware with an authorized capital of $1,000,000, shares par value $10. Of this, $490,000 will be offered for subscription at par, exclusive of the Brewing Company's subscription, as hereinafter set out.

2. For each $1,000 Gottlieb-Bauernschmidt-Straus income bond, fifteen shares of stock in this company will be issued, upon the payment of $150; one-third on or about May 1 1907, when called for by the board of directors, the balance in six and nine months as called.

3. The Gottlieb-Bauernschmidt-Straus Brewing Co. has agreed to subscribe, from time to time, to enough stock of the investment company to make it always the holder of a majority. The Brewing Company is to pay for this stock in installments covering a period of ten years or sooner at its option; proportionate dividends to be credited on account of principal. The Brewing Company will have the voting power over the stock upon payment of the first installment.

The subscribers to the stock of the investment company are assured of a safe investment for the money they subscribe by giving them a lien on all loans made and on all property purchased, coupled in all cases with the guaranty of the Gottlieb-Bauernschmidt-Straus Co., which guaranty in turn is secured by the deposit of the Brewing Company's stock in the investment company. The contracts entered into with the Brewing Company will guarantee the stockholders of the investment company a yearly divdend of at least 6%. The company will be organized and a board of twelve directors elected as soon as subscriptions for 10,000 shares have been received.

The International Trust Co., Baltimore, will receive subscriptions. Subscriptions may also be sent to any of the undersigned.

Status.—In a circular dated Feb. 27, approving the aforesaid plan, Fred. H. Gottlieb, John Bauernschmidt, Joseph H. Straus and Alexander L. Straus say to the securityholders:

The company at its start had to face the most intense competition, with constantly rising prices in raw material, labor, equipment, &c. Nevertheless, it has paid out to you as bondholders $1,267,500. It has invested all of its original cash capital and more in saloon properties. It has invested $112,506 in sinking fund. It has retired $75,000 of underlying liens. It has loaned customers in that time $1,374,977, and it has spent $337,675 in additions and improvements to plants. It has acquired an additional brewery for ale, porter and birch beer, and it has improved the quality of its beer. The only misfortune of the company is that it has not more cash capital to use for similar investments.

The money paid into this holding company under the plan is to be invested: (1) In the purchase of saloon properties. These can either be rented to the G.-B.-S. Brewing Co., with an option to buy, at a rental netting the holding company an ample return; or they can be sold to it on the installment plan or subject to a mortgage, with proper guaranties of principal and interest. (2) In loans to G.-B.-S. Brewing Co.'s customers, payable in annual installments. All these loans and 6% interest per annum to be secured by mortgage and guaranteed by the G.-B.-S. Brewing Co. (3) In other investments. See V. 84, p. 162, 510.

Granby Consolidated Mining, Smelting & Power Co., Ltd.—Quarterly Dividends.—A "quarterly dividend" of 2% and an extra dividend of 1% have been declared, both payable March 30 to stockholders of record March 15. In 1906 four distributions of 3% each were paid, viz., on Jan. 15, May 15, Sept. 15 and Dec. 15, but these were not designated as being for any particular period. The first dividend of 1% was paid December 1903.—V. 84, p. 223.

Guanajuato (Mexico) Power & Electric Co.—New Stock Authorized—To Guarantee Bonds.—The shareholders voted on March 9 to increase the common stock from $3,000,000 to $3,500,000 and also to guarantee $1,000,000 first mortgage bonds of the Michoacan Power Co. in consideration of $1,000,000 of the full-paid capital stock of the Michoacan Power Co.—V. 84, p. 393.

Gulf Oil Corporation.—New Officers, &c.—The company's pipe line is under construction by the Gulf Pipe Line, organized under the laws of Texas. The directors are:

A. W. Mellon (President), W. L. Mellon (Vice-President), R. B. Mellon (Treasurer), Wm. Flinn, J. H. Reed, T. H. Given and E. A. Lyon. C. F. Farren is Secretary and Assistant Treasurer.—V. 84 p. 393.

Hartford City (Conn.) Gas Light Co.—Increase of Stock Denied.—The Connecticut Legislature has refused the application of the company to increase the authorized stock from $1,000,000 to $2,000,000 and also to extend its mains to Avon and Farmington.—V. 84, p. 452.

Havana Tobacco Co.—Report.—The report for the year ending Dec. 31, published last week (page 567) should have shown a deficit of $1,562,619 of assets under liabilities. As stated in the report the company is entitled to a considerable balance of the undivided net earnings of companies in which it holds stock and which have not been declared as dividends.—V. 84, p. 567.

Holmes Steamship Co.—Bonds Offered.—The Detroit Trust Co., mortgage trustee, will receive up to April 1 subscriptions at par for $150,000 first mortgage $1,000 5% serial gold bonds to be dated April 1 1907, maturing part-yearly on Jan. 1 from 1909 to 1918, inclusive, interest payable Jan. 1 and July 1 at the office of the trustee. Authorized bond issue, $200,000, payable in ten annual installments.

The bonds will be secured by the new steel steamship Salt Lake City, built by the American Shipbuilding Co. Approximate dimensions: Length, 552 feet; beam, 56 feet; depth, 31 feet; capacity, 10,000 tons (estimated). Cost of vessel, $410,000. President, Edwin S. Holmes; Vice-President, Henry B. Smith; Secretary and Treasurer, W. A. Hawgood.

Home Telephone Co. of Dayton, Ohio.—Increase of Stock.—The stockholders vill vote March 21 on increasing the authorized stock from $1,200,000 to $2,000,000, to consist of $1,000,000 each of common and 5% cumulative preferred stock. Of the $400,000 new stock of each class, $150,000 is to be issued to pay floating debt and for extensions and improvements. A sufficient number of shares was not present at the annual meeting Feb. 13 to vote on the question.—V. 84, p. 393.

Huasteca Petroleum Co.—Sale.—See Mexican Petroleum Co. below.

International Text-Book Co., Scranton, Pa.—Increase of Stock.—The company has filed in the office of the Secretary of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania a notice of the increase of stock from $4,000,000 to $10,000,000, all of one class. Of the new stock, $2,000,000 has been issued. Of the Colliery Engineer 5% bonds of 1899, $294,000 remain outstanding. Compare V. 79, p. 2799.—V. 83, p. 1227.

Kansas City Home Telephone Co. -Dividend Increased—Extra Distribution.—A director of the company favors us with the following:

At a meeting of the board of directors held the 12th inst., the dividend for the ensuing year on the $2,400,000 outstanding stock was increased from 5 to 6%, payable quarterly, and an extra dividend of ¼ of 1% was declared, payable with the 1¼% dividend due April 15. This latter dividend rounds out the last quarterly dividend of the 5% declared a year ago, and thus makes a total dividend of 5¼% for the past year.

Status, Earnings, &c.—President J. J. Heim, under date of March 4, reports:

Kansas City Long Distance Telephone Co.—Earnings, &c.—See Kansas City Home Telephone Co. above.—V. 80, p. 1733.

Knickerbocker Ice Co. of Chicago.—Meeting Adjourned.—The annual meeting which was adjourned until March 14 has been again postponed to April 3. Current reports state that there is a probability of an amicable arrangement being reached with the Western Ice interests.—V. 84, p. 341.

McCall's Ferry Power Co.—Contract for Power.—See Consolidated Gas, Electric Light & Power Co. of Baltimore above.—V. 84, p. 274.

Marsden Co.—Time Extended—Opposition to Plan.—The time to deposit stock under the offer of the Consolidated Paper & Milling Co. has been extended to about Apr. 1. The committee of stockholders appointed to investigate the assets of the Consolidated Company made public on March 6 its report, in which it advised that it is not to the interest of the Marsden Company to accept the offer. The Consolidated Company has issued a reply.—V. 84, p. 274.

Massachusetts Lighting Companies.—Acquisition.—This company has acquired the entire capital stock ($10,000) and notes of the Ayer Electric Light Co.

It is planned to make this company one of the auxiliaries of the large central station to be erected at Still River in the town of Harvard, which will also furnish electricity for the Clinton Gas Light Co. and the Leominster Electric Light & Power Co., also owned by the Massachusetts Lighting Companies. The Ayer Company has outstanding $8,500 20-year 5% bonds, due March 1 1922, which are included in the purchase.—V. 84, p. 452, 224.

Merchants' & Miners' Transportation.—Sale of Half-Interest.—See New York New Haven & Hartford RR. under "Railroads" above.

Increase of Stock.—It is generally expected that steps will be taken at the stockholders' meeting on March 20 to increase the amount of outstanding stock from $2,000,000, probably to $4,000,000 or thereabouts.—V. 84, p. 576.

Mexican Petroleum Co.—Sale.—See Mexican Petroleum Co., Ltd., below.—V. 83, p. 275.

Mexican Petroleum Co., Ltd.—New Company—Acquisitions.—The company was incorporated in Delaware on Feb. 19 with $38,000,000 authorized common and $12,000,000 8% non-cumulative preferred stock, to acquire the Mexican Petroleum Co. (of California) and the Huasteca Petroleum Co. The exchange of shares will be on the following basis:

Each $100 old stock will receive;

	New Pref.	New Com.	Total Issuable—Pref.	Total Issuable—Com.
Mexican Petrol. ($6,000,000)	$200	$100	$12,000,000	$6,000,000
Huasteca Petrol. ($10,000,000)	---	200	--------	20,000,000

Harry W. Davis, Wilmington, Del.; Horace S. Gould, New York; Samuel D. Howard, Millbrook, N. Y. The Corporation Trust Co., of New Jersey was in charge of the incorporation.

Mohawk Knitting Mills, Ltd.—Receivers.—Robert E. Steele, of Albany, and John B. Wild, of Utica, have been appointed receivers in bankruptcy. The company's debts are said to aggregate about $300,000.

Montana Coal & Coke Co.—Majority of Stock Deposited.—Over a majority of the shares having been deposited under the terms of the circular dated Feb. 9 (V. 84, p. 391) the stock has been stricken from the Boston Stock Exchange. The temporary negotiable receipts for cash payments under the plan have been admitted to quotation.—V. 84, p. 511, 394.

Montana Consolidated Coal & Coke Co.—Plan Successful.—See Montana Coal & Coke Co. above.—V. 84, p. 391.

National Starch Manufacturing Co.—Exchange of Bonds.—The Corn Products Refining Co. 25-year 5% sinking fund debentures, dated March 1, issuable in exchange for the National Starch 6% bonds under the plan of Oct. 1 1906 (V. 83, p. 820), which was declared operative in December last, are being distributed at the Title Guarantee & Trust Co. Of the $2,843,000 National Starch bonds, $2,017,000 have been deposited.—V. 83, p. 1415.

New Haven Iron & Steel Co.—Dividend Not Declared.—The "Philadelphia Ledger" of March 12 says:

The directors met yesterday, but no action was taken on the dividend of 15 cents a share which is usually paid about this time. The company did not pay this dividend in March 1906, but in September a dividend of 30 cents was paid. A director says that as no action on the dividend was taken yesterday, it is probable the policy of last year will be followed and a dividend of 30 cents declared in September. It is stated that the earnings for the six months ended Feb. 28 were quite satisfactory.—V. 83, p. 690, 628.

Otis Elevator Co.—Increased Dividends.—A dividend of 3% for the year has been declared on the common stock, payable in two equal installments, the first on April 15 to holders of record March 30 and the second Oct. 15 to holders of record Sept. 30. The dividend compares with 2% paid yearly in April 1903 to 1906, inclusive, in one installment.—V. 83, p. 628.

Pennsylvania Sugar Refining Co.—Suit.—The company through its President, William Howard Ramsay, on March 8 began an action for damages against the American Sugar Refining Co. in the United States Circuit Court for the Southern District of New York on the grounds stated in V. 84, p. 106. Other defendants are also named, the total claim being currently figured as about $10,000,000, which would be trebled if allowed, as violation of the Sherman Anti-Trust law is alleged. Actions have also been brought or are contemplated by the Real Estate Trust Co. to collect damages alleged to have been sustained on account of the loans obtained by Adolph Segal at the instigation of the American Company or its agents. The American company has issued a statement in which it calls the claims set up as "farcical."—V. 84, p. 106.

Pittsburgh Coal Co.—Car Trusts Offered.—William Salomon & Co. offer at 94 and interest, yielding 6%, free of tax to residents of Pennsylvania, a small block of 4½% equipment gold notes.

Description of Issue.—Original amount authorized, $1,484,000; balance remaining outstanding, $1,258,000; denomination $1,000, in coupon form; interest payable May 1 and Nov. 1; dated May 1 1905. Principal matures in semi-annual installments of $74,000 on May 1 and Nov. 1 of each year, the final installment being payable May 1 1915. The notes were issued or the purchase of 2,000 hopper-bottom steel coal cars costing $1,750,000. Of the authorized amount, $1,039,000 were issued directly by the Pittsburgh Coal Co. and $445,000 by its subsidiary corporation, the Monongahela River Consolidated Coal & Coke Co., with the principal and interest guaranteed by the Pittsburgh Coal Co. Title to all the equipment remains with the St. Louis Union Trust Co., St. Louis, trustee, until all notes are paid.

New Chairman.—President M. H. Taylor has also been elected Chairman of the Board to succeed Francis L. Robbins.—V. 84, p. 389, 394.

Providence (R. I.) Gas Co.—Reduction in Price of Gas.—The company announces a reduction of 5 cents per 1,000 cubic feet of gas, to take effect April 1, the new price being $1 05, with a discount of 10 cents if bills are paid by the 10th of the month.

A discount of 5 cents per 1,000 to those using 1,000,000 to 5,000,000 feet will be made, 10 cents per 1,000 to those using 5,000,000 to 10,000,000 and 15 cents a thousand to those using 10,000,000 or more. The figures are based on the amount used in the calendar year and will be paid by check at the end of the year.—V. 83, p. 690.

Provident Loan Society of New York.—Option to Subscribe.—A circular, dated Feb. 23, signed by James Speyer, President, Mortimer L. Schiff, Secretary, and Otto T. Bannard, Treasurer, says in substance:

The constant growth shown in the report for 1906 (V. 84, p. 569) makes it necessary to provide additional funds. We have opened our Grand Street office with satisfactory results, and have contracted to purchase the north west corner of Fourth Ave. and 25th St., on which it is proposed to erect a central office building to provide for the Fourth Avenue loaning office and adequate quarters for the executive offices.

The board of trustees has therefore authorized an issue of $1,500,000 "certificates of contribution," thereby increasing the total amount to $3,000,000. The new certificates will entitle the holder to receive interest at not to exceed 6% per annum, from Dec. 31 1906, and will be identical in form with those now outstanding. This rate of interest has been paid regularly half-yearly since 1895 upon the outstanding certificates, in addition to which the society has accumulated a surplus (amounting Dec. 31 1906 to $416,266.—Ed.) The privilege to subscribe to the new issue at par and interest is reserved up to March 15 1907 to the present certificate-holders to the amount of their holdings, subscriptions to be paid 50% on April 1 1907 and 50% Oct. 1 1907, or, if preferred, in full on April 1 1907, or any time thereafter. Address subscriptions to Frank Tucker, Vice-President, 105 East 22d St.

If any of the new certificates are not subscribed for by present holders, the trustees will exercise their discretion in making allotments to other subscribers.—V. 84, p. 569.

Richmond (Ind.) Home Telephone Co.—Mortgage.—The company, incorporated in Indiana on Feb. 10 1899 with $400,000 authorized stock in $100 shares (outstanding amount $176,200), has made a mortgage to the Union Trust Co. of Indianapolis, as trustee, to secure an issue of $400,000 of 5% 30-year gold bonds dated Jan. 1 1907.

The bonds are subject to call after 1910 at 105. Denominations $100, $500 and $1,000 each. Interest payable at Merchants' Exchange National Bank, New York. Sinking fund 1% annually on the principal amount outstanding. Of the issue $170,000 is reserved to retire $161,300 6% bonds, dated July 1 1900, subject to call at 105 in 1910, most of which, it is thought, will be voluntarily surrendered shortly. President, A. C. Lindemuth; Secretary, James W. Moore; Treasurer, John M. Loutz.

Sloss-Sheffield Steel & Iron Co.—Directors Not Re-elected.—At the annual meeting the board was reduced from 15 to 12 by failure to re-elect Robert B. Van Cortlandt, Moses Taylor and W. G. Oakman. Messrs. Van Cortlandt and Taylor are directors of the Southern Steel Co., and it was thought undesirable for that reason to continue them on the board.

Syracuse Lighting Co.—Reduction of Rates.—The company having agreed to accept the reduction of rates in the price of gas and electricity recently ordered by the State Gas & Electricity Commission, the appeal from the order pending in the courts has been withdrawn. Compare V. 84, p. 512.

Turner, Day & Woolworth Handle Co., Louisville, Ky.—New Stock.—The company has increased its authorized stock from $667,800 to $1,000,000, part being 7% cumulative preferred.

Of the new stock, $132,200 is to be issued at present for extensions, improvements and expansion of business, making the total outstanding stock $800,000, consisting of $676,900 common and $123,100 preferred stock. No bonds. Compare V. 77, p. 2103.

Studebaker Brothers Manufacturing Co., South Bend, Ind.—Bonds Called.—The company has called for redemption on April 1, at 105 and interest, all of the outstanding $1,350,000 first mortgage 5% bonds, dated April 1 1903, at the First National Bank of Chicago. The retirement of the bonds was provided for by the sale last December of the new first mortgage bonds (total issue, $3,000,000). See bond offering in V. 83, p. 1596.

Underwood("Visible")Typewriter Co.—Favorable Decision.—The United States Circuit Court of Appeals in January last handed down a decision reversing the lower Court, holding that the device used in the Remington typewriter (manufactured by Wyckoff, Seamans & Benedict) known as the Gorin tabulator is an infringement of the Gathright patent (No. 436,916) for an automatic tabulator owned by the Underwood company by virtue of an assignment.

The Court holds that the Gathright device, while not the first to be constructed, was the first commercially successful tabulator for typewriters, and that the patent is therefore entitled to liberal interpretation and cannot be evaded by one who uses the elements of the combination claimed or equivalents thereof which accomplish the same results in substantially the same way.—V. 77, p. 352.

Union Typewriter Co.—Decision as to Tabulating Device.—See Underwood Typewriter above.—V. 82, p. 701.

United Box Board & Paper Co.—Bonds Sold.—The company has sold $405,000 treasury bonds at 80. The proceeds will net the company $324,000, to be applied toward the reduction of the floating debt, bringing the latter down to about $500,000. Compare V. 84, p. 343, 275, 107.—V. 84 p. 512, 453.

United Fruit Co.—Increased Dividend.—A quarterly dividend of 2% has been declared on the $17,995,000 stock, payable April 15 to holders of record March 30, increasing the dividend rate from 7% to 8% yearly. Dividend record:

Dividends—	Oct. 1899.	1900.	1901.	1902 to 1906.	1907.
Per cent	2½	10	8	7 yearly.	Jan., 1¾

United Metals Selling Co.—Dividend Increased and Made Quarterly.—The "Boston News Bureau" of March 14 says:

The United Metals Selling Co. has just declared a quarterly dividend of $7 50 per share, placing the stock upon a dividend basis of $30 per share per annum. Heretofore the company has declared an annual dividend in December and for the past few years this dividend has been $20 per share on a capital of $5,000,000. The stock is held by directors of the Amalgamated Copper Co. and their friends. It was issued at $100 per share, the par value. The United Metals Selling Co. is now distributing copper at the rate of nearly 700,000,000 lbs. per annum, for the distribution of which it receives a commission of 1½%.—V. 83, p. 1541.

United States Gypsum Co., Chicago.—Report.—For calendar year 1906:

Net earnings	$430,799	Balance, surplus	$245,035
Deduct for bond reserve	50,000	Previous surplus	945,610
Dividends on pref. (3¾%)	135,764	Total surplus	1,190,645

Capitalization Dec. 31 1906: Preferred 7% cumulative stock, $4,500,000, of which $3,627,300 outstanding and $872,700 in trust; common stock, $3,000,000, of which $2,249,600 outstanding and $750,400 in trust; bonds issued, $900,000, of which $661,500 in treasury; bills payable, bank, $210,000, and general, $151,775; accounts payable, $101,714 (accounts and bills receivable, $743,896).

Quarterly Dividends.—The directors are reported to have declared a dividend of 5% on the preferred stock, payable in quarterly installments during 1907. Distribution No. 1, paid early in 1906, was 1¾%; No. 2, paid in August, was 1%; No. 3, paid in November, 1%. Compare V. 83, p. 1095.

United States Independent Telephone Co., Rochester, N.Y.—Suit.—Attorney-General Jackson of New York State on Feb. 27 obtained from Justice Fitts in the Supreme Court at Albany, N. Y., a temporary injunction restraining the sale of the securities of the company on the ground that the control of the American Telephone & Telegraph Co. would be in violation of the Donnelly (State) Anti-Trust law. Hearings were begun before Joseph A. Lawson, as referee, on March 7, on which date President Fish of the American Company, who testified, acknowledged that the control was sought to give better and more effective service by combining the two plants. Compare V. 84, p. 343, 275.

United States Realty & Improvement Co.—Time for Conversion Extended.—The directors have voted to extend the time for the conversion of debenture bonds into stock (which was to have expired April 30 1907) until July 1 1908.

United States Steel Corporation.—Report.—See "Annual Reports" on a preceding page.

To Ratify Guaranty, &c.—At the annual meeting on April 15 the shareholders will vote on ratifying—

The guaranty by the United States Steel Corporation of the agreements made by the Great Western Mining Co., in the mining lease dated Jan. 2 1907, between the Great Western Mining Co., lessee, and certain mining land and iron companies in said lease named as lessors, and Louis W. Hill, James N. Hill, Walter J. Hill and Edward T. Nichols, as trustees for certain ore trust certificates, as set forth in the annual report. (See other pages of this issue and compare V. 83, p. 1261, 1290.—Ed.).—V. 84, p. 275, 268.

Utah Consolidated Mining Co.—Dividends.—A quarterly dividend of $1 25 per share (par $5) and an extra dividend of 25 cents have been declared, payable April 15 on the $1,500,000 stock. In Jan. 1907 a semi-annual dividend of $2 50 a share and 50 cents extra was paid. In 1906 two distributions of 2½% each were made. In 1905 the dividends aggregated 4½%.

Utica Home Telephone Co.—Increase of Stock.—The stockholders (by vote of two of the three voting trustees) on Feb. 26 ratified the increase in stock from $500,000 to $1,000,000.

The Independent Telephone Securities Co. of Rochester, which owns a large amount of the stock, on March 31 obtained from Justice Foote an injunction temporarily restraining the directors from issuing any of the stock.—V. 84, p. 395.

Vicksburg (Miss.) Water Works Co.—Purchase by City Demanded.—Manager M. O. Crumpler on Feb. 18 read a communication to the City Council claiming that when the city under date of Nov. 7 1905 requested the company to appoint an appraiser of the water works property, it exercised its option to purchase the same under the contract with Samuel R. Bullock & Co., dated Nov. 18 1886.

The company gives notice that if the city does not appoint an appraiser within a reasonable time the appraiser selected by the company will select another and these two will make the appraisement without the appointee of the city or application will be made to the Courts to appoint a third appraiser on behalf of the city. The company's notice states that "after you have once given us notice of your purchase and you subsequently find that some other parties are going to build competing works (Consumers' Water Co., V. 83, p. 381), you cannot rescind your contract of purchase for that or any other reason and we will insist upon your taking the property under the terms of the purchase." See V. 83, p. 384, 102.

Waltham Watch Co.—Increase of Stock.—The stockholders will vote March 20 on issuing the whole or part of the remaining $1,000,000 of the authorized $5,000,000 preferred stock, to be offered pro rata at par to present stockholders. The company, it is reported, intends this year to produce 1,000,000 watches, the largest number in its history. Last year, it is stated, 844,225 watches were turned out during the 289 days the factory was in operation.—V. 83, p. 1175.

Warwick Iron & Steel Co.—New Officers.—Geo. E. Schlegelmilch has been elected a director and Philip Doerr President of the National Security Bank of Philadelphia, Vice-President, to succeed Edward Bailey and W. S. Pilling, respectively, both of whom declined re-election.—V. 84 p. 343, 107.

Waukesha (Wis.) Water Co.—Status.—The company, which owns mineral water springs at Waukesha, Wis., has $3,000,000 authorized stock, of which half is preferred; par, $100. At last accounts $1,000,000 preferred and $500,000 common were in the treasury.

The stock was listed on the Pittsburgh Stock Exchange in October last Bonds, $2,900,000, of which $100,000 due Sept. 1 1910 and $2,800,000 Sept. 1 1945. To Oct. 1906 interest had been paid regularly on the bonds, There was no floating debt, but no dividends had been paid. The total surplus was $423,978.

Waukesha (Wis.) Water Works Co.—Sale to City—Bonds Called.—Notice is given that the city, having elected to purchase the water-works, the company will redeem at par and interest on May 15 all of the first mortgage 6% bonds at the office of the Columbia Avenue Trust Co., Philadelphia. See also Waukesha Water Co. above—V. 75, p. 294.

Western Telephone & Telegraph Co.—Report.—The results for the years ending Jan. 31 were:

(J. G.) White & Co.—Increase of Stock.—The stockholders on Feb. 15 authorized an increase of stock from $1,500,000, common and $1,500,000 6% cumulative preferred to $2,000,000 common and $3,000,000 preferred, to provide additional working capital. The $1,500,000 new preferred stock has been subscribed at par. None of the $500,000 additional common stock has been offered for sale.

The company has about $20,000,000 of uncompleted contracts on its books, the largest being that for construction and equipment of the Philippine Ry., involving about $11,000,000.—V. 78, p. 1913.

Wolverine Copper Mining Co.—Dividend Increase.—A dividend of $10 per share has been declared, payable April 1 to stockholders of record March 15, comparing with $9 paid in October last and $8 in April 1906. See V. 83, p. 499.

—W. E. R. Smith & Co., 20 Broad Street, this city, who are specialists in New Jersey securities, have prepared an attractive wall card showing all of the various outstanding stock and bond issues of the Public Service Corporation of New Jersey. It also indicates the relationship of each underlying company to the other companies in the system. The chart should prove useful to investors in New Jersey street railway and lighting securities.

—Hayden, Miller & Co. have issued the 1907 edition of the hand-book of Cleveland securities giving financial statistics of companies dealt in on the Cleveland Exchange.

—The attention of investors is called to the advertisement on another page of Eversz & Co., offering the first mortgage 6% timber reserve gold bonds of the Virginia Lumber Co. of Minnesota. A special circular giving full informaton will be sent on application.

Treasury Bonds Subject to Sale.

On December 31 1906 there were on hand in the treasury of the United States Steel Corporation, available for sale, various bonds of subsidiary companies of an aggregate par value of $4,947,000, a net increase of $2,108,000 over the amount so available at close of preceding year—$2,169,000 of bonds having been issued and $61,000 having been sold to trustees of sinking funds during the year. The foregoing bonds were issued by subsidiary companies to provide funds for construction and were purchased by the United States Steel Corporation, but, being held in its treasury as disposable assets, are not included in the schedule of outstanding bonds, nor in the assets of the organization as shown by the General Balance Sheet. The bonds on hand in the treasury December 31 1906 were as follows:

Chicago Lake Shore & Eastern Ry. Co., Federal Equipment Trust Bonds	$1,384,000
Chicago Lake Shore & Eastern Ry. Co., American Equipment Trust Bonds	935,000
Connellsville & Monongahela Ry. Co., First Mortgage Bonds	878,000
Monongahela Southern Ry. Co., First Mortgage Bonds	990,000
National Mining Co., National Equipment Trust Bonds	360,000
Youghiogheny Water Co., First Mortgage Bonds	400,000
	$4,947,000

There may also be issued at any time to cover capital expenditures made bonds at par as follows:

Union Steel Co., Mortgage and Collateral Trust Bonds	3,074,000
Duluth Missabe & Northern Ry. Co., General Mortgage Bonds	2,299,000
In addition the U. S. Steel Corporation has in its treasury, available for sale, its Ten-Sixty Year 5 per cent Bonds, which have been authorized and executed for account of capital expenditures made, of the par value of	30,000,000
Total of Capital Obligations authorized or created for capital expenditures made, and held in the treasury subject to sale, but not included in Assets as shown in the General Balance Sheet	$40,320,000

A detailed schedule of the various issues of bonds outstanding on December 31 1906, also of bonds held by Trustees of Sinking Funds, the interest on which is currently paid into the sinking funds, is given on page 34 of pamphlet.

From April 1 1901 to December 31 1906 the amount of bonds and mortgages paid and retired by all companies was as follows:

Bonds and Mortgages paid and retired with moneys from Depreciation Funds and Surplus Income	$10,673,108 45
Bonds purchased and retired with Bond Sinking Funds provided from net earnings	26,200,031 59
Total	$36,873,140 04
During the same period there were issued and sold by subsidiary companies bonds and mortgages for new property and construction work (including $6,456,727 79 by Union Steel Company to provide funds for part payment of cost of completing construction work at Donora and South Sharon, which was under way when capital stock of that company was acquired by U. S. Steel Corporation) to the sum of	$15,460,140 65
Bonds have also been issued by subsidiary companies for funding unsecured indebtedness and for working capital	914,795 00
	$16,374,935 65
There were also issued and sold during the period named (1901-1906) for account of construction and capital expenditures, U. S. Steel Corporation 10-60 Year 5 per cent bonds to the amount at par of	$20,000,000 00

PURCHASE MONEY OBLIGATIONS, BILLS PAYABLE AND SPECIAL DEPOSITS OR LOANS.

A net reduction of $3,855,954 53 was made during the year 1906 in the unsecured liabilities of the subsidiary companies of the above character, viz.:

	Outstanding Dec. 31 1906.	Outstanding Dec. 31 1905.	Decrease.
Purchase Money Obligations	$1,717,500 00	$2,943,369 36	$1,225,869 36
Special Deposits or Loans	1,077,292 29	936,159 48	Inc. 141,132 81

Since April 1 1901 there has been paid off an aggregate amount of liabilities of the above character of $42,514,263 77. There were issued during the same period Purchase Obligations, in connection with the acquirement of additional fixed property and assets, to the amount of $3,231,250 00. Of the total amount paid off as aforesaid, the sum of $10,250,277 42 represents moneys originally borrowed by subsidiary companies, or received, and used as working capital; the balance, $32,263,986 35, represents specific obligations originally incurred for the acquirement of property, or for moneys used for the purchase of property or the discharge of capital liabilities.

VOLUME OF BUSINESS.

The volume of business done by all companies during the year, as represented by their combined gross sales and earnings, equaled the sum of $696,756,926 01.

This amount represents the aggregate gross value of the commercial transactions conducted by the respective companies, and includes sales made between the subsidiary companies and the gross receipts of the transportation companies for services rendered both to subsidiary companies and to the public.

The net earnings for the year resulting from the above gross business represent the combined profits accruing to the several corporate interests on the respective sales and services rendered, each of which is in itself a complete commercial transaction.

PRODUCTION.

The production of the several properties for the year, in comparison with the results for the fiscal year of 1905, was as follows:

INVENTORIES.

At December 31 1906 the book valuation of the inventories of all properties equaled $119,897,467, an increase in comparison with December 31 1905 of $6,509,470. This increase is represented entirely in the valuations of ores, raw materials and manufacturing and operating supplies on hand. The large volume of business conducted by the subsidiary companies required increased quantities of operating supplies, and prices of the same are somewhat higher than at close of preceding year. Semi-finished products for further conversion and finished products on hand show decreases.

As in previous years, Inventories were taken on the basis of actual purchase or production cost of materials to the respective companies holding the same, unless such cost was above the market value on December 31 1906, in which case the market price was used. Inventory valuations are believed to be conservative. The aggregate inventory valuation of all raw, partly finished and finished materials produced within the organization is very much below the market price on December 31 1906. Inventories, however, include the profits on materials embraced in inventories which have been purchased by one subsidiary company from another; but, as shown by the General Balance Sheet, such profits are segregated and carried in a specific surplus account, and will not be included in the reported earnings of the entire organization until such profits shall have been converted into cash or a cash asset to the organization. The specific surplus account referred to is, therefore, practically a guaranty fund for these profits so locked up in inventories, pending realization in cash.

CAPITAL EXPENDITURES.

The expenditures made by all companies during the year, and properly chargeable to capital account, for the acquisition of additional property and for construction, less credits for property sold, equaled the sum of $32,155,146 46. These expenditures comprehend, as stated in the certificate of the chartered accountants (page 30 of pamphlet), only actual additions and extensions to the plants and properties. The funds for the payment of the above total have been provided from the following sources, viz.:

From Bonds, Mortgages and Purchase Obligations issued and disposed of during the year	$1,943,068 23
From Depreciation and Sinking Funds appropriated for payment of expenditures included therein	679,125 83
From General Construction Fund appropriated from surplus net income	21,275,216 62
From Special Construction Fund appropriated from surplus net income for account Gary, Indiana, Plant	4,632,202 11
And the balance has been advanced from the general surp. account as an investment thereof in Property Account	3,625,533 67
	$32,155,146 46
The capital expenditures are classified by property groups as follows:
Gary, Indiana, Plant and City of Gary	$4,720,158 91
All Other Manufacturing Properties	12,895,065 72
Coal and Coke Properties	1,089,379 23
Iron Ore Properties	3,878,204 71
Transportation Properties	9,227,466 39
Miscellaneous Properties	344,781 47
Total for the year 1906	$32,155,146 46
Amount expended for additional property and construction from April 1 1901 to Jan. 1 1906	106,938,891 03
Making a grand total expended to Jan. 1 1907 of	$139,094,037 49

Reference is made to statement on following page, showing the sources from which were provided the funds for payment of the above total of capital expenditures since April 1 1901; also for the payments made since same date of capital liabilities (bonds, mortgages and purchase obligations), together with the disposition made in the account of the organization of the [illegible] payments named.

SUMMARY OF EXPENDITURES FOR ADDITIONAL PROPERTY AND CONSTRUCTION AND FOR PAYMENT OF CAPITAL LIABILITIES.

From April 1 1901 to Dec. 31 1906.

The following is a summary of the payments which have been made by all companies since April 1 1901 (the date of organization of U. S. Steel Corporation) for the above-named purposes, viz.:

For Additional Property and Construction	$139,091,037 49
For Bonds and Mortgages discharged, exclusive of bonds redeemed with Sinking Fund moneys	10,673,108 45
For Bonds redeemed with Bond Sinking Funds	26,200,031 59
For Purchase Money Obligations paid off, originally issued for acquirement of property	32,263,986 35

Of the foregoing total expenditures and payments there have been financed by the issue and sale of securities the following amounts, viz.:

By U. S. Steel Corp. 10-60 Year 5% Bonds	$20,000,000 00
By Union Steel Co. Mortgage and Collateral Trust Bonds issued and sold for account of construction expenditures on that company's properties made since Dec. 1 1902	6,456,727 79
By Bonds and Mortgages of sundry subsidiary companies	9,003,412 86
By Purchase Money Obligations issued	3,126,214 45
		38,586,355 10
Balance of expenditures		$169,644,808 78

This balance of capital expenditures has been paid with funds derived from the following sources, to wit:

Bonds paid from Bond Sinking Funds set aside from net earnings, and the interest accretions thereon	$26,200,031 59

Expenditures paid from bond sinking, depreciation and improvement funds, and from surplus net income, and formally written off thereto by authority of the Board of Directors, the Property Account being correspondingly reduced, viz.:

Expended for	Paid from Sinking Depreciation and Improvem't Funds.	Paid from Surplus Net Income.
Additional Property and Coustruction	$18,403,559 25	$57,095,555 21
Payment of Capital Liabilities	7,923,398 21	15,006,951 91
	$26,326,957 46	$72,102,507 12	98,429,464 58
Total of payments made from Funds and Surplus Net Income and charged off thereto			$124,629,496 17
And the remainder of the outlays has been paid from the capital surplus at date of organization and the balance of accumulated surplus net income of the U. S. Steel Corp. and the Subsidiary Companies as shown at Dec. 31 1906			45,015,312 61
Total			$169,644,808 78

The foregoing balance of $45,015,312 61 paid from the surplus as at December 31 1906 represents an investment of that amount of said surplus in outlays for capital expenditures and carried in Property Investment Account as follows:

Capital expenditures made, against which there may be issued and sold Treasury bonds as follows:

(a) The $30,000,000 of U. S. Steel Corporation 10-60 Year 5% Bonds, which have been executed and certified and are now held in the Treasury of the Corporation, being the residue of the $50,000,000 of the said bouds which may be issued and sold as authorized by the stockholders May 19 1902	$30,000,000 00
(b) Sundry subsidiary companies' bonds authorized aud created to cover capital expenditures made and which are on hand unsold in Treasury of the U. S. Steel Corporation, as see page 632	4,947,000 00
(c) Union Steel Co.'s Mortgage and Collateral Trust Bonds and D. M. & N. Ry. Co.'s General Mortgage Bonds, which have been authorized and may be issued at the option of those companies to reimburse them for outlays for new property and construction	5,373,000 00
Capital expenditures made by sundry subsidiary companies to finance which bonds of said companies are to be authorized and created	779,918 58
Investment in iron ore and coal properties, to be repaid from future depreciation funds	2,881,425 27
Part cost of additional real estate and plant, which will be repaid from proceeds of detached real estate when disposed of	485,609 01
Sundry miscellaneous construction accounts	548,359 75

EMPLOYEES AND PAY ROLLS.

The average number of employees in the service of all companies during the fiscal year of 1906, in comparison with the fiscal year of 1905, was as follows:

Employees of—	1906. Number.	1905. Number.
Manufacturing Properties	147,048	130,614
Coal and Coke Properties	21,929	20,883

Transportatiou Properties	16,638	14,524
Miscellaneous Properties	2,449	2,069
Total	202,457	180,158
Total annual salaries and wages	$147,765,540	$128,052,955

EMPLOYEES' SUBSCRIPTIONS TO PREFERRED STOCK.

The offer to the employees of this Corporation and of the subsidiary companies to subscribe for the Preferred Stock of the United States Steel Corporation was again renewed at the end of the year 1906 on substantially the same conditions as offered in previous years, except the price was fixed at $102 per share. Under the offer subscriptions were received from 14,169 employees for a total of 27,032 shares. At December 31 1906 there were 15,568 employees who had purchased preferred stock under offers made by the Corporation, and who on that date either held the certificates for the stock or were making monthly payments on account of the purchase price thereof.

BALANCE SHEET AND STATEMENTS OF ACCOUNTS AND STATISTICS.

As in previous years' reports, the statements of accounts, statistics, etc., presented in this report comprehend the combined results for the United States Steel Corporation and all the Subsidiary Companies. The Condensed Balance Sheet, page 636, exhibits the combined assets and liabilities of the United States Steel Corporation and of the several Subsidiary Companies, based on the valuations at which the stocks of the Subsidiary Companies and The Carnegie Company bonds were acquired by the Steel Corporation, but liabilities from one company to another are omitted from both liabilities and assets.

The accounts of the Steel Corporation and of the Subsidiary Companies for the year 1906 have been audited by Price, Waterhouse & Co., the chartered accountants selected for this purpose by the stockholders at the annual meeting April 16 1906. The certificate of the chartered accountants is printed in full on page 30 of the pamphlet.

Beginning with January 1907 it has been concluded to make a slight change in the plan heretofore followed in compiling monthly earnings. As shown by published statements and reports, these earnings have heretofore represented the net receipts before deducting charges for various fund provisions. These fund provisions have included those regularly reserved for certain renewals at blast furnaces which are made only at infrequent periods, usually at intervals of from two to five years. While from the viewpoint of time they may, therefore, be considered as provisions for unusual replacement, still the nature of the renewals, it is thought, warrants the designation of such as "ordinary" instead of "extraordinary." Accordingly the charges for the funds in question will, commencing with 1907, be deducted before stating monthly earnings. The effect of this change will be to reduce by approximately $200,000 per month the earnings reported, as compared with the method heretofore observed, and to correspondingly reduce the charges shown as deductions from earnings for fund reservations. The balance of earnings after deducting fund reserves will not be changed under the new method from results which would be shown under the plan heretofore followed.

GENERAL.

In common with practically all lines of industry throughout the United States, the business of the subsidiary companies during the year 1906 reached a new high level. As shown by the statistics in this report, all previous operating and production records were exceeded. The uses for steel have been increasing since the organization of the Corporation, and are very much greater now than they were when the Corporation was formed. The average prices received during the year for all steel products shipped to the domestic trade exceeded by 5 3-10 per cent the average received in 1905, and were about 8 per cent lower than the prices which prevailed in 1902. The condition of the trade has been such that prices of many of the commodities produced could have been advanced; and as wages have been largely increased and freight rates raised, it has been argued by some of the manufacturers of steel that prices of their manufactured commodities should be correspondingly advanced; but it has been decided by the management of this Corporation and of its subsidiary companies to make no changes in prices at this time. Effort has been made to obtain prices which would be sufficient to assure net earnings permitting of a maintenance of the physical condition of the properties at a modern standard of efficiency, returning a fair rate of interest on capital, and yielding a reasonable surplus as a reserve or for use in protecting and strengthening the properties, so as to retain a fair position in the trade. This policy, it is believed, has proved to be of substantial benefit to the interests of the Corporation.

The orders for steel products of all kinds, both for immediate and for future shipments, were received in large volume up to the close of the year. Since January 1 1907 the orders received have been somewhat less than they were during the months immediately preceding that date, but they are larger than they were during the same months in 1906, and have about equaled the productive capacity of the mills, notwithstanding the tonnage of unfilled orders on the books at close of the year equaled 8,489,718 tons of all kinds of manufactured steel and iron products, in comparison with 7,605,086 tons at the close of 1905.

The export business of the subsidiary companies continues to show material improvement. Export shipments during the year amounted to 1,079,319 tons of various products, an increase of 13 per cent over the tonnage shipped in the previous year, while the gross receipts exceeded those of 1905 by 28 per cent. Since the export business of all the subsidiary companies was concentrated, late in 1903, in the hands of a single selling organization, there has been steady and systematic development in all foreign markets where conditions are such as to permit of the sale of products without excessive reductions in price and upon safe terms. The aim has been to build up a permanent and continuous export trade with a view to providing markets which at all times may be relied upon to absorb a fair proportion of the total production, rather than to sell material in foreign countries only at times when the domestic market is unable to take the entire output of the mills. In pursuance of this policy, better prices have been secured for material exported than would have been possible had the business been of an intermittent character and offerings in foreign markets made only at times when accumulated stocks or a scarcity of domestic orders would have rendered export sales especially desirable. During the past year the demand throughout the world for steel products has been exceptionally strong, most of the foreign mills having been fully occupied, and in many cases sold far ahead of their capacity. In many important lines the prices realized in 1906 were equal to those ruling in the domestic market, while for all products they were considerably higher than in previous years. The collateral advantages accruing to the manufacturer and consumer, both from the continuous and the permanent maintenance of a substantial export trade, are important.

The expenditures made by subsidiary companies during the year for additional property, new construction, improvements and extraordinary replacements, aggregated, exclusive of outlays for new plant in the Chicago District, the sum of $46,151,166 48. The several schedules printed in the report show the important additions and improvements covered by the foregoing outlay.

Since the organization of the Corporation there has been expended for additional property, new construction and extraordinary replacements the sum of $200,575,000. This does not include the cost at date of acquirement of the Union Steel and Clairton Steel properties. These outlays have greatly strengthened the properties, both in respect of increasing their productive and earning power, and in maintaining the properties at a high standard of efficiency. As an index of the extent to which the foregoing outlays have increased the earning power of the manufacturing properties since April 1 1901, by reason only of additional productive capacity, the following comparisons are given:

In Production of Products for Further Conversion—	Percentage of Increase in Capacity Jan. 1 1907, Compared with April 1 1901. Due to Purchase of Other Companies.	Due to Addit'ns & Improvem'ts Made.	Total Increase.

Contemporaneously with the enlargement of the manufacturing properties as above, the facilities of the iron ore, coke and coal and transportation companies have likewise been increased to supply the raw materials, and transportation of the same, required by the additional reduction and conversion capacity of the steel works.

In continuance of the established policy of expending moneys liberally for maintenance and necessary enlargement in order to maintain a position in the trade and to secure a pro rata share of the growing requirements of the country for steel products, large appropriations have been authorized for extensions and improvements. The amount unexpended on these appropriations at January 1 1907 (exclusive of the requirements for the new plant at Gary, Indiana, referred to below), equaled approximately $85,000,000. These appropriations cover a wide range of work in all departments. It is doubtful, however, if more than 70 per cent of the above aggregate will be expended in the year 1907.

In the annual report for 1905 reference was made to the decision to erect a large and modern steel plant in the Chicago District. The plant will be located at Gary, Lake County, Indiana. There have been organized the Indiana Steel Company, which will construct the steel plant, and also the Gary Land Company, which will own and improve the site for the city, and will construct a large number of dwellings and business buildings. It is proposed to sell improved and unimproved property in the city to residents at about cost plus a fair interest charge, but under such restrictions as to the uses to be made of the property as may be found to be fair and reasonable. During the year substantial progress was made in the construction work, both on the steel plant and the city; the expenditures, including payments made for real estate, amounted to $4,720,158 91. There has been acquired for use for plant purposes, for the City of Gary, and for railroad yards and terminals, about 7,500 acres of property, with a large frontage on the shore of Lake Michigan. The appropriations approved to this date for construction work at the steel plant comprehend eight blast furnaces, together with ore unloading and handling machinery, fifty-six O. H. Furnaces, Blooming and Rail Mill, various Finishing Mills, Central Power Plant, Foundries, Machine Shop and Equipment, Central Pumping Station and other accessory works; also the construction of harbor and docks. For the City of Gary the appropriations cover 381 Dwelling Houses, School and Hotel Buildings, Water Works, Sewerage System, Gas Works, Paving, Side-Walks, Grading, etc. The estimated amount yet to be expended on account of the foregoing approved work, and including payments to be made in 1907 for balance cost of real estate, is $40,000,000. On December 31 1906 there was reserved in Special Fund available for account of these expenditures a balance of $26,867,797 89. The general plans adopted include further additions and extensions which are very substantial, but the detailed plans are not yet fully developed.

On October 1 1906 the Universal Portland Cement Company, a subsidiary company, took over the business theretofore conducted by the Illinois Steel Company of the manufacture and sale of Portland cement. The new company has in operation in the Chicago District three cement plants, the output of which in 1906 equaled 2,076,000 barrels, being more than the entire production of the United States in 1896. The company has now under construction at Buffington, Indiana, a new plant, which will have a capacity of 2,000,000 barrels per annum, and at Universal, Pa., near Pittsburgh, a plant with a capacity of 1,500,000 barrels annually. It is expected that in the summer of 1907 both these plants will be completed and in operation. They will increase the company's capacity to 6,000,000 barrels per annum.

From time to time since the organization of the Corporation various additional iron ore properties have been acquired in the Lake Superior ore region. The tonnage of new ore thus obtained is very large. It is, however, doubtful if the quantity of new ore so obtained will prove to be sufficient to meet the constantly increasing demands upon the ore reserves made by the country's growing requirements for steel products. In each succeeding year it has become more difficult to acquire new ore properties geographically located so as to permit of the economical use of their ores at the furnaces of the subsidiary companies. Moreover, for such properties as occasionally could be obtained it has been found necessary to pay constantly increasing rates of royalty. In view of the foregoing and in order to safeguard its future requirements for ore, the Corporation, after extended negotiations and careful consideration by the officers and by the Finance Committee and Directors, made an arrangement (subject to authorization by the stockholders) for the lease on a royalty basis of the so-called Great Northern Railway ore properties, comprising the properties owned in fee by, or under lease to, the Great Northern Ry. Co., the Northern Pacific Ry. Co. and others. When concluded this lease is to be taken by the Great Western Mining Company, a subsidiary company of the United States Steel Corporation, and the performance of the obligations assumed by that lessee is to be guaranteed by the United States Steel Corporation. Under the proposed lease the royalty to be paid for the ore is $1 65 per gross ton, for ore containing 59 per cent of metallic iron, delivered in docks at head of Lake Superior. If ore grades higher or lower than 59 per cent in metallic iron, the royalty will be increased or decreased according to a fixed scale. The above royalty of $1 65 per ton is for ore to be shipped in 1907, and the base price increases at the rate of 3 4-10 cents per ton each succeeding year. The minimum to be mined and shipped is 750,000 tons in 1907 and increases by 750,000 tons per year until it reaches 8,250,000 tons, and thereafter the annual minimum continues on that basis. The lease will continue until the ore is exhausted unless on January 1 1915 the lease is terminated, under the option reserved to the said lessee. The ore is to be mined by the lessee. As several Directors of the Corporation are directly or indirectly interested in the companies which own or control these ore properties, the transaction will be submitted to the stockholders and proxies at the annual meeting. The form of lease and the proceedings relating thereto may be examined by stockholders at the offices of the Corporation if desired.

An increase was made on January 1 1907 (on March 1 1907 in case of the Coke Companies) in the wages and salaries of approximately 131,000 employees, or 65 per cent of the total employees of all companies. The advance applied to practically all employees who are paid on basis of day rates, and to a considerable number of those paid on basis of a monthly salary. The average rate of increase in wages and salaries of the employees affected equaled 6 6-10 per cent. The amount of increase in the total pay-roll attributable to above advance will be approximately $6,000,000 per annum. The average rate of pay received by all employees is now the highest paid at any time since the organization of the Corporation.

Following the practice heretofore adopted, a substantial amount was distributed as a bonus for the year 1906 to a large number of employees who merited the same. Included in the distribution were about 21,000 shares of common stock which were previously purchased in the market for that purpose and which will not be delivered until the expiration of three years and the compliance with various conditions named for the protection of the companies. From the bonus fund to be ascertained at the end of 1907 in the usual way it is proposed to establish a separate fund to be known as the Pension Fund and to be used for pension purposes.

The organizations of the different companies were never better than they are at the present time. They are harmonious and efficient.

During the year there were held thirteen meetings of Directors and fifty-seven meetings of the Finance Committee. Special committees of the Finance Committee were also frequently appointed to consider in detail and to report conclusions in regard to matters of importance. The action of the Finance Committee from time to time is recorded and reported to the Board of Directors at their meetings.

The Board takes pleasure in acknowledging the loyal and efficient services of the officers and employees of the Corporation and the several subsidiary companies.

By order of the Board of Directors.

ELBERT H. GARY, Chairman.
WILLIAM E. COREY, President.

The Commercial Times.

Friday Night, March 15 1907.

General trade has seemingly, for the most part, remained unaffected by the great decline at the Stock Exchange. Mills and factories continue busy and general trade remains brisk. For several years the outside public has not been speculating on a large scale at any of the Exchanges, so that the violent declines in securities and the accompanying sharp rise in money rates have had less effect than would otherwise have been the case.

LARD on the spot has declined, owing to a decline in future prices and the dulness of trade. Receipts of live hogs have been larger at times and stocks of products have increased. City 9¼c. and Western 9.30@9.40c. Refined lard has been quiet with Continent lower and other grades unchanged. Refined Continent 9.80c., South America 11c. and Brazil in kegs 12@12¼c. The market for lard futures at the West has given way, owing to heavy liquidation, some increase in the receipts of hogs and bearish pressure. The break in the stock market has also had a depressing influence. Selling on stop-loss orders has occurred at times.

DAILY CLOSING PRICES OF LARD FUTURES IN CHICAGO.

	Sat.	Mon.	Tues.	Wed.	Thurs.	Fri.
May delivery	9.52½	9.40	9.25	9.15	9.17½	9.07½
July delivery	9.60	9.45	9.30	9.22½	9.22½	9.15
September delivery	9.65	9.55	9.40	9.30	9.32½	9.25

PORK on the spot has ruled quiet and steady. The buying has been confined to jobbers. Mess $18@$18 75, clear $18@$19 50 and family $20@$20 50. Cut meats have been dull and rather easy in tone but without noteworthy change in quotations. Pickled shoulders 9@9¼c., pickled hams 12@12½c. and pickled bellies, 14@10 lbs., 10¾@11¼c. Tallow has been steady with a moderate demand; City 6¾c. Stearines have been dull and steady; oleo 10¼c. and lard 10½c. Butter quiet and easier; supplies have increased; creamery extras 30½@31c. Cheese in fair demand and steady; state factory, fancy, 15c. Eggs have declined; supplies have continued to increase. Western firsts 17¼@17½c.

OIL.—Cottonseed has been dull and irregular; summer has declined while winter has ruled strong. Prime summer yellow 47@48c. and prime winter yellow 54@55c. Linseed has been steady. Trade has been quiet but an increased demand is expected in the near future, owing to milder weather; City, raw, American seed, 42@43c.; boiled 43@44c., Calcutta 70c. Lard has been firm despite the break in the raw. Trade has been dull. Prime 78@80c. and No. 1 extra 58@60c. Olive has been quiet and steady; yellow 75@80c., green 70@80c. Cocoanut has been in moderate demand and firm. Cochin 10¾c. and Ceylon 10c. Peanut has been quiet and steady; yellow 50@60c. Cod has been fairly active and firm; domestic 36@37c. and Newfoundland 38@40c.

COFFEE on the spot has been less active and easier. Rio No. 7, 7⅛@7¼c., and Santos No. 4, 8⅜c. West India growths have been in moderate demand and steady. Fair to good Cucuta 8½@9c. The market for future contracts has been quiet and irregular. In the main the tone has been easier, largely because of the violent decline at the Stock Exchange. Wall Street interests have been sellers and there has been little disposition to buy except to cover shorts. Bears have been favored by the dulness of the spot trade and also by the narrowness of the speculation. Roasters have bought to some extent at times but the generality of the trade have shown more inclination to sell than to buy.

The closing prices were as follows:

March	6.00c.	July	5.80c.	November	5.80c.
April	6.00c.	August	5.80c.	December	5.85c.
May	6.00c.	September	5.80c.	January	5.85c.
June	5.85c.	October	5.80c.	February	5.90c.

SUGAR.—Raw has been more active and in the main firm. Centrifugal, 96-degrees test, 3½c.; muscovado, 89-degrees test, 3c., and molasses, 89-degrees test, 2¾c. Refined has been dull so far as new business is concerned, but there have been fairly large withdrawals on old contracts. Granulated 4.60c. Spices have been firm with a fair jobbing demand. Teas fairly active and steady. Hops quiet and steady.

PETROLEUM has advanced with the demand active and supplies moderate. Refined barrels, 8c.; bulk 4.75c. and cases 10.50c. Naphtha has been fairly active and steady; 73@76 degrees 13c. in 100-gallon drums. Gasoline has been active and firm; 86 degrees 21c. in 100-gallon drums. Spirits of turpentine has advanced to 77½@78c. with trade active and supplies moderate. Rosin has been in moderate demand and steady. Common to good strained $4 15.

TOBACCO.—The demand for domestic leaf has been fairly active. Prices have ruled firm and stocks of old tobacco held by packers and dealers are said to be unusually small. At the opening inscription at Amsterdam high prices prevailed for Sumatra. American interests it is understood, purchased about 3,500 bales there at prices higher than those paid at the opening inscription last year. The second inscription was in progress to-day.

COPPER has been more active and firmer; lake 25¾@26c. and electrolytic 25½@25¾c. Lead has been quiet and steady at 6½@6.30c. Spelter has been quiet and steady at 6.85@6.90c. Tin has been quiet and easy; Straits 42.05c. Iron has been steady and less active. No. 1 Northern $23 20@$25 20, No. 2 Southern $22 75@$24 50.

COTTON.

Friday Night, March 15 1907.

THE MOVEMENT OF THE CROP as indicated by our telegrams from the South to-night is given below. For the week ending this evening the total receipts have reached 169,294 bales, against 171,823 bales last week and 190,892 bales the previous week, making the total receipts since the 1st of September 1906, 8,515,382 bales, against 6,441,127 bales for the same period of 1905-06, showing an increase since Sept. 1 1906 of 2,074,255 bales.

Speculation in cotton for future delivery has been on a fair scale at lower prices, mainly owing to the heavy decline at the Stock Exchange and continued large receipts. The decline in the stock market has been accompanied by heavy liquidation in cotton not only by Wall Street houses but by others. The moral effect, too has been prejudicial to bull markets. To make matters worse, the crop movement has continued on a scale which has greatly disappointed bulls and at the same time has encouraged bears to increase their estimates of the yield. Leading bull interests, finding the outlook for the immediate future seemingly anything but favorable, have to all appearance liquidated most if not all of their holdings. Coincident with the decline in prices there has been aggressive selling for short account, and selling on stop orders has been at times something of a feature. Buying for Liverpool to liquidate straddles has been less active. The only buying has been covering of shorts, occasional support given by bull interests and purchases by leading spot people. Some reports have been in circulation that the spot markets at the South were here and there somewhat easier and of some slackening of the demand from the mills. On the whole, however, the demand for the actual cotton has apparently continued good on both sides of the water. Liverpool's spot sales have been on a liberal scale. And as regards prices, it is worthy of remark that an easing of quotations here and there has before this taken place during the season, while yet there was noteworthy firmness among holders of the actual cotton. Apparently the spinners' takings are still very large, pointing to an unusual consumption for the season. Trade reports, too, have been in the main of a favorable character. Indeed the rather singular spectacle is witnessed of a striking divergence between the condition of the legitimate trade and that of the speculation. While the business in actual cotton and cotton goods has been on a scale so large as to excite remark, the speculation in cotton is and has been during the present season for the most part neglected. In other words, the speculation has been and continues to be largely of a purely professional character, despite what seems to be an unparalleled consumption. The explanation of this may be found partly in the very general disinclination on the part of the outside public to speculate in anything, even though general trade in this country is on a scale rarely witnessed. In cotton the big receipts have been a serious deterrent. These are clearly apparent, while the large consumption appears less so to most. To-day prices were higher, owing to an advance at the Stock Exchange, higher Liverpool prices, covering of shorts, buying by spot interests and bull support. Receipts were still large, however, and the movement into sight for the week was so heavy as to foster bearish sentiment in many quarters. Cotton on the spot has been quiet. Middling uplands closed at 11.25c., a decline for the week of 20 points.

The rates on and off middling, as established Nov. 21 1906 by the Revision Committee, at which grades other than middling may be delivered on contract, are as follows:

WEATHER REPORTS BY TELEGRAPH.—Telegraphic reports to us this evening from the South denote that, on the whole, the weather has been favorable during the week. While rain has fallen in most localities, the precipitation has been light as a rule and quite generally preparations for the next crop of cotton have progressed well, with planting under way in earlier sections and about starting in some other districts. The movement of cotton to market continues on a free scale for the season.

Galveston, Texas.—Preparations for the crop are making favorable progress throughout the State. We have had rain on one day of the week, the rainfall reaching four hundredths of an inch. The thermometer has averaged 72, the highest being 76 and the lowest 68.

Abilene, Texas.—There has been rain on one day during the week, to the extent of eighty-four hundredths of an inch. The thermometer has averaged 59, ranging from 36 to 82.

Fort Worth, Texas.—We have had rain on two days during the week, the precipitation reaching thirty-two hundredths of an inch. The thermometer has ranged from 38 to 84, averaging 61.

Corpus Christi, Texas.—There has been a trace of rain on one day the past week. Average thermometer 60, highest 78, lowest 42.

Palestine, Texas.—There has been rain on two days during the week, the rainfall being fourteen hundredths of an inch. The thermometer has averaged 59, the highest being 80 and the lowest 38.

San Antonio, Texas.—There has been rain on one day during the week, the precipitation being two hundredths of an inch. The thermometer has averaged 65, ranging from 42 to 88.

Taylor, Texas.—We have had rain on two days during the week, the rainfall being twenty-eight hundredths of an inch. The thermometer has ranged from 38 to 84, averaging 61.

New Orleans, Louisiana.—We have had a rainfall of thirty-two hundredths of an inch during the week, on two days. Average thermometer 71.

Shreveport, Louisiana.—We have had rain on three days of the week, the rainfall reaching one inch and forty-nine hundredths. The thermometer has averaged 62, the highest being 82 and the lowest 43.

Vicksburg, Mississippi.—Rain has fallen on three days of the week, the precipitation reaching fifty-three hundredths of an inch. Average thermometer 67, highest 82, lowest 43.

Helena, Arkansas.—Rains have interfered with farm work. There have been thunderstorms on two days during the week, the rainfall being three inches. The thermometer has averaged 56, the highest being 79 and the lowest 40.

Memphis, Tennessee.—Farming operations are active. There has been rain on three days during the week, to the extent of one inch and eighty-seven hundredths. The thermometer has ranged from 39 to 78.2, averaging 59.

Mobile, Alabama.—Favorable weather in the interior has enabled good progress to be made with farm work. Shipping of fertilizers is actively going on by river, but there is some congestion on rail routes. It has rained on two days of the week, the precipitation being eighty-one hundredths of an inch. Thermometer has averaged 69, the highest being 80 and the lowest 51.

Montgomery, Alabama.—Farm work is making good progress and is well up so far. It has rained on one day of the week, the precipitation being forty hundredths of an inch. The thermometer has averaged 66, ranging from 45 to 83.

Madison, Florida.—We have had rain on one day of the week. Average thermometer 65, highest 76, lowest 50.

Augusta, Georgia.—Weather warm. Planting will soon start in the southern section of the State. It has rained on one day of the week, the precipitation being sixty-four hundredths of an inch. Thermometer has averaged 55, the highest being 83 and the lowest 41.

Savannah, Georgia.—It has been dry all the week. The thermometer has averaged 66, ranging from 50 to 79.

Charleston, South Carolina.—We have had only a trace of rain during the week. The thermometer has ranged from 48 to 81, averaging 63.

Greenwood, South Carolina.—We have had no rain the past week. Average thermometer 62, highest 65, lowest 52.

Statesburg, South Carolina.—Winds have been high and drying for several days past. We have had rain on one day of the week, the rainfall reaching seven hundredths of an inch. The thermometer has averaged 61, the highest being 84 and the lowest 40.

Charlotte, North Carolina.—There has been rain on two days during the week, to the extent of eighty-eight hundredths of an inch. The thermometer has averaged 54, ranging from 36 to 76.

EUROPEAN COTTON CONSUMPTION TO MARCH 1.

—By cable to-day we have Mr. Ellison's cotton figures brought down to March 1. We give also revised totals for last year that comparison may be made. The spinners' takings in actual bales and pounds have been as follows:

Oct. 1 to March 1.	Great Britain.	Continent.	Total.
For 1906-07.
Takings by spinners...bales	1,960,000	2,826,000	4,786,000
Average weight of bales..lbs.	506	486	494.2
Takings in pounds	991,760,000	1,373,436,000	2,365,196,000
For 1905-06.
Takings by spinners...bales	1,754,000	2,277,000	4,031,000
Takings in pounds	873,192,000	1,099,791,000	1,972,983,000

According to the above, the average weight of the deliveries in Great Britain is 506 pounds per bale this season, against 498 pounds during the same time last season. The Continental deliveries average 486 pounds, against 483 pounds last year, and for the whole of Europe the deliveries average 494 2 pounds per bale, against 489 5 pounds last season. Our dispatch also gives the full movement for this year and last year in bales of 500 pounds.

BREADSTUFFS.

Friday, March 15 1907.

Prices for wheat flour have been about stationary as a rule during the week. The trading has been on a very restricted scale, the decline in wheat causing buyers in many cases to hold aloof from the market altogether in the hope of securing supplies at lower prices later on. At some points in the Southwest a rather better demand has been reported, but spring-wheat millers have continued to report small sales. Export trade has been at a standstill, and the clearances from the seaboard have been small. Corn meal and rye flour have been quiet and steady.

Wheat, although stronger early in the week, mainly owing to reports of damage in the Ohio Valley and Texas, has latterly been more under the influence of such unfavorable factors as the sharp break in the stock market, the dulness of the export trade, large receipts at the Northwest and liquidation. It is true that on Thursday quite a good export business was done, but, taking the week as a whole, the foreign trade has been dull. The clearances, too, have been light. Moreover, the Government report of March 11 in regard to the quantity of wheat still held by farmers put it at 260,-644,000 bushels, or the largest for years past, comparing with 158,403,000 bushels at the same time last year, and 111,000,000 in 1905. The percentage of the crop held was given as 28.1%, which is the largest for some years past. In most years at the date mentioned it has been roughly from 20 to 23%. The world's exports have also been large, and as regards the reports of damage to the crop they have latterly been less frequent, and in some cases denials have been received that any material injury had been done either by winter killing or the depredations of green bugs. Furthermore, there has been an impression that large bull interests were liquidating their holdings. Some damage has been reported to the East Indian crop by frost, rain and hail, but it had no effect on the market. European quotations, indeed, have latterly shown a downward tendency, and have at no time been influenced greatly by reports of crop damage from this side. To-day prices declined on liquidation, bearish pressure, large Argentine shipments and a lack of support, though early prices were firm on covering and the stronger stock market. The export demand, however, was dull, and leading bulls were supposed to have sold.

Indian corn futures have been mainly nominal and steady so far as the local market is concerned, but at Chicago the tendency of prices has been downward, owing to liquidation by leading bulls there and a lack of support. The cash demand, moreover, has been of small proportions at declining prices. The receipts, too, have been on a liberal scale and stocks at Chicago are increasing. The Government report on farm reserves was also a bearish factor. It stated them at 1,298,000,000 bushels, or 44.3% of the crop, being a new high record in this respect. The reserves a year ago were 190,000,000 bushels smaller than in the present season. To-day prices declined on long liquidation, hammering of the near months by pit traders, fine weather and dulness of the cash trade.

Oats for future delivery in the Western market have declined under liquidation, selling for short account and the depression in wheat and corn. The leading longs are believed to have sold out. The market has lacked support of late, except what came from the covering of shorts. The cash demand has been light, and this fact has favored the bears. The principal factor, however, has been the liquidation by the bull clique. Farm reserves were stated by the Government at 384,461,000 bushels, against 379,805,000 a year ago. To-day prices declined on selling for both long and short account and the depression in other cereals.

AGRICULTURAL DEPARTMENT'S REPORT ON CEREAL STOCKS.—The Agricultural Department's report on cereal stocks, &c., was issued on March 11 as follows:

The Crop Reporting Board of the Bureau of Statistics of the Department of Agriculture, from the reports of the correspondents and agents of the Bureau, finds the amount of wheat remaining in farmers' hands on March 1 to have been about 206,644,000 bushels, or 28.1% of last year's crop, as compared with 158,403,000 bushels, or 22.9%, of the crop of 1905 on hand on March 1 1906, and 20.1% of the crop of 1904 on hand at the corresponding date in 1905.

The corn in farmers' hands is estimated at about 1,298,000,000 bushels, or 44.3% of last year's crop, against 1,108,000,000 bushels, or 40.0%, of the crop of 1905 on hand on March 1 1906, and 38.7% of the crop of 1904 on hand at the corresponding date in 1905.

Of oats there are reported to be about 384,461,000 bushels, or 39.8% of last year's crop, still in farmers' hands, as compared with 379,805,000 bushels, or 30.8%, of the crop of 1905 on hand on March 1 1906, and 38.8% of the crop of 1904 on hand at the corresponding date in 1905.

The following table shows the percentages of last year's crops of wheat, corn and oats on hand on March 1 in the sixteen principal grain-producing States:

THE DRY GOODS TRADE.

New York, Friday Night, March 15 1907.

The dry goods market generally has continued remarkably strong during the past week, with increased activity and advances in certain lines and the price tendency still upward. The enormous shrinkage in stock market prices this week naturally attracted a great deal of attention throughout the trade, but caused no serious apprehension. Fundamental conditions in the textile trade are considered absolutely sound; the heavy general demand for merchandise from all parts of the country which has been experienced for months past and is still in evidence is legitimate rather than speculative, stocks in first and jobbers' hands have been reduced to a minimum and the productive capacity of mills is under contract for months ahead; in short, merchants see nothing in the financial situation to change their belief in the likelihood of trade continuing healthy and in full volume throughout this year at least. It is quite possible, however, that developments in Wall Street within the past few days may induce more conservatism in anticipating 1908 requirements. In the cotton goods division fancies and staples, both for spot and future delivery, show a strong upward tendency. Spot business is restricted by the scarcity of available supplies, but the higher prices have not checked forward buying. Similar conditions prevail in woolens, silks, linens and white goods, in which the scarcity is steadily becoming more pronounced. A feature of the week was the naming of a new price on Amoskeag ginghams, which have been at value for some time past. The print cloth market is strong, wide goods are in urgent request for first half delivery, and narrow goods have brought fractional advances for near-by delivery. Export trade with China is still quiet. . . .

DOMESTIC COTTON GOODS.—The exports of cotton goods from this port for the week ending Mareh 9 were 2,365 packages, valued at $189,469, their destination being to the points specified in the table below:

The value of these New York exports since Jan. 1 has been $3,164,768 in 1907, against $3,555,730 in 1906.

Buyers have been taking bleached goods and standard prints freely at the new price levels and in larger volume than earlier in the month; deliveries are still the most important consideration, and delays in shipments are causing much anxiety among commission merchants as well as buyers who are in urgent need of goods, for secondary markets are well cleaned up. Fruit of the Loom bleached cottons, 4-4, have been advanced to 11c. and 7-8 to 10c. a yard, these prices being subject to change without notice. Brown sheetings, both 3 and 4 yard, are also firmer. Large sales of print cloths have been made at the recent advances. Converters are searching for wide cloths for delivery the first half of the year, but supplies are scarce, and mills are running on wide construction are sold ahead into next fall. On narrow print cloths sellers have secured an advance of 1-16 to ⅛ for spot and near-by delivery; the near-by trading, however, has been small. Advances in colored cottons are expected in the near future. Leading lining houses are short of both plain and mercerized goods; prices are unusually high and constantly advancing, with mills so well sold ahead that they hesitate to take new business even at current levels. Many ticketed mercerized linings have been temporarily withdrawn. A top price of 7c. has been named on Amoskeag ginghams, and "at value" orders will be filled at that figure; so far no cancellations have been reported, and there is every indication that considerable difficulty will be experienced in getting the goods even at this price; ginghams generally are scarce for near-by delivery and well sold ahead. There has been no improvement in the export trade with China, but there has been a somewhat better inquiry from South America.

WOOLEN GOODS.—In men's wear duplicates on fall lines are reported fully up to the volume of previous seasons. Heavy orders have been booked on fancy woolens and manipulated cloths for the heavy-weight season, but early predictions of a large decrease in the total yardage of fancy worsteds have not been fulfilled, for the yardage now appears to be about equal to that of last year; medium and low grade worsteds, however, show a material falling off. Cloth jobbers in leading centres recently increased the number of styles of fancy worsteds they will carry for fall, and supplementary lines have been called for, mostly of woolens. A satisfactory volume of business has been done in dress goods for fall, and some mills are accepting orders for next year's delivery. Some mills have not yet completed spring deliveries. In knit goods jobbers are short of hosiery and underwear, both men's and women's, and all offerings at first hands for spring and summer delivery are quickly absorbed; buyers are paying sharp advances for early shipments.

FOREIGN DRY GOODS.—The demand for dress and household linens continues very strong, and importers have made little headway in efforts to get larger allotments of goods for this market; prices are held at top notch. Silk piece goods and silk ribbons show further improvement, and the outlook for fall trade is better than for any recent heavy-weight season. Dress goods are very active, urgent requests being made for delivery of merchandise for the light-weight season. Burlaps rule very strong.

Importations and Warehouse Withdrawals of Dry Goods.

The importations and warehouse withdrawals of dry goods at this port for the week ending March 9 1907 and since Jan. 1 1907, and for the corresponding periods of last year, are as follows:

STATE AND CITY DEPARTMENT.

MUNICIPAL BOND SALES IN FEBRUARY.

We present herewith our detailed list of the municipal bond issues put out during the month of February, which the crowded condition of our columns prevented our publishing at the usual time.

The review of the month's sales was given on page 584 of the "Chronicle" of March 9. Since then several belated February returns have been received changing the total for the month to $37,739,362. The number of municipalities issuing bonds was 132 and the number of separate issues 200. In the case of each loan reference is made to the page of the "Chronicle" where an account of the sale is given.

News Items.

Alabama.—Legislature Adjourns.—On March 6 the Legislature of this State adjourned after a session of thirty-seven days.

Appleton, Wis.—Bond Litigation.—We are informed that the Appleton Water Works Co. has commenced suit to prevent the issuance of the $320,000 4% coupon water-works bonds mentioned in V. 84, p. 462.

Chillicothe, Mo.—Injunction Asked.—An injunction has been applied for to prevent the delivery of the $100,000 5% water and light bonds awarded last month. The following regarding this litigation is taken from the "St. Louis Globe-Democrat."

Chillicothe, Mo., March 6.—A suit was filed here to day by the Chillicothe water and light companies asking an injunction restraining the City Council from proceeding further with the sale of its $100,000 water and light bonds, which were recently voted for the purpose of building a combined municipal water and light plant. Among the allegations made by the attorneys for the companies are that the issue will exceed the city's constitutional limit of indebtedness. A Chicago firm recently purchased the bonds at a good premium. The bonds were voted at an election held Jan. 26, following a decision by the Supreme Court that a similar issue voted a year ago was illegal because of an error in the manner of the election call. The last election was held according to the Supreme Court's direction. The argument for a temporary restraining order will be heard before Judge Trimble at Liberty to-morrow. See V. 84, p. 585.

Indiana.—Legislature Adjourns.—The Sixty-fifth General Assembly of Indiana adjourned March 11 1907.

Japan.—Bonds Over-Subscribed.—The Japanese 5% bonds of 1907 offered this week, it is stated, were over-subscribed. Subscriptions made in the 6% bonds will receive the full amount of subscriptions, but cash subscriptions will be cut down in the allotment of the new bonds.

King County (P. O. Seattle), Wash.—Bonds Illegal.—The State Supreme Court on March 1 declared invalid the $500,000 canal bonds voted on Sept. 12 1906, thus reversing the decision of the Superior Court, mention of which was made in V. 83, p. 1306. The "Seattle Post-Intelligencer" gives the following reasons as the basis of the Supreme Court's decision:

Because it was in violation of Section 7 of Article 8 of the Constitution, which says "no county, city, town or other municipal corporation shall hereafter give any money or property, or loan money or credit, to or in aid of any individual, association, company or corporation"; because the bonds in dispute were not issued for public purposes within the meaning of Section 6, Article 8, of the Constitution; because no specific legislative grant had clothed Boards of County Commissioners with power to use the county credit for any such purposes, and, finally, because the bonds were aid bonds, being in aid of the Federal Government or an individual, and hence clearly came within the constitutional inhibition.

North Carolina.—Legislature Adjourns.—The General Assembly of this State adjourned March 11 1907.

Oregon.—Legislature Adjourns.—The Legislature of 1907 concluded its work on Feb. 23 1907.

Pittsburgh-Allegheny, Pa.—Greater City Act Sustained.—The State Supreme Court, sitting at Philadelphia, on March 11 affirmed the decision of the Superior Court (see V. 83, p. 1306) upholding the validity of the Act under which the cities of Pittsburgh and Allegheny are to be consolidated to form a "Greater Pittsburgh."

Texas.—Constitutional Amendment.—The State Legislature is considering an amendment to the State Constitution so as to exempt from taxation all State, county, city and school district bonds.

Virginia-West Virginia.—Debt Settlement Suit Argued.—Argument on the demurrer of West Virginia to the suit instituted by the State of Virginia against the State of West Virginia, with a view of fixing the latter State's liability as regards the old Virginia debt, was completed in the Supreme Court of the United States on March 12. At the request of counsel the State of Virginia has been allowed five days in which to file a supplemental brief and the State of West Virginia an additional five days to file a supplemental brief if they so desire. It is stated that with the exception of filing these supplemental briefs the argument on the question of the demurrer has been closed.

Bond Proposals and Negotiations this week have been as follows:

Adams County (P. O. Decatur), Ind.—Bond Sale.—On Feb. 26 the three issues of 4½% 5 5-6-year (average) coupon road bonds, aggregating $12,000, and described in V. 84, p. 462, were awarded to the Old Adams County Bank of Decatur for $12,080—the price thus being 100.666.

Albert Lea, Freeborn County, Minn.—Bonds Not to Be Offered at Present.—We are advised that the $20,000 sewer bonds voted on Nov. 6 1906 (V. 83, p. 1245) cannot be put on the market until certain defects in the City Charter are cured.

Albuquerque, Bernalillo County, N. M.—Bond Election.—An election will be held April 16 to vote on the question of issuing $30,000 4½% city-building bonds.

Allegheny County (P. O. Pittsburgh), Pa.—Bond Offering.—Proposals will be received until 12 m. March 20 by the County Commissioners for $500,000 4% coupon road-improvement bonds. EXEMPT FROM TAXATION

Notice is hereby given that pursuant to the provisions of Chapter 147 of the Laws of 1903 and Chapter 302 of the Laws of 1906, sealed proposals will be received at the office of the State Comptroller, in the city of Albany, until Friday APRIL 5, 1907, AT TWELVE O'CLOCK NOON of that day, for the purchase in whole or in part of

to be issued by the people of the State of New York, in either registered or coupon form at the option of the purchaser, bearing interest at the rate of three per cent per annum from January 1, 1907, payable semi-annually on the first days of January and July of each year, and the principal payable on the first day of January in the year 1957. Principal and interest payable in gold coin of the United States of America, of the present standard of weight and fineness, at the Bank of the Manhattan Company in the City of New York.

Coupon bonds will be issued in the denomination of One Thousand Dollars and registered bonds in denominations of One Thousand, Five Thousand, Ten Thousand and Fifty Thousand Dollars.

A sinking fund is established by law for the extinguishment of the indebtedness created by the sale of the aforesaid bonds and for the payment of the interest thereon as the same become due.

The bonds are exempt from taxation.

No proposal will be accepted for less than the par value of the bonds nor unless accompanied by a deposit of money or by a certified check or bank draft upon a bank or trust company of the city of Albany or New York, payable to the order of the Comptroller of the State of New York, for at least two per cent of the par value of the bonds bid for.

All proposals, together with the security deposits, must be sealed and endorsed "Loan for Canal Improvement" and inclosed in a sealed envelope directed to the "Comptroller of the State of New York, Albany."

The successful bidder or bidders will be required to pay for the bonds, on the acceptance of the proposal, by deposit in the bank of the Manhattan Company in the City of New York to the credit of "Treasurer of the State of New York on account of the Canal Fund," of the amount of the award, together with premium and accrued interest from January 1, 1907, less the amount of the deposit of such successful bidder or bidders, which will be applied toward the payment for the bonds. All other deposits will be returned by mail to the respective bidders, within three days after the bonds have been awarded, unless different instructions to the Comptroller as to the return of the deposit are duly given.

The Comptroller reserves the right to reject any or all bids which are not in his opinion advantageous to the interests of the State.

AS AN INVESTMENT

There's nothing more safe, more sure, more profitable—in the telephone business—than the securities of an Independent telephone company operating our AUTOMATIC TELEPHONE SYSTEM—

BECAUSE it gives more service, better service, prompter service, more accurate service, than a manual system (and also an absolutely secret service, which no manual system can give), and

BECAUSE it costs less to operate, less to maintain, less to enlarge than a manual system, or

TO SUM IT ALL UP, the AUTOMATIC TELEPHONE SYSTEM produces a better telephone service, commanding a higher price, at less cost than inferior service can be produced for by a manual system.

THAT IS THE REASON WHY the AUTOMATIC TELEPHONE SYSTEM makes the securities of the company using it safe, stable and profitable, and why it has been adopted by the Independent telephone companies in the following cities:

The full details for the week covered by the above will be given next Saturday. We cannot furnish them to-day, clearings being made up by the clearing houses at noon on Saturday, and hence in the above the last day of the week has to be in all cases estimated, as we go to press Friday night.

We present below our usual detailed figures for the previous week, covering the returns for the period ending with Saturday noon, March 16, and the results for the corresponding week in 1906, 1905 and 1904 are also given. Contrasted with the week of 1906 the total for the whole country shows a gain of 28.0%. Outside of New York the increase over 1906 is 16.1%.

THE FINANCIAL SITUATION.

The material recoveries in security values Friday and Saturday of last week, after the fierce break of the previous Wednesday and Thursday, encouraged a hope of a possibly steady, though slow, restoration of confidence the current week. That hope was a mere hope, and, naturally enough, has not been fully satisfied; with Monday an unsettled, nervous state returned, the day's market at closing experiencing a wide and very considerable decline, though not losing all the gain the two previous days had recorded. Tuesday the market was likewise greatly mixed; there were both losses and gains, accompanied with more rumors of concealed financial weaknesses in brokerage firms than are often crowded into one day. Wednesday there were evidences of a better and stronger support back of values after reaching a certain limit in the decline, but with that exception affairs followed closely the course of the previous day. Somewhat the same was true of Thursday. Yesterday, however, liquidation became once more a decided feature the market declining generally and all day long, closing as a rule weak at the lowest. An announcement of influence made public at the close of the week was the declared curtailment by the Erie Railroad of expenditures which it had planned amounting to over $20,000,000.

As to what is to be the outcome of this tangle, and the process by which the involvment will be reached and digested, the public has a somewhat confused idea. Indeed, the most serious point of the dilemma is that the American people flatter themselves with false hopes and a total misconception of the seat of the disorganizing force to be treated. Its centre is in capital, the tap root of all growth in enterprise, whatever be the character and the nature of the undertaking proposed. One would think that truth would have gotten possession of all minds had they no other evidence than the recent scramble nature gave rise to and set agoing as the only method for relief awaiting the carrying trade; hence it was that our impecunious railroads with their short-time notes in hand made the whole circuit of Europe in the search for temporary loans—the only means that could carry them over the pressing exigency. That movement told the whole story of the universality of the disease and its great depth so far as the United States was concerned. Like the silver craze, it had taken firm hold of the arteries of trade. Were the disease simply a usual case of over-exertion, the feverishness might not unlikely be reduced and health renewed through moderate blood-letting, such as an ordinary liquidation provides. Something of that kind present optimism is looking for. Relief cannot be attained in that direction.

The public is misguided by those who exaggerate the qualities and recuperative force of America's industrial system. One side of the idea is sharply expressed in the statement "that England must have our cotton but even Englishmen themselves can dispense with consols." That statement is based on the further misconception that "after we have produced our annual billions of agricultural wealth we have the soil left, and we are enriched by our exports in a sense that is not true of England, whose trade profits are on a narrower margin and obtained by a more exhausting process." Those ideas are in very large part born of 10 and 11 cent cotton; they would never have been expressed, and still less found favor anywhere even if expressed, during the long number of dreary years that the staple ruled at 6, 7 and 8 cents a pound (the twelve years previous to 1902), when the larger body of planters were making nothing out of their crop and their plantations were becoming year by year less productive.

There have been since 1902 what we may call fortuitous factors connected with all our crop raising. For our breadstuffs the farmers have been getting large crops and remunerative prices; but besides that, abnormal additions to population have been received in those sections which have enabled the older settlers to sell out their farms at a large profit and go further west, or, where their holdings were large, sell a part of them and cultivate the rest. As a consequence of these various favoring circumstances—the profitableness of the large crops and high prices of the old lands at a time when buyers with cash in their pockets were becoming more and more numerous—those districts were flooded with riches beyond precedent, and not unlikely far beyond anything that will be experienced during the average of the coming five or ten years. Remember, it has not been crops alone that have made the picture so glowing. It has been highly fortuitous circumstances attendant upon abnormally large crops which found a ready market at high prices in Europe.

The notable feature of our foreign trade statement for February is the steady expansion of imports over the same month of the preceding year, which has latterly been in greater ratio than the outflow, leaving the balance of the merchandise trade in our favor for each period less than shown a year ago. Hence, although the aggregate of our merchandise exports for February this year was $159,548,646, which contrasts with $141,766,558 in 1906, the import movement was $123,185,209 in February against $104,232,879 last year, and only $68,833,941 in 1900.

Another peculiarity of this trade situation is that the excesses over corresponding periods, as exhibited in the detailed returns of both incoming and outgoing goods for recent months, arise through increases not in quantities but in values of identical classes of commodities—manufactures and materials for manufacture. While this is not at all strange as regards imports, it is quite surprising that the outward movement of foodstuffs should be on a declining scale, considering what full grain crops we raised in 1906. Of course this is in some measure due to the congestion which has prevailed in the railroad movement; and yet breadstuffs shipments have been largely running behind those for the preceding fiscal year each month since October, and it is worthy of note that the grain showing the most important measure of decrease is corn, the crop showing the greatest enlargement in production in 1906. In fact, the only product of agriculture (and that not a foodstuff) moving out more freely this year than last is cotton, which records an increase of 19½ million dollars for February and a gain of 62¾ million dollars for the eight months.

Were it not for this increased movement of cotton, our exports of principal products—i. e., breadstuffs, provisions, cotton and petroleum—would have aggregated 7 million dollars less in February 1907 than in 1906. But there is likely soon to be a check to this increased cotton movement. Cotton has gone abroad with unprecedented rapidity thus far this season, the excess exports to date having been approximately 1¾ million bales, whereas foreign spinners are estimated as requiring not over half a million bales more than last year from the United States. With cotton shipments, therefore, comparing unfavorably with 1906, and imports continuing full, a less satisfactory condition of our foreign trade is an imminent possibility unless breadstuffs move out with much greater freedom.

The final report on cotton ginning for the present season was issued by the Census Bureau on Wednesday. The report, which in effect purports to cover the actual yield from the planting of 1906, makes the production 13,290,677 running or standard bales, the total including an item of 155,704 bales yet to be ginned, as well as 321,160 bales linters from cotton-seed oil mills. This total agrees much more closely with average opinion than did the crop estimate of the Department of Agriculture, but is nevertheless likely to be exceeded when final statistics are compiled. Accepting, however, the above total as approximately correct, it seems to establish two important contentions. The first that the Government's total of acreage is much too low, and the second that, for this season at least, there will be no dearth of American cotton.

According to Mr. Ellison, who is looked upon as authority on the subject, the world needs 12,371,000 bales of American cotton to meet consumptive requirements this season, or full 900,000 bales less than the growth indicated by the Bureau. Should he find it necessary to again moderately increase his estimate as he has already done once, there would still be a considerable balance to augment the surplus as it stood at the close of 1905-06. The further fact that both India and Egypt, especially the former, promise to send to market a larger supply of cotton than in the previous season should in connection with this indicated outturn in America relieve any tension which may have been felt in cotton-manufacturing circles. It is yet too early to worry about what the next crop may be.

New York City is not alone in finding it difficult to float new bond issues. Both Philadelphia and St. Louis made offerings this week, and in neither case was the loan successful. It is to be said, however, that in these instances the rate of interest was lower than that of last month's New York City bond issues. The rate in this city is 4% and the city succeeded in disposing of nearly the whole of the $30,000,000 bonds for which subscriptions had been invited—selling altogether $27,586,000. For the 50-year issues the bids were in excess of the amount offered; it was only in the case of the 20-year issues and the assessment bonds that the bids fell short. The St. Louis offering this week comprised $3,000,000 20-year bonds bearing 3.65% interest. No bids whatever were received, which is not strange considering the experience of New York City with its 20-year-bonds bearing 4%. Philadelphia offered $5,000,000 30-year bonds with the rate of interest but 3½%. Only one bid, for $125,000, was received. No one needs to be advised as to the cause of the failure of these loan negotiations, for the reasons lie on the surface. Money is commanding such high rates that it is impossible to float even gilt-edged securities at the low figures offered by Philadelphia and St. Louis.

The explanation generally given for the dearness of money is that, owing to the prosperity and activity of all industrial interests, the need for new capital in reproductive enterprise is very great. There is certainly no lack of substantial foundation for this view of things, but must not the distrust which has been steadily developing in the financial world during the last fifteen or eighteen months also be considered a contributing cause? Lack of confidence is never reflected more unerringly than in the money market; and the seriousness of the situation in that regard is shown in the inability of the railroads for over a year past to finance their new capital needs. As a last resort they have been obliged within the last few weeks to have recourse once more to short-term obligations. These it has been found possible to place, but only because the rate of interest and the terms of issue were made very tempting. In other words, the borrowers have had to pay very stiff prices for the money they obtained. All this has merely tended further to disturb the equilibrium, for when note issues of this kind of very superior character can be obtained at prices that yield the buyer anywhere between 5 and 7% per annum, the effect can only be to contract still further the waning demand for municipal obligations yielding much smaller returns.

Mayor Weaver, of Philadelphia, we see, is very much disturbed at the city's inability to find takers for its 3½% bonds and has sent a message to the Councils containing some novel suggestions. He urges offering the loan for public subscription in very small amounts. He thinks Philadelphia citizens are patriotic enough to take up the city's loans if they are given the opportunity. Experience teaches, however, that in practical every-day affairs patriotism counts for very little where a matter of dollars and cents is involved. If a small investor can get 4% for his little hoard in a savings bank, he is not liable to hanker for a municipal obligation, even of the very best character, that will return him no more than 3½%. But Mr. Weaver makes still another and very fantastic suggestion. Why would it not be a good idea, he says, for the city to organize a banking institution? Then it could finance its own needs. He points out that while the city cannot borrow at 3½%, it is able to obtain only 2% for the $12,000,000 of city funds which it keeps on deposit with the banks. The city is compelled to have money in its treasury before it can appropriate it for the carrying on of any of its extensive contracts, and this explains why the amounts to the credit of the City Treasury are so large. It strikes him that there is something "radically wrong" with the city's financial system when it can get only 2% for its own moneys, and yet not borrow at 3½%. But the two transactions are entirely distinct and wholly different in character. The banks must reinvest the city's moneys to get back the 2% they pay and the matter simply resolves itself into a business transaction as to what the banks can afford to give for the money and make a profit on the operation.

However, Mr. Weaver contends that the city could organize such a bank, deposit the money of the municipality therein and at the same time engage in a general banking business. He admits that such a bank should be officered by the very best men and that it would be necessary absolutely to eliminate politics from its management. That done, he thinks the city would never again find itself in the unfortunate position of not being able to dispose of its bonds. He does not elaborate this scheme—does not state how such a bank, if it tied up its deposits in city bonds, would have money to meet the calls of the depositors. Possibly that is a minor detail with which it is not necessary to bother. But if the scheme is such a plausible one for a municipality, why would it not be equally well adapted for the railroads and other large corporations? Whenever one of these was hard up and needed money all that would be necessary would be to go to its banking department and take the money out. There would then be no further occasion for the putting out of short-term obligations at high figures. Of course there is something humorous in a suggestion of that kind, but is it any more humorous than the idea, with which we are all falling in line, that whenever anything goes wrong anywhere, all that we need do is to call upon Government to assume some new function and then everything will right itself?

In an address delivered at Washington on Thursday afternoon before the students of the University of Pennsylvania, Mr. Stuyvesant Fish said some capital things, the theme of his discourse being "Faith the Basis of Finance." We do not at all agree with Mr. Fish in his diagnosis when he seeks to account for the present lack of confidence in the financial world and in the security markets. But on the great underlying problems, so essential in railroad and financial affairs, his views remain unchanged, and he expresses them with a cogency and a sincerity that carries conviction. With reference to the Hepburn rate measure of last year, he repeats what he has said before, namely that the law is unconstitutional, is economically unsound and has affected, and will affect, the general commercial interests of the country adversely and more seriously than railroad interests. This being so—and we see no way in which the statement can be successfully controverted—why seek to refer the existing disturbed condition in the financial world to other and wholly extraneous causes. This law and other like happenings of the last dozen months must be considered as being at the bottom of the existing distrust. Mr. Fish states what is absolutely true when he says that "no railroad fortune was ever made through enhancing rates, oppressing shippers or withstanding the general tendency of rates to decrease." Mr. Fish also did well to lay emphasis on the part played by the railroads in the country's development. He quoted with approval the statement of a French economist to the effect that American railroads were largely, and especially in the West, built in advance of civilization and have themselves created the traffic which they carry. Hence, more than in other countries, our railroads were built on faith. In the early days, while few here or abroad had the courage to advance money for any railroads, this was especially true in respect to those in new and unsettled regions. Mr. Fish likened the faith of early investors in American railroads to that which the New Testament tells us "may move mountains." In fact, mountains have been moved thereby in more senses than one; for not only have cuts and tunnels been dug into them, valleys filled up and rivers bridged, but the tonnage carried annually by the railroads in the United States makes a mountain of the first order and is moved over a vast distance.

Mr. Fish also made some trenchant observations with reference to the defects of our banking system. After pointing out that the high rates of interest ruling in this country cannot be ascribed to any deficiency in our supply of gold or of circulating medium, he shows that the trouble here lies, in part at least, in the uneconomic fiscal arrangements of the Government and in our defective banking laws. In England, France, Germany and almost all other civilized countries banks are made depositories of Government funds without security, and are encouraged, if not required, to establish branches and thereby conduct their business with economy. In this country, on the other hand, the national banking law forbids the establishment of branches even in the same city or the same State, thereby requiring the most uneconomic use of capital, and credit due to capital, and the most extravagant and wasteful methods of management. Our system of locking up public moneys in the National Treasury and so taking gold, or its equivalent, out of circulation, is, he well says, a relic of barbarism and uneconomic and wasteful in the last degree.

The official rate of discount of the Bank of France was advanced this week to 3½% from 3%, at which it had stood since May 24 1900. The Bank of Brussels also advanced its official rate from 4% to 5%. With these exceptions there was no change in official rates at any of the European centres. Compared with last week, unofficial or open market rates were ¼ of 1% lower at London, ⅛ of 1% at Berlin and Frankfort, and ¼ of 1% higher at Paris. On the convocation of the Russian Douma this week Premier Stolypin outlined the Government program for administrative reforms and urged immediate action upon the budget in order that such reforms may be carried into effect.

The striking feature of the statement of the New York Associated Banks last week was the increase of $981,375 in the surplus reserve, to $3,033,100. This resulted from a reduction of $3,978,675 in reserve requirements, less a loss of $2,997,300 in cash. Deposits decreased $15,914,700 and loans were contracted $13,386,300 ; the latter only partially reflected the liquidation of speculative accounts on the Stock Exchange in that week.

There was a relaxation in monetary tension this week and the average of loans on call was lower than in the previous week. This was due in part to the loaning by one institution, it being a lender of large sums, contributing to a decline in the rate to 2%. Time loan rates were firm, especially for the shorter maturities, and there was a good demand for such loans in anticipation of an urgent inquiry incident to the April and May settlements for dividends and interest.

Money on call, representing bankers' balances, loaned at the Stock Exchange during the week at 6% and at 2%, averaging about 4%; banks and trust companies quoted 3% as the minimum. On Monday loans were at 6% and at 2% with the bulk of the business at 5%. On Tuesday transactions were at 5% and at 3½% with the majority at 4%. On Wednesday loans were at 5% and at 3% with the bulk of the business at 4%. On Thursday transactions were at 5% and at 3¼%, with the majority at 4%. On Friday loans were at 5% and at 4% with the bulk of the business at 4½%. Time contracts on good mixed Stock Exchange collateral were not freely offered and the demand was fairly urgent, resulting in the maintenance of firm rates. Quotations are 6½% for thirty to sixty days, 6@6½% for ninety days and 6% for four to six months. It is reported that there is a decline in the market for corporation notes, indicating that those who bought them when they were originally offered have disposed of their holdings. Commercial paper is quiet, with very little local business, and rates are nominally quoted at 6@6½% for sixty to ninety day endorsed bills receivable, 6@6½% for prime and 6¾% and above for good four to six months' single names.

The Bank of England rate of discount remains unchanged at 5%. The cable reports discounts of sixty to ninety-day bank bills in London 5%. The open market rate at Paris is 3½% and at Berlin and Frankfort it is 5¾%. According to our special cable from London, the Bank of England gained £150,140 bullion during the week and held £36,133,856 at the close of the week. Our correspondent further advises us that the gain was due wholly to large purchases in the open market. The details of the movement into and out of the Bank were as follows: Imports, £677,000 (of which £7,000 from Germany, £5,000 from France and £665,000 bought in open market, including £51,000 American coin and £158,000 French coin); exports, £460,000 (wholly to South America), and shipments of £67,000 net to the interior of Great Britain.

The foreign exchange market was unsettled and lower early in the week and on Wednesday sight sterling sold at 4 83, or within 25 points of the lowest on record. The market was then chiefly influenced by the indisposition of foreign bankers to operate in view of the disquieting rumors which were in circulation of embarrassments of international banking houses. Though these rumors appeared to have no foundation, and, indeed, were denied in response to cable inquiries, it was thought possible that there might be some serious trouble impending, and bankers were inclined to await developments, for failures of drawers or acceptors of bills might cause much inconvenience and possible loss. Consequently, at the decline there was comparatively little support to the market. More assuring advices brought about a partial recovery in rates and an improvement in the tone on the following day, but business was only moderately active. The advance in the discount rate by the Bank of France and the indications of the development of discount tension elsewhere in Europe had some influence in imparting a firmer tone. Easier money at the opening of the week and smaller offerings of bankers' and commodity bills contributed to an advance in rates on Monday. On the following day the unsettling fall in stocks and liberal offerings of security bills caused a decline in exchange, and the tendency was sharply downward, as above noted, on Wednesday by reason of the disturbing rumors and absence of support. There was a strong tone on Friday, in consequence of a demand for remittance, and cables were in request for next week's settlement; all classes of exchange then recovered to the best figures of the week.

No effort was made by American bankers to procure any of the gold that was offered in the London market on Monday and $2,500,000 was bought by the Bank of England. There were indications, in the advance in the price of gold bars to 77 shillings 9¾ pence per ounce, of some demand, other than that by the Bank, for the metal; this inquiry was probably from the Continent; the price of American eagles was advanced on Friday to 76 shillings 5⅜ pence per ounce. There was an arrival at this port this week of $1,179,684 gold from Amsterdam, consigned to a local bank.

Nominal quotations for sterling exchange are 4 80 for sixty day and 4 84½ for sight. On Saturday of last week the market was firm, and, compared with rates on the previous day, long rose 5 points to 4 7855 @4 7865, short 10 points to 4 8315@4 8330 and cables 5 points to 4 8405@4 8410. On Monday, while long was 15 points lower at 4 7840@4 7845, short was 20 points higher at 4 8335@4 8340 and cables 10 points at 4 8415@4 8425. On Tuesday long rose 25 points to 4 7865@4 7870 but short fell 25 points to 4 8310@4 8315 and cables 30 points to 4 8390@4 8395. On Wednesday long declined 5 points to 4 7860@4 7865, short 10 points to 4 83@4 8305 and cables 15 points to 4 8375@4 8380. On Thursday long rose 30 points to 4 7890@4 79, short 30 points to 4 8330@4 8335 and cables 25 points to 4 84@4 8410. The market was strong on Friday at an advance of 15 points for long, 20 for short and 25 for cables.

BANK OF FRANCE AND THE RISE IN MONEY.

The action of the Bank of France last Thursday, in raising its official discount rate for the first time since the acute distress of the Boer War panic in December 1899 is an exceedingly interesting sign of the times. Last week occurred a minor change of the same sort in the shape of a rise in the Bank of Netherlands rate—that action, fixing the institution's highest rate since 1873, being ascribed by European financiers to withdrawal of the moderate sum of $1,000,000 in gold from Amsterdam for New York. Even before these changes on the Continent there had been repeated rumors that the Bank of England might under certain circumstances restore its rate from the present 5% level to the 6% maintained between October 19 and January 17, the prediction being rather freely made that if large gold withdrawals for New York occurred on the London market, the advance would certainly be made.

No such engagements were made, notwithstanding our own exchange on London was at a low enough figure to make imports exceedingly profitable. The Bank of England, therefore, made no advance in its rate either last week or this week, and it is precisely for that reason that the action of the Bank of France took the market very much by surprise. Last autumn, when the Bank of England was endeavoring, through the enforcement of its own 6% rate, to prevent gold withdrawal in quantity from London, it was at one time reported that the French Bank would have to raise its rate for defensive purposes. It did not do so; on the contrary, the Bank of France, which had up to that time been opposing engagement of gold on the Paris market, submitted willingly to the obtaining of considerable amounts of the precious metal both for Egypt and for New York which the Bank itself provided rather than put up its official rate of discount. During London's "Baring panic" of 1890, when the Bank of England rate went to 6%, and the Bank, to guard against serious trouble, borrowed $15,000,000 gold from the Bank of France, the French Bank made no change in its own rate of discount. This traditional policy of caution is ascribed to the fact that, more perhaps than any other great State institution, the Bank of France undertakes the task of keeping the French money market in a stable condition. Not only was this week's advance the first in more than seven years, but a similar or even larger interval has frequently separated such changes in the past. For this reason a certain importance attaches to the French Bank's action as an index to European conditions generally, such as did not perhaps apply even to the extraordinary moves of the Bank of England in October.

There are several possible explanations for the incident. One is indicated by the attitude taken during some months past by certain French financiers and politicians, who have contended that Paris was weakening its position by an excessive export of French capital; in other words, was lending too heavily abroad. The contention has never appealed very forcibly to intelligent observers, for the reason that France has for years been notoriously in the position of a lender whose accruing income greatly exceeds the requirements of his own undertakings. That capital, under such circumstances, should flow into foreign investments is as natural as that a merchant or manufacturer, when his own trade needs and personal expenses had been abundantly provided for, should place in other industries his surplus profits. It might indeed be imagined that if the French authorities intended to call a halt on outflow of capital from Paris to other markets, the time to do so would have been when Russia's demands were most importunate, at the very time when conditions in Russia were most alarming. No one suggested such a move as a rise in the Bank rate at that time.

We presume that most people who have intelligently watched the incidents of the past six months or more will assign the action of the Bank to one of two causes: either directly to the New York market's power over foreign gold reserves—a power which has been somewhat remorselessly exercised—or else, in a more general way, to the strain of trade and speculation on the whole world's supply of capital. In so far as concerns the New York market, the anomalous existing situation has long been indicated by the attitude of London. Setting aside the question how our command over European credit was obtained—whether through excess of merchandise exports, or through borrowing on finance bills, or, more recently, through the sale of our railway notes to France and England—the fact remains that our market has that power on the international exchanges. This fact needs no further proof than the state of the sterling market, where the rate of sight exchange has for upwards of a week stood at a level more than one cent in a pound below what is usually considered the normal gold-import point. Yet London sends no gold, and it is openly asserted in English financial circles that engagements of gold are not attempted by our bankers, partly through dislike of disturbing London's own position, partly because of the intimation that such withdrawals, on any considerable scale, would be followed by a rise in the Bank of England rate. And, as a matter of fact, this peculiar situation at New York, by which our bankers refrain from importing gold, notwithstanding the profit in the operation, has been matched abroad. Berlin exchange on London has within a week been above the point at which gold would usually be shipped from Germany; none has apparently been shipped, no doubt for the reason that Germany's money market, too, is in a somewhat strained position. Nor is this all; at the same time Paris exchange on London, for which the normal gold-export point is assumed to be 25 francs 32½ centimes to the pound sterling, has gone as high as 25.34. On its face this last phenomenon would seem to indicate efforts by London to draw on the Continental stock of gold by way of providing for New York, while the move of the Bank of France would mean a precautionary step by way of guarding against too great losses on that account.

The outcome of this somewhat complicated position is not in all respects easy to see. At bottom no one will doubt that the cause is expansion of new demands on capital beyond the rate at which capital itself is accumulating. This is no unfamiliar incident at the climax of world-wide trade and speculative boom. European critics, and indeed our own authorities, have concurred in the judgment that the excessive demands, both for trade and speculation, must at all events be curbed until the accumulation of capital has had a chance to catch up with the world's demands. "Let us pray to be saved from any greater prosperity" was Secretary Shaw's original way of putting this very point, five months ago; "we have all that we can stand." This is the problem which we have seen for at least six months on our own money market, and which has been at least partly solved since the opening of the year by the wholesale liquidation on the New York Stock Exchange. It is not improbable that a similar process, not necessarily of equal violence, must be faced on the foreign stock exchanges and in trade.

PROPOSED OFFICIAL VALUATION OF RAILWAYS.

The latest proposal in the program of "increasing supervision and control" of inter-State railways is that Congress provide for and authorize an official appraisal of the railway property of the country. Probably it is assumed that if such an appraisal were made the results would be of some considerable utility in connection with the exercise of the rate-making powers recently delegated to the Inter-State Commerce Commission. Upon this assumption the Statistician to the Inter-State Commerce Commission, Professor Henry C. Adams, suggests that what is now wanted cannot be a "commercial valuation," and declares that there is a difference between such a valuation and a "physical valuation," saying:

"The commercial valuation of railway property, in so far as it depends upon income arising from the sale of transportation, is the result, among other things, of an established schedule of freight and passenger rates, from which it follows that such a valuation can not be used for determining the reasonableness or unreasonableness of the rates in question. The solution of the rate problem demands a separate valuation of the physical property. . . . It is evident that a physical valuation of railway properties might be more or might be less than the value computed from earnings on the basis of an established schedule of freight and passenger rates, and it would be highly desirable from many points of view to determine to what extent the physical valuation was more or less than the commercial valuation."

The foregoing is interesting as illustrating the curiously complicated predicament in which the regulationists are involved as a consequence of their adoption of the valuation proposed. They recognize, as they are forced to recognize, the fact that value is a derivative of use and that, therefore, railway value is controlled by railway charges—past, present and prospective. But in an attempt to avoid the absurdity of appearing to advocate the ascertainment of an effect in order to adjust its cause to the discovered volume and intensity which it has produced, they commit the equal absurdity of asserting that the value which is the effect of the rate schedule is a "commercial" value, and that there is another value which may be turned into a cause of rates. This value, which they distinguish from "commercial value," they designate as the "physical value," and this they declare can be ascertained by a method which is best described in the language of Professor Adams. After expressing his view of the alleged distinction, in the language already quoted, Professor Adams says:

"If the above distinction is conceded, it is evident that what is needed is an inventory by a competent engineer which would result in a classification of the physical elements of railway properties and an assignment to each element of its appropriate present value."

This, of course, comes simply to the proposition that the sum of the values of the different parts of a complete whole may be more or less than the value of the whole. And how, may we ask, is the value of each part to be ascertained? Is the "appropriate present value" to be assigned to each locomotive or coach, the "commercial value" of the locomotive or coach, as it stands ready to do its work as a component part of the railway system, or a "physical value," so-called, to be obtained by dissecting it and taking an inventory of the steel, and brass, and wood, and other "physical elements" which it contains. Evidently this method leads where no man can follow.

And what is the valuation which is not "commercial?" Has the railway any value at all which is not derived from its place as an agency of commerce, and is there anything which has value that is not an expression of commerce? The very term itself answers the last question in the negative. Value is a relation in exchange, that is in commerce, which is expressed by means of price, and the latter is the number of units of one commodity which will be accepted in payment for one unit of another. The whole concept of value, and every element in it, is derived from trade and commerce. There is no value which is not commercial value, and to try to define away a part of that value is merely to try to justify a lower valuation for one purpose than for another. In this case the anti-railway agitators want to find an excuse for using a high valuation for purposes of taxation and a different and lower valuation for purposes of rate-making.

But if they had their valuation they couldn't use it for rate-making purposes. Rates never have been and never can be based upon capitalization, amount of investment, value of property used, or anything else except the worth of the service to those obtaining it, modified by the influence of actual and potential competition of railway and other carriers and of different producers and the relative bargaining abilities of the different parties to the transportation contract. If Congress should learn that the value of a particular railway property was $100,000,000 and should thereupon decree that it should not earn more in annual net income than $6,000,000, and that decree should be enforced, it would leave the rate problem precisely where it is now. For the rate problem is one of relation among the charges for different services, and such a decree would afford no answer to questions as to how much should be charged for hauling coal, or grain, or iron ore, or steel products, or furniture, or other articles, or how much for hauling between particular points among the multitude of points served. It would not even indicate what portions of the aggregate revenue permitted to be earned might be derived from carrying different classes of traffic or from services rendered on behalf of different communities. In fact, if Congress should try to regulate these relations, after having fixed the aggregate net income, it would find that such regulation would make the aggregate unstable.

As to the cost of this precious undertaking Professor Adams is uncertain. He recalls that the State of Michigan got an engineer to make such an inventory of the railway properties within its limits and paid him $1,000 per month for the task. Further, he assumes that at the same relative cost per mile of line as proved necessary in Michigan the railways of the whole country could be appraised for about $1,250,000. Of course this is a small sum to those who always expect to draw upon the public purse for the funds required for even their most fantastic proposals. But tax-payers whose properties have already suffered from paternalism may be pardoned if they persist in asking for further evidence that the results will be worth their cost.

LIMITS ON ECONOMY IN RAILROAD OPERATIONS.

Not the least interesting part of the extended interview with Mr. E. H. Harriman on the railroad situation, printed in the New York "Times" of the 10th inst., was Mr. Harriman's remark concerning the difficulties railroad managers labor under in seeking further to promote economy in railroad operations. This is certainly an important aspect of the railroad problem as it exists to-day. Outside of a few special items of traffic, where rates formerly had been on a non-paying basis, or where special conditions have furnished occasion for somewhat higher freight charges, the general level of freight rates has not been advanced in recent years, notwithstanding that prices in the industrial world have been almost steadily rising, and notwithstanding that the roads have been obliged repeatedly to raise wages and to pay higher prices for everything entering into their operating accounts.

There has been only one circumstance that has made it possible for the carriers to pursue this policy. They have been studying and developing the science of economy. By increasing the weight of rail, by strengthening and re-building their bridges and other similar structures, by adding to the weight and tractive power of their locomotives and increasing the capacity of their cars, they have greatly added to operating efficiency, thereby lowering the cost of transportation service per unit of traffic moved. In other words, by increasing the number of units in a train and thus distributing the cost of running the train over a greater number of such units, the cost of moving each single unit has been correspondingly reduced. It required the expenditure of hundreds of millions of dollars to bring the roads up to the standard and condition permitting such achievements. And the public has been given the benefit of such cheapening of the cost of railroad operations. Except for this, railroad rates must inevitably have been advanced—not merely in isolated instances or on special articles, but generally advanced. It would have been impossible for the roads to make both ends meet in any other way.

It would seem, however, as if the limit of economy in operations had now been reached, and, as a consequence, that if the things that enter into the operating accounts of the railroads continue to rise, the carriers will have no alternative but to do what the producer, the merchant and the manufacturer do in similar circumstances, namely ask more for the thing they have to sell—in this case, transportation service. The interview with Mr. Harriman is useful in bringing out the physical limitations that act as barriers against further progress along the lines so successfully pursued in the recent past. Mr. Harriman touched upon many other things, but it is this particular point that has interested us most.

It is his opinion that our railroads have practically reached the limit of car loads on the existing gauge. The freight car, he pointed out, is like a bridge. The trucks are the piers and the body is the roadway. Now, in measure as you lengthen the body to take on more load, you have got to increase the dead weight of the car to be able to carry it, and every such increase in dead weight means a decrease in earning capacity for the car or for the train when a given motive power is applied to move it. If we could go on increasing the width of the cars up to a standard that would be permissible on a six-foot gauge, or even a five-foot gauge, it would be possible to get a great deal more car capacity for a given increase in dead weight. Furthermore, there would be gain in the loading and unloading. For instance, if, by increased car capacity, you put into twenty cars freight which had previously taken up thirty cars, you require less terminal trackage for the handling of the freight, you are able to get it on and off with greater speed, and you have the other ten cars out on the line earning something in the meantime.

In the matter of motive power, there is added difficulty in the way of further economy in operations. It is Mr. Harriman's judgment that in this respect we have reached the limit of development under steam, so long as the present gauge is employed. There are three ways in which an engine can grow to get more tractive power. It must either be lengthened, be broadened or be made higher. In all three directions, he says, we have made our engines grow as far as we can on the present standard gauge of four feet eight and a half inches. To illustrate this point, Mr. Harriman argues as follows:

"Did you ever ride in the cab of one of the modern freight locomotives? Well, you probably noticed the swaying back and forth that accompanied the drive of the pistons. That meant that the centre of gravity had crept up just about as high as it could go without having the engine topple over when it got into action. It told you that we had gone as far as we could in building engines up into the air. Now, if you will think a minute you will see that there is obviously a limit in length of fire-box beyond which it is impossible to fire an engine. And we have reached that limit as well. So there you are. If we increase our car capacity we increase the unproductive dead weight that is to be drawn disproportionately to the increase of the load, and in so doing we are making demands upon tractive power that has already reached the limit of its development under present conditions. The obvious relief, then, would be by widening the gauge to six feet, and I am not sure that the railroads will not come to that in the end."

But as it seems chimerical to think now of rebuilding the railroads of the whole country and of replacing the entire railroad equipment, Mr. Harriman favors resort to electricity as the next best thing. It is his belief that the railroads will have to come to this, not only for the purpose of getting a larger unit of motive power and of distributing it over the train-load, but on account of the fuel proposition. And this brings up another phase of the existing conditions. With steam, fuel is used up to carry the fuel, and there are certain limitations along this line, just as much as there are in the matter of car capacity or of motive power, particularly when one considers the location of the coal-producing regions with respect to the major avenues of traffic. Aside from the other advantages of electricity, there is this additional fact that you are not losing money when you stop your train. A train makes money when it is going somewhere, when it is carrying something that somebody wants. When it stops it ceases to make money and becomes a losing proposition, because it goes right on burning up coal without doing any work. The electric train when it stops is not using up any power and the only fuel waste is that incidental to the maintenance of the system.

Mr. Harriman's purpose in these statements was to show first that the railroads in handling the increased volume of traffic under present conditions, or anything approximating them, must do it at an ever-increasing ratio of expense, that will tend some day to become prohibitive if existing rates are to be maintained or fair returns realized for their shareholders, and secondly that the only relief which can be obtained through economies of physical operations must come through the outlay of enormous amounts of money such as would be involved in a general electrification or a change of gauge. The railroads are providing double track, sidings, &c., and in other ways increasing their facilities just as fast as possible, but, do the best they will, the physical conditions referred to above impose limitations beyond which it is impossible to go. Mr. Harriman argues in favor of cooperation between the public and the roads, to the end that existing facilities may be employed to best advantage and to the utmost extent. The railroads have been obliged to crowd into the last six or eight years the task of providing facilities that should have been spread over ten years preceding. The result is that they have fairly overlapped the facilities of the country to bring to them, with economy either to shipper or railroad, the goods which are to be carried. Mr. Harriman thinks this the all-important point for co-operation between the railroads and the public, for the failure to handle the business economically on the part of the shipper has generally been charged up against the railroads, while the railroads' inability to handle it economically has meant less effective service. Mr. Harriman furnishes the following graphic illustration of what he means.

Now take an example. The other week I went up to Groton, Mass., where my boy is going to school. I lived in my car while I was there and I couldn't help noticing conditions in the station yard. There were three coal cars and a box car on a siding, and unloading the three coal cars were two single-horse carts. At one of the cars they were actually screening the coal as they unloaded it. Now right on the other side of these cars there was a coal shed. If that coal had been unloaded into the shed instead of into the carts, the cars might have been moved out on the road again to carry somebody else's coal. But no, they had to unload it, a cart at a time, and to tie up three cars for about three times as long as was necessary. On that basis the service of two cars was lost for the entire time that the three cars were allowed to remain at Groton. If you multiply that sort of thing by the number of sidings in all the towns and villages of the country you will see what I mean by saying that the facilities provided by the railroads have overlapped the facilities provided by the shippers. Yet it is put up to the railroads to increase their facilities so as to eliminate the congestion.

Mr. Harriman also argues in favor of allowing the railroads by Federal statute to enter into enforceable agreements for the distribution of traffic. By this he does not mean pools. The agreements that he has in mind contemplate the distribution of traffic so that it could be handled economically. Suppose, he argues, there was such a law in operation, and it were possible to arrange for the distribution of the trans-continental traffic between the various lines according to the possibilities of each. In that event the road with a low grade and small curvature could relieve the high-grade winding road of the excess of traffic that it could not carry profitably. Similarly, a distribution of classes of freight could be accomplished—which is absolutely impossible under present operating conditions—with resultant economies that can easily be imagined.

He does not think that such arrangements would tend to stifle competition. The conditions which make certain points competitive or non-competitive are not to be fixed by statute, he urges. The thing that both the railroads and the shipper are anxious to get is the best possible service on the most economical basis, and it frequently happens that the very competition existing between various railroads in a given territory is wasteful and expensive. No railroad can ignore the needs of its patrons or of the territory which it undertakes to serve without inviting disaster to itself. Mr. Harriman well says that the railroad that doesn't seek to build up the territory through which it passes by offering good service pursues a policy that can only bring it to grief in the long run. It dries up its territory. The territory doesn't produce anything, and then there comes a day when there is nothing for the railroad to carry.

MUNICIPAL OWNERSHIP.

This month's election in London, by which the number of "Progressives" in the County Council has been reduced from 83 to 36, together with the result of other elections in Great Britain and of the elections for the German Reichstag a few weeks ago, may be taken as at least a temporary reaction from the advance of socialism or "collectivism." On the plea that certain enterprises of general importance are public utilities and should be publicly owned and managed, municipal authorities in Europe have gone largely into what is called there "municipal trading." London has gone far in this direction. Not only transportation and lighting, but markets, lodging houses, coal, public gardens, meals for school children, dairy farms, and so on, were on the list of things actually attempted or to be attempted. At last the taxpayers appear to have caught a spasm of alarm, and a check has been called.

In our own country the beginnings of the same thing are already manifest. Here, the term "municipal ownership" is preferred, as having a better sound, although the distinction is unreal; but the tendency towards this enlargement and diversion of public powers has grown in strength until it has become the trading stock of a party in our great cities. The practical workings of this policy abroad are therefore of the most immediate concern to us. They have been presented by several investigators, but by none with such completeness as by Mr. Robert P. Porter, in a volume issued in this present year.*

* Dangers of Municipal Ownership, by Robert P. Porter.

At the outset, it must be admitted that the burden of proof rests heavily upon the advocates of this municipal policy. This could not be better stated than it was stated, as below, in the report made many years ago by a special committee appointed by the Legislature of this State to investigate the subject:

"As an abstract proposition, we believe that no government, either national, State or municipal, should embark in a business that can be as well conducted by private enterprise. The reverse of this proposition, carried out to logical conclusions, would put all business enterprises under governmental management and control, and leave to no citizen any hope, ambition or aspiration beyond that of seeking an official position that affords a meagre existence."

No abstract proposition can stand against concrete results. Let it, therefore, be once positively shown that these municipal operations have produced better service, at lower cost, than private ownership has produced, and without causing evils which are not expressible on balance-sheets, and the case is closed. If the citizen has his tax bill increased by the same amount as he saves upon his use of public utilities he gains nothing, and persons who do not utilize those at all—for instance, gas and transportation—would be mulcted for the benefit of others; but the showing of profits must be very clear. On the contrary, it is not clear, and in most cases it is delusive, being made so by improper treatment of accounts. For instance, if a certain municipal undertaking in a given year has $125,000 revenue and real total expenses of $175,000, yet a "profit" of $25,000 is desired, this can be made to appear by charging $75,000 to general account or keeping out of the balance-sheet some items which properly belong there, and thus a claim of "relief of taxes" can be set up. This is the actual method practiced by British municipalities to conceal the facts. In Liverpool, the local debt was increased last year some $5,000,000 for street widenings solely on account of the municipal tramways; yet a proposition to charge a portion of this to the tramways was defeated, because if this had been done, instead of throwing the whole upon account of the general taxes, the municipal trading party would have lost their showing of "profits." It is simple for a child to get a handsome profit out of eggs which his parents buy, when the parents supply the hens and pay for the keeping; but to put every item of outlay exactly where it belongs interferes with desired results. In London, the process of keeping accounts with a view to results has gone farther, for an investigation showed that out of over four millions sterling of capital expenditure made, solely on account of the tramways, less than 10% had been debited to them, the rest being put on general account, and the pretense that the undertakings were of public profit being kept up. Much is claimed for Glasgow, whose tramways are said to have contributed $125,000 to the taxes in 1905 out of a total revenue of nearly $4,000,000; but even if there has been no hiding of facts, a private company has offered to turn into the public treasury more than twice that claimed contribution.

The total invested in municipal "reproductive" undertakings in the United Kingdom was estimated five years ago at $605,600,000. A recent writer in the "Fortnightly Review" computes their yearly income at $65,200,000, their expenditures at $63,310,000 and their average yearly net profit at $1,890,000, which Mr. Porter thinks would spell ruin for a private trader. But even this is delusive, according to the "Review" writer, for on the basis of a 5% annual charge for depreciation the average yearly result is a loss of $27,395,000; "they are worked (he says) by running into debt, which is constantly increasing, and the working of them, in place of being reproductive, constitutes an additional charge on the taxes."

Of course this may be disputed, and a long list of British cities with reproductive undertakings is presented for our emulation. But no reasonable man will deny that when a municipality has once become committed to such an undertaking there is a likelihood that figures will be handled so as to make a show of profit to the public rather than confess disagreeable facts and be confronted with a situation that offers no means of escape. Sometimes we hear in New York the suggestion that the streets ought to be free to the citizens in the cars as well as on the pavements, and doubtless a free ferry would be hailed as a step in general emancipation. But if the city transit lines are ever "taken over" it is certain that the public will expect ampler and more comfortable service, even if reduced fares are not to be furnished too; the employees will as surely expect better pay and shorter hours; and the convincing reason for the change will surely be the claim that a profit will also be turned into the treasury for reduction of taxation. How this is to be accomplished will not be distinctly shown in advance; but there is only one means by which it is possible, namely by discovering—and then stopping finally—some very large leaks and wastes which now exist in the management of the roads by private companies.

In the United Kingdom, municipalizing has strangled development. After 1890, the tramway companies, confronted by "expropriation" in a few years at their market value, naturally skinned their roads, taking out the utmost revenue and spending nothing beyond absolute necessity upon them, so that the properties went to the municipalities in a condition of premature decay. Then the public demanded electric traction, which was very slowly furnished, for the local authorities found that this really implied extension as well as conversion. Private companies then came forward and responded to the demand as well as they could, but were fought and largely thwarted by the municipalities. A tangle resulted in which neither party could furnish effectual service, and the local authorities, finding themselves committed without retreat, sought to conceal the situation by blocking competition which was less unfavorably placed. Development of electric lighting was more signally hampered. The local authorities, having an exclusive monopoly of lighting, fought electricity bitterly, and when this was seen to be futile, took it up in turn, claiming a magnificent asset for the taxpayers. But then came the incandescent mantle, and municipal electricity works are now suffering as much from the rivalry of gas as from bad management; but, as both systems are in the same public control, consumers may be turned from one to the other at will, by "starving" one or the other at will, and thus a showing of profit may be made for either. Here is shown strikingly how the taxpayers as a body may contribute to benefits in which only a fraction of them share. Thus in Battersea, with a population of about 175,000, the electric lighting works have cost £200,000, and only 230 taxpayers are using the light. In the metropolis of London, with a population of six millions, the present electric output is 42 units per head; in New York, with a population not much more than one-half of London's, the output is 282 units per head.

The telephone has been strangled even more signally. At first the Government intervened on behalf of its postal service, and the courts pronounced the telephone a telegraph in legal contemplation; the telephone company had to come under license and was placed under control of the local authorities, by whom it was hampered at every point. Then, in 1892, the Government took over the main or trunk lines, leaving the local with the company, but this arrangement worked slowly and badly; then, in 1899, the local authorities were empowered to establish and work their own local lines in competition with both Government and company lines. The dual arrangement, now become a triple one, worked as badly as from the nature of the telephone it should have been expected to work, and the result is that Great Britain has not had and does not now have the telephone in any such real sense as does this country. The financial results have been unfortunate, and even London has less than half as many telephones as New York per 1,000 population.

London has also tried "municipal housing." Certain private housing companies, working on altruistic lines, had persuaded land-owners to turn in sites at far under real values for the purpose, one titled landowner sacrificing some thousands a year in order to allow low rentals to be made. But when these companies sought to buy sites from the County Council, no such consideration was shown them; then the private land-owners noted the example and followed it themselves, but the housing companies still preferred to buy of them, so that the Council found land on their hands, and proceeded to build upon it, but "promptly hit upon the expedient of writing down the value," thus making the usual pleasant financial showing. Their building, according to natural laws in such cases, cost more than private work; they included various expensive "extras" for attractiveness, and the result was that a class of persons was attracted who could pay, while the very poorest were dishoused by having the sites on which they had been living converted to this purpose. The general taxpayer was compelled to bear an increased burden, and the very poorest, for whom the experiment was proposed, were reached only by being dispossessed and driven elsewhere.

The test by comparative burdens of debt is dismally suggestive. The public debt of this country is given as about $12 per capita, against $91 in the United Kingdom and $309 in Australasia; the debts of the Australian States range from $210 to $395 per capita, while the State of Connecticut owes less than $2 per capita. Granting that not all these debts are chargeable to municipal trading, the comparison is not robbed of its warning; and of 18 American cities New York stands as having the highest per capita debt ($114), against $99 for Glasgow, $160 for Manchester, $127 for London, $148 for Birmingham, and $113 for 18 cities together, against $41 for 18 American cities of similar rank. In Australia, "the fools' Paradise of working-men," where paternalism has its very full development, every second person over 65 has a pension in New Zealand, every third person above that age is pensioned in Victoria, and a recent proposal is that 10 shillings a week be given to all reputable persons over 65, throughout Australia, "as a right, not as a charity," the public debt there being, as above noted, $309 per head, against barely one dollar in this State of New York.

Coming back to our own country, only a few months ago we had an election in New York turning in part on municipal trading as an issue. Chicago has dallied with it, but has thus far halted on the brink, and when Mr. Dalrymple was brought over from Glasgow to point the way and furnish the encouragement, he surprised his hosts by declining to do either, declaring that he could clearly see that what is feasible in Glasgow is not yet so in Chicago or any other American city. Municipal trading boldly avows that the proper function of the individual is to be a sort of useful servant on the public chess-board, discovering new things for the public scheme to undertake. On this, observe the significance of what Mr. Bernard Shaw wrote in 1900, in a campaign document for election uses:

"If any candidate at the election shows the slightest weakness on this subject he should be voted against without regard to party. And the opportunity should be seized by the next Government to enlarge the powers of local bodies until they are able to force private enterprise into its proper sphere, which is not the exploitation of common needs and ascertained processes, but the sphere of invention, initiation, and the creation of new needs and new industries."

Upon this, says Mr. Porter, "Russia must surely be the municipal trader's Paradise, and St. Petersburg and Moscow, not Glasgow and Spring Garden, his ideals," for in Russia the policy of making the individual the mere tool of bureaucracy has been carried to extremes. Nor can we safely forget that the inevitable result of embarking upon the municipal ownership policy will be to immediately create a voting phalanx which will remain impenetrable by any argument from principle or from actual results. What effect the creation of the entire body of employees of our local railroads, telephone and telegraph systems into such a phalanx would have upon elections can hardly be imagined, because we have no experience of it as yet. In Great Britain there is that experience, and municipal trading is popular, because "the class that supports is not the class that pays." In 1903, the leader of the organized labor party congratulated his followers that "while there was a reduction of wages all around, the wages of municipal employees alone had increased—they had even doubled." The Municipal Employees' Association publicly offers, "as an inducement to municipal servants to join it, the wonderful influence at municipal elections which they would be able to exercise." For the municipal employee is many, and he always votes. The London journals have been giving warnings, and several public meetings have voiced alarm within the past year. Remembering the demoralization of public service upon individual character (as proved by the melancholy history of persons who have been in the Government bureaus in Washington for many years) note carefully this from the London "Times":

"In every municipality there will be a large body of voters and rate-payers whose interest it will be to encourage and promote expenditure; who will be certain to unite, and will be able when united to carry their points. When once a municipality has set up an establishment for carrying on any industry, it will be no use trying to undo the mistake, if such it prove to be. Municipal hands cannot be turned adrift. Employment must be found for them at the expense of the rate-payers, and in due course they will agitate for pensions, and, in the end, get them. It will go ill at the next election with anybody who suggests that they be discharged because they are useless, or that expenses should be cut down."

RAILROAD GROSS AND NET EARNINGS FOR JANUARY.

Our compilation of the gross and net earnings of United States railroads for the month of January contains some encouraging features, but nevertheless can hardly be regarded as a gratifying or a flattering exhibit. There is a gain over January 1906 of $10,176,033, or 8.22%, but a loss of $809,874 in the net. Of course, the fact must be borne in mind that the railroads this year have had no such special advantages by reason of weather conditions as they had last year. In 1906 the winter was unusually mild, and in January, particularly, temperatures over large sections of the country were extremely high for the season, the month in many instances being the warmest for more than a generation. These unusual meteorological conditions inured to the benefit of the roads in many ways. The present year, on the other hand, in at least one part of the country—namely, in the territory from the head of the Great Lakes to the Pacific Coast—the weather was exceptionally severe.

But, while it is important that the difference referred to in the character of the winter should not be lost sight of, it will be noted that this did not prevent a further very substantial addition to the gross earnings the present year, namely in amount of $10,176,033. It is the net earnings alone that are unsatisfactory. Expenses have been rising in such a decided way that even the very considerable further expansion in gross revenues has not sufficed to offset the augmentation. And this augmentation in expenses is, it would seem, wholly independent of the weather conditions, though these latter doubtless served to make it more pronounced. Month after month this feature of enlarged expenses has been in evidence; the movement has steadily grown in magnitude and its presence long antedates the recent bad weather.

In part as a result of the phenomenally mild winter experienced in 1906, comparison is with extraordinarily large totals of earnings last year. For instance, in the gross the improvement in January 1906 reached no less than $21,824,988 and even in the net the improvement amounted to $11,676,497. That, in face of the inauspicious weather, this gain of over 21¾ million dollars in gross in January last year should have been followed by a further gain in January 1907 of $10,176,033, is evidently a very encouraging circumstance, indicative of the continued expansion in the volume of the business of the roads. But the fact remains that, owing to the great increase in expenses, this additional gain of over 10 million dollars in gross brought with it no addition to the net—has in fact been attended by an actual decrease in the net.

Moreover, the closer the returns are scrutinized, the more marked does this feature of increased expenses become. Two large companies, by reason of the exceptionally favorable character of their exhibits, seem to belong in a class all by themselves. We refer to the Southern Pacific and the Union Pacific. Their returns have served to make the general result a great deal better than it otherwise would be. The Southern Pacific increased its net by no less than $1,045,292 and the Union Pacific by $439,646, making almost 1½ million dollars together. It follows that, with these two roads eliminated, we would have instead of a loss in net of $809,874, a falling off of over 2¼ million dollars.

Furthermore, though we have laid emphasis on the difference in weather conditions, the fact is that the roads which suffered most severely from snow blockades and intense cold the present year are not at all included in our present statement. We allude to the Great Northern Railway and the Northern Pacific. The only roads from that part of the country that sustained important decreases which are in our tables are the Canadian Pacific and the Minneapolis St. Paul & Sault Ste. Marie. There is reason to think that the Great Northern and the Northern Pacific suffered larger losses in net than either of these. These two roads cannot be included because, while they make public monthly reports of their gross, they never give out monthly figures as to the net. The reader will see from this that railroad net earnings are really poorer than our general summaries seem to indicate, for, if we could have the returns of the Great Northern and the Northern Pacific, the falling off in the net must necessarily be very greatly increased.

In no month of 1906 did our monthly compilations record a loss in net, and in 1905 it would be necessary to go back to February to find a month distinguished in that way. Even taking January by itself it has only happened twice before during the last dozen years that a decrease in net has been recorded—from which the reader can see the exceptional character of such a result. The unfortunate feature is that as the loss in net is entirely due to the rise in the expenditures, and as this rise seems likely to go on for a long time to come, there is little to encourage the idea of better returns in the near future. Indeed, the indications are that for February the showing will be still poorer. In the following we give the January totals of gross and net back to 1896. It will be seen that 1897 and 1904 are the only years recording diminished net, and in both these instances the gross also recorded a decrease; 1907 differs from either of these two periods in that the decrease in net is coincident with a large gain in the gross.

Note.—In 1896 the number of roads included in the month of January was 135; n 1897, 127; in 1898, 130; in 1899, 115; in 1900, 114; in 1901, 130; in 1902, 109; in 1903, 105; in 1904, 103; in 1905, 94; in 1906, 100, and in 1907, 97. Neither the Mexican roads nor the coal-mining operations of the anthracite coal roads are included in any of the totals.

The great rise in operating cost is also apparent when the roads are arranged in groups, according to their location or the character of their traffic. In that case it is found that all but one of the seven groups have a diminution in net, though in the gross every group records expansion. The one group having an increase in net is the South Western and South Pacific group. This group includes the Southern Pacific Company, to whose exceptional gain we have already referred. As a matter of fact, however, nearly all the South Western roads have done well because of the extraordinary crops harvested in that section last season. The bulk of the whole increase in gross for the month has been contributed by that group, and except for its very large gain in net the loss in net by United States railroads as a whole would be of very considerable extent.

The separate roads reveal characteristics much like the general totals. There are many companies which have suffered a reduction of their net, though able to show gains in the gross. In the following we have brought together the changes for the separate roads, whether increases or decreases, for amounts in excess of $30,000. It will be observed that decreases in the gross are not numerous, but in the net the list is a long one.

In addition to the roads furnishing reports of both gross and net, there are some others which make reports only as to the gross, comprising a number of quite important systems. The list includes the Great Northern and Northern Pacific, already referred to, besides (among others) the New York Central, the Lake Shore, the Chicago & North Western, the Milwaukee & St. Paul, the Chicago St. Paul Minneapolis & Omaha and the Texas & Pacific. Starting with the total of the gross in the foregoing, we add these other roads in the table we now present.

The foregoing total includes every road in the country from which it has been possible to procure returns of gross. It shows, it will be observed, an increase (notwithstanding the very considerable losses sustained by the Great Northern, the Northern Pacific and others of that class) for the roads as a whole of $10,588,422, or 6.51%. Bearing in mind the inclemency of the weather, this certainly speaks well for the expansion in the volume of the business of the roads. The improvement is all the more significant as it comes after a gain of no less than $26,424,633, or 20.88%, in January 1906, according to the same method of compilation.

THE USE OF ACCEPTANCES.

The following communication from Mr. Paul M. Warburg, of the firm of Kuhn, Loeb & Co., on the subject of acceptances, is in reply to a criticism of Mr. E. A. de Lima made in our last issue:

New York, March 22d 1907.

To the Editor, The Commercial and Financial Chronicle, New York.

Dear Sir—In your issue of March 16th you publish a letter written by Mr. E. A. de Lima which refers to your article on "The Use of Acceptances" published in your issue of March 2d.

In this letter the statement is made that any bank granting acceptances should be obliged to keep a reserve of 25% in cash against such acceptances, and that the loss of interest on this reserve would have to be charged to the customer. This statement is wrong, both in theory and in fact.

Mr. de Lima says: "All credit must be based on metallic reserve, and it matters not whether the credit takes the form of an obligation redeemable on demand or at a fixed time; the principle is the same." In reply, I should like to point out that the principle is not the same. Deposits on demand may be withdrawn any day. It is cash deposited against which, without any notice, cash may be required. It is therefore sound banking to have a cash reserve to meet these cash requirements in case other deposits should not equal the withdrawals. An acceptance credit is given on the condition that the customer receiving it will deposit in cash the amount of the acceptance a few days before maturity, so that if no default occurs there will be no outlay of cash at all on the part of the accepting bank.

In Europe, where banks and banking houses accept and endorse freely, no bank is obliged to keep a cash reserve against its acceptances, but the principle observed is that the amount of acceptances should be in a certain proportion to the resources of the accepting institution. The banks making a specialty of doing an acceptance business have their general funds invested in such a way that in case of emergency, if they should be called upon to take up their acceptances themselves, their assets could be easily realized upon. They carry a large amount of call loans, of bank acceptances and of easily salable securities; but there is no need for them to keep a large cash reserve, as under normal conditions this particular branch of business does not require any cash.

In view of the fact that the suggestion to take up the business of accepting and endorsing has been generally received favorably by the American banking community, I thought I should not fail to point out these facts, and I hope, therefore, that you will pardon me for having taken up so much of your valuable space.

Yours truly,
PAUL M. WARBURG.

REDEMPTION OF THE FOURS OF 1907.

The following is the circular issued last week by Secretary of the Treasury Cortelyou offering to prepay without rebate of interest $25,000,000 of the 4s of 1907 maturing July 1 next. Thus far, $3,656,750 of the bonds have been presented for redemption.

Circular Letter.
Division of Loans and Currency.

Treasury Department,
Office of the Secretary,
Washington, March 14 1907.

In accordance with the provisions of existing law, the Secretary of the Treasury hereby gives public notice that he will redeem at any time after this date, upon presentation, the registered and coupon bonds of the 4% funded loan of 1907 to an amount not exceeding $25,000,000, and will pay interest to July 1 1907 upon the bonds so presented.

Bonds intended for redemption under this circular should be forwarded to the Secretary of the Treasury, Division of Loans and Currency.

Registered bonds must be duly assigned to "the Secretary of the Treasury for redemption," the assignments being dated and witnessed by one of the officers indicated in the note printed on the back of each bond; and where payment is desired in the name of any person other than the payee of such bonds, the assignment must be to "the Secretary of the Treasury for redemption for account of ——— ——— (Here insert the name of the person in whose favor redemption is desired.)"

The circular of February 11 1907 providing for the purchase of the 4% bonds of the funded loan of 1907 at 101½ flat is hereby rescinded.

GEORGE B. CORTELYOU,
Secretary.

ITEMS ABOUT BANKS, BANKERS AND TRUST CO'S.

—No bank or trust company stocks were offered for sale at auction this week. At the Stock Exchange the business in these securities was limited to sales of 20 shares of stock of the National Bank of Commerce, in three separate lots, at 175 to 178.

—The Fidelity Trust Company is the name decided upon for the institution which is to result from the combination of the interests in the proposed Atlas and Irving Trust companies of this city. As noted in our item of March 9, Samuel S. Conover is to be President of the new institution. The petition filed by Mr. Conover and his associates for the organization of the Irving Trust Company has been used, thus making it necessary to apply merely for a change in the name to the Fidelity Trust. The company will open at the corner of Chambers and Hudson streets about May 1.

—The lately organized Astor Trust Company on Monday, the 18th inst, took over the business of the Astor National Bank of this city and started business in its new offices at Fifth Avenue and 36th Street. The company's attractive banking room is finished with carved fumed oak, blue marble and old ivory, producing a chaste and dignified effect. There are special banking appointments for the ladies and also a safe deposit department established on the same floor with the main offices. The institution is backed by strong interests, as can be judged by its personnel. E. C. Converse, President of the Bankers Trust Company, and until recently President of the Liberty National Bank, is its chief executive; Alex. H. Stevens, Seward Prosser and Thomas Cochrane Jr., are the Vice-Presidents. Besides the officers, the board includes: Benjamin Altman, B. Altman & Co.; John Jacob Astor; George F. Baker, President First National Bank; Stephen Baker, President Bank of Manhattan Company; Geo. B. Case, White & Case, Attorneys; Henry P. Davison, Vice-President First National Bank; John I. Downey, contractor; Harrison E. Gawtry, Consolidated Gas Co.; Robert Walton Goelet; Adrian Iselin Jr., A. Iselin & Co.; Thomas W. Lamont, Vice-President Bankers Trust Co.; Edgar L. Marston, Blair & Co.; Gates W. McGarrah, President Mechanics National Bank; Charles A. Peabody, President Mutual Life Insurance Co.; George W. Perkins, J. P. Morgan & Co.; William H. Porter, President Chemical National Bank; Roy A. Rainey; Daniel G. Reid, Rock Island System; Douglas Robinson, real estate; Archibald D. Russell; John F. Thompson, Vice-President Bankers Trust Co.; Charles L. Tiffany, Vice-President Tiffany & Co., and Albert H. Wiggin, Vice-President Chase National Bank.

—The directors of the Trust Company of America, at 135 Broadway, this week declared the usual quarterly dividend of 8% and 2% extra, payable to stockholders April 1. This, it will be seen, is at the rate of 40% per year.

—The new European-American National Bank, whose organization we referred to in these columns January 12, will commence business on April 15 at 187 Greenwich Street, corner Dey Street, this city. This bank location is near Washington Market and in a district which is a centre of the meat trade and produce merchants.. The stockholders are nearly all business men in this district. The officers will be: M. F. Dennis, President; Frank Zotti, Vice-President; and Oscar Newfang, Cashier. The directors and their business connections are: George F. Drew, general contractor; M. F. Dennis, of Dennis & Herring; Lyman McCarty, assistant general passenger agent Baltimore & Ohio Railroad; J. W. Melick, of J. W. Melick & Co.; Oscar Newfang, of the Mechanics' & Traders' Bank; William Grant Brown, of the law firm of Cantwell & Brown, 170 Broadway; Charles S. Lee, general passenger agent Lehigh Valley Railroad; F. P. Marsh; S. F. B. Morse, President of Trinity Zinc, Lead & Smelting Co.; Albert J. Simmons, General Eastern Passenger Agent Lehigh Valley RR., and Frank Zotti, private banker. The new institution will have connections with banking houses and besides the domestic banking it expects to do a good foreign exchange business.

—The directors of the Hamilton Bank of this city on the 6th inst favorably passed upon the question of increasing the capital from $200,000 to $300,000—not $800,000, as stated in this column February 23. The stock will be offered to the shareholders pro rata at $200 per share, thereby increasing the surplus to $300,000. There will also be undivided profits of $50,000. The principal object in enlarging the capital is to provide for the opening of additional branches. The bank already operates four branches, and will open the fifth on May 1 at 163d Street and Third Avenue.

—The Manufacturers' National Bank of Brooklynh as increased the regular quarterly dividend payable April 1 to 3½%, or at the rate of 14% per annum. The institution paid previously 3% at each quarterly period with an extra 2% in January 1906 and January 1907.

—The Mutual Alliance Trust Company, at 323 Grand Street, purchased the property at 266 and 268 Grand Street this week and will erect a new bank building for its own occupancy. The company's down-town branch is at Hanover Square. Another branch is to be opened at Lenox Avenue, corner 116th Street. Both the Grand Street office and Lenox Avenue branch will have safe deposit vaults.

—The board of the Oriental Bank of this city has changed the dividend period from semi-annual to quarterly by the declaration of a 2½% dividend, payable April 1st. This is the bank's 108th consecutive dividend. Last year its payments were 5% semi-annually, with an extra dividend of 1%. R. W. Jones Jr. is President, and George W. Adams, Cashier.

—The stockholders of the Guardian Trust Company, at 170 Broadway, elected the following new directors at the recent annual meeting: James E. Nichols, of Austin, Nichols & Co., the wholesale grocers; Erskine Hewitt, of the Trenton Iron Company, and Charles E. F. McCann, to succeed Leonard H. Hole, of W. N. Coler & Co.; Bird M. Robinson and W. F. Balkam. For the class expiring 1910, George W. Fairchild, William A. Barber, Ludwig Nissen, Henry S. Manning and R. H. Rountree were re-elected to the board. At the last call of the State Superintendent of Banking February 26th, the company reported deposits of $5,541,000, comparing with $4,701,000 February 28 1906 and $2,517,000 on January 1 1905. Its combined capital and surplus is $1,000,000, with net undivided profits of $132,123. The institution added 598 new accounts in 1905 and 699 in 1906.

—A quarterly dividend of 2½% has been declared by the Market & Fulton National Bank of this city, payable April 1. Dividends heretofore have been paid semi-annually in January and July at the rate of 10% per annum.

—Announcement was made this week of the retirement of the executive committee (with the exception of Charles D. Barney) serving on the French-American Bank's American Advisory Board. The members resigning are: William A. Read, of William A. Read & Co.; Hans Winterfelt, of Hallgarten & Co.; Robert B. Van Cortlandt, of Kean, Van Cortlandt & Co., and Oakleigh Thorne, President Trust Company of America. The French-American Bank is a French corporation, better known as the Banque Franco-Americaine, which was organized over a year ago with $2,000,000 capital by American and foreign capitalists. The withdrawal of the New York members from its executive committee was caused by a disagreement as to the management of its business from this country. S. D. Scudder, Manager of the New York office at 5 Nassau Street, has resigned and is now connected with the Bank of New York, 48 Wall Street. The other members of the American Advisory Board (not members of the executive committee) having a stockholding interest include: H. Blumenthal, of Hallgarten & Co.; James W. Gerard, Hugh J. Grant, Douglas H. Gordon, President International Trust Co., Baltimore; J. Newman, of Isidore Newman & Son; H. B. Parsons, President of Wells Fargo Bank; John Skelton Williams of Richmond, Va., and P. A. B. Widener of Philadelphia. Henry Brunner of San Francisco, who organized the Italian-American Trust Co. of this city, has, it is stated, acquired about $600,000 of the French-American Bank's capital stock formerly held by the retiring members of the executive committee.

—The Union Bank of Brooklyn Borough was taken over this week by the Mechanics' & Traders' Bank of Manhattan Borough, the stockholders of the first-named institution having on Monday ratified the proposition to transfer its business to the Mechanics'. As noted March 9, the Mechanics' & Traders' has increased its capital from $700,000 to $2,000,000, and its directorate from nineteen to twenty-five members. David A. Sullivan is President.

—The Ironbound Trust Company of Newark, N. J., has been organized with a capital of $100,000 and surplus of $50,000 to conduct a general banking and trust business. The new concern is to begin operations on June 1 at 11 Ferry Street. Its officers, chosen this week, are George Forman, President; Charles O. Lyon and J. Henry Bacheller, Vice-Presidents; and Rufus Keisler Jr., Secretary and Treasurer. Mr. Forman, the President, is Auditor of the City of Newark. His term will expire with the close of 1908. Mr. Bacheller, the Vice-President, is the City Comptroller.

—James C. Gahagen, President and one of the organizers of the Jefferson Trust Company of Hoboken, N. J., died on the 17th inst. He was sixty-two years of age.

—The Middlesex Title Guarantee & Trust Company is the name of an institution lately organized in New Brunswick, N. J. The company has a capital of $100,000, and will be under the management of George A. Viehmann, President; Benjamin F. Howell, Vice-President; George Litterst, Secretary and Treasurer, and Charles D. Ross, Assistant Secretary and Treasurer.

—The organization of the Bristol Trust Company of Bristol, Conn., chartered at the present session of the Legislature, was completed on the 12th inst. The following are the officers chosen: William E. Sessions, President; Charles E. Wooding, Vice-President; Francis A. Beach, Secretary and Treasurer, and George A. Beach, Assistant Secretary and Treasurer. A one-story banking house for the new company will be erected at the corner of Main Street and Riverside Avenue. It will commence business, it is expected, late the present year. The institution has an authorized capital of $500,000.

—The death of M. S. Chapman, President of the City Bank of Hartford, Conn., and ex-State Senator of Connecticut, was announced this week. He was sixty-seven years old.

—An attractive booklet has been issued by the Springfield National Bank of Springfield, Mass., for distribution among its patrons and friends. The object is to portray the progress of the institution from its organization in 1893 to the present time. At its organization the bank had a capital of $200,000 and surplus of $50,000; in July 1904 the capital was increased to $250,000. The surplus and profits are now $358,000, and the ratio of surplus to capital, it is claimed, is the largest of any bank in Springfield. The deposits of the institution have steadily increased, and on February 1 1907 were reported as $2,451,110. The bank is owned and officered by Springfield men, with Henry H. Bowman as President; Robert W. Day, Vice-President; Ralph P. Alden, Cashier, and Philip S. Beebe, Assistant Cashier.

—Frank M. Corry has been chosen President of the First National Bank of Montpelier, Vermont, succeeding F. E. Smith, deceased. F. A. Dwinell replaces Mr. Corry as Vice-President.

—At a special meeting on the 21st inst. the stockholders of the Real Estate Trust Company of Philadelphia ratified the proposition to reduce the total capitalization from $5,300,000 to $5,000,000, through the reduction of the preferred stock from $3,800,000 to $3,500,000. It is stated that a meeting of the stockholders will be held on May 11 to act on a still further reduction to not less than $4,500,000.

—Joseph L. Caven, for the past sixteen years President of the Real Estate Title Insurance & Trust Company of Philadelphia, died on the 17th inst. At the time of his death Mr. Caven was also Vice-President of the United Firemen's Insurance Company and Vice-President and director of the United Power & Transportation Company and the Inter-State Railways of Philadelphia. He was formerly active in politics and for five successive terms was re-elected President of the Common Council. For a quarter of a century he had been a member of the Board of City Trusts. He was seventy-two years of age.

—The First Mortgage Guarantee & Trust Company of Philadelphia began business on Monday at 927-929 Chestnut Street, the former quarters of the failed City Trust, Safe Deposit & Surety Company. The new institution is empowered to conduct a general trust company business; its principal feature, however, will be the handling of first mortgages on guarantee. Its officers are Joseph Savidge, President; John Welsh Dulles, First Vice-President and Treasurer; Charles P. Sherman, Second Vice-President, and William E. Chapman, Secretary.

—Antrim H. Jones has been appointed Second Assistant Cashier of the Central National Bank of Philadelphia.

—Application for a charter for the Fairmount Savings Trust Company of Philadelphia is to be made on April 8. The proposed institution is to have a capital and surplus of $600,000, and is to locate at Fifteenth and Race streets. The President, it is stated, will be John Gribbel, a director of the Girard National Bank.

—Charles Griffith has been elected President of the Citizens' National Bank of Johnstown, Pa., to succeed the late Charles F. Kress. Thomas E. Murphy replaces Mr. Griffith as Vice-President.

—The stockholders of the City Bank of York, Pa., recently ratified a proposition to increase the capital from $100,000 to $250,000. The enlarged capital will go into effect July 1.

—A charter was this week granted to the United States Trust Company of Washington, D. C. The authorized capital is $1,000,000, of which $500,000 is to be paid in before starting business. There is to be no surplus, the stock being sold at par, $100. The following officers have been elected: Daniel N. Morgan, President; C. J. Rixey, William J. Oliver and R. W. Beall, Vice-Presidents; Charles A. Douglas, General Counsel and Trust Officer; Richard E. Claughton, Treasurer, and James Trimble, Secretary. Of the above, Mr. Rixey is President of the Traders' National Bank of Washington; Mr. Douglas is President of a Washington savings bank and Mr. Beall is Vice-President of the Citizens' Savings Bank of that city. The new institution is expected to open on May 1.

—John C. Reilly, President of the Washington National Bank and of the Washington Trust Company of Pittsburgh, died on the 20th inst. He was sixty-three years of age.

—The executive council of the Ohio Bankers' Association at a meeting on the 14th inst. decided to hold the annual session at Cincinnati on June 26 and 27. The matter of dividing the association into groups, which has been under consideration, has been referred to a special committee, which is to report at the next convention. S. B. Rankin of South Charleston, Ohio, is Secretary of the organization.

—The resignation of Howard S. Rodgers as Vice-President of the Merchants' National Bank of Cincinnati was tendered and accepted at a meeting of the directors this week.

—The directors of the Walnut Hills Savings & Banking Company of Cincinnati have elected Bernard Kohn President to take the place of the late S. M. McKenzie.

—It is announced that it has been decided to liquidate the business of the Farmers' Bank of Canton, Ohio. The President of the institution, Horace G. McDowell, committed suicide on the 13th inst. The bank had a capital of $50,000. The last statement, it is said, showed deposits of approximately $320,000.

—Authority from the Circuit Court has been received by the People's Deposit Bank of Indianapolis, Ind., to change its name to the People's State Bank.

—It is credibly reported that the Hamilton National Bank of Chicago will soon remove to the corner of La Salle and Monroe streets, in the New York Life Building, formerly occupied by the American Trust & Savings Bank. This is the pivotal centre of the financial district of Chicago.

—The Jennings Real Estate, Loan & Trust Company of Chicago has of late been undergoing many transformations. A few months since, J. Elliott Jennings, President of a large real estate loan agency in the Chicago First National Bank Building, concluded to add banking in all its departments to his business, and to keep the institution open both night and day. It was Chicago's only "all-night bank." Organized under the State banking laws, with $250,000 capital stock, this company had, according to its last sworn statement, Jan. 28, savings deposits of about $50,000 and demand deposits of over $320,000. Evidently its affairs were not progressing satisfactorily, as last week all the savings accounts were taken over by the Chicago Savings Bank & Trust Company; then announcement was made that the "all-night feature" would be given up, and now a complete change in the control of the institution has been made. It is said that President Jennings, just before his sudden departure for California on Monday night last, transferred his interests to other parties. Charles H. Wilcox, a director in the Federal National Bank, has assumed the management of the trust business with the following associates as directors: W. A. Kjellmann, A. C. Goodrich, M. F. Russell, W. L. Barnum, W. B. Stone. Mr. Kjellmann and Mr. Barnum have been associated with Mr. Jennings in the past management; the other directors are new. The name of this company will be changed and possibly its business location, as rumor has it that the Federal National Bank may occupy the present quarters of the Jennings Real Estate, Loan & Trust Company.

—The Northwestern National Bank of Minneapolis has placed its stock on a dividend basis of 10%, having last week declared a quarterly dividend of 2½%. The surplus has also been increased from $950,000 to $1,000,000, making it equal to the capital. It is further announced that an adequate sum still remains to the credit of undivided profits. An average of 8% per annum has been paid to the stockholders of the institution since its organization in 1872. The stock is bid at 260.

—The stockholders of the First National Bank of Memphis, Tenn., are to meet on April 13 to vote on the proposition to increase the capital from $250,000 to $500,000. They will also consider an amendment to the articles of association with regard to the number of directors. J. A. Omberg was recently elected President of the institution.

—The present year's convention of the North Carolina Bankers' Association is to be held at Durham, N. C., on May 22, 23 and 24.

—The resignation of Charles H. Belvin, as President of the Raleigh (N. C.) Banking & Trust Company, tendered on account of impaired health, was accepted by the directors on the 11th inst. Charles E. Johnson was elected to succeed the retiring President, and W. N. Jones was elected to the office of Vice-President, which had been held by Mr. Johnson.

—For the second time since its organization in 1867, the Fourth National Bank of Nashville, Tenn., has extended its charter for another twenty years. To show the growth in its business during the forty years, the bank compares its statement of March 5 1907 (the date of renewal) with those of March 4 1887, and October 7 1867, the latter being the nearest date obtainable to that of its organization. On the latest date deposits of $5,157,072 are reported, against $1,446,910 in 1887 and $253,629 in 1867; surplus and profits are now $611,323, comparing with $100,750 twenty years ago and $2,654 at the earliest date. The bank started with a capital of $200,000; the amount is now $600,000. The officers are: S. J. Kent, President; J. H. Fall and W. C. Dibrell, Vice-Presidents; J. T. Howell, Cashier; G. W. Pyle and J. S. McHenry, Assistant Cashiers.

—The directors of the Union Savings Bank of Atlanta, Ga., have decided to increase the capital from $50,000 to $100,000. The new stock will be sold at 110 and the premium placed to the surplus. The officers of the institution are J. T. Holleman, President; E. J. Paxon, Vice-President; W. L. Kemp, Treasurer, and J. W. Andrews, Secretary.

—The Merchants' Bank of Augusta, Ga., which recently concluded the purchase of the assets of the Equitable Trust Company of that city, has increased its capital from $75,000 to $140,000. The bank's surplus at the present time is $150,000. No change has been made in its management, which consists of Maurice Walton, President; William J. Hollingsworth, Vice-President, and Albert S. Hatch, Cashier. The resources of the bank are approximately $1,000,000.

—The Pensacola Bank & Trust Company of Pensacola, Fla., began business on the 4th inst with a capital of $200,000. Its officers are: O. L. Bass, President; F. L. Wilkinson, Vice-President and Trust Officer; James B. Perkins, Vice-President and Manager Real Estate Department, and G. C. Scudmore, Cashier.

—The directors of the Whitney-Central National Bank of New Orleans, La., have elected Charles Godchaux to the presidency of the institution to fill the vacancy caused by the death of George Q. Whitney. Charles M. Whitney has been elected a director and a Vice-President of the bank; Morgan Whitney has also been elected to the board of directors.

—The Merchants' National Bank of New Orleans, where several changes have lately occurred in the management, now has as officers: President, Chas. de B. Claiborne, who succeeds J. M. Sherrouse; Vice-Presidents, O. La Cour and Guy Hopkins, and Cashier, Arthur B. La Cour.

—Beverly D. Harris has resigned as Cashier of the City National Bank of Dallas to take the cashiership of the Commercial National Bank of Houston. In the latter office, Mr. Harris succeeds H. R. Eldridge, who has been promoted to the post of Vice-President. The Commercial National now has four Vice-Presidents, the others being James A. Baker, F. Thornwell Fay and John M. Dorrance.

—Another resignation in the City National of Dallas is that of J. A. Pondrom, who resigns as Assistant Cashier to become Vice-President of the Texarkana National Bank of Texarkana, Texas.

—Control of the Hunter-Phelan Savings Bank & Trust Company of Fort Worth, Texas, has passed to W. T. Waggoner, Guy Waggoner, T. B. Yarbrough, J. W. Mitchell and A. B. Wharton. The new interests have secured 905 of the 1,000 shares of the institution, paying for the stock $200 per share, par $100. It is stated that it is the intention of the new owners to change the company's name to the Waggoner Bank & Trust Company. The directors have elected officers as follows: W. T. Waggoner, President; T. B. Yarbrough and A. B. Wharton, Vice-Presidents, and G. L. Waggoner, Cashier. Otho S. Houston and W. L. Smallwood, formerly President and Cashier, will, it is said, open a private bank under the name of Houston, Smallwood & Co.

—P. C. Kauffman, Secretary of the Washington Bankers' Association, advises us that the twelfth annual convention of that organization will be held at Spokane on June 20, 21 and 22.

IMPORTS AND EXPORTS OF GOLD AND SILVER AT SAN FRANCISCO.

The Collector of Customs at San Francisco has furnished us this week the details of imports and exports of gold and silver through that port for the month of February, and we give them below in conjunction with the figures for preceding months, thus completing the results for the eight months of the fiscal year 1906-07. The imports of gold were of moderate volume, reaching $198,038, of which only $25 was coin. Of silver there came in $315,985, mainly bullion and silver in ore. During the eight months there was received a total of $13,613,233 gold and $2,351,505 silver, which compares with $1,847,032 gold and $1,791,965 silver in 1905-06. The shipments of gold during February were very meagre, reaching only $1,500 coin, mainly bullion, and the exports of silver were $276,442 coin. For the eight months the exports of gold reached only $16,735, against $2,516,942 in 1905-06 and $1,640,611 silver was sent out, against $7,959,959 in 1905-06. The exhibit for February and for the eight months is as follows:

Monetary and Commercial English News

London, Saturday, March 9 1907.

The sharp fall in New York this week has intensified the stagnation here and rendered all careful people very cautious how they engage in new risks. The best opinion here continues to be that no serious troubles will ensue. But the general public is quite confused and unable to judge what may happen. Therefore there is very general abstention from business in the Stock Exchange. Moreover, the large issues of American railroad short-term notes which are being placed in Europe creates an apprehension here that gold may be taken for New York in considerable amounts. For some little time past the hope had been growing that the Bank of England would during February and March so strengthen its reserve that it could afford to see gold taken by New York in April. Unfortunately the gold shipments to Argentina and Brazil have been heavier than had been expected. The shipments to Brazil, it is true, have been rather less than expected, but the shipments to Argentina have greatly exceeded expectations.

It was thought that because the imports into Argentina during the past twelve months have increased so immensely Argentina would not be in a position to take gold, and when it became known that the Argentine maize crop had been seriously injured the opinion became strong here that the gold shipments would be practically stopped. Unfortunately they have continued. On Thursday, for example, about £600,000 was taken from the Bank for South America. It is true £200,000 was received. Still the continuous drain for South America makes it highly probable that the Bank will not be able to strengthen itself, as was generally hoped. Another unfavorable circumstance is that during the past week the Indian Government has "ear-marked" a very large amount of gold, and thereby has further weakened the Bank of England. Consequently the fear now is that if much gold is taken for New York in April the Bank of England will not be able to reduce its rate and quite possibly may have to advance it.

In Paris there has this week been a decided drop in copper and diamond shares, which has checked business. Prices are still enormously high, and operators must have made large profits. Still the sharp check has for the moment discouraged them, the more particularly as the Income Tax Bill is regarded with great disfavor by the whole of the investing classes. In Germany business upon the Stock Exchange is very slack and operators generally are taking a rather unfavorable opinion. No doubt they are principally influenced by the long liquidation in New York. They have a fear, moreover, that trade in America is beginning to decline, and that in consequence American competition, especially in iron and steel, may inflict great damage upon German trade.

Parr's Bank, the Hong Kong & Shanghai Banking Corporation, the Yokohama Specie Bank and the Messrs. Rothschild bring out to-day a new Japanese loan to pay off the 6 per cents. The latter amount to 22 millions sterling. The new loan is for 23 millions sterling. It is to be issued half in London and half in Paris. It is to bear interest at 5% and the issue price is 99½. The Japanese Government can redeem it in 15 years, or at any time afterwards by giving six months' previous notice. If no notice is given the loan becomes redeemable in forty years. The loan was easily underwritten and is expected to be a decided success. In Paris, indeed, the eargerness to get allotments is very great.

The Board of Trade returns for February are again highly satisfactory. Indeed, both imports and exports are the largest ever recorded. It is to be borne in mind, however, that prices have risen very materially, and that consequently the increase does not always represent augmented quantities. The value of the imports was £52,927,347, being an increase over February of last year of £5,400,094, or 11.3%. The value of the exports of British and Irish produce and manufactures was £32,073,345, an increase of £3,302,222, or 11.4% The value of the re-exports was £9,425,830, an increase of £1,429,970, or 17.8%. For the two months of the new year the value of the imports has increased 12.3%, the value of the British and Irish exports has increased 12.7, and the value of the re-exports has increased 17.9%.

Money has continued throughout the week in strong demand and is likely to continue so for the remainder of the month. For short loans the rate is about 4½%, for three months' bills about 4¾%. Everything points to a maintenance of the high rates, and, as already said, there is a fear that if much gold is taken for New York next month the Bank of England may have to resort to exceptional measures to protect its reserve.

The India Council offered for tender on Wednesday 106 lacs of bills, and the applications amounted to nearly 300 lacs, at prices ranging from 1s. 4 1-16d. to 1s. 4 5-32d. per rupee. Applicants for bills at 1s. 4 3-32d. and for telegraphic transfers at 1s. 4 5-32d. per rupee were allotted about 54% of the amounts applied for.

* March 9 1905.

Messrs. Pixley & Abell write as follows under date of March 7.

GOLD.—The Bank has again secured the gold in the open market, amounting to about £800,000, after satisfying the Indian demand. During the week the Bank has received £659,000, almost entirely in bars. On the other hand the withdrawals have been large, amounting to £1,227,000, of which £327,000 is for Brazil and £400,000 for the Argentine, the net result being a loss of £568,000 on the week. Next week £376,000 is due from South Africa. Arrivals—Cape, £731,000; Australia, £266,000; Bombay, £96,000; West Africa, £77,000; West Indies, £17,000; total, £1,187,000. Shipments—Bombay, £154,550; Madras, £14,750; total, £169,300.

SILVER.—The market has been a disappointing one, there has been practically no demand for the Indian Bazaars and, in the absence of competition, the special buyers had the market to themselves, and the price has fallen to 31 11-16d., closing steady. Forward has varied from ¼d. to 3-16d. under cash. Price in India is Rs. 81 1-16 per 100 Tolahs. Arrivals—New York, £113,000; West Indies, £8,000; total, £121,000. Shipments—Bombay, £258,900; Adelaide (coin), £38,100; total, £297,000.

MEXICAN DOLLARS.—There is practically no business to report. Arrivals—New York, £91,000. Shipments—Bombay, £56,500.

DIVIDENDS.

We have changed the method of making up our weekly list of dividends. Heretofore our record has included only the dividends announced each week, but for the convenience of our readers we now enlarge the scope of the compilation so as to show also dividends previously declared, but the date of payment of which has not yet arrived. In the new form the statement indicates all the dividends announced for the future by all large or important corporations.

Dividends announced this week are printed in italics.

Statement of New York City Clearing-House Banks.—The following statement shows the condition of the New York City Clearing-House banks for the week ending Mch. 16. It should be distinctly understood that as to all items except capital and surplus the figures are the averages of the daily results, not the totals at the end of the week. In other words, in reporting loans and deposits and holdings of specie and legal tenders, the practice is to take the aggregate of the amounts for the several days of the week and divide this aggregate by the number of days.

We omit two ciphers (00) in all cases.

Wall Street, Thursday Night, March 22 1907.

The Money Market and Financial Situation.—Slow and irregular progress has been made in a return to normal conditions since the disturbance noted last week in the security markets. There was a fairly substantial recovery from the low prices then recorded, but the eagerness usually manifested at such a time to buy seems now not to have been participated in very generally by the investing public, but by traders seeking quick profits. Any advance under such conditions is likely to be temporary, as the steady decline of values to-day demonstrates.

The local money market is also more quiet, but abroad the situation is such that the Bank of France has deemed it expedient to advance its rate from 3 to 3½%. The importance of this action is suggested by the fact that for more than seven years this Bank has not found it necessary to establish so high a rate.

Considerable interest attaches, in railway and financial circles, to recent announcements by railway companies of the cancellation of orders for improvements and equipment. Of course the importance of such a movement depends upon the extent to which it is carried, but its present proportions are such as to attract attention and invite comment.

The open market rates for call loans on the Stock Exchange during the week on stock and bond collaterals have ranged from 2 to 6%. To-day's rates on call were 4@5%. Prime commercial paper quoted at 6@6½% for endorsements and 6@6½% for best single names.

The Bank of England weekly statement on Thursday showed an increase in bullion of £150,140, and the percentage of reserve to liabilities was 44.00, against 46.39 last week.

The discount rate remains as fixed Jan. 17 at 5%. The Bank of France shows a decrease of 3,325,000 francs in gold and 375,000 francs in silver.

Foreign Exchange.—The market was unsettled and lower until Thursday, influenced by derangement in securities, accompanied by disquieting rumors of the embarassment of international bankers; on Thursday there was a recovery and the tone was strong on Friday because of a good demand for remittance.

To-day's (Friday's) nominal rates for sterling exchange were 4 80 for sixty-day and 4 84½ for sight. To-day's (Friday's) actual rates for sterling exchange were 4 79@4 7915 for long, 4 8350@4 8360 for short and 4 8425@4 8435 for cables. Commercial on banks 4 7860@4 7870 and documents for payment 4 78@4 79¾. Cotton for payment 4 78@4 78¼, cotton for acceptance 4 7860@4 7870 and grain for payment 4 79½@4 79¾.

To-day's (Friday's) actual rates for Paris bankers' francs were 5 25⅝@5 25 for long and 5 23⅛@5 22½*h* for short. Germany bankers' marks were 93½@93 9-16 for long and 94 5-16@94⅜*d* for short. Amsterdam bankers' guilders were 39 84@39 86 for short.

The week's range for exchange rates follows:

The following were the rates for domestic exchange at the undermentioned cities to-day: Savannah buying, 50c. per $1,000 discount; selling, 75c. per $1,000 premium. Charleston selling, $1 per $1,000 premium. New Orleans bank, 85c. per $1,000 discount; commercial, $1 per $1,000 discount. Chicago, 10c. per $1,000 premium. St. Louis, 40c. per $1,000 premium. San Francisco, $1 50 per $1,000 premium.

State and Railroad Bonds.—The transactions in railway and industrial bonds have been on a smaller scale than last week, steadily diminishing day by day, but are still above the average of recent months. There has been a partial recovery in many cases from the depression reported in our last issue. Among the exceptions are Burlington & Quincy joint 4s, Delaware & Hudson con. 4s, Norfolk & Western con. 4s and U. S. Steel 5s, which are fractionally lower. Some of these have been notably active, as have Atchison, Rock Island, Erie and Pennsylvania, which are higher.

United States Bonds.—Sales of Government bonds at the Board are limited to $30,000 4s, coup., 1907, at 101⅞. The following are the daily closing quotations; for yearly range see third page following.

Railroad and Miscellaneous Stocks.—As is usual after a serious break in prices, the stock market was decidedly irregular during the early part of this week. Later it became more settled and the volume of business about normal. The lowest prices of the week were generally recorded on Tuesday. These were an average of from 3 to 10 points above the low level reached last week. On Wednesday the tone was firmer, with a substantial recovery in most cases. On Thursday the market was relatively dull, only about 640,000 shares having been traded in, as against nearly 2,600,000 shares on Thursday of last week, and no marked tendency was apparent in either direction. To-day the selling pressure was renewed, causing increased activity and a general decline of prices. The latter amounted to an average of from 2 to 6 points for a large portion of the active list and carried several issues below the previous lowest prices of the week, Erie being conspicuous in the movement. Delaware & Hudson has covered a range of 12½ points, Union Pacific 11, Reading and North West. 10, Great Northern 8, Northern Pacific and Illinois Central 7 and other prominent issues from 3 to 5.

For daily volume of business see page 681.

Outside Market.—Following the lead of the Stock Exchange, the "curb" market has been irregular this week with the trading dull. Boston Consolidated Copper from 26 moved up to 27½, then dropped to 25, recovering finally to 26⅜. British Columbia Copper advanced from 7¼ to 8⅝, fell back to 7½, later advancing to 8. Butte Coalition ran up from 27½ to 31½, declined to 28, and ends the week at 30. After selling up from 17⅛ to 18, Greene Cananea sank back to 15⅞, closing to-day at 16. Greene Consolidated Copper improved in the early part of the week from 25⅛ to 26¾, but closed to-day at 23¾. Nevada Consolidated Copper rose from 15½ to 16¾, dropped to 14 and ends the week at 14¼. United Copper common opened the week at 65, advanced to 68⅝, then declined to 64½. It moved upward again, closing to-day at 65½. Nipissing sold up from 11¾ to 13¾, fell back to 12 and ends the week at the low figure. Newhouse gained 2½ points to 22½, the close to-day being at 21¼. In industrials Waterbury Company common was an active feature, losing a point to 48¼, but advancing finally to 50½. Western Ice was steady, fluctuating between 26¼ and 26⅞. Standard Oil from 509¾ advanced to 515, but subsequently sank to 509. Havana Tobacco common sold up from 10¼ to 11¾, but the preferred lost 4 points to 20. International Mercantile Marine preferred declined from 22½ to 20½. Chicago Subway, after an advance from 19¾ to 21, moved down to 16⅛ and closed to-day at 16¼. Great Northern "rights" from 18 went to 20½, sank to 11¼, recovering finally to 15.

RAILROAD GROSS EARNINGS.

The following table shows the gross earnings of every STEAM railroad from which regular weekly or monthly returns can be obtained. The first two columns of figures give the gross earnings for the latest week or month, and the last two columns the earnings for the period from July 1 to and including such latest week or month. We add a supplementary statement to show the fiscal year totals of those roads whose fiscal year does not begin with July, but covers some other period. The returns of the street railways are brought together separately on a subsequent page.

Net Earnings Monthly to Latest Dates.—The following shows the gross and net earnings to latest dates of all STEAM railroads furnishing monthly statements. The compilation includes every road from which we can get a return of this character, and in that form is given once a month. Early returns are published from week to week, as soon as issued, but for the convenience of our readers all the roads making returns are brought together here in the week in which we publish our monthly article on net earnings—say, about the 20th of the month.

Texas & Pacific Railway.

President George J. Gould says in substance:

Earnings.—The entire territory tributary to the road, both in Texas and Louisiana, enjoyed exceptional prosperity during the past year. Our gross earnings were $14,914,608, compared with $12,130,391 in 1905, an increase of 22.95%. The expenses of operation were $9,854,923, compared with $8,210,167, an increase of 20%, while the net earnings were $5,059,685, an increase of $1,139,460, or 29.06%. These earnings are the largest in the history of the company. The earnings per mile show the same relative results, the gross earnings per mile being $8,110 and the net per mile $2,751 (contrasting with $6,643 and $2,147 respectively in 1905.—Ed.)

The increase of expenses of operation was $1,644,757; of this, 54%, or $901,079, was for labor and fuel. The labor question continues to present a serious problem and the demands of labor are a growing burden which is more difficult to carry from year to year.

Marked development in the sparsely settled territory west of the 98th meridian is particularly noticeable. The yield of cotton alone in that section has increased from 44,958 bales in 1902 to 133,719 bales in 1906, while the area under cultivation expanded in like proportion. This territory is receiving large accession of farmer settlers.

Perhaps the best indication of permanent growth that a railway operating in a comparatively new country can show is in its annual increase of local freight per mile. The Texas & Pacific shows:

Local Freight Business from 1903 to 1906.

	1906.	1905.	1904.	1903.
Local frt. transp'ted (tons)	2,005,635	1,782,576	1,595,682	1,454,503
do do per mile of road	1,090.6	976.2	873.8	842.2

The total number of passengers carried 1 mile, local and through, increased 32.63% over last year.

The capacity of the road has been taxed to the utmost during the year to move the business offered and to avoid the congestion that impeded traffic upon the lines terminating at Galveston. The cotton crop during the past year, both in Texas and Louisiana, shows increased acreage, particularly in the country tributary to the company's lines, and the plant has been healthier, probably due to increased care bestowed upon its cultivation.

Road.—No increase has occurred in the mileage of the company's lines in Texas or Louisiana during the year 1906. The extension of the Avoyelles branch from Simmesport to Melville (21.76 miles), constructed in 1905, was put in operation early in the year 1906, and the increased mileage resulting therefrom appears in this report.

New Equipment Trust.—A new series of equipment trust certificates was issued during the year designated Series G, amounting to $250,000, secured by the following equipment: 12 locomotives, 75 combination coal and ballast cars, 20 caboose cars, 3 baggage and express cars, 1 baggage, mail and express car, 1 postal car. (V. 83, p. 1591.)

x Included in the income account below.—Ed

Maintenance and Improvements.—The following expenditures for the proper maintenance and improvement of the property, aggregating $1,117,228, were made during the year. Of this amount $198,073 was charged to capital account and the balance to income:

Ballast	$200,189	Side tracks	$29,949
Changing alignment and grading	104,946	Double tracks	42,886
Ditching and embanking	49,614	Bridges and culverts	138,867
Filling bridges	13,695	Telegraph line construct'n	28,306
Steel rails and cost of laying	303,846	Buildings, structures, &c	204,930

The amount charged to maintenance of way and structures during the year was $1,522,081, being an increase of $231,396 over last year; 123½ miles, or 14,555 tons, of 75-lb. steel rails were laid in track during the year, making a total of 1,172.6 miles of main track laid with 75-lb. steel rails. 843,072 cross-ties and 399 sets of switch-ties were also laid in the track during the year, at a cost of $370,208. The following ballast was placed in the track during the year, at a cost of $200,189: Rock, 4.20 miles; cinders, 6.03 miles; gravel, 67.60 miles; total, 77.83 miles.

Bonds, &c.—The amount of funded debt per mile of road owned and operated by this company was on Dec. 31 1906 $29,498, on which the interest charge per mile was $1,552; of this $711.85 was conditional on earnings, while the net earnings per mile for the year were $2,751. Capital stock issued per mile, $20,976.

Pittsburgh & Lake Erie RR.

President W. H. Newman says in substance:

New Stock.—On Dec. 12 1906 the board of directors passed a resolution providing for the increasing of the capital stock from $10,000,000 to $30,000,000, all of which is to be common stock. This increase was approved by the stockholders at a special meeting held Feb. 28 1907.

Agreement.—On Nov. 28 1906 an agreement was made with the Wabash-Pittsburgh Terminal Railway Co. for the joint use of our tracks between the Terminal Company's connection at West End, Pittsburgh, and our freight terminals at Pittsburgh, a distance of 2 miles; the abandoning of the Terminal Company's river tipple at Saw Mill Run to enable our road to raise its tracks above high water, and the exchanging of real estate for terminal purposes in Pittsburgh, for the mutual advantage of both companies.

General Results.—The earnings in comparison with 1905 show increases as follows:

Freight traffic	12.74%	Gross earnings	12.80%
Passenger traffic	13.16%	Net earnings	11.44%

Extraordinary Expenditures in Operating Expenses.—The expenses for the year include extraordinary items aggregating $4,933,416, viz.:

Rights of way	$804,266	New depots and buildings	$388,272
New sidings	266,197	New bridges	147,557
Second track	43,173	Koppel branch	9,768
Third track	379,112	Ellwood Southern extension	5,704
Fourth track	210,753	New locomotives	257,600
Interlock. and elec. signals	19,946	New passenger cars	143,587
Removal grade crossings	34,861	New freight cars	2,222,619

Controlled Companies.—The earnings of the Pittsburgh Chartiers & Youghiogheny Ry. were sufficient to pay the expenses, fixed charges, 6% dividend, and retire twenty-nine bonds. The increased earnings of the Monongahela RR. enabled it to pay its fixed charges, retire a few first mortgage bonds and apply the balance to the betterment of the property.

United Railways Co. of St. Louis.

President John I. Beggs, Jan. 21 1907, writes in substance:

Earnings.—The gross earnings and other income increased $686,332 (8.11%); operating expenses, taxes, reserve fund accretions and depreciation charges increased $249,043 (4.68%), leaving a surplus for the year over and above the preferred stock dividend of $552,300 (2.22% on the common stock).

Acquisition of the St. Louis & Suburban Ry.—All the property, franchises and other assets of the St. Louis & Suburban Ry. Co. were acquired and the property deeded to the United Railways Co. of St. Louis, and we commenced operating the lines as part of our system at midnight of Dec. 31 1906. This property was acquired by the exchange of 40,000 shares of the preferred capital stock of the United Railways Co. of St. Louis for an equal amount—the entire amount outstanding—of the capital stock of the St. Louis & Suburban Ry. and by the United Railways Co. of St. Louis assuming the principal and interest of the bonded debt of the St. Louis & Suburban Ry., amounting in the aggregate to $7,500,000, together with its floating debt, aggregating about $447,000. By this acquisition we acquired 105.32 miles of additional track; 41.20 miles located in the city of St. Louis and 64.12 miles located in the county of St. Louis, bringing our total trackage as of Jan. 1 1907 up to 456.14 miles; 350.09 miles being in the city of St. Louis and 106.05 miles in the county of St. Louis.

The gross earnings of the St. Louis & Suburban Ry. for the year 1906 were $1,144,040.54. The operating expenses and fixed charges, however exceeded the gross receipts for the year 1906 to the amount of $96,800.

Under the terms of the purchase of the St. Louis & Suburban Railway property, dividends are not to be paid upon the preferred stock given in exchange for the stock of the St. Louis & Suburban property until after Jan. 15 1908, and we believe that during 1908 the consolidated property will earn the dividend on all of the preferred stock outstanding without reducing greatly—if any—the surplus which would naturally have accrued in that year for the common stock of your property.

Funded Debt.—The funded debt was increased during the year by $7,500,000—the amount of bonds outstanding against the St. Louis & Suburban.

The $700,000 underlying 5% bonds of the Missouri RR. due March 1 1906 were paid and $700,000 first general mortgage bonds of the United Railways Co. were issued in their stead, and these, with $300,000 of the same issue in the treasury to the credit of our reserve funds were disposed of to certain banks and trust companies of the City of St. Louis at 86%. The proceeds of the sale of the $700,000, together with a sufficient amount from our current funds to meet the discount, was used to liquidate the Missouri RR. bonds, the amount of discount having been charged against the surplus earnings.

On July 1 1907 $1,500,000 underlying 6% bonds of the Citizens' Railway will mature, for which will be issued 10-us first general 4% bonds reserved for this purpose, reducing the annual fixed charges of the company $30,000.

Reserve Funds.—The injuries and damages reserve fund and the fire insurance reserve fund have been increased during the year by charging in against operating expenses an amount in excess of the amount paid out. Five per cent of the gross receipts each month has been carried to a depreciation reserve fund to meet extraordinary outlays for replacements and renewals (see balance sheets below.—Ed.).

Power and Sub-Stations.—During the year the Union Depot power plant was discontinued and a part of the machinery sold. A new sub-station is under construction at Spring Ave. and when completed the operation of the Cass Ave. power plant will be discontinued. In sub-stations rotaries representing an aggregate of 3,500 K. W. were installed.

Cars and Equipment.—No additional passenger cars were added to the equipment, but with the beginning of the new year it is expected we will be able to commence the construction of cars in our new shops.

Track and Roadway.—During the year there were reconstructed about 25.57 miles of track, which were relaid on a concrete base with 9-inch grooved rail, and 1.60 miles were relaid with 75-lb. tee rail and 0.17 miles re-laid with 7-inch girder rail, all replacing very badly worn track. During 1907 it is proposed to reconstruct a large mileage of track in about the same way.

Lackawanna Steel Company.

President E. A. S. Clarke, West Seneca, Erie County, N. Y., March 13 1907, quotes from the preliminary statement cited in V. 84, p. 269, and says:

In addition to items mentioned above (in the preliminary report in V. 84 p. 269), there was formed during the past year a corporation, named the Seneca Transportation Co., to operate under charter vessels on the Great Lakes for transporting your products. The entire capital stock, $5,000 par value, is owned by your company. During the year there was shipped in this way 168,743 gross tons of finished material.

Your directors also authorized the construction of an extension to No. 7 blooming mill, to be known as No. 8 mill, which will produce small billets and sheet bars. The product of this mill will be shipped in part to the Seneca Iron & Steel Co., a corporation which is building sheet and hoop mills in the vicinity of your works at Buffalo, which corporation your company has contracted to supply with its requirements of steel.

It has seemed wise to make additional deductions from earnings for depreciation, &c., as shown in the income account.

The certified public accountants say in part: "We have satisfied ourselves that only actual additions and extensions have been charged to property account; that the provisions made for depreciation and extinguishment during the year are ample and that the treatment of the organization expenses and deferred charges is fair and reasonable."

Note.—We learn that the Lake Erie Company was incorporated in New Jersey in May 1905 as a holding company for the Brotherton and the Sunday Lake mines (which were incorporated in Michigan). It has issued stock of $100,000, par $100, all practically owned by the Lackawanna Steel Co., and $1,100,000 collateral sinking fund 5% gold bonds dated May 1 1905, due May 1 1920, but subject to call at 102½ and interest on any interest day. Denomination $1,000; interest payable May and November at the office of the company. Trust Co. of America, trustee. Guaranteed principal and interest by the Lackawanna Steel Co. Of these bonds $150,000 have been paid off and a like number will probably be called this May. There is a sinking fund of 75 cents on each ton of ore shipped.—Ed.

Cambria Steel Company.

The report, signed by E. B. Morris, Chairman of Executive Committee, and Powell Stackhouse, President, says, under date of Philadelphia, Feb. 20 1907:

General.—Shipments of steel show an increase of 11.9% in quantity, and the gross value of all products shipped 25.6% over the preceding year, which was your previous maximum year. Your mills and shops have been fully supplied with orders, and the volume of business has been satisfactory; you have suffered, as have all other industrial corporations, by the scarcity of properly skilled labor. The continued advance in the value of your supplies of all materials and the expansion of your business in tonnage and amount involved, demand a constantly increasing working capital reducing your cash reserves.

Stock.—The authorized capital stock named in the charter is $50,000,000, of which $15,000,000 has been issued; the remaining $5,000,000 can only be issued at not less than par.

Notes Paid.—The last of the $3,500,000 term notes issued Dec. 15 1900 were paid on Dec. 15 1906.

Mineral Properties.—The coal, iron ore and limestone properties owned produced satisfactory results. Your Penn Iron Mining Co. shipped from its mines on the Menominee Range, Mich., 497,350 tons of iron ore for use at your works. The Republic Iron Co. of Michigan, of which you own over 99½% of the capital stock, shipped from its mines 181,031 tons of iron ore, about 132,000 tons for your use, the remainder having been sold. The Mahoning Ore & Steel Co., Mesabi district, Minn., of which you own 50% of the capital stock, produced, on account of your one-half interest, 608,374 tons of iron ore in 1906; its annual output can be increased, when required, and its ore reserves are ample to supply you with this class of ores for a very long term of years.

General Office at Johnstown.—A six-story fireproof office building is now under roof and should be ready for occupancy early in the coming summer.

Cambria Plant.—A large sum has been expended for minor betterments and remodeling the original Cambria plant, the chief of which is the replacement of the old and inadequate machine shop with an enlarged fireproof building, with modern tools. This is expected to be fully completed within this year. Steel stock handling bins for No. 5 and 6 blast furnaces are under construction.

Gautier Plant.—The new 24-inch universal plate mill was turned over to the operating department in May last and has produced the expected results. A 22-inch plate and break-down mill is now building. The temporary wooden buildings erected over the mills after the flood of 1889 are being replaced by steel construction, eliminating a serious fire risk.

Franklin Plant.—The seventh battery of 56 Otto-Hoffman coke ovens is now producing coke; the eighth battery, 56 ovens, is being dried out and will be making coke about April 1. No. 8 blast furnace was authorized March 13 1906 and is now under construction. A 200-ton hot metal receiver and two additional 50-ton open-hearth furnaces (Nos. 16 and 17) are now under construction. Additions will be required to your bloom and billet mill before your steel making plant can be further increased.

Car Shop.—This plant has been in full operation since the early part of 1905 and orders in hand assure like conditions for 1907. Considerable additions were made in 1906 and are now in progress, all of which should be completed within the first half of 1907.

Improvements.—There was expended for improvements $2,385,841; of this amount $2,289,696 was charged to plant additions, and the remainder, $96,145, was repaid by amount realized from sales in 1906 of real estate and minerals, under terms of your lease from Cambria Iron Co. There was expended, in addition, $337,490 for replacements and alterations, and charged to operating accounts. Further considerable additions are required, which will be made as rapidly as conditions justify; with a continuance of present business it is hoped that the cost may be met from earnings in excess of the usual dividends.

Manufacturers' Water Co.—This corporation, of which you control the entire capital stock, provides the water supply for your works; your use during 1906 averaged 71,000,000 gallons daily. No construction work has been done on the Quemahoning dam and pipe line, but all the property within the limits of the proposed dam has been purchased and construction should not be long delayed.

American Iron & Steel Manufacturing Co.

Pres. J. H. Sternbergh, Lebanon, Pa., Feb. 12 1907, wrote:

The admirable financial statement shown herewith is the best we have ever made. The business of 1906 far surpassed in tonnage and value any year in our history, and is accounted for mainly by an enormous and steady demand for our products and in part by the up-to-date condition of our works.

We spent during the year for betterments and extensions, mainly for new buildings and new machinery, $167,901, and increased the reserve fund to provide for depreciation by $65,500; and we have paid the usual dividends on our preferred and common stock (5% and 8% respectively per annum, calling for $354,000.—Ed.); and increased considerably our stock of raw materials and finished goods; and after all this show an increased balance of undivided profits amounting at the close of business Dec. 31 1906 to $1,618,219 80.

American Ice Securities Company.

President Henry H. Head, writing from the New York office, 1170 Broadway, on March 1 1907, says:

Your President has personally inspected the majority of the properties of the American Ice Co. and is pleased to state that they are in a splendid state of repair and efficiency. Great liberality of expenditure for repairs and betterments has been exercised with the view of permanent and economical conditions for production and distribution. Since the properties are now up to a standard condition, it should cost comparatively little in the future to maintain them, and much of the earnings that have gone into repairs and betterments during the past three years should hereafter be applicable to division among the stockholders. The supply of ice for next summer in all the company's departments has been secured, and is ample for all its needs. So that in equipment, organization and supply, the American Ice Co. faces its season in the best condition for successful operation in the whole scope of its existence.

The Electrical Development Co. of Ontario, Limited.

(Report for Fiscal Year ending Dec. 31 1906.)

The directors report as follows:

Operations.—The construction is not yet completed, and although a small amount has been received from the sale of power, it is not sufficient to warrant any statement of profit and loss.

Acquisitions in New York State.—The company intends to distribute power in the United States through the Niagara Falls Electrical Transmission Co., and valuable franchises have been secured from municipalities for the sale of power, and, in furtherance of this policy, the company has acquired bonds and stock in the Transmission Company mentioned, also in the Niagara Falls Gas & Electric Co. and the Albion Power Co., all of which companies are now owned and controlled by this company. A nucleus has thus been created, from which the future development of the company in New York State will spring.

Bonds.—The authorized issue of bonds is $10,000,000, $8,000,000 of which have been underwritten and sold; there are in the treasury $2,000,000 authorized bonds, the proceeds of which will be sufficient to complete the development, except the further electrical apparatus for the additional units, and the extension of the power-house building, whenever they may be required. (Compare V. 82, p. 694, 1043.)

Extracts from Address of President Pellatt at Annual Meeting Feb. 25.

The works of the company at Niagara Falls are now in operation, and power is being delivered over the lines of the Toronto & Niagara Power Co. into the city of Toronto. The transmission line has been tested over its full length of 84 miles, and is carrying power without interruption. We have installed two units complete, each with a capacity of 12,500 horsepower, equal to 25,000 horse-power; a third unit of the same capacity will be ready for operation about April 1 next and a fourth unit one month thereafter, making a total of 50,000 horse-power.

Power was turned on in Toronto in the last week of November, and from that time to the present the Toronto Railway Co. and the Toronto Electric Light Co. have been using it in increasing quantities, but it was not until Jan. 14 that 24-hour power could be delivered. The aforesaid companies, between them, are taking over 10,000 horse-power, and each, according to its capabilities, will continue increasing its load until the steam plants are entirely shut down.

We are now in receipt of earnings—large earnings, too—and next year I believe that I shall be able to say to you that the whole of the fixed charges is more than paid out of earnings. How much more than this we can do depends, of course, upon the market that we can develop. [The President also went quite fully into the position of the company in its relation to the Canadian Hydro-Electric Commission, the Burton Act (V. 84, p. 223) and the pending treaty regarding the protection of Niagara Falls.—Ed.]

Extracts from Speech of Vice-President and General Manager Nicholls.

The Toronto Electric Light Co. will this week increase their consumption by an additional 2,000 horse-power. In the past ten years the total income of the Toronto Railway Co. has increased over 300% and the income of the Toronto Electric Light Co. nearly 350%. This percentage of growth should not materially diminish. In addition to the complete requirements of these large companies, we expect, before the end of the current year, to be supplying electric power for at least certain sections of the Toronto &

York Radial Railway Co., the Niagara St. Catherines & Toronto Ry. Co. and several of our large industries. In addition, the construction of the Toronto Niagara & Western Ry. will be commenced this spring and should be completed some time next year. This is the company that has leased the right to construct and operate a railway upon our right-of way between Toronto and Niagara Falls, and from whom we will receive a revenue both for the use of the right-of way and for the consumption of the electric power required in its operation. (V. 82, p. 694.)

Practically our whole development for 125,000 horse-power will be completed this year, except the remaining water wheels and generators and the continuation of the power-house. The head works, wheel pit and tail race tunnels are finished for the full output, and to sell this output we realize we must make a price which will command a ready sale.

Mexican Light & Power Co., Limited.

Friends of the company write to us as follows:

The surplus earnings applicable to dividend upon the common stock amounted to $256,843, equal to about 1.90%. The estimated net for 1907 of $1,760,000 should leave a surplus equal to about 5¼% upon the stock, out of which the company would, we think, be justified in commencing dividends during the latter part of the year.

President George A. Drummond, Montreal, Jan. 28 1907, says in substance:

Construction.—At the close of the year it was possible to effect sweeping reductions in the construction staff and to reorganize upon a more economical operating basis.

Power-house No. 1, at Necaxa, is now nearly completed and there remains at Necaxa no other construction work of importance, except dam No. 2, which is now ready for sluicing, and upon which work will proceed during the whole of this year. Dam No. 1, at Tenango, was completed in July; but in December the concrete spill-way was raised two meters.

The Laguna dam is now constructed to a height of nine meters above the river bottom. It will have storage capacity, at this height, of 22,000,000 cubic meters of water, but, owing to the delay in the completion of the Carmen canal and tunnel for the diversion of the Upper Necaxa River into the Laguna storage basin, the amount of water stored is now only 11,000,000 cubic meters; the General Manager hopes that this will be sufficient, with other supplies, to carry all peak loads during the ensuing dry season with the use of very little steam power. The Carmen canal is about 5 kilometers and the tunnel is 880 meters in length. The canal was completed in October; but the tunnel not till November.

The Los Reyes canal and tunnel have also been constructed to divert the upper waters of Los Reyes River into the Necaxa Basin, and it is estimated that this will procure an additional monthly supply of 1,000,000 to 3,000,000 cubic meters of water during dry seasons, and, together with the Laguna Basin, supply the requirements of power-house No. 1, at Necaxa, pending the construction of dam No. 2.

Franchises, &c.—A new franchise authorizing the company to maintain subterranean cables and aerial transmission lines for the supply of electric energy for lighting, motive power and other purposes to the City of Mexico and to all towns and places in the Federal District of Mexico until the year 2012 was granted June 30 1906 and ratified by the Federal Congress on Nov. 26 1906. The contract for the supply of electric energy during 20 years for pumping potable waters for the city, which was signed on May 16 last, was ratified on Oct. 22 1906. The franchises of the company are now consolidated and ratified by decrees of the Federal Congress of Mexico on a basis both equitable and satisfactory. (Compare V. 83, p. 490.)

Lease—Bonds Assumed.—All the properties of the Mexican Electric Light Co., Limited, including those purchased from the Mexican Gas & Electric Light Co., Ltd., and from La Compania Explotadora de las Fuerzas Hidro-Electricas de San Ildefonso, S. A., were leased by this company from Jan. 1 1906 for 99 years, under a contract by which this company assumes the payment of the principal and interest of the $6,000,000 bonds of the Mexican Electric Light Co., Ltd., and all the expenses of operating and maintaining the works and lines of said company, the capital stock of which is owned and controlled by the Mexican Light & Power Co. (Compare V. 81, p. 35, 730; V. 83, p. 497, 1415.)

Earnings.—In January 1906 the General Manager made an estimate of earnings and operating expenses for the past year. This estimate and also the actual earnings for the past year, and the estimate for 1907 follow:

	Est. 1906.	Actual 1906.	Est. 1907.
Gross earnings	$4,012,000	$3,854,194	$5,042,000
Operating expenses	1,440,000	1,476,975	1,522,000
Net earnings, Mexican currency	$2,572,000	$2,377,219	$3,520,000
Net earnings, gold	$1,286,000	$1,188,609	$1,760,000

The company, out of its net earnings of $1,188,609 gold for 1906, applied $113,323 gold for the maintenance of its plants and carried the balance of $1,075,286 gold to profit and loss account. The operating expenses of $1,476,975, Mexican currency, includes $591 501 for steam power pending the completion of the hydraulic plant. The net earnings fell $97,391 gold below the estimates because (1) the Tramway Company was unable to procure its machinery so as to take power on Oct. 1 as agreed; (2) the mining companies at El Oro encountered similar delays and also operated with less power than expected; (3) the City of Mexico did not make certain anticipated extensions in the public lighting. If the tramways, mining and manufacturing companies with which this company has made contracts for the delivery of power can secure early deliveries of their machinery, motors, &c., from the manufacturers, the net earnings for 1907 should be increased to about $2,000,000 gold.

Supply of Electric Energy.—On Jan. 1 1907 the installations connected in the Federal District of Mexico at El Oro were approximately 46,635 h.p., as follow: Public lighting, 1,542 arcs, equal to 1,370 h.p.; private lighting, number of 16 c.p. lamp equivalents 268,372, or 19,770 h.p.; small motor units, 9,050 h.p.; large motor units, 6,570 h.p.; tramway, 660 h.p.; El Oro mines, 9,225 h.p.

Before the close of the year 1907 it is estimated that the total connected load will be 61,000 h.p., as follows: Total now connected, 46,000 h.p.; increase in private lighting, 3,000 h.p.; increase in motor units, 4,000 h.p.; tramways 6,000 h.p.; increase at El Oro mines, 5,000 h.p. All these installations will not be supplied simultaneously, but the additions referred to will bring the maximum or peak load up to about 41,600 h.p. contracting with 27,000 h.p. in December last, between 6 and 7 p. m.), which, allowing for losses in transmission, will utilize the entire output of the present Necaxa and San Ildefonso hydraulic plants.

Steam Plants—Advisability of Increasing Hydraulic Plant.—If the demand for power should exceed present expectations it will be necessary to utilize the company's steam plants, which have a total steam-generating capacity as follows: Nonoalco station, 6 engines and 4 turbines, 7,500 K.W.; San Lazaro station, 3 engines, 3,000 K.W.; Veronica station, 1 engine, 1,000 K.W.; total nearly 16,000 h.p., or 11,500 K.W. As the operating expenses per [illegible] are more than twelve times what they are in the hydraulic plant at Necaxa the advisability of [illegible] apparent.

The General Manager has prepared preliminary estimates for the construction of power-house No. 2 in the Necaxa Valley, above power-house No. 1, from which it appears that with a head of [illegible] feet there will be a development of [illegible] h.p. when the two units now completed, and a total of [illegible] h.p. when the [illegible] water is available to operate the [illegible] power-house No. 2 could be built only at 20,000 h.p., or on peak loads at 40,000 h.p. The cost of constructing a dam on Los Reyes River, together with the tunnel, power-house building and equipment, with a capacity of 20,000 h.p., is estimated approximately at $2,000,000 gold, and this can be increased to 40,000 h.p. at an additional cost of $1,000,000 gold, or a total cost of $3,000,000 gold for 40,000 h.p. This second power plant, containing two units generating 20,000 h.p., should ultimately yield an additional net annual revenue of $800,000 gold per annum, and subsequently additional generating units of 10,000 h.p. each can be installed as they are required.

Otis Elevator Company.

President W. D. Baldwin, March 12 1907, says:

The company's business for the past year has been in excess of any previous year, and the outlook for this year is promising.

There has been expended for the purchase of real estate, new buildings equipment (exclusive of repairs and maintenance of plants), and acquisition of outstanding stock of subsidiary companies, the sum of $1,214,420, of which sum $1,020,420 has been paid in cash and the remainder in stock from the company's treasury. These expenditures have called for large cash disbursements, in addition to the increased requirements (working capital) for carrying to completion your company's contracts. The capacity and condition of your plants not only justify the large expenditures made in the past, but also the expectation that your present shops will be able to take care of the larger volume of business anticipated during this year, and to much greater advantage than heretofore. The increased prices paid for labor and material, together with the increased cost of operation due to effecting changes and improvements in the plants, and the volume of business done in certain grades of work, have tended to reduce the margin of profit over previous years.

We have continued to make liberal deductions for possible depreciation of raw material and finished stock on hand, maintenance of plants, cost of improvements, equipment, &c.

During the year it was deemed advisable to organize Otis Elevator Companies of Illinois, Pennsylvania, Missouri and Texas, to conduct the business formerly carried on by your company in their respective territories, and the statements herewith submitted include the results of the operations of those companies.

Out of the earnings of last year's business your directors have declared a dividend of 3% on the common stock of the company, payable 1½% on April 15 1907 and 1½% on Oct. 15 1907.

Federal Sugar Refining Company.

((Official Statement of Jan. 26 1907.)

The statement made to the New York Stock Exchange, in connection with the admission to quotation in the unlisted department of $3,322,800 preferred stock and $6,677,200 of the common stock, says in substance:

Incorporated under the laws of New Jersey June 19 1902. Authorized capital: preferred stock, 6%, $10,000,000; common stock, $15,000,000. The preferred certificate says: (1) The holder of the preferred stock shall be entitled to receive, when and as declared, from the surplus or net profits of the company yearly dividends at the rate of 6% per annum, and no more, payable quarterly on dates to be fixed by the by-laws. The dividends on the preferred stock shall be cumulative, and shall be payable before any dividend on the common stock shall be paid or set apart; so that if in any year dividends amounting to 6% shall not have been paid thereon the deficiency shall be payable before any dividend shall be paid upon or set apart for the common stock. (2) Each and every holder of the preferred stock shall be entitled at any time, excepting when the books of the company are closed for the payment of dividends, to deliver to the company, properly indorsed, his certificate for preferred stock, and receive in lieu thereof common stock, share for share, and thereupon such certificate or certificates of preferred stock shall be retired and canceled and never again reissued, and thereupon such preferred stock, the certificate for which is so received and canceled, shall become and thereafter remain common stock. (3) All or any of said preferred stock not so exchanged shall be subject at any time to redemption by the company at par and 25% in addition thereto. At the time of any such redemption the holder of preferred stock so redeemed shall have the right to waive said 25% in cash and demand that the company issue to him, in lieu of said preferred stock so redeemed, common stock, share for share. (4) In the event of any liquidation or dissolution or winding up (whether voluntary or involuntary) of the company, the holders of the preferred stock shall be entitled to be paid in full [illegible] of such shares and the unpaid dividends accrued thereon before any amount shall be paid to the holders of the common stock. Par value of shares, preferred and common, $100.

Both common and preferred stock have voting power; there are over 150 preferred stockholders and over 130 common stockholders. No dividends have been paid on the common stock. Two dividends have been paid on the preferred stock, one of 12% on Feb. 7 1905 and one of 3% on Aug. 25 1906. Dividends have accumulated on the preferred stock since May 1 1905

On these docks have been constructed 10 warehouses. The refinery itself consists of 3 large buildings, with various smaller buildings. It has been equipped with the most modern and improved machinery.

The company will publish an annual report to its stockholders. The fiscal year ends Aug. 31.

Associated Merchants Co.

(Report for Fiscal Year ending Feb. 1 1907.)

President John Claflin says:

Net profits for six months ending Feb. 1 were $807,003, against $738,805 for the corresponding period last year. During the half-year 302 shares of first preferred stock were converted into common stock. On Oct. 9, with the approval of the directors of the Associated Merchants Co., but at his own risk, John Claflin opened an extension of the business of James McCreery & Co. in his new building at 34th Street. In December, at the request of the directors of the Associated Merchants Co., John Claflin sold to James McCreery & Co. all the assets, except the real estate, pertaining to the 34th Street business at cost and interest, i. e., $2,200,000. The profits of the new investment having materially exceeded interest, the assets transferred by John Claflin to James McCreery & Co. were of greater value than $2,200,000, the price paid him. John Claflin continues to hold for the benefit of the Associated Merchants Co. the real estate occupied by James McCreery & Co., running from 34th to 35th Streets.

American Strawboard Company.

President O. C. Barber says in part:

Depreciation.—Your directors have charged to surplus account for depreciation $1,221,731. This seems a large amount, but it is fully justified by the fact that since 1892 nothing has been charged off for depreciation other than ordinary repairs. It is the opinion of your directors that a still greater sum must be charged off to get the property down to a solid basis, and that the earnings must be largely used for the purpose of repairing and equipping the mills with machinery of modern type to meet the competition of outside modern mills.

Earnings.—The earnings for the year 1906, without any deduction for depreciation, amounted to $395,526, more than one-half of which was earned by the Circleville mill, or $214,478. The balance of the earnings were made by the stores and the other eight mills that were in operation during the year. The value of the Circleville mill is to-day somewhat less than its original cost, it having been built 22 years ago. The cost of the mill when finished was $450,000. It was built by the Portage Straw Board Co. It has a capacity to-day of 65 tons of board per day, which is a little over one-third of the present production of the straw board of the company per day in the past year.

Improvements Required.—In addition to properly equipping the present mills in operation, a large sum of money must be expended in re-locating a number of machines which to-day are idle and instead of producing a profit are maintained at a large expense, as is evidenced by the annual statement, by the sum of some $38,000. The management have already started to re-build and re-equip the mill at Wilmington, Ill., the total cost of which will require an expenditure of from $120,000 to $130,000. The large amount charged off to depreciation only applied to the mills that are entirely out of commission at the present time.

Production.—When the company was originally organized, it had 21 operated mills and a capacity of over 400 tons per day, which was about 65% of the production of boards consumed in the United States of all kinds. The capacity of the mills to-day of the entire country will aggregate about 2,100 tons per day and there is cut and consumed of all kinds of board about 1,600 tons per day.

President C. U. Carpenter says in substance:

Profits.—The actual net profits for the year's operations, before charging off for depreciation, are $102,049.

Reserves.—We have established a special reserve of $11,000 against possible losses in uncollectible accounts in San Francisco, due to the fire last April. The large reserve for erection is established to care for the expense attendant upon erecting jobs shipped the latter part of the year.

Depreciation and Maintenance.—We have set aside $31,666 has a conservative depreciation, as follows: 5% on real estate and building account (value of real estate deducted), 10% upon machinery account (less tools, &c.) and 20% on furniture, fixtures, &c. In addition, the company charged to expense $18,160 upon maintenance, it being our policy to keep our property in first-class condition.

We adopt the policy of charging to expense all replacements of new tools, patterns and belting, so that our valuation of these items is very conservative.

There is no mortgage or lien of any character upon the property.

San Francisco Fire, Administration, &c.—Our safes and vaults came through the catastrophe at San Francisco with magnificent results. The factory is in first-class condition, the output per square foot of floor area having increased in 1906 over that of any other period. The company begins the year 1907 with a satisfactory booking of orders on burglar work and an excellent volume of sales upon fire-proof production.

The results of operations for the calendar year 1906 were:

Net earnings for calendar year 1906		$102,049

RAILROADS, INCLUDING STREET ROADS.

Amherst & Sunderland Street Ry.—Sold.—Wm. S. Loomis President of the Holyoke Street Ry. Co., and others, it is stated, have bought the control of this property. The capital stock is $120,000 and the bonded debt $117,000.—V. 78, p. 701.

Ashland & Western Ry.—Details of Mortgage.—The first mortgage to the Cleveland Trust Co. as trustee is made to secure an issue of $200,000 of $1,000 20-year 6% gold bonds, due Jan. 1 1927, but subject to call in whole or in part at 102½ on July 1 1908 or any interest day thereafter; interest payable at the office of the trustee.—V. 83, p. 1589, 1468.

Atlantic City & Suburban Traction Co.—Payment of Interest in Scrip.—Circular letters have been sent out asking the first mortgage bondholders to accept scrip in payment for interest due on Feb. 1 last; the second mortgage bondholders to accept scrip and raise a fund of $20,000 for the payment of pressing claims; and the unsecured creditors are requested to accept stock in lieu of all claims.—V. 77, p. 1224.

Atlantic Quebec & Western Ry.—Listed in London.—The London Stock Exchange in February last listed £70,200 5% first mortgage debenture bonds of £100 each (Nos. 805 to 1,506) and partly paid scrip certificates for £56,200 5% first mortgage debenture bonds.—V. 83, p. 154, 1522.

Bangor & Aroostook RR.—Sale of Bonds.—This company and its subsidiary, the Northern Maine Seaport RR., have sold to a syndicate formed by Brown Bros. & Co:

$800,000 5% Northern Maine Seaport RR. first mortgage bonds due 1935, guaranteed by the Bangor & Aroostook. Total authorized issue, $5,000,000, of which there have been issued, including the above, $4,410,000. The purpose of the present issue is to provide for double-tracking 30 miles of line where the traffic now offering is too great to be handled over one track; also for terminal improvements and additional equipment.

1,000,000 Bangor & Aroostook RR., Medford Extension 1st mortgage 5% gold bonds due 1937, being the total authorized issue. These bonds provide for the construction of a 28-mile low-grade cut-off from a point 4 miles south of West Sebels to Legrange, passing between Schoodic and Sebocis Lake, and forming with the Northern Maine Seaport line a low-grade route from the sea, suitable for the present heavy traffic.

9 ,000 Bangor & Aroostook RR., Series "D", 5% equipment trusts, maturing semi-annually to 1917, beginning October 1907. This issue covers the following equipment, purchased at a cost of $1,-000,000: 300 flat cars, 706 box cars, 40 stock cars and 6 cabooses.

The two issues first named are described as legal for savings banks in the States of Maine and Massachusetts.—V. 84, p 157

Boston & Lowell RR.—Sale of Bonds.—Mackay & Co. have sold to investors at par and interest $325.000 4% debenture bonds, to be dated July 1 1907 and maturing July 1 1927. These bonds are issued to take up a like amount of 4s, due July 1 1907. See V. 84, p. 50.

Buffalo & Susquehanna RR.—Application to List.—The New York Stock Exchange has been requested to list $2,408,-000 additional first refunding mortgage 4% bonds of 1951, making the total listed $8,929,000.—V. 83, p. 1091, 1116.

California Midland RR.—New Bond Issue.—The stockholders will meet on April 5 to vote on a proposition to issue $3,000,000 5% 40-year-gold bonds, to be dated May 1 1907, and secured by mortgage to the Mercantile Trust Co. of San Francisco, as trustee, on a proposed railroad from Marysville, Cal., to Grass Valley and Nevada City, with divergent line to Auburn, Cal. President, John Martin; Secretary, Henry Malloch.

A company of the same name, but for different section of country, authorized a bond issue in Dec. 1901 but lost its charter through inactivity. Compare V. 73, p. 899.

Canadian Northern Quebec Ry.—Listed in London.—The London Stock Exchange has listed the scrip for £1,000,000 4% perpetual guaranteed debenture stock. See offering in V. 83, p. 968.

Exchange of Bonds.—The company, as successor by amalgamation of the Great Northern Railway of Canada, announces that upon deposit not later than April 14 of that company's 4% guaranteed bonds with the National Trust Co. of Toronto, there will be issued in exchange therefor 4% Canadian Northern Quebec Ry. perpetual debenture stock (guaranteed both as to principal and interest by the Canadian Northern Ry. Co.) at the rate of £95 sterling of such debenture stock for each $500 of Great Northern bonds, interest to be adjusted both on stock and bonds, the said debenture stock to be issued in London, England. Compare V. 83, p. 968, 1036.

Canadian Pacific Ry.—Listed.—The London Stock Exchange has listed a further issue of £1,000,000 4% non-cumulative preferred stock and £1,682,406 4% perpetual consolidated debenture stock; also a further issue of £46,233 perpetual 4% consolidated debenture stock of the New Brunswick Ry., interest guaranteed by the Canadian Pacific. —V. 84, p. 338.

Central New England Ry.—Offer for Minority Interests.—The "Financial Bulletin" of Philadelphia for March 16 says:

Renewed efforts have recently been made by New York interests to acquire the outstanding securities of the Central New England RR., control of which was purchased by the New York New Haven & Hartford RR. in Feb. 1904. New York brokers have been offering 68½ for the income bonds, 22½ for the preferred stock and 14 for the common stock, but local holders, as a rule, have refused to sell at these prices, as they believe they will ultimately secure much higher figures. The New Haven RR. obtained its majority interest at 26 for the preferred and 11 for the common shares and 66 for the income bonds. The New Haven owns $2,063,500 out of $3,450,000 common and $2,696,100 out of $3,150,000 preferred stock, and $5,904,000 out of $7,250,000 income bonds. To cover the cost of its purchase the New Haven issued $5,000 000 4% debentures.—V. 84, p. 449.

Chicago, Cincinnati & Louisville RR.—Settlement.—See Cincin. Hamilton & Dayton Ry. below.—V. 84, p. 507, 219.

Chicago Great Western Ry.—See Wisconsin Minnesota & Pacific RR., below.—V. 84, p. 626, 390.

Chicago Terminal Transfer RR.—Sale Advertised for May 3. —The foreclosure sale under the mortgage of 1897 ($16,500,-000 authorized and $15,140,000 outstanding) is advertised to take place in Chicago on May 3. Upset price $15,140,000, subject to the several contracts, leases, mortgages, &c., described in the decree entered Feb. 20 1907. The new interests which a few months ago bought into the property it is believed will announce the plan of reorganization as soon as times are propitious. The sale includes, in addition to the property owned in fee:

All interest of the company in and to $5,000,000, or substantially $5,000,000, of the capital stock of the Chicago & Calumet Terminal Railway Co. and $6,000,000 of the first mortgage bonds of said Chicago & Calumet Terminal Railway Co., deposited with the trustee; also 5,000 shares of $100 each of the Hammond & Lake Michigan Railway Co., and 5,000 shares of $100 each of the Calumet River Railway Co.—V. 84, p. 569, 507.

Chihuahua & Pacific RR.—Description.—The "Engineering Record" of March 2 contains an illustrated article on the construction of this road.—V. 71, p. 181.

Cincinnati Hamilton & Dayton Ry.—Settlement of Claims. —Judge Lurton at Cincinnati on March 15 issued a supplemental order granting the recent request of receiver Judson Harmon to compromise the claims between the Chicaga Cincinnati & Louisville, the C. H. & D. and the Pere Marquette. The agreement provides for the cancellation of the Pere Marquette $3,500,000 collateral trust indenture of 1905 and the return of the $4,206,000 capital stock of the Chicago Cincinnati & Louisville securing the bonds to their former owners; also for the cancellation of a claim of about $800,000 for betterments made upon the Chicago Cincinnati & Louisville. The latter company will also receive $400,000 of Pere Marquette receiver's certificates.—V. 84, p. 507, 101.

Easton (Pa.) Consolidated Electric Co. See Easton Transit Co. below.—V. 84, p. 450.

Easton (Pa.) Transit Co.—Exchange of Bonds.—Referring to the call for payment on April 1 at 103 and interest of the $300,000 first mortgage 5s due 1922, Edward B. Smith & Co. of Philadelphia announce:

We are prepared to exchange 5% collateral trust bonds of the Easton Consolidated Electric Co. for the above bonds of the Easton Transit Co. on terms to be given upon application.—V. 84, p. 450.

Erie RR.—Suspension of Construction Work.—Announcement was made on Thursday of the company's determination to suspend all construction work in New York State until further notice, partly on account of adverse money market conditions and partly because of proposed burdensome legislation, particularly with reference to the control of subsidiary corporations, through which the new work was to be done. Section 42 of the Public Utilities bill provides that no railroad corporation shall own more than 10% of the capital stock of any other railroad corporation. An official statement says:

There are two important lines being constructed in New York State, one from Cuba, on the main line, to Hunts, on the Buffalo division, by means of the Genesee River RR., and another large expenditure is being made for a low-grade line between Port Jervis and Newburgh Junction, on the New York division, by the Erie & Jersey RR. Co. These companies were organized in the State of New York and work has been under way during the past year. Under present conditions, these companies find themselves unable to dispose of their securities on terms that justify the completion of the work at this time.

It is expected to continue the work on the Bergen Cut and terminal improvements connected with it at Jersey City, on account of the pressing necessity for them, and upon the Columbus & Erie RR., in Warren County Pa., and various smaller contracts in Ohio and New Jersey which are nearing completion.—V. 84, p. 390, 270.

Great Northern Ry.—Again Postponed.—In the absence of a decision in the injunction case, the company postpones:

The time for the closing of the transfer books for the purposes of the new issue of stock, and the time limit for the filing of subscriptions, until 3 p. m. March 26; the time for filing assignments until 3 p. m. March 30; and the time for making the first, second and third payments until April 2. Compare V. 83, p. 1469, 1590.

Ore Certificates.—The temporary certificates are now being exchanged for permanent certfiicates of interest in "Great Northern Iron Ore property."

Ore Lease Terminable Jan. 1 1915.—The report of the United States Steel Corporation published last week (p. 635) makes known the fact that the lease of the ore properties may be terminated Jan. 1 1915 at the option of the Steel Company.—V. 84, p. 626, 570.

Great Northern Railway of Canada.—Exchange of Bonds.—See Canadian Northern Quebec Ry. above.—V. 83, p. 155, 271, 969.

Havana Electric Ry.—New President.—Warren Bicknell of Cleveland, formerly President of the Lake Shore Electric Ry. of that city, has been elected President.

Report.—The results for the year ending Dec. 31 were:

Cal. Year—	Total Receipts.	Operating Expenses.	Taxes and Rents.	Bond Interest.	Balance. Surplus.
1906	$1,662,073	$940,230	$20,257	$398,314	$303,273
1905	1,542,870	757,074	18,979	395,897	370,920
1904	1,270,625	709,408	15,338	408,270	137,609

From the balance as above in 1906 was paid a dividend of 4% ($200,000) on the preferred stock, leaving a balance for the year of $103,272.

The total accumulated surplus Dec. 31 1906 was $509,074; adding balance as above for 1906 ($103,272) and deducting $100,000 for repayment of coupons surrendered in 1899 as per agreement, and $70,887 for suspense account, leaves a total profit and loss surplus as of Dec. 31 1906 of $441,458. —V. 84, p. 570.

Holyoke (Mass.) Street Ry.—See Amherst & Sunderland Street Ry. above.—V. 82, p. 1322.

Indianapolis Southern RR.—Description of Road.—See article in "Railroad Gazette" of March 15 1907.—V. 83, p. 1590.

Kansas City Mexico & Orient RR.—Sale of Bonds—Construction.—President Stillwell is quoted as saying that he has succeeded in selling $1,500,000 bonds of the company, which will permit of a rapid extension of the road this summer. Compare V. 84, p. 508, 102.

Lancaster County (Pa.) Railway & Light Co.—Payment for Stock.—"Philadelphia News Bureau" of March 19 says:

The shareholders have been paid the first installment of 25%, or $500,000, upon their holdings, which have been transferred to Bertron, Storrs & Griscom, of New York and this city. Other payments of 25% will be paid on June 1, Sept. 1 and Dec. 1 next, thus making the purchase price of the $1,000,000 stock (par $50) $100 per share, or $2,000,000. See V. 84, p. 570.

Michigan Central RR.—Description of Tunnel.—The "Engineering Record" of March 2 contains an illustrated article describing the tunnel under construction under the Detroit River by the Detroit River Tunnel Co.—V. 84, p. 339, 271.

Minneapolis St. Paul & Sault Ste. Marie Ry.—Extension to Duluth.—The company, it is announced, has decided to build from the main line at Brooten, Minn., 14 miles southeast of Glenwood, northeast to Superior and Duluth, a distance of 200 miles, crossing the Northern Pacific at Royalton and again at Mooselake. The contract for construction has been let and work is to begin as soon as the frost is out of the ground.—V. 84, p. 51.

New York Central & Hudson River RR.—Estimated Quarterly Earnings to Be Discontinued—Explanation.—After the regular meeting of the directors the following statement was given out on Wednesday:

A dividend of 1½% for the quarter was declared, payable April 15 1907 to the stockholders of record at 3 p. m. March 28. It has been decided that, beginning with the present fiscal year, the preliminary estimated quarterly statement heretofore issued will be discontinued. The reason for this change is that the estimates, except as a general basis for the declaration of dividends, are more or less inaccurate, and consequently misleading, and particularly so this year, on account of the difficulty in estimating accurately in advance the result of the heavy increases in the amounts paid for labor, &c. Hereafter such information will only be given or publication when the actual results are ascertained.—V. 84, p. 571, 391.

New York City Railway.—Favorable Decision.—The Appellate Division of the Supreme Court, First Department, on March 15 handed down a decision in the case of one Ketchum, holding that the rule of the company requiring passengers to ask for transfers at the time of paying fares is a reasonable regulation. The decision of the lower courts, awarding damages for a refusal to give a transfer to the plaintiff some time after the payment of his fare, is reversed. Justice Scott wrote the opinion.—V. 84, p. 391.

New York & Long Island RR.—Completion of Tunnel to Long Island City Expected Aug 1.—This company, owned by the Interborough Rapid Transit (subway) Co. of New York City, it is said, expects to have its tunnel from 42d Street, Manhattan, to Long Island City ready for use on or about Aug. 1.—V. 83, p. 1229.

New York New Haven & Hartford RR.—Negotiations.—See Poughkeepsie & Eastern Ry. below.

Legislation.—The Connecticut Senate this week passed the bill giving the holders of the $30,000,000 convertible debentures issued Jan. 1 1906 the right to subscribe to new stock and also to confirm the merger of seven subsidiary roads. The bill now goes to the Governor. Compare V. 84, p. 450, 271.—V. 84, p. 626, 571.

Northwestern Pacific RR.—Meeting Postponed.—The meeting for the authorization of the $35,000,000 mortgage has been postponed until April 29 for some technical reason.

The San Francisco papers give the following facts regarding the constituent companies as shown by reports for the year ending June 30 1906 on file with the California Railroad Commission.

Companies.	Line of Road.	Miles.	Stock.	Bonds.
San Fran. No. Pac.	Tiburon to Ukiah, &c.	177¾	$6,000,000	$3,880,000
Cal. N. W., lessee of the above	Ukiah to Sherwood	40	1,566,000	985 000
North Shore RR.	Sausalito to Cazadero, &c.	90½	6,000,000	3,498,000
San Fran. & N.W.	3 lines in Humboldt Co.	53.62	300,000	462,000

—V. 84, p. 221, 272.

Poughkeepsie & Eastern Ry.—Negotiations for Sale.—The executors of Russell Sage have practically concluded a sale of the road for a consideration of about $400,000. No papers have yet been signed, so that the announcement in the press that the road has been acquired by the New York New Haven & Hartford is pronounced premature. It is expected, however, that the sale will be consummated and that the New Haven road will be the purchaser. It will give the latter terminals in Poughkeepsie. The road runs from Poughkeepsie to Boston Corners, 40 miles.—V. 66, p. 1238.

San Pedro Los Angeles & Salt Lake RR.—Earnings for Calendar Year.—The following comparative statement, it is stated, is confirmed as substantially correct:

Year.	Gross.	Oper. Exp.	Net.	Deductions.	Balance.
1906	$4,800,139	$3,449 954	$1,350,185	$185,224	$1,164,961
1905	2,405,456	1,757,420	648,036	244,894	403,142

None of the $40,000,000 of 4% bonds, it is said, have been sold. The interest charge on these if outstanding would call for $1,600,000 yearly, so that on the basis of the aforesaid earnings the road did not meet its interest charge, but, according to the "New York Times," it is said the property "is now earning fully enough to meet the interest on these bonds." The Union Pacific RR. and Senator Clark each own a half interest in the company. The report this week that the Union Pacific had taken over Mr. Clark's interest was denied by him.—V. 82, p. 1323.

Texas & Pacific Ry. Co.—Report.—See "Annual Reports" on a preceding page.

New Directors.—Robert C. Clowry has been elected a director to succeed James H. Hyde and Benjamin Nicoll, in place of Louis Fitzgerald.—V. 84, p. 509, 52.

Texas Traction Co.—Stock.—The company's stock consists of $2,000,000 common and $1,000,000 preferred, all of which is outstanding. See full description of enterprise in V. 84, p. 627.

Underground Electric Railways of London.—Listed in London.—The London Stock Exchange has listed a further issue of £160,000 Baker Street & Waterloo Ry. perpetual 4% debenture stock, making the total amount listed, it is understood, £560,000.—V. 84, p. 340, 104.

Union Pacific RR.—Earnings of Subsidiary.—See San Pedro Los Angeles & Pacific RR. above.

Testimony before Inter-State Commerce Commission.—The "Railroad Gazette" of March 1 and March 8 contain considerable citations from the testimony of President Harriman before the Inter-State Commerce Commission at the recent hearing in this city. This testimony should be read in connection with the exhibits published exclusively in the "Chronicle" of March 2 and March 9, pages 509 and 572 respectively. Also see interview p. 411 of "Gazette" for March 22.

Rumors.—The "Boston News Bureau" of March 19 says:

There is persistent belief in the inner circles of Wall Street that 200,000 shares of Union Pacific passed at private sale last Thursday at $110 a share. The belief is that it was Standard-Oil-Harriman stock. There is a tacit admission in well-posted quarters that a large block of stock was sold privately, but it is stoutly denied that it was in any sense Harriman or Standard Oil stock. It is understood that this stock was taken up by members of the Rock Island crowd. This transaction was the basis of the report that the control of the Union Pacific had passed to rival interests.—V. 84, p. 572, 509.

Virginian Railway.—Description of Road.—See long article concerning the constituent properties "The Tidewater and the Deepwater Railways," with maps, illustrations, &c., in the "Railroad Gazette" of New York for March 15 1907.

Construction is being vigorously pushed, the entire line of the Tidewater Ry. Co. and part, if not all, of the Deepwater being under contract. The "Railway Age" of Chicago of March 15 says:

H. Fernstron, Chief Engineer of the Tidewater Ry., writes that the grading is 56% completed, the bridging 33% completed, and the tunneling 33% completed, from Sewalls Point, Va., to the Virginia State line, a distance of 332 miles. Track was laid from Sewalls Point west 100 miles last year and the grading is completed to mile post 123. The MacArthur Brothers contract includes a portion of the Deepwater Ry., which is being extended from the present terminus at Micajah, W. Va., to a connection with the Tidewater Ry. at the Virginia State line, a distance of 41 miles.

The Tidewater has awarded two contracts in connection with the dredging and the substructural work for the first of its big coal piers at Sewalls Point; the contract for the superstructural work has not as yet been awarded. The total cost of three contracts is estimated at $2,000,000.—V. 84, p. 627.

Western Maryland RR.—Change in Officers.—At a meeting of the directors on March 15 President Winslow S. Pierce and Vice-President Fairfax S. Landstreet resigned, and B. S. Bush, who was President of the Western Mining & Coal Co. of St Louis, which has had control of the mining property of the Missouri Pacific Ry., was chosen President. The office of Vice-President was not filled. A statement given out after the meeting says:

Mr. Bush has been prominently connected with the railway and coal interests of the Gould system in the West, and his election to the presidency of the Western Maryland is in line with the previously announced plan of extending the Gould system in the East and the announced intention of the present management to retire. Mr. Pierce and Mr. Landstreet retain their interest in the board and their membership on the several boards and committees.—V. 84, p. 160.

West India Electric Co., Kingston, Jamaica.—Status.—President Hutchison, in a statement to stockholders, says:

The total losses sustained by the company during the recent earthquake will not now exceed $15,000, and already the earnings are running about equal to what they were in the same period of 1905. There should be a large increase in the company's electric lighting business, as the residents of Kingston in erecting new houses are installing electric light in place of gas.—V. 84, p. 340.

Wisconsin Minnesota & Pacific RR.—Listed in London.—The London Stock Exchange has listed $405,000 additional first mortgage 4% 50-year gold bonds of $1,000 each.—V. 83, p. 631.

INDUSTRIAL, GAS AND MISCELLANEOUS.

American Cereal Co.—Stock Reduced.—This company's property having been taken over by the Quaker Oats Co., a certificate has been filed reducing the capital stock from $3,400,000 to $10,000.—V. 83, p. 971, 381.

American Coal Co.—Acquisition or Alliance.—See Cumberland Basin Coal Co. below.—V. 84, p. 392.

American Graphophone Co.—New Director.—Henry A. Bishop has been elected a director.—V. 84, p. 510, 157.

American Iron & Steel Manufacturing Co., Lebanon, Pa.—Report.—See "Annual Reports" on a preceding page.

Dividends Pending Litigation.—An amicable suit was recently brought to determine whether or not the preferred shares are entitled to participate equally with the common shares in the distribution of earnings in excess of 5% on both classes. The company has accordingly declared quarterly dividends of 2% each on both classes of stock, payable five-eighths thereof on April 1 1907 to stockholders of record March 23 1907; the payment of the remaining three-eighths being temporarily suspended pending a decision in the aforesaid suit. The preferred stock has received dividends at the rate of 5% per annum since organization; the common stock has recently been on an 8% basis.—V. 83, p. 268.

American Lead & Baryta Co.—Referee's Report Favors Bondholder.—"St. Louis Globe-Democrat" of March 16 says:

The report of James C. Jones, referee in the suit of Joseph G. Donnelly against the company, Orlando E. Robinson and John Morton, recommends a judgment against Morton and Robinson for $30,000, being the amount of bonds purchased by Donnelly from the defendants. Donnelly is given a joint first mortgage lien with the Missouri Trust Co. on the assets of the concern. The lien of the Missouri Trust Co. is for $630,000.

The company was incorporated Nov. 18 1901 for $10,000,000 under the laws of New Jersey to exploit lands in Washington County, Mo., supposed to be rich in baryta. When the company was incorporated an option on 33,000 acres of land was held. The referee finds that the company owned no land in Washington County at the time of the incorporation, but only held an option on it; that the only money that was ever paid in was $10,000, paid by Morton; that the company, instead of making $160,000 annually above operating expenses, was losing $60,000; that the National Milling & Mining Co., which was taken over by the company, was losing $75,000 annually and was finally sold for $7,000.—V. 81, p. 1102.

American Telephone & Telegraph Co.—Permanent Certificates Ready.—The temporary 3-year 5% notes are now being exchanged for permanent certificates at the Old Colony Trust Co. in Boston and at the Manhattan Trust Co. in New York.

Arizona Commercial Copper Co.—Stock Offered.—Stockholders of record April 4 are offered the right to subscribe at par ($25) to the extent of one-ninth of their holdings for the $250,000 treasury stock. Subscriptions must be paid April 15. This will increase the amount outstanding to $2,500,000, the entire authorized amount. The issue, it is stated, has been underwritten by the Paine-Amster and other interests in the directory. The company was incorporated in Maine in 1905 to succeed the Arizona Commercial Co.—V. 73, p. 446.

Arizona Water Co.—Sold—Payment to First Mortgage Bondholders.—Arthur B. Leach, William H. Burrows and

Morgan G. Bulkeley, the bondholders' committee appointed by agreement of Sept. 25 1905, report Jan. 29 1907:

All property of the company was acquired for benefit of bondholders at foreclosure sale. The Arizona Canal has been sold to the United States Government for $235,168, from which your committee has paid receiver's certificates, past-due coupons maturing before foreclosure, cash advances, taxes, expenses of foreclosure and other indebtedness, aggregating $114,925 37, leaving in hand for distribution to first mortgage bondholders $120,242 63, from which a dividend of 45% of the par value of outstanding first mortgage bonds (being $256,000) has been declared, and will be paid through the New York Trust Co. upon presentation of the certificates of deposit.

A contract has been closed conveying to the United States Government the underlying canals (of which your committee holds a slight majority of stock) at gross price of $78,093. When titles are approved your committee will receive approximately one-half of this sum, less certain taxes, expenses and other indebtedness. This will leave in our hands, in addition, 6,300 acres of land, free and clear, under the irrigation system; and the amount which will ultimately be available to holders of first mortgage and income bonds (depends upon the price at which these lands can be sold.—V. 82, p. 807.

(D. E.) Baxter & Co., Incorporated.—New Stock.—At a meeting of the shareholders held at Hartford, Conn., March 5, the capital stock was increased to $5,000,000, of which $1,000,000 is 6% cumulative preferred and $1,000,000 common. The preferred is being subscribed for at par to provide additional working capital. A dividend of 6% on the preferred has been declared, payable April 1 to stockholders of record Feb. 28. The company confines itself to the construction and equipment of steam and electric railways, for which it has contracts in hand aggregating over $12,000,000, all in the United States. New York office, 27 William St.

Bell Telephone Co. of Canada.—New Stock.—Shareholders of record March 23 are offered the privilege of subscribing till 1 p. m. April 17 at par ($100 per share) to the extent of 25% of their respective holdings for $2,500,000 new capital stock, subscriptions to be paid in installments of $25 per share on May 1, July 2, Oct. 1 1907 and Jan. 2 1908.

Report.—The reports for the calendar years show:

Calendar year.	Gross earnings.	Net earnings.	Bond interest.	Dividends paid(8%).	Surplus for year.	Subscribers.
1906	$4,139,335	$1,135,838	$142,983	$726,677	$266,178	95,145

Richard Borden Manufacturing Co., Fall River, Mass.—New Stock—Dividend Increase.—The shareholders will vote May 1 upon a proposition to increase the capital 25%, from $800,000 to $1,000,000, for the purpose, one account says, of paying a stock dividend. A quarterly dividend of 5% has been declared, payable March 30, contrasting with 2% last December and 1½% for each of the preceding quarters of 1906 (V. 83, p. 1323).

(The) J. G. Brill Co. of Philadelphia.—Amalgamation.—This company, organized last July, has filed a certificate of increase of capital stock from $50,000 to $10,000,000, for th purpose of carrying out the amalgamation which has been contemplated for some months past (compare V. 83, p. 382). Par of shares $100. Technical papers give the following.

Official announcement is made in a circular just issued under date of Feb. 6 1907 of the changes in the Brill Car Co. which were noted in these pages last August. J. G. Brill Co. has sold and transferred its property and business to the J. G. Brill Company, capital $10,000,000, of which one-half is preferred and one-half common stock. The new company has assumed all of the obligations and contracts of J. G. Brill Co. and has become owner of the entire capital stock, the entire $1,000,000 of capital stock of the American Car Co. of St. Louis, the $600,000 of capital stock of the G. C. Kuhlman Car Co. of Cleveland, and the entire $600,000 capital stock of the John Stephenson Co. of Elizabeth, N. J. The officers of the new company are: President, James Rawle; Vice-President, John A. Brill; Second Vice-President and General Manager, Samuel M. Curwen; Treasurer, Edward Brill; Secretary, M. Herman Brill; Secretary to the President, J. W. Rawle. There will be no present offer of securities, but it is understood that they will be listed on the Philadelphia Exchange later.—V. 83, p. 382.

Camp & Hinton Co., Lumberton, Miss.—Bonds Called.—The company has called for payment at 105 and interest on April 1 at the Inter-State Trust & Banking Co. of New Orleans, trustee, the entire $400,000 bond issue under the mortgage of 1903. (Compare V. 80, p. 653). There have recently been sold $500,000 6% bonds, dated Dec. 1 1906. See bond offering, V. 84, p. 53.

Canadian Salt Co., Windsor, Ont.—Earnings.—The "Financial Post of Canada" (Montreal) says:

The annual statement shows for 1906 a net profit of $63,000 on the capital of $500,000 (total authorized issue $800,000, par $100). Dividends at the rate of 8% absorbed $40,000. The interest on a loan of $50,000 made for new construction work was $2,022. The balance, $20,000, was added to rest (surplus), increasing that account to $66,000. The net profits for 1905 was $56,635. President, William C. Van Horne.

Carnahan Tin Plate & Sheet Co., Canton, O.—Classification of Stock.—The company, it is announced, has classified its capital stock into $100,000 preferred and $400,000 common.—V. 78, p. 1551.

Car Trust Realization Co., Limited.—Listed in London.—The London Stock Exchange has listed £705,060 5% income bonds (registered), for £1,000, £100 and £10 each, and £250,000 4% debenture stock.—V. 83, p. 627.

Central Consumers' Brewing Co., New York City.—Consolidation—Bonds Offered—Prospectus.—Otis & Hough of Cleveland, New York and Columbus, and Post & Flagg of New York, as their agents, are offering at par $2,900,000 "first and general mortgage" 6% gold bonds, with a bonus of 25% of preferred stock and 25% of common stock. The company is to be capitalized as follows:

Capitalization—	Authorized.	Issued.
Preferred stock, 6% non-cumulative (par $100)	$6,000,000	$5,250,000
Common stock (par $100)	6,000,000	5,250,000
First and gen. mtge. sinking fd. 6% gold bonds	7,500,000	6,750,000

Of these bonds $1,457,500 are reserved to retire underlying liens, but "it is expected a large portion of the underlying bonds will be exchanged for bonds of the present issue at time of closing."

Description of Bonds.—Mortgage trustee, Farmers' Loan & Trust Co. of New York City. Bonds dated March 30 1907 and due July 1 1957, but total issue subject to call at 110 and interest. Denominations $1,000, $500 and $100. Interest payable July and Jan. 1 at office of trustee. The company "is compelled to pay off by purchase in the market $50,000 of bonds per annum for five years, beginning July 1 1908; $60,000 per annum for five years, beginning July 1 1913; $80,000 per annum for five years, beginning July 1 1918, and so on in five-year periods, so that at the expiration of fifty years all the bonds will have been paid off."

The company was incorporated Aug. 28 1906 under the laws of New York to take over the following breweries located in Greater New York, the options on which, or most of them, were acquired early in 1906 in the name of the Breweries Bond & Securities Co.:

Central Brewing Co., 68th St. and East River, New York.
Consumers' Brewing Co. of New York City, Limited, 55th St. and Avenue A, New York.
Excelsior Brewing Co., 254 Hart St., Brooklyn.
Consumers' Brewing Co. of Brooklyn, Woodside, Long Island.
Ebling Brewing Co., 156th St. and St. Ann's Ave., New York.
J. & M. Hallen Brewing Co., 644 E. 152d St., New York.

The prospectus, dated March 18 1907, says in substance:

Four of these six breweries are "consumers' companies," the shares of which are widely distributed among the retail dealers throughout Greater New York. The total number of shareholders in the constituent companies amounts to about 900, every one of whom will be interested in the securities of this new corporation. The capitalization of the company is the most conservative per barrel of sales of any of the brewing consolidations of recent years. The bond issue, about $7 20 per barrel, is exceedingly small, especially considering the more than ample assets back of the mortgage. The constituent companies show a steady increase in business and the earnings for the year 1906 show 6% on the bonds, 6% on the preferred stock and more than 5% on the common stock to be issued. The President and executive officers will be selected from the foremost brewers among the companies entering the consolidation, and men of financial ability in New York and Cleveland will be on the new board of directors.

Henry Boehmke and Carl J. Hoster write (in substance): "The breweries are admirably located; are all in first-class physical condition and have ample capacity, except the Consumers' of Brooklyn (the smallest plant), which needs a new brew-house and additional cellars. We estimate the plant and equipment values conservatively at $4,230,950. The proposed capitalization we believe to be conservative and substantial savings should result from the amalgamation."

Digest of Report of Chartered Accountants for Three Years end. Dec. 31 1906.

The number of barrels of beer and ale sold by the constituent companies and their net profits, after charging all expenses, bad debts, management, salaries and depreciation, were:

Year—	Barrels.	Net Profits.	Aver. Profits.
1904	793,851	$735,542	per barrel, $0.92
